Mrs. Annie Newman Dies While At Church

WARKWORTH, June 8 (ENS)—Mrs. Annie Newman, widow of the late Wesley Newman, died suddenly Sunday morning shortly after arriving at church.

Born in Cramahe township, she was in her 73rd year. She was the daughter of the late Samuel Mitchell and his wife, the late Esther Sweet. Her marriage to Wesley Newman of Cramahe township took place in 1903.

Most of her life was spent in this locality. She was a member of the United Church at Norham and later, the United Church and later, after moving to this village, was a member of St. Paul's United Church, Warkworth, and a member of the Women's Association in connection with the church.

Her husband died in February, 1947. Mrs. Newman is survived by her four sons: Le Roy Newman of Fort Frances, Hayden and W. J. Newman of Norham and Everett of Brighton; and four grandchildren. There are also one sister and six brothers: Mrs. James Cooney (Ruth) of Regina and Samuel James Mitchell of Winnipeg, the Rev. George Mitchell of Hardwick, Vermont, USA; and Will, Charlie, Arthur and Edwin Mitchell, all of Norham. One sister, Mrs. John Kelly (Jemima) of Warkworth and three brothers Fletcher Mitchell of Winnipeg Albert of Australia and Robert of Norham have predeceased her.

The funeral service was held in St. Paul's United Church, Warkworth, the pastor, the Rev. H. G. Lester, officiating.

Those who served as pallbearers were: George Smith, Edward Harwood, Roland Edwards, Kenneth Gummer, Elmer Laver, Howard Evans.

Those bearing the floral tributes were: Dave King, Charles Osborne, Wm. Pollock, C. H. Sherwin, Ivan Denike, Percy Windover, Norman Gummer.

Burial was in Stone's cemetery.

Olivier To Return

HOLLYWOOD, June 8.—(AP).—Sir Laurence Olivier will return to Hollywood for the first time in 10 years to play a starring role in a film adaptation of Theodore Dreiser's "Sister Carrie." The British actor has signed to play the role of Hurstwood in the production, which will be retitled "Carrie Ames." It will be Sir Laurence's first Hollywood appearance since his roles in "Rebecca" and "Wuthering Heights" a decade ago.

Elected President

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8 — (AP)—Randolph Sevier, 53, who went to work at the Matson Lines' dock here in 1923 as a freight clerk, Wednesday was elected President of the Company. He succeeds John E. Cushing who will become President of Oceanic Steamship Company, a Matson subsidiary.

Expand D.P. Program

WASHINGTON, June 8—(AP)—Legislation expanding the displaced persons program in the United States won Congressional approval Wednesday. By a voice vote in the Senate passed and sent to the White House a compromise bill authorizing the admission of 341,000 homeless Europeans into the U.S. by June 30, 1951, including the 153,000 already accepted in the last two years.

King Creates 7 Barons On Honors List

LONDON, June 8 (CP)—London sparkled with pomp and pageantry today as the King marked his official birthday by creating seven new barons and bestowing honors on distinguished Britons.

Around the world British diplomats and governors-general entertained at annual King's birthday receptions though the monarch was born Dec. 14, 1895, the anniversary officially is celebrated today.

Within the capital the high spot of the day's ceremonies was the trooping of the colors by crack army units dressed in colorful uniforms dating back to the Napoleonic wars.

Those named by the King to his birthday honors list, published today, included political figures, actors, musicians, factory workers and Britain's ace steeplejack who was awarded the Order of the British Empire.

Steeplejack Honored

Sidney Parkins, the steeplejack, was called on last November to remove a policeman's helmet that had been hung on top of the 310-foot spire of the House of Commons. Police still are looking for the culprits who risked their lives to carry out the practial joke.

Parkins' decoration, however, was an award for his general competence as an industrial worker during a venturesome career, not for the single exploit of removing the bobby's helmet.

Air Marshal Philip Clermont Livingston, native of Vancouver Island who is director-general of medical services for the RAF and an honorary surgeon to the King, was made a Knight Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Pilot On List

Flt. Lt. Peter Borden St. Louis of Ottawa, the RCAF pilot who rescued stranded British scientists from Stonington Island in the Antarctic last January, also appeared on the list.

He was made an ordinary member of the military division of the Order of the British Empire.

A field marshal's baton was presented to Gen. Sir Thomas A. Blamey of Australia. Lt.-Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, commander of the British Army on the Rhine in Western Germany, was created a Knight Commander.

Among the new barons entitled to sit in the House of Lords are three whose elevation solves political perplexities for the Labor Government.

Lewis Silkin, 61, former minister of town and country planning, is one. No Labor party district organization would accept him as a candidate in the general election last February and he was left without a constituency.

Another Baron

Another political figure made a baron was Lt.-Col. Harry Morris, who resigned his seat from a strongly Labor district at Sheffield in favor of Solicitor-General Sir Frank Soskice who was defeated in his own district race.

Dr. R. Rees-Williams, a former junior minister defeated in the general election, also was made a baron.

Among a dozen new knight bachelors, the lowest rank of knights, was Capt. Bruce S. Ingram, editor of Illustrated London News.

Frederick Ashton, dance arranger of the Sadler's Wells Ballet, was made a commander of the Order of the British Empire.

George Wilson, 96, believed to be Britain's oldest film actor, was made an officer of the Order of the British Empire.

Becomes Oblate

ROME, June 8—(AP)—Countess Helen Hohenau of Bavaria, who made a holy-year pilgrimage on horseback, Wednesday became a member of the Oblates of the Benedictine Olevites. The Oblates are an association of women who lead a religious life of prayer and good works, but without strict vows such as are taken by nuns.

Small Boy Suffers Fractured Collar Bone

Four-year-old Douglas Ogden suffered a fractured left collar bone Wednesday when he ran out into Simcoe St. from behind a parked car and collided with the right front fender of a car driven by John C. Thompson, 175 London St.

Thompson said he slammed on his brakes as quickly as he could, but could not avoid hitting the youngster.

The boy was at first taken to his home. A few minutes later Constable William A. Scott went to the boy's home at 176½ Simcoe St. Accompanied by the boy's father, James Ogden, he took the boy to the Peterborough Clinic where it was found he had a fractured collar bone and a skinned left arm below the elbow.

Volcano Still Active

HONOLULU, June 8.—(AP).—The volcano Mauna Loa on the island of Hawaii, which erupted one week ago, still was pouring a river of lava today into the ocean 25 miles away. Capt. Charles Eggers of Hawaiian Airlines, said the river of red-hot rock, with branches like fiery fingers, still was a spectacular show.

Fire Destroys Exams

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 8.—(AP).—The $3,500,000 fire that swept Haven Hall on the University of Michigan campus Tuesday destroyed a batch of final exam papers. But the students won't have to take the exams over. Literary college Dean Hayward Keniston said Wednesday final grades will be made by judgment of the professors.

Stabbed For 20 Cents

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP).—An argument over 20 cents change resulted in the fatal stabbing of a Coney Island bartender Wednesday night. Dead of an abdominal wound was Joseph Pomeranz, 51, father of three children. Police arrested Raymond Kevlin, 48-year-old unemployed seaman. They said Kevlin, accusing Pomerantz of short-changing him, got a bread knife from the tavern kitchen and attacked Pomerantz.

Town Named For Autry

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP).—United States government maps and papers henceforth will carry a little Oklahoma town near Ardmore as "Gene Autry, Okla." The government's board of geographic names made it offical today, giving the cowboy movie star's name to a community that has been known as Berwyn.

Police Hunting High Graders

TORONTO, June 8 (CP)—Police said Wednesday they are hunting down a high-grading ring which makes "gold buttons" out of brass filings and gold dust.

A raid on a west-end roominghouse uncovered 30 ounces of unrefined gold, brass filings, scales, moulds, and a number of gold-colored buttons.

Norman Sileus, 25, and Cecile Klemenko, 25, both of Toronto, were charged with illegally possessing gold-bearing quartz. Police said two other men, both from the North Bay district, are being sought.

The gold and the equipment was found in the false ceiling of a bedroom closet. Police said they believed the gold came from Northern Ontario and that the buttons were intended for sale in the United States.

Some were pure gold, intended to be used as a come-on to induce the victim to buy the worthless gold-colored brass filings, police said.

Ottawa To Pay 12 Million For Rehabilitation In Manitoba Flood Area

Dominion Will Also Bear 75% of Cost Of Diking, Other Measures; Total Flood Damage Reaches 26 Million

OTTAWA, June 9—(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott announced in the Commons today that the Federal government will grant $12,500,000 to the Manitoba government as an "initial payment" for Red river valley flood rehabilitation. He announced also that the Dominion will bear 75 per cent. of the cost of diking and other remedial measures, as was done in the Fraser valley floods in 1948. Turning briefly to the disastrous fires at Rimouski and Cabano, Que., he said the Federal government has not yet had a chance to discuss with Premier Duplessis of Quebec the report of the Commission which investigated the fires. It is anticipated a statement will be made on the fires next week.

Mr. Abbott, just back from a trip to the flood area where he had conferences with provincial officials, tabled an interim report by the joint Federal-Provincial Commission appointed to investigate the extent of flood damage.

Total Cost

The commissioners reported that "in the aggregate and subject to necessary further detailed investigations, excluding intangibles, personal effects and crop losses," the total cost of the Manitoba flood was $26,631,880.

This included damage "in the neighborhood" of $16,424,646, cost of flood fighting $7,089.056, cost of emergency relief $618,178, cost of emergency precautions to guard against recurrence of flood conditions $2,500,000.

The 21-page, 6,000-word report stressed that municipalities such as St. Boniface, St. Vital, Fort Garry, East and West Kildonan —whose streets, sidewalks, sewers bridges and water systems suffered heavily—would need "substantial aid." They did not have the resources in equipment, cash, taxation potential or credit to deal with the problem themselves.

The RCMP reported by actual count that 795 barns had been submerged and damaged and 67 barns destroyed. The commission said it "would not quarrel" with the estimate of the provincial deputy minister that the necessary repairs to farm implements, trucks and automobiles would cost $400,000.

Predict Russia Will Sign Separate Peace

BERLIN, June 9—(AP)—Allied officials predicted Thursday night that Russia will make a separate peace with Eastern Germany late this year after "civilianizing the Soviet zone to serve as a satellite of Moscow. They see no likelihood of a Soviet troop withdrawal, however.

The spadework will include the replacement of general of the army Vassily L. Chuikov by a career diplomat as chief of the Soviet Control Commission, allied sources say.

Basing their prediction on manoeuvring already under way to give a civilian face to the Soviet regime, they forecast that a separate peace will be proclaimed soon after the first East German elections next Oct. 15.

The election is certain to confirm the present Communist-led provisional government. A Soviet-style single list of approved candidates will appear on the ballots.

Those accused of being "bourgeois collaborators" now in the East German Cabinet are likely to be dismissed in the new order. East German Communists are openly planning a "proletarian dictatorship" similar to those in other Eastern European countries of the Soviet bloc.

The biggest apparent obstacle to a separate peace was cleared away Tuesday when Walter Ulbricht, Communist deputy premier, signed a renunciation of Germany's claim to eastern territories occupied by Poland since the war.

Forecaster Sees Relief Sunday

TORONTO, June 9 —(CP)— Weather forecasters today held out hope for "some relief" this week-end after the first heat wave of the season.

With temperatures expected again to reach 85 to 90 degrees today in most parts of central and southern Ontario, weather men said there would probably be little change Saturday but that it would likely be cooler by Sunday.

However, no sharp drop is expected.

Northern Ontario, while enjoying cooler weather, was also getting showers and thunderstorms, which were expected to continue.

Some isolated thunderstorms and showers are expected to develop in southern Ontario regions afternoon.

Scotland Yard Starts Bribery Investigation

LONDON, June 9 (Reuters)— Scotland Yard is to investigate allegations of bribery in British radio.

The director of public prosecutions has ordered the investigation after studying a secret report —said to name well-known British radio personalities—submitted recently by Sir William Haley, director-general of the BBC.

(Sir Valentine Holmes, British lawyer who investigated similar allegations for the BBC governors in 1947, reported then that there was "no solid foundation for any charge of bribery, corruption, or partiality against BBC staff.")

Report U.S. Bomber Shoots Itself Down

LONDON, June 9 (AP) — A United States B-29 bomber which fell in flames into the North Sea Wednesday with a loss of at least three lives shot itself down during gunnery practice, headquarters of the 3rd Air Division said today.

Bullets from the plane's .50-calibre machine-guns struck the right outboard engine during a firing run on a gunnery range off the Norfolk coast, setting the plane on fire.

An air force spokesman said failure of normal safety devices with which the big plane was equipped permitted the gunfire from its own turret to strike the outboard engine.

Prisoners Of Owls

DETROIT, June 9—(CP) —A flock of embattled owls kept Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sheppard of suburban Detroit virtually prisoners in their own home Thursday night. The couple was entertaining friends when the incident occurred. The guests started to leave shortly before midnight, and the Sheppards walked out on the porch with them. Suddenly a squadron of owls attacked, clawing a gash on Sheppard's head, and driving the others into the house. It took the riot gun of a deputy sheriff to bring one of the owls down, and liberate the shut-in Sheppards and their guests.

Must Aid Europe Or Disaster Truman Warns

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 9 (AP) —President Truman said today that abandonment of aid to western Europe after the Marshall Plan is finished would be disastrous to peace.

In a world "full of dangers," he said, the United States must continue its contributions to free countries lest "the Communists move in."

He made it clear in an address prepared for graduation exercises of the University of Missouri that he is convinced "our vital national interest in a healthy world economy" will not end when Marshall Plan aid stops in 1952.

"You hear a lot of talk these days to the effect that the world is full of dangers, and that our civilization is heading straight for disaster.

"Of course, the world is full of dangers—the world has always been full of dangers, for people in very country and at every period of history."

But in spite of these dangers, he added, "our civilization need not wind up in disaster."

Can Scale Heights

"It can go on to greater heights. Those who are frightened and dismayed do not have faith that men will use scientific advances for good ends. They see only the dangers in the world—not the opportunities."

Truman cited American foreign aid to the democracies after the last war when it "became clear that one nation did not want to help world recovery."

Cancel Sunday Game

NEW YORK, June 9—(AP) —Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler today ordered Fred Saigh, owner of St. Louis Cardinals, to cancel a proposed Sunday night game with Brooklyn Dodgers because it "would not be in the best interests of baseball." Chandler said playing the game Sunday night would "cause us to forfeit the respect and good will of thousands of the religious people of the country."

Rainy Lake Flood Cripples Important Fishing Industry

FORT FRANCES, June 9 (CP) —The lucrative Fort Frances fishing industry has been crippled by Rainy Lake's spring run-off, industry officials said today.

The lake, already 4½ feet above flood level, at some points is higher than the all-time 1916 mark. Experts say it may not drop to the bench mark—first-flood stage—until Sept. 1.

Conservative estimates today placed damage to the entire lake area, 200 miles east of Winnipeg in northwestern Ontario, around the $1,000,000 mark.

George C. B. Smith, president of the Rainy Lake Commercial Fishermen's Organization, said members have lost $150,000 in production alone so far. Ninety-five per cent had lost their winter ice packs—vital to preserving the summer's catch for shipping —and all ice stores would be gone within 15 days.

Smiths Fisheries, one of the larger plants with its own railroad station, is closed down with docks under 31 inches of water.

Most of the concentrated tourist-resort area, west of town along Rainy River and the Lake of the Woods area, was in no danger. But tourist and private summer cottages east of here in the Point Park area are deep in water.

Docks and outdoor fixtures have been swept away. Whole islands have disappeared and others been created by the surging waters.

Indians on the nearby Redgut Indian Reserve are hard hit. Two families have already evacuated, and water is up to the windows on some dwellings.

Believe Train Set Afire To Hide Theft

Five Passengers Die As Flames Sweep Three Coaches

BEATTOCK, Scotland, June 9—(CP)—Police today were investigating a theory that fire which swept three coaches of a Birmingham-Glasgow express train Thursday night, killing five passengers and injuring several others, may have broken out after train robbers had been at work.

The theory was based on a report that jewelry worth £10,000 ($31,000) was missing from the locked baggage car after the accident.

Detectives questioned survivors and members of the train crew seeking to discover whether the jewelry had been lost by accident or whether it had been stolen.

The jewelry, belonging to a Birmingham firm, was contained in several packets consigned to Glasgow. A director of the firm travelled to Lanarkshire to help trace the jewels and salvage men were brought in to dig in the debris of the burned-out coaches.

Victims Identified

The fire victims were identified this morning after anxious relatives of the train's passengers had streamed to the scene of the fire. They included a Glasgow mother and her two children, aged 4 and 2. All the dead were found in a compartment in the first coach behind the engine.

Fire broke out in the coaches as the express roared northwards towards Beattock Summit on the borders of Dumfries and Lanarkshire.

Fanned by the speed of the train, the flames swept through the first three coaches. These were ablaze when the train ground to a halt near this village, 60 miles southeast of Glasgow.

Lanarkshire fire brigade headquarters said all three of the cars that caught fire were "burned out."

The bodies of the victims were found in the third compartment of the second coach.

Adam Moffatt, a truck worker, spotted the blazing coaches as the train roared toward Beattock. He ran down the track toward the train, waving his arms to attract the engineer's attention. As the train halted, Moffatt ran to the coaches and pulled open the doors.

The fire eventually was completely extinguished and the train left for Glasgow.

Britain's worst train disaster occurred near Beattock in May, 1915, when 224 people were killed and 246 injured in a collision between a troop train and a passenger train.

Conductor Albert Bastien said the fire appeared to have started in the compartment where the five died. There was no official indication of the cause, but British railway officials said the blaze is "under investigation."

Doesn't Believe Bear Ate Child

QUEBEC, June 9—(CP)—Dr. Armand Brassard, director of the Quebec Zoological Gardens, Thursday discounted the possibility that little Nicole Renaud might have been devoured by bears because no fragments of clothing or bones were found by searchers.

Close to 1,000 men scoured the woods at Chateau Bigot eight miles north of Quebec for three days after the girl was reported lost Saturday. No trace of the three-year-old tot was found.

Dr. Brassard, a widely-known zoologist, said "I find it hard to conceive that a bear is responsible for the disappearance of the Renaud child."

"If she was attacked by a bear there would certainly be fragments of clothing and had she been devoured bones would have been found."

Dr. Brassard said he had received no reports of bears roaming the woods near here. He said plenty of food was available to black bears at this time of year and the animals were not likely to roam close to farmhouses and inhabited areas.

Says US Forces Not Ready Even By 1951

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)— United States armed forces won't be sufficient to fight a major war even by July, 1951, Gen. Omar N. Bradley has told Congress.

The chairman of the joint US chiefs of staff added, however, in testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee, that he feels the US is on the way to attaining "the necessary forces to prevent a disastrous attack from crippling this nation."

"I also believe that our forces in being and our mobilization base will be sufficient together with the forces and potential of friendly nations, to win a war if it comes, Bradley said in testimony released by the Senate committee.

Bradley, in testifying in support of a $13,000,000,000 military budget for the year beginning next July 1, said the aim is to build up forces which, in the event of an attack, "can strike a retaliatory blow that will be enough to slow down the aggressor while we mobilize."

Rely On Industry

"Beyond that point," he said, "we must rely on the tremendous power of our industrial potential, our reserve forces, our military educational system—in fact, what we term our mobilization base—ultimately to win a war if it is thrust upon us. That is a risk that we take."

Bradley said that if Russia goes to war the Russians probably will move in the Far East as well as in Europe.

Bradley added that since it became known last September that the Russians have "solved the atomic bomb," he has been more concerned than ever before over defence of Alaska.

Remove Part Of Heart Three Patients Live

LOS ANGELES, June 9 (AP)— Surgeons at Wadsworth Veterans Hospital have successfully cut away portions of the hearts of three patients, Dr. Thomas Barrett, chief of medical services, reported today.

Clots were found to be forming in certain pouches of the hearts. A specially-designed clamp was applied in each case. Members of the the Department of Surgery at the University of California Medical Centre here cut away each of the faulty pouches (auricular appendices) and stitched together the openings into the heart.

The main chambers (auricles) of the heart have appendices that help pump blood. They appear as bulges on the heart's surface, and not as a dangling tube as in the intestinal appendix. In some types of heart disease stagnant blood accumulates in the auricular appendix, clots and eventually moves into the bloodstream. If carried to vital spots, such as the brain, death resulted.

Red Groups Go Underground Worse Than In Wartime

WASHINGTON, June 9—(AP)—J. Edgar Hoover has told Congress that American Communists are going underground, and that there are more subversive activities in the United States than "at any period during the last world war."

"Communism today is at a greater height in the United States than either Nazism or Fascism was" during the Second World War, the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said.

What's more, he added, it is centred in strategic areas and in strategic industries. In testimony before a Congressional committee, Hoover said:

"Forty-eight per cent of the membership of the Communist party is in the basic industry of this country. In this manner they would be able to sabotage essential industry in vital defence areas in the event of a national emergency.

"Our investigations disclose that Communist activities are most pronounced in such strategic industrial areas as New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, California and Michigan.

Push Infiltration

"Communist efforts toward infiltration have been intensified in basic industries vital to our security such as steel, heavy machinery, mining, communications, transportation, the electrical industry and maritime industry."

Hoover's statements were made to a Senate appropriations subcommittee in testimony released Thursday night.

He reported that the recent trial of 11 Communist party leaders in New York prompted party members to institute a security program of their own—even including an investigation of the party's own executive committee.

"The trend has been toward the perfection of a highly-developed underground apparatus and decentralization of Communist party operations," Hoover said.

No Cards Issued

"As a security measure, no Communist party membership cards were issued in 1949. The maintenance of membership records has been discontinued. Members speak in a jargon of double talk and use codes in correspondence....

"Public meetings are maintained at an absolute minimum. Party records have been destroyed or removed to clandestine hiding places.

"Secret printing facilities and supplies have been secreted for future underground operations... the party today is in the process of selecting individuals for secret leadership of its underground apparatus."

All this, Hoover said, has made it more difficult for the F.B.I. to slip its own operatives into high Communist party positions.

Says Negligence Big Fire Cause

MURRAY BMAY, Que., June 9 (CP)—Responsibility for 54,495 Canadian fires costing more than $64,000,000 last year lies "in negligence, inadequate prevention methods in the erection of buildings and ignorance of fire dangers," the Dominion Board of Insurance underwriters was told today.

R. de Grandpre, of Montreal, chairman of the joint fire committee of the board and the Canadian Underwriters' Association, told the board's annual meeting the property loss figure did not take into account additional loss of salaries and commercial revenue. These he estimated at close to $200,000,000 He also pointed to the 1949 fire deaths of 534 Canadians.

Mr. de Grandpre said that forest fires alone last year totalled nearly 5,000, and burned 300,000,000 cubic feet of lumber —"the equivalent of half the annual consumption of the Canadian pulp and paper industry."

Ontario Dairy Producers Setting Up A New Board

TORONTO, June 9 (CP)—An Ontario Dairy Producers' Co-ordinating board has been set up with C. Weaver of Owen Sound, president of the Whole Milk Producers League of Ontario as the first chairman.

A joint meeting of the executives of the Whole Milk Producers League, cheese producers, concentrated milk producers and cream producers approved formation of the league.

Three men from each of the four executives will serve on an executive committee to direct the board's operation. They are: C. Weaver, G. Greer and R. F. Lick, Whole Milk Producers League; Charles Harkness, O. Coons and Charles Heath, cheese producers; A. Graham, J. Jenkins and Charles Milton, concentrated milk producers; and J. Gifford, L. Davis and R. H. Jardine, cream producers.

Mr. Gifford is vice-chairman and Mr. Jardine secretary of the new board, which replaces a somewhat similar one which ceased to function several years ago.

In a statement today announcing formation of the board, Mr. Weaver said:

"This board has been formed with the hope that, by co-ordinating the efforts of the four dairy producer groups, we might more effectively protect and improve the position of milk and cream producers in Ontario."

Four Suspects Arrested In Toronto

Robbed of $7.50 After 60-Mile Ride With Knife In Ribs

TORONTO, June 9—(CP)— Police today arrested four Toronto youths on charges of robbery with violence in connection with the early-morning kidnapping of taxi-driver Russell Chapman. The suspects were identified as James Crosben, 21; Robert Bickle, 18; Robert Gilmour, 20, and Ronald Evans, 19.

Chapman was driven 60 miles north to Hillsdale, Ont., tied to a tree and robbed of his wallet, watch, hat, cab and $7.50 in cash.

Chapman, a commando during the Second World War, said a knife was pressed into his side during the ride north. The thugs bound him to a tree with an electric-iron cord and with his own belt.

He said he "screamed myself hoarse" trying to attract the attention of motorists. Gordon Thompson, a farmer, finally spotted Chapman and summoned Constable James Freeman of Elmvale, who released the cabbie.

Four youths, clad in brightly-colored zoot suits, later were arrested at Wasaga Beach. Cpl. A. Ayers of the Ontario Provincial Police said they were to be held until Chapman saw them.

The youths told police they hitch-hiked from Toronto and arrived at Wasaga at 7 a.m.

Badly Bitten

Chapman, 30, had been tied to the tree for three hours when freed. He was nearly exhausted and badly bitten by mosquitos.

He said he believes his captors were former prisoners at the Ontario reformatory in Guelph. He heard them talking about Guelph and about an escape that had been made.

He picked up the youths outside a hotel in downtown Toronto about 2:35 a.m., he told police. They asked to be driven to a North Toronto street. When they were near the address one youth

Say Colville Ranger Coach

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 9— (AP)—The New Haven Register says today that Neil Colville is slated to replace Lynn Patrick, who resigned recently, as coach of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

Sports editor Charles W. Kellogg says hockey sources here— where Colville served as coach-manager of the recently disbanded New Haven Ramblers—and in Canada have told him that Colville will take over as boss of the Rangers' most popular veterans, already has been informed of his new post, the paper reports.

Shortly after the close of the American Hockey League wars, Colville, 36-year-old native of Edmonton, told him, Kellogg says, that he would be retained in the Ranger organization "either in a coaching or scouting role." At that time no final decision had been made, on the disposition of the Ranger farm team in this city.

More Paratroopers Than Nazis In 1940

OTTAWA, June 9 — (CP) — Canada now has more paratroopers than Germany dropped on the low countries of Europe in the opening invasion of 1940, Defence Minister Claxton said Thursday.

He gave no figures but added that the army's airborne brigade is 80 per cent up to strength. Its target strength has never been announced but has been reported around 7,000 men.

The training of these airborne infantry battalions has been about completed and many other soldiers from various units also have taken the prescribed five jumps at the Rivers, Man., training base. That would mean somewhere beyond 2,000 men.

Canada Has Not Undertaken New Military Role Under Atlantic Pact Plan

Policy of Balanced Collective Forces Has No Immediate Effect On Canadian Forces Or Planning

OTTAWA, June 9—(CP)—The Commons, opening a wide-ranging debate on defence, heard Defence Minister Claxton declare Thursday that Canada has undertaken no new military commitments under Atlantic Pact arrangements. He told the Chamber the Pact's policy of balanced collective forces is "implicit in collective defence" and will have "no immediate effect" on Canadian forces or planning. At the same time, the country was ready to sit down and discuss her part in planning the best possible total pact defence. If commitments came, they would be made by parliament and the government.

The opening phases of the debate brought criticism from opposition members and George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, called on Mr. Claxton to produce a detailed statement of units and establishments of the Army, Navy and Air Force, including an outline of expenditures for each item.

Lt.-Col. Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary East), speaking as an individual, suggested Canada should take the lead in urging the rearming of Germany and proposed that Franco Spain be brought within the framework of the Atlantic Pact.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, protested the discharge of a Regina man from the RCAF for allegedly having a Communist background, and Mr. Claxton replied that the man, a radar and electronics experts, had been a member of the young Communist league in the late 1930s.

Second Man

The minister indicated at least one other man had been discharged for similar reasons.

He disclosed that federal and provincial authorities will meet within the next few months to work out plans for civilian defence in Canada at the provincial level. The planning has been completed at the federal level by Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, co-ordinator of civil defence.

Mr. Claxton reported also that the army's airborne division is 80 per cent up to strength, that 405 Canadian servicemen now are abroad (most as students) and that Canada now has more trained paratroops than Germany dropped on the Low Countries in 1940.

Dealing with Atlantic Pact decisions, he said the only immediate effect the policy of balanced forces would have on Canada would result from surpluses of certain equipment, such as battleships. As for equipment purchases, Canada always had to decide the best ways to spend limited funds.

Concentrate On RCAF

Mr. Drew suggested any development of the new concept of balanced collective forces means

Merchants Protest Rowdyism On Streets

Merchants on Charlotte St. between Aylmer and George Sts. in a letter asked the Police Commission on Thursday for more protection from rowdyism of youths who hang about the streets at night.

They cited incidents in which bar door handles had been pulled off and used to smash a glass door.

They also complained many awning bars had been bent by youths swinging on them.

The letter said that last fall one police constable who had done his duty in arresting one youth had been "made to appear folish" in court by the defence lawyer.

"We feel the Police Commission should stand behind the constable and support him when such cases come before the court," the letter read.

Because of last fall's incident the police now "seem hesitant to request loiterers to move and not permit them to congregate and commit such acts of rowdyism," the letter stated.

Chief Constable John Thompson said he would do all that was possible to stop the rowdyism.

Board Asks Why Penny Bank Closed

The Penny Bank has been discontinued again. A letter from and Grey and Bruce Trust and Savings Company, read Thursday night to the Board of Education, informed the board that the company was discontinuing its operation of the penny savings accounts.

Dr. Russell Morgan asked why, and board chairman F. H. Jobbitt said he understood it was because it was costing the trust company too much to operate the service.

K. S. Wightman, secretary of the board, saaid he understood the Penny Bank had been a success from the savings standpoint, but that the company felt it was not geting the proper returns.

"I don't think it would have hurt them to carry it through June. Notifying the board by letter on May 31 and closing down the same day was very ittle notice," said G. W. Craw.

Injuries Fatal For Motorcyclist

BELLEVILLE, June 9—Injured Monday when his motorcycle crashed into the side of a truck, Vernon Bradshaw, 23, RR 4, Belleville, died in hospital Thursday. He suffered a fractured skull, broken nose and other injuries in the accident.

Bradshaw was riding on No. 2 Highway, two miles west of the city, when a truck driven by Jack Clarke, Holloway, crossed the highway in front of him. Bradshaw was catapulted over the handlebars and struck his head on the steel dump box. An inquest has been ordered by Coroner Dr. J. Russell Scott.

Judge Refuses

John W. Brooke of Toronto, defence counsel, had already told the jury it was an affair of no great seriousness.

Mr. Bradshaw told the jury that this country would have the type of justice administered by its juries. He hoped this jury would not be "suckers" enough to believe some of the flimsy excuses.

Referring to a case heard in the court the previous day, when the jury was asked to believe that a man would take his girl friend home in a truck when he had a car at hand, Mr. Bradshaw declared that if that type of story was going to be accepted, this country would have to accept that type of law.

They had admitted that whatever rumpus there was, was caused by their party and they went back to apologize, Mr. Bradshaw said.

Asks Light Sentence

In asking for a light sentence Mr. Brooke said James Zahodnik had an excellent war record. He volunteered for the Canadian Army and re-volunteered to serve overseas with the British Army. He fought as a tank man.

"We could probably put this affair down to drinking," Mr. Brooke said. James Zahodnik was not the type of man who usually liked to fight. He was a married man with family responsibilities and his employer, Dan Vertlieb, said he was a good father and a trustworthy employee.

Speaking of John Zahodnik, Mr. Brooke said he was a kind man, married, with three children. He owned his own truck and by use of it, earned the money to support his family. John had had no previous conviction. James had been convicted in 1935 or 1936 or receiving a stolen bicycle.

Mr. Bradshaw reiterated that there seemed to be a tendency to make liquor an excuse. This was a tourist centre. People were coming here on holidays and drinking more than probably they would normally.

"Our public in this tourist centre are entitled to protection in their places of business."

His Honor said there had been too much horseplay and probably one drink got them into trouble. He considered John Zahodnik's case is less serious.

BARBERS DISCUSS INCREASE

Discussions are going on now among city barbers which may lead to an increase in the cost of haircuts. If put into effect, an increase of 15 cents for cutting of men's hair would bring the price to 75 cents, with boys' cuts advancing five cents to 40. The price of shaves would remain the same.

FAWN AND PHEASANTS

Birth notices at the Filtration Park zoo show the arrival of this season's first fawn on Thursday and the day before, hatching of six ringneck pheasant chicks Jim Harrison is keeping his eye on the swan situation but does not think there will be any cygnets this year.

Quebec Royally Entertains Press Visitors

QUEBE7C, June 9 — (CP) — Delegates to the Seventh Imperial Press Conference today continued a round of social engagements and visits with the first official opening functions behind them.

The conference held its first business session Thursday—the last one until the June 14-17 sittings at Ottawa—and attended the inaugural banquet tendered by the Canadian section of the conference.

Today, the delegates were due to visit the booming industrial district of St. Malo here. A visit to the Isle of Orleans has been arranged for this afternoon with a reception at the country residence of Maj. C. G. Dunn, president of Quebec Newspapers Limited, publishers of the Chronicle-Telegraph, this city's only English language daily.

At Thursday's business session, Col. the Hon. John J. Astor, chairman of the Times Publishing Co., Ltd., London was elected chairman of the conference for the fourth consecutive time. Senator Rupert Davies, publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard and head of the Canadian delegation, was elected vice-chairman.

Warm Welcome

Col. Astor addresses the banquet at which the overseas delegates were welcomed by Senator Davies, Lt. Col. Henri Gagnon, president of Quebec Le Soleil, who spoke in French on behalf of Canada's French language newspapers, and Hon. Paul Beaulieu, minister of trade and commerce in the provincial government.

Col. Asor told the delegates that the Empire Press Union, of which he is president and chairman of the council since 1929, will always have a role to play in the defence of freedom.

"Instead, that nation wished to prolong and intensify the misery of others, so that it could gain domination over them. The plain intent of that nation was to overthrow the tradition of freedom which is shared by our country and many others."

Chose To Help

He said the United States chose to work with other countries to build up strength to withstand aggression rather than to abandon the rest of the free world and "try to become strong enough all by ourselves."

The program, Truman said calls for a community of nations which can resist Communism whether its aggression takes the form of "internal subversion or external attack."

Truman devoted a major part of his address to a discussion of the economic measures under way and to follow cessation of the Marshall Plan to keep Western Europe strong.

He told the studies now being made by Gordon Gray, former secretary of the army, to find a substitute for Marshall Plan aid and to offset a situation in which U.S. imports run $5,000,000,000 less than exports.

floor of that No. 1 building.

In recent years the compound has been converted into other departments. Wire and cable has moved off elsewhere in the Peterborough Works, greatly changed with improved processing since the days when "Bob" Starr presided in the compound.

Most Helpful Invention

Looking back over his experience, Mr. Starr is somewhat humorously convinced that the lift truck is the most helpful invention of this century. It is doing the job men used to bend their backs at, particularly in picking up reels of wire and rolling away with them. On some of the bigger spools of cable, Mr. Starr recalled that five men would be needed to get one of them into position.

The name of Bob Starr was long associated with foremanship and deparmental responsibility, but with time's inevitable course his own day is ended.

As he turns his back on the Works for the last time, he has the grateful satisfaction of good health in the record that he is quitting as the present employee with the longest continuous service with CGE.

pressed a spring knife against Chapman's neck and told him:

"Keep on going and don't try anything funny."

Knife Against Ribs

After they passed the city limits, the youth took over the wheel. Another youth climbed into the front seat. Chapman was placed between them an a knife was held against his ribs. Near Barrie, the youths stopped for gasoline.

"They warned me before we stopped that I would get it good if I tried to give an alarm to the service station attendant," said Chapman. "One thug was all for cutting me up, but the others quickly shut him up."

The youths said little during the rest of the drive.

Just before we came to Elmvale, they stopped the cab and made me get out. They took me into a field about 50 yards from the highway and tied me to a tree. They used an old piece of electric cord I had in my cab.

"Then they searched me and took everything. They took my personal papers, my wallet, my driver's ilcence and about $7.50 in cash. After that they went back, got in my cab and drove away."

Conference Asks Freer Exports Of Farm Goods

STOCKHOLM, June 9 (Reuters). — The International Federation of Agricultural Producers, at its final plenary session here Thursday, called for freer exports and imports of farm produce.

"One of the great impediments to this is the non-convertibility of currencies," a resolution said. "The main cure is more production so that goods can be paid for in goods."

Another resolution passed by the Federation asked governments "to give the United Nations Organization, and particularly its Food and Agriculture Office, sufficient powers and resources for their international activity."

H. H. Hannam of Ottawa, president of the International Federation, said the most important resolution was the appeal for freer imports and exports.

"This does not mean we want to return to the laissez faire system which characterized pre-war trade," he added. "It is clear, however, that free goods exchanges between countries must be brought about if we are to reach the recovery and convertibility of currencies we are all striving for."

The conference re-elected Hannam, who is president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, as president. France's chief delegate, Pierre Martin, was elected vice-president.

United Counties Council Discuss H.S. Districts; To Name Assessor

COBOURG, June 9.—A talk by the assessor for Peterborough County, S. G. Sparling, at Thursday's session of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council was followed by a recommendation from the Equalization Committee hat a counties assessor be appointed for Northumberland and Durham. Without a dissenting voice, the council adopted the report of the Equalization Committee and passed a resolution to advertise for a county assessor.

Council passed the following by-laws:

Renewal of the lease of the counties offices in the town hall from the town of Cobourg; licencing of junk shops, second hand dealers, etc.; the school rate levy for counties pupils attending high and continuation schools and vocational schools; bylaw covering the equalized assessment, which is the same as last year; bylaw establishing a high school district for all of east Northumberland; bylaw establishing a high school area in Durham County; a bylaw to levy a rate of 11 mills; bylaw to rescind the fox bounty bylaw.

Considerable Discussion

There was considerable discussion in regard to the nigh school area in Northumberland and also in connection with Durham. These bylaws are subject to approval by the department and will again come up at a special session to be held in the later part of this month.

Earlier in the session a deputation from school sections in the north end of Percy addressed the counties council to ask that they be detached from the Brighton area in order that they could continue to send their children to Campbellford High School. Thursday morning the Consultative Committee reported that the committee was unable to agree on the area. Leonard Gordon of Colborne, member of the committee, said that he felt that the original grouping was the best with two areas, one being Seymour, Campbellford, Percy and Hastings and the other being Murray, Brighton township, Cramahe, part of Haldimand, Colborne and Brighton villages. Each area was large enough to support a school. However, the best thing to do now would be to join both areas.

Disagreement

Reeve R. J. Locke commented that he couldn't agree on both being in one high school district. It was unfortunate that the change in the Act created the situation whereby the school sections had been told once that they could pull out if they didn't like the area but now under the Act, their movements were restricted.

Reeve E. Woodyard, chairman of the consultative committee suggested that a by-law be drafted setting up one area and then sent on to the Dept. for approval. In that way it would be learned whether the Dept. would approve the by-law.

In the afternoon session Reeve Woodyard suggested that the two high school area boards meet with the Dept. and that council come to a decision by July 1st of this year. Mr. McKiel of the Percy Township delegation had told him he was willing to wait if more meetings could be held. It was the first time that the two boards had ever got together, when they met on Wednesday night.

Reeve Wartman's amendment to the consultative committee carried 20-19.

Durham HS District

In connection with the Durham High School district the committee recommended that it be comprised of Darlington, Clarke, Manvers, part of Cavan, and Newcastle, Millbrook, Bowmanville and Port Hope and that a by-law be drawn up to that effect. A second by-law was recommended that the north part of Cavan be removed from the Peterborough Suburban Area and reverted to Durham. The latter by-law is for the purpose of having something to submit to Peterborough County Council.

Reeve Norman Ellison and Deputy-Reeve G. Jamieson moved an amendment that Bowmanville be in a smaller area made up by Darlington, Newcastle, west half of Clarke and southern part of Manvers. Reeve Woodyard said that such an amendment would throw the whole thing out of shape.

However, some of the Durham members wanted a little more time to ponder it as their ratepayers were n toas well versed in the matter in view of the speed with which it had been drawn up. On motion council decided to have more information gathered and presented at a special meeting to be held before July 1st this year and the by-law was tabled until then.

In addressing the council yesterday the County Assessor for Peterborough outlined some of the problems met in that county.

The county assessor worked with the local assessors in an advisory capacity. When a general scale prevailed, the local assessment then became the equalized assessment for county purposes. He said that he got very good cooperation from the assessors in Peterborough County. While some assessments had been doubled, it was not because the county assessor was being too hard as sometimes an appellant got an ever higher assessment from the judge. People, who once were very hostile to the county assessor, one even took a swing at him, Mr. Sparling said, were beginning to realize that people were getting treated alike and that the county assessor system was more equitable than what they had before.

Three Teachers Leaving Public Schools

Three resignations were accepted by the Board of Education Thursday from public school teachers—Miss Jean Caverly, Miss Ethel Huffman and Miss Shirley Packard. Miss Huffman is resigning because of ill health.

Report of superintendent K. S. Wightman was read to the board. It showed average attendance at the collegiate to have been 95.32 per cent in May. Out of a possible 24,811 pupil days, there were 23,651.5.

The new teachers for public schools were approved by the board on a motion by Dr. Ralph Honey, seconded by W. E. Bannon. They are Miss Esther Meiklejohn and Miss Ruth Mortlock.

Average attendance at public schools during May was 3,509 pupils, or 95.04 per cent. Admitted into public schools in May were 53 new pupils and 55 were withdrawn, mostly because of children moving to and from the city, and transfers to other schools within the city.

Nurses inspected a total of 395 classrooms during the month and found 138 pupils needed attention for dressings and minor accidents, and that 18 had colds. Eight pupils were taken home ill in May and 36 cases of contagious diseases were reported.

Complete physical examinations totalled 237, most of which were pre-school examinations.

Payments of accounts totalling $11,382.91 and vouchers totalling $60,774.65 were approved on motions by G. W. Craw, chairman of the finance committee, seconded by W. E. Bannon.

Bank balance of the board was shown to be more than $94,000. Mr. Craw said he realized that sounded like a lot of money, but summer expenses were always heavy.

Large Gathering At Funeral

HASTINGS, June 9—(ENS)—The funeral of the late Dr. William Edgar Wilson, who died in a Peterborough hospital on Saturday, was held from his late residence, Albert St., on Tuesday, his pastor, the Rev. J. M. Ritchie, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, in charge, assisted by the Rev. N Cole, of Trinity United Church.

Dr. Wilson was born at Warkworth. He graduated from Campbellford High School and from the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, Toronto, and commenced practising his profession in Hastings in 1901. In 1904, he married Margaret Cook, of Elora, who survives. He also leaves his brother, Frank, of Warkworth.

Dr. Wilson was always interested in any thing for the benefit of the community, serving as councillor and reeve for a number of years. While in the county council he was chairman of the Bridge and Road committee. In politics he was a Conservative, receiving the nomination for the Ontario Legislature, but he did not accept on account of pressing business.

He was chairman of the Hastings Hydro Commission for a number of years and was instrumental in extending hydro throughout the village.

He took an active part in his church, being an elder and a member on the board of managers, also a member of Hastings Masonic Lodge.

The esteem in which he was held was reflected in the number of floral tributes, which came from as far west as Moose Jaw, Sask.

Pall bearers were Clarence Lockhart, J. J. Collins, Cobourg, H. G. Fairman, M. A. O. Shea, F. L. Daly and James Humphries

Floral bearers were J. S Stevenson, Bert Preston, W. S. Fife, T. J. Lynch, Clifford Scriver, F. S. Crate, C. B. Plant, J. C. Taylor, E. J. Petticrew, and Basil Johnston. Burial was in Warkworth cemetery.

Relatives attending the funeral from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald, of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. H. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Mackay, Toronto; Mr. and Charles Honey, r. and Mrs. Clay-Mrs. Charles Honey, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Young, Warkworth; Mr. and Mrs. Barry, Mr. and Mrs. W. Clark, Scotland, Ontario; Mrs. C. King, Waterford; Mr. and Mrs. B. Macklinaghan, Wingham; Mr. and Mrs. J. Walkerville and Mrs. Elmer, Toronto.

Fenelon Falls To Enter New High School Area

LINDSAY, June 9—The village of Fenelon Falls has decided to enter the proposed High School Area in the County of Victoria. This was made known at a meeting of the Board of Education of the Town of Lindsay this week.

Fenelon Falls has voted in favour of building a new public school and if the measures planned by some of the Boards of Education in the County of Victoria are carried out, it was disclosed that two high schools will be necessary; one in Lindsay and the other in Fenelon Falls. Therefore, it was related, the decision to enter into the proposed high school area will have no effect on the erection of the new public school in Fenelon Falls. To date, not all townships in Victoria County have indicated their desire to enter the high school area.

SARA EMILY VERMILYEA

Called 'Auntie V' Mrs. Vermilyea Dies Age Of 94

CAMPBELLFORD, June 9 — (ENS)—Funeral services were held here on Thursday for Mrs. Sara Emily Vermilyea, better known to her many friends in the district as "Auntie V". Except for two short periods spent in Rochester, N.Y., and Toronto, Mrs. Vermilyea lived her entire life in Campbellford. She was 94 years of age. Her husband George predeceased her some thirty years ago. There were no children. Mrs. Vermilyea was the last surviving member of a family of eleven.

Her parents, William and Sara Pettey were pioneers in Percy Township.

Most of Mrs. Vermilyea's life was spent in bettering the lives of others. She was a school teacher, having attended Normal School in Toronto, and had an uncanny gift for instructing backward children. Many pupils who could not seem to grasp the regular school work were turned over to "Auntie V", and many of these students now hold responsible positions. The private school she conducted a number of years ago was quite well known in the district.

Mrs Vermilyea was a member of St. John's United Church and in her younger days was quite active in the womens' organizations. She was a member of the Rebekah lodge.

Rev. Dr. D. V. Smith of St. John's United Church conducted the funeral from the late residence on Canrobert Street. Many floral tributes bespoke the high esteem in which the deceased was held. After the services, the funeral cortege of many cars left for the Warkworth Cemetery, where the body was laid to rest in the family plot.

Sara Vermilyea had been in failing health for the past few years, but could still read her daily paper without the aid of glasses, and was quite adept with her hands. Her sharp mind and many witticisms never failed to give a lift to her many visitors.

The pall bearers were Douglas Maybee, Howard Davidson, Dr. Ward Baker, Hilton Coxwell, Jack Meier and Joseph Smith.

No Easy Decision For Leopold

The general election which was held last weekend in Belgium gave no decisive answer to the question of whether or not the former king, Leopold, should return to the throne. The one thing which was settled by the election was the fate of the Communist party in Belgium; it has been going downhill steadily for the past three years, and the election showed a great falling-off in Communist support. The portion of the vote which the Communists lost appears to have gone to the Socialist party. The winners of the election, the Christian Socialists, have an over-all majority of one seat only; they were the party who contested the election with the promise that they would restore the king if they were elected. But with a majority of one seat their position is not a strong one, and as Leopold very sensibly says, he cannot return to Belgium to be king of one party.

If the Christian Socialists had been able to gain three-quarters of the seats in the Belgian Lower House it might have been safe for them to put Leopold back on the throne. If he had a chance to ingratiate himself with the Belgian people under such circumstances, he might win sufficient popularity to bring the monarchy back into good repute. But he would be foolish to return now.

• • •

Would it be a good thing for the Belgian monarchy to be restored? We are inclined to think that it would. Monarchy has few friends in the world today, but it is a fact that the European countries which have retained their monarchies are the most stable on that continent. Monarchy, like so many other things, is only good or bad according as it is used, and good royal houses contribute greatly to the stability, contentment and decency of national life. The Belgian monarchy has had a good record in modern times, and no less an authority than Winston Churchill has said that Leopold's defection during the war was not his own doing. The memory of his great father, King Albert, still lingers. Leopold may yet serve Belgium well. But not on a majority of one vote.

A Neglected Beautifier

The cosmetic business, we are told, is a very big business involving many millions of dollars each year. People will pay very high prices, it appears, to be made beautiful—or if not positively beautiful, at least more beautiful than they were before. But in the course of some idle reading the other day we came across the following beauty hint in a book called Natural and Artificial Directions for Health, which was written in 1600 by a man called William Vaughan:

> What are the effects of mirth? Mirth enlargeth the heart and disperseth much natural heat with the blood, of which it sendeth a good portion to the face, especially if the mirth be so great that it stirreth a man to laughter. Mirth, I say, maketh the forehead smooth and clear, causeth the eyes to glister and the cheeks to become ruddy.

The physiological reasoning in this passage may be a little out of date, but the sense of it is not. A merry, or at least a pleasant expression adds beauty to a face already beautiful. It takes the curse off faces which have no pretension to beauty. It is a passport to everyone's goodwill. It throws its beneficent shadow over a multitude of other defects.

And yet how seldom a cheerful, merry face is seen, particularly among women! They spend millions in a year to make their faces beautiful, and yet they allow those same faces to wear expressions which are dull and listless, and sometimes downright ugly. Carefully applied shadows and mascaras surround the eyes, but the eyes themselves have the glaze of cold tapioca pudding. The lips are skilfully painted, but their corners are turned down with discontent. Cunningly rouged cheeks hang mirthless upon the chops. And between the well-arched brows is seen, too often, a line of discontent and dissatisfaction with the world.

We approve of cosmetics. But they are useless upon a face which has no inner light. And that inner light springs very often from simple good humour, as William Vaughan pointed out.

Fence Them Out

Collegiate students today are probably an improvement on those of the last generation; we would not presume to say, since no generation can assess itself or the subsequent one fairly. But it seems that the present lot at the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School are rather untidy and feckless about property. The agglomeration of bicycles strewn helter-skelter around the front of the building and on the lawn shows a carelessness of their own bicycles and a poor eye for the appearance of their school. The paths across Confederation Park, the tramped lawns, the litter, and the broken hedge and wire behind the War Memorial, cannot all be blamed on the pupils, but a large part can.

This week the City Council discussed putting up a stout steel fence between the park proper (on a line behind the War Memorial), and the flat ground in front of the Armouries and Collegiate. If something is not done, Confederation Park could become as beaten as the plot between it and the school—which once used to be covered pleasantly with grass. It is no doubt impracticable for the City Council to sue the Board of Education for damage done to the hedges and lawns of the Park. Perhaps the Board could be persuaded (along with the military) to pay for the fence, which will cost $1,300. And perhaps the students could be persuaded to use more care. Even a good fence (which we think necessary) will not keep down the most determined lawn-maulers.

Ninety In The Shade

A hot day again. Can we really allow ourself to complain, after the long, slow, cold ebbing of winter (only ten weeks or so ago) and the late, slow, cold arrival of spring? We wanted warm days; now we have them. We can only complain that spring was so short: three weeks: but any adult in these parts ought to be reconciled now to short springs.

Lax summer is here, and in heat such as today's we may pretend to be too enervated to work. We can be like the clerk in Wilfrid Wilson Gibson's poem. The Canadian Gibson knows how southern Ontario heat feels:

Perched on my city office-stool
I watched with envy, while a cool
And lucky carter handled ice. . .
And I was wandering in a trice,
Far from the gray and grimy heat
Of that intolerable street,
O'er sapphire berg and emerald floe,
Beneath the still, cold ruby glow
Of everlasting Polar night . . . .

And the poet images a dozen cool things until he, like ice-floes, is buried fathoms deep

Beneath that cold, white drifting sleep—
Sleep drifting deep
Deep drifting sleep . . .
The carter cracked a sudden whip:
I clutched my stool with startled grip,
Awakening to the grimy heat
Of that intolerable street.

Well, another job of the hot day done.

A Negro To Moscow?

The suggestion has been made by a widely-circulated American magazine that President Truman would be wise to appoint Dr. Ralph Bunche as U.S. ambassador to Moscow. Dr. Bunche is a Negro, and a man of unusual ability as a diplomat and conciliator. It is suggested that his presence in Moscow would show the Russians that the U.S. is a place where the colour of a man's skin does not debar him from positions of great trust.

It is none of our business, but we think that the suggestion is an unsound one. First of all, we do not think that it would take the Russians half a minute to discern the reason behind Dr. Bunche's appointment, and to work out some means of killing its effect. Nor do we think that Dr. Bunche would wish to accept such an appointment, for such a reason, when hundreds of thousands of Negroes in the U.S.A. live under bad conditions which are imposed upon them by racial discrimination. If the U.S. wants to impress other nations with its liberalism toward Negroes, it must first clear up conditions in some of its Southern States.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Whatever a bird in the hand may be worth, it is bad table manners.

A crumb of comfort for the flooded folk of Manitoba: in Hawaii the flood is of molten lava. That's not cold comfort, either.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Photographs in the Examiner last Monday (May 26th) of the granting of freedom of the city to the Peterborough regiment, and the depositing of the colours in St. John's church, prompt me to ask you two questions. First: why did the officers and soldiers in the church wear their caps? Second: What does being given the freedom of Peterborough mean?

ANSWER: The military attending the service at St. John's church doffed their headgear when entering the church, except the colour party which was still on duty and literally could not. Their hands were occupied with the colours and rifles. Further, it is not proper to salute, present arms, order arms and the like without headgear. All the soldiers worshipping in the church were bareheaded.

To your second question: There is little visible advantage to a regiment's being given the freedom of a city. It is an honour to the Regiment, and a recognition by the city of its importance. One physical manifestation which may be seen on future parades: the Rangers, being free of the city, may march through it with their colours flying and their bayonets fixed.

However, it is doubtful if we shall see this soon, for the Rangers are now an artillery unit (Heavy Anti-Aircraft), and artillery units do not bear infantry weapons such as bayonets, nor do they sport regimental colours.

ALPHA: You were writing last week about Red as an adjective for Communists and radicals. Why, then, the term "red cent"? Did revolutionaries take unto themselves that mean coin, to show themselves different from the dollar-conscious capitalists? And did the conservative capitalists coin the phrase: "He's not worth a red cent", to show their scorn of down-at-the-heel radicals?

ANSWER: The phrase red cent has nothing to do with politics. The phrase: "I don't care a red cent...." was current in the U.S.A. as early as a hundred years ago, and it refers to the colour of the lowly coin, which was originally made of copper, and had a reddish tinge when new. The cent—or copper—is not now made of copper. It is a kind of bronze.

ALPHATIC SEER: When is a city a city? What made Peterborough become a city, for instance? Out in the west they have so-called cities with only three or four thousand people.

ANSWER: The practice of incorporating cities varies provincially, and it does not, as in England, depend on the place's having a cathedral. Peterborough, England, though considerably larger than Peterborough, Ontario, is a city because it has a cathedral. So one hears of "London town" and of "the City of London". London as a town sprawls all over the place, and has a population of millions. The City of London is relatively very small, with only a few thousand people living in it by night. It is the business and dock section surrounding St. Paul's cathedral. Westminster (a part of London) is a city, because it has Westminster Abbey, which is not properly an abbey, but a cathedral.

But to return to Canada. The city of Wetaskiwin, Alberta, had a population of only 2,318 at the last census (1941). The city of Alberni, B.C. had a population of 1,807. In fact, B.C. has no towns, only 27 cities and two villages. I think Merritt, B.C. was the smallest city in Canada in 1941: population 940.

B.C. and all the prairie provinces excepting Manitoba indulge in small cities. Manitoba has four cities: Winnipeg, St. Boniface, Brandon and Portage la Prairie, all over 15,000 excepting Portage whose population is about 7,500.

Quebec has some small cities, but bigger than the pinpricks in the West. Quebec's smallest in 1941 was Arvida, with a population of 4,581. New Brunswick has only one small city, and that had to be, because it is the capital. Fredericton had a population of 10,062 at the last census.

In general, cities are not incorporated in Ontario unless they have at least 15,000 people. It is a rule of thumb. There is one town, Timmins, which runs higher. It is almost as big as Peterborough. The last two Ontario towns to be incorporated as cities were Cornwall in 1944 (population in 1940, 14,117), and Waterloo in 1947, with a population at the last census of 9,025. Probably the bigness of next-door Kitchener has an influence on Waterloo's ambitions.

EPITAPHS: I have had two nibbles at the bait I held out last week for curious epitaphs. Here is one that has come to hand, an epitaphs for an auctioneer. It is on a tomb in Greenwood, U.S.A., so I am informed:

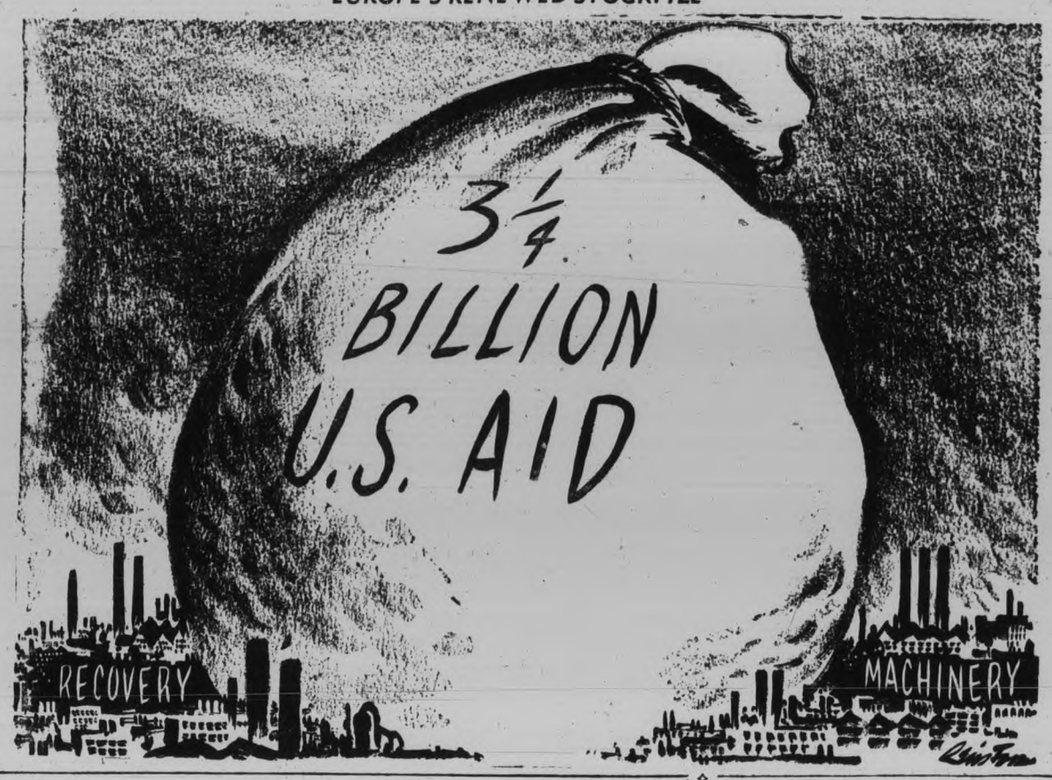
Going — Going — GONE

And the second one, sent in by an Englishman, comes from Selby churchyard in Yorkshire:

Here lies my wife, a sad slattern and a shrew.

If I said I regretted her I should lie too.

Which reminds me of one which has no location and is probably the rhyming invention of a misogynist:



This dear little spot is the joy of my life:
It raises my flowers and covers my wife.

Other contributions will be gratefully received by, yours sincerely, Alpha.

FOR THE RECORD: Peterborough has had a host of notables visiting it in recent weeks: Premier Frost opening the new wing of St. Joseph's hospital; Prime Minister St. Laurent on the first official, unpolitical visit ever paid this city by a P.M., a centennial visit, and to open the new Civic Hospital. This week, two Ontario Ministers, our own Hon. Harold Scott, and Mr. Daley, Minister of Labour, opened the Kiwanis industrial exhibition at the Armouries. The Governor-General is passing through on his way to Lakefield tomorrow. A week from Saturday the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario is paying us a formal call. A notable visitor of mid-week was the sun, which shot the city's temperature to the nineties—a change from the cool weather of the late spring.

EUROPE'S RENEWED STOCKPILE

Russians Told Not To Expect Equality

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

THE Soviet people are now being told more emphatically and unequivocally than ever before that they must relinquish any dreams they ever had about equality—not merely in the present condition of Socialism but also in the future condition of Communism.

Ever since Stalin's famous condemnation of the levelling off of wages (uravnilovka) as a petty-bourgeois conception, the perpetuation of sharp inequalities has been orthodox Soviet policy.

But among the common people there has always been a stubborn hope that the present extreme inequalities would be at least partly smoothed out when the day came for Communism to supersede Socialism and the slogan "to each according to his ability" should give way to the slogan, "to each according to his needs".

And, in fact, for a long time past, while the propagandists have talked a great deal about the approaching transition from Socialism to Communism, they have been careful to avoid anything like a definition of "needs".

During the past fortnight this caution has been cast aside. Opening the new campaign, the economist, Mr. V. G. Lopatkin, in an elaborate broadcast lecture, "in reply to a listener's question", brought Stalin's ideas on the shape of the coming Communist state fully into the open and in terms which everyone could understand.

"According to Stalin", he said, "in a Communist society each citizen would work according to his capabalities and receive consumer goods not in proportion to the work he had done, but in proportion to his requirements as a culturally develped person". He did not define cultural development; but the ordinary Russian worker would take it that Government officials and writers were culturally developed and manual workers not so culturally developed.

They would also no doubt ask how an unculturally developed person receiving little because his needs were low would set about developing himself so that his needs became higher.

Further, Mr. Lopatkin went on to remove all possible doubts about the extent of future inequalities by saying that far from decreasing under Communism they would be bound to increase.

"IT is obvious", he said, "that under Communism as under Socialism there cannot and will not be a levelling-off of wages. The classic Marxist-Leninist writers have always opposed the petty-bourgeois interpretation of equality in a Socialist society. As Stalin has said, the cry for equality has its origin in the peasant way of thought, in the psychology of primitive peasant Communism, the feeling that all good things should be equally divided.

"It has nothing in common with Marxist Socialism and is in complete contradition to the permanent element of difference in individual requirements. . . Socialism has never denied differences in taste or in quantity and quality of requirements. Even more so does this apply in Communism, where the possibility of satisfying requirements will be incomparably greater than under Socialism".

In a word, whatever "to each according to his needs" may mean, it does not mean fair shares.

Radio Tubes Like Paper Clips

(Wall Street Journal)

The time is drawing nearer when you'll be wearing a radio like a wrist watch.

The sub-midget-size electronics equipment that's going to make this possible is already at work. It's saving space and simplifying repair jobs on the instrument panels of planes and guided missiles, in hearing aids, walkie-talkies and computing machines. Manufacturers think it will eventually slim down home radios and television sets.

The experts call it "subminiaturization." Break down the tongue-twister and it means something like "the process of making something smaller than small." That's precisely what electronics men in the aircraft factories here and in allied industries around the country are doing.

They're turning out radio tubes no bigger than paper clips and fingernail-sized transformers, the gadgets that change voltage up or down. They're packing these and other pigmy parts into electronic units that take up a fraction of the space they used to.

When the small-stuff electronics experts use wire, it's so thin it makes human hair look like broom straw. In a lot of cases, they don't even bother with wiring—they literally "print" a path for electricity with a silver solution "ink" that evaporates and leaves the silver to act as "wire."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed. (Matt. 8: 2, 3.)

And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. But when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd.

Then saith he unto his disciples, the harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest. (Matt. 9: 35-38.)

Radio Awards for 1949 Presented On Hour Show

By GLENNE CURRIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Canadian Radio Awards of 1949 were presented to the Dominion's radio artists and organizations recently in an hour-long program on CBC's Trans-Canada Network.

The program marked the second year of th annual awards, provided by the Canadian Association of Adult Education for "distinguished radio production."

First awards of Canadian paintings and certificates went to 10 programs in seven categories. Three special awards were made. Entries in three divisions did not warrant first awards. Honorable mention was given to 11 other programs.

Top award in music went to CBC's Wednesday Night production of Benjamin Britten's opera, "Peter Grimes." In preparation for nearly a year, the program's production, by Terence Gibbs, was termed "first class" by the judges.

The open drama award went to CBC Montreal production of "The Trial," and adaptation of the Franz Kafka novel, produced by Rupert Caplan. Community drama award went to station CKAC, Montreal for "Pacelli le Magnifique," a story of the life of Pope Pius XII.

Wayne and Shuster

The Wayne and Shuster show took the variety award for the second straight year. The Trans-Canada Network comedy program was called "first-class entertainment."

First awards in the commentary and talks department went to Wednesday Night's "Canada's Heritage of Sail," a talk by Thomas Raddal of Liverpool, NS, and to the CBC's French Network for "Introduction a la Poesie du Xxme Siecle," two half-hour talks on 20th-century poetry.

Social and public issues award went to "Cross Section," CBC's Dominion Network documentary series. Programs submitted were "A New Deal for Women" and "Labor's Love Lost."

Three children's programs were given first awards. They were "Le Jeune Roi," a dramatization of Oscar Wilde's story on the French Network, "Listen to the City," an informational program in the schools' series "I Hear British Columbia," jointly produced by the CBC and the British Columbia Department of Education, and "Long, Long Ago," a creative-participation program by the CBC and the Manitoba Department of Education, from the schools' series "Let's Sing Together."

Special Awards

Special awards went to CBC's Wednesday Night, the Canadian Association of Broadcasters' "Report from Parliament Hill" and "Ford Theatre." Wednesday Night's citation read in part "For originality, virtuosity, creativity, and often for superb performance." "Report from Parliament Hill" was cited for "the general high level of public - affairs broadcasting maintained for several season;" "Ford Theatre" for "an example of excellent taste in a commercially-sponsored program."

Participation in the awards broadcast were some of Canada's top radio and music personalities. The awards were made by Sir Ernest MacMillan, conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra and the Toronto Mendelssohn Choir, widely regarded as the country's foremost musician.

Others on hand included comedians John Wayne and Frank Shuster, conductors Geoffrey Waddington, Samuel Hersenhoren, singers Frances James, William Morton and Terry Dale, and announcers Bruce Smith and Max (Rawhide) Ferguson.

With the end of radio's "winter season," the industry was given pause to review the year's work. With the succession of honors, culminating in the Canadian Radio Awards, it could look with pride on a radio that could hold its own with the best in the world.

Mutuals Grab Loose One Over East City

Mutuals lengthened their lead in the City Softball League at the Bowl last night when they pounded out a 15-10 win over East City. Though sloppy in the field, they had the power at the plate with 14 hits, including homers by Crowe and Dalton, and a two-bagger by Hunter. East City were worse defensively, but fought back hard to make it close for a time in the late heats. Their one-man hurling staff of Terry Woods had shaky support all the way. Bob Greenlaw was steady in all but two frames.

Hunter led at bat with four in five tries, as Crowe got three for five, and Giardino, Dalton and Greenlaw two singles apiece. Wade led the losers with three in five attempts, Jaquith having two doubles, Spencer a double and single, Cornwall two singles, and Scriver a four-bagger. A running catch by Giardino in short right centre was a defensive feature in a wide-open tit, marked by arguments with the umpires.

New Golfer Sets Course Record

ARDMORE, Pa., June 9 (AP)—Big time golf, ever on the look-out for a new and magic name, gazed at boyish Lee Mackey, Jr., today and wondered.

Could this grinning young man with the crew haircut and tremendous faculty for fine golf shots prove the electrifying stimulus the old sport needs

"He'll read those headlines and blow sky high tomorrow," commented one leather-faced pro as the crowd gathered around the club house and jabbered about one of the most astonishing rounds in golf history.

"Don't bet on it," countered somebdy else. "That boy is as cool and relaxed as an old dish rag."

True, Mackey, a 26-year-old from Birmingham, Ala., seemed he least concerned about the blazing 64 that set old Merion on its ear Thursday in the first round of the U.S. open tournament.

It was the best round of golf ever played in the 50-year-old fixture and most of the wise men of the links agreed it probably was the best 18 holes ever shot by anyone, anywhere, in major competition.

Certainly the 33-31—64 over Merion's myriad sand traps, weedy roughs and lightning-fast greens—six under par for the 6,694-yard layout—set the folks to buzzing.

Orphans Lose To UEW In 10 Innings

UEW edged the luckless Orphans 7-5 in 10 innings last night in the Bowl in a neat City Softball League number before a fair-sized gallery. They were even on hits and both sides rather loose in the field, but Cooper's pinch-hit single in the overtime frame drove home two runs to make the difference. Lots of arguments developed over umpirical calls to lend interest to the tight scrap. Birch was in good form for the winners, giving way for a pinch-hitter in the 10th, and Hall finishing. Hinton went well for the losers, striking out a dozen.

Jack Mackness was the big clouter for the victors with four for five, including a triple and a double. Legrow got two in five times, and Cooper one for one in a pinch-hitting role which paid off for Manager Tom Walton. Lewis led the losers at bat with three in five, as Richardson got two for four, and Grafstein two in five. Speedy Bill Crowley worked a double on an ordinary single and took third on a bobble once.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Senior "A" lacrosse players don't just happen. They don't become stars over night—nor is there anything miraculous in their graduating to senior status. No, sir (and you, madam) they get that way through continuous hard practice, even the younger chaps. It's quite a knack to catch the ball right and on the run in the gutted stick and it's something to be able to pass it properly. Not to mention checking and goaltending. It's much harder to run fast than to skate like a puckist. Yes, it's a hard, gruelling and skilful game. You fans tonight at 8.45 in Miller Bowl—when Toronto Ravinas play the Petes an OLA senior "A" fixture—may well appreciate skilled workers at their job.

* * * * * * *

Now, baseball of the senior variety is not nearly as rugged as some other sports—no, it is the scientific game. And it has a great many followers. You get a bang out of seeing diamond strategy unfold, along with the breaks and the skilled efforts of established stars. The Viaduct Loop this year is bringing a fine variety of opposition to Peterborough and the Petes aren't doing badly at all against the best in Toronto, New Toronto and Oshawa. Just a breath out of second slot now, and they hope to trim Toronto Dovers at three Saturday aft in Riverside. It will likely be Doug Plunkett on the slab for the men o' Murphy, and a nifty number in prospect.

Gord Willing To Help

It might be that some of the top brass in the minor ball association didn't hustle enough, but in any case none of the west end and few of the north end teams have coaches. South end and East City are doing fine. Gord Young of the southern section has his juveniles out for a drill tonight at 6.30 in Morrow Park, and he is inviting west and north juves to drop around and report to him. They will probably be absorbed in the loop somewhere as a lot of young fellows 18 and 19 years old, want to play. Older people say sure, give the kids lots of sports—but how many older people will get out in the evenings and coach these kids?

While we don't expect the Peterborough entry in the provincial playdown tournaments, for the Canadian men's softball title, to go all the way through, OASA bulletin No. 14 arouses our interest. It says that the 1950 world tourney for amateur softball associations will be held at Austin, Texas. The women's sawoff is at San Antonio, Texas — a place we once visited and found the chili con carne terrifically hot but the femmes rather cold. The men's finals will be Sept. 11 and 16, and a royal welcome is promised by Texan officials. Entries for the men's Ontario eliminations must be forwarded to Frank Feaver, OASA secretary, 526 Maple Ave., Hamilton, by July 15.

Margarine On Fingers

Two interesting men's softball duels yester warm eve at ye olde Bowl before a fairish gathering. Mutuals got a 15-10 win o'er East City in a fray as loose as a sailor on shore leave. They had the plate power, but neither side fielded up to scratch. Those East Citizens are full of scrap and will be in there yet, but they can't bank on just one twirler. UEW won 7-5 in 10 frames from the Orphans, with the fielding not good and the arguments hot; and 'twas a nice one to watch. Hinton fanned 12, while Birch looked okay, too. Ex-umpire Dormer, now handling Orphans, gave the umps some arguments—as did Tom Walton—but that shows the teams are full of fight and makes for a lively loop.

* * * * * * *

Umpire was right and arguing players wrong on a play in the first fray last eve. Terry Woods went to deliver a pitch but the hand or ball apparently hit his hip and the apple rolled toward the foul line between third and home. Two runners advanced, but ye umps sent 'em back and called it a "ball". Rule 31, section 6, says: "Ball is not in play in event that it is delivered by the pitcher and does not pass the plate or does not leave the playing field. A ball will be called on the pitcher but base runners may not advance unless forced to by reason of batsman becoming a base runner on a fourth ball." Yes, sometimes, the umps are right.

Amateur Goalie Gets Protection

BANFF, Alta., June 9—(CP)—The amateur goalkeeper will receive more protection in the 1950-51 hockey season, it was revealed here Thursday as the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association completed the second day of its 37th annual convention.

The association passed unanimously a proposal to give the goalkeeper a three-foot crease from all points.

In the past a goalie had a crease extending three feet in front of the net but only six inches on each side. The new crease will be a partial circle and will prevent players from standing beside the goal and interfering with the netminder.

The CAHA also fell in line with the National Hockey League by deciding to give a misconduct penalty to any player guilty of banging his stick on the boards to attract the attention of a referee or in protest of a decision.

The penalty for the infraction will be a 10-minute misconduct.

A coach or trainer guilty of the infraction will automatically be removed from his team's bench for the remainder of the contest.

Another new rule will be a minor penalty for any player committing what is called "slipping," deliberately falling in front of an opponent and knocking his feet from under him.

Queen Mary Wins

Queen Mary intermediates of the School Softball League defeated Central 28-17 on the former's diamond. They hit the apple hard to rack up seven runs in the first and fourth frames, two in the second and four apiece in the third, fifth and sixth. Central shoved two over in the first, three next time up, one each in the fourth and fifth, and five apiece in the last two chukkers. Putnam got two homers, with one each going to Brown and Dubay of Queen Mary, and Lloyd of Central. Tranter, Ellis, Brown, Jones and Stinson turned in good efforts.

Red Sox Smash Records Walloping Browns 29-4

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stephens, Williams, Dropo and Doerr;
Shed a tear for the Browns —29-4.

Fans will long remember the devastating 29-4 romp of June 8, 1950. How the muscular Boston Red Sox humbled the poor little boys from St. Louis. A few lines in the record books will note the rout for posterity.

Not since the gay '90s has a major league club rolled up such a total. All scoring marks, except an ancient 1897 symbol, were smudged from the books by the Sockers.

But before you rush World Series orders to the Red Sox front office remember that Boston still is third in the American League, four games behind the leading New York Yankees. And precedent is all against them.

Not a single club that ever hung a scoring record in the book won a pennant. Not even the Chicago team that scored 36 runs against Louisville, June 29, 1897, in a National League game. When the season was over, Chicago nestled in ninth place in a 12-team league.

Take Modern Records

Take the modern records, smashed by the Sox Thursday. The Majors' old modern (since 1900) mark was 28 runs scored by the St. Louis Cardinals July 6, 1929. The Cards wound up fourth as the Cubs won the flag.

Bobby Doerr hit three home runs and drove home eight runs in Thursday's slaughter. Ted Williams and Walt Dropo each had two. The total of seven homers was only one short of the record.

Following Wednesday's 20-4 wrecking of St. Louis, the Sox boosted their scoring total to 104 runs in seven games in the last week. That's almost 15 a game.

The Yankees, meanwhile, hung a loss on the Detroit Tigers, blasting Art Houtteman in a seven-run inning, to win 11-4 before 62,624. Now New York leads Detroit by 2½ games. Tommy Byre took his seventh victory.

The Yank's Phil Rizzuto's 58-game errorless string, an American record, was broken when he fumbled Bob Swift's grounder in the sixth.

Mickey Harris' ninth-inning single, scoring Johnny Ostrowski, gave Washington a 7-6 edge over Cleveland despite Al Rosen's bases-loaded homer in the first inning off Bob Kuzawa.

Edges Chicago

Alex Kellner survived a shaky three-run first inning to pitch Philadelphia to a 5-4 nod over Chicago.

The National League race is all scrambled again with St. Louis and Brooklyn once more tied for first and the Phillies back in third place, a half-game away.

St. Louis went on a spree against Boston. After the Braves pushed home four in the first, the Cards came back with eight in their half and went on to an 18-6 triumph. Each team collected 17 hits.

Brooklyn lost to Pittsburgh 4-3. Cliff Chambers, Clyde McCullough and Ralph Kiner hit homers for the Bucs.

Ken Raffensberger, crafty Cincinnati lefty, ruined the Phils' chances of taking over the league lead as he pitched the Reds to an 8-4 victory.

New York Giants won another one 6-5 from Chicago, making it six straight. The sizzling Giants, setting a wicked pace on the road, are only 5½ games behind the leaders.

Cubs Wallop Rochester In 10-3 Victory

By The Associated Press.

The pitching of Warren Hacker 26-year-old righthander, is keeping Springfield Cubs in the thick of the International League pennant race.

Hacker won his sixth victory against one defeat Thursday night as the Cubs walloped Rochester Red Wings 10-3. The victory moved third place Springfield to within 2½ games of the first place Red Wings.

The Cubs pounded three Rochester pitchers for 15 hits, with Ben Taylor contributing three hits. Hacker scattered five safeties.

Russ Bauers limited the second place Montreal Royals to eight hits as Baltimore Orioles chalked up a 6-1 victory. Three Royal pitchers were reached for 11 hits, including a homer by Russ Kerns. Montreal remained a half game out of first place.

Eddie Blake and Art Harley pitched Syracuse Chiefs to a double victory over the lowly Buffalo Bisons, 4-1 and 7-3.

In the first game the unbeaten Blake allowed only four hits. The second game was settled by Al Rubeling, who unloaded a two-out homer in the ninth inning with the bases full.

Toronto Maple Leafs and Jersey City Giants split a double-header, Toronto winning the first 5-4 and the little Giants taking the nightcap 4-1.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

James P. Clark, trucking executive and president of Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, said Thursday at Philadelphia he has organized a syndicate to purchase the Philadelphia Athletics "if and when they are for sale."

"I talked with Connie Mack, Jr., today," Clark said, "and I plan to have another talk with him or members of the Mack family tomorrow."

Clark said the syndicate is composed of members of the 100-man group which owns the Eagles and others.

Clark added he didn't know how much money it would take.

"We have not reached that stage," he said. "I just told Connie Jr., we would be interested in purchasing the club and Shibe Park if and when it is sold."

Clark said dwindling attendance induced by unfavorable weather and the team's disappointing performance so far prompted the syndicate to approach the club owners.

Terry Allen, holder of the British and European versions of the world flyweight title, said Thursday at London he plans to meet Dado Marino of Honolulu in August for the undisputed world crown.

Allen won his share of the crown by outpointing Honore Pratesi of France in 15 rounds at London April 25.

Rinty Monaghan of Ireland, who had held the title, retired because of ill health. British and European boxing authorities recognized the Allen-Pratesi bout as a world championship fight. However, both the National Boxing Association and the New York State Boxing Commission withheld title recognition on the grounds that Marino had not been given proper consideration as a challenger.

Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden which owns New York Rangers, said Thursday the National Hockey League club would not operate the New Haven Ramblers next season.

Kilpatrick would not comment on any other phases of the break-up or on the announcement from Cincinnati that the Rangers would send players to that American Hockey League team in the 1950-51 campaign.

Since early March there have been reports that the Rangers would not continue their New Haven farm next season.

At Lloydminster, Sask., Delisle Thursday walloped Edmonton Oilers 10-0 in the finals of the $4,600 Lloydminster baseball tournament to collect first prize money. It was a repeat performance for the Delisle team which won the tournament championship last year against Kamloops, B. C.

The Saskatchewan team, featuring Max, Doug, Bev, Reg, Roy and Jack of the Bentley clan and Dick Butler of Tulsa of the USHL gained a shot at the $2,000 first-prize money by winning once in opening play Wednesday and following up with two victories on Thursday.

Must Build Strength Pearson Warning

KITCHENER, June 9 (CP) — The Atlantic Pact countries are asking for trouble if they do not maintain and enlarge their military, spiritual and economic strength, External Affairs Minister Pearson said Thursday night.

Speaking at the 64th annual dinner of the Kitchener Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Pearson said the day will come when Canada will be protected by an Atlantic navy, army and air force made up of the joint forces of the Atlantic Pact countries.

He warned against peace propaganda emanating from Russia, and said nations that believe it may some day wish they had made a more careful study of the actual situation.

But war is not inevitable, he said. Only life and death are inevitable.

Decision Reserved On Brockville Union

BROCKVILLE, June 9 (CP) — The Ontario Labor Relations Board reserved decision Thursday in a case involving two union groups of the Phillips Electrical Works Limited.

The International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO) charged that the no-propaganda period preceding a vote held on April 18 and 19 had been violated by the United Electrical Workers (Ind).

The hearing was scheduled following filing of a protest by the Embryo CIO union to the board.

Awarded $1

MILTON, June 9 (CP)—Benjamin D. Rachlin, Acton clothing merchant, Thursday was awarded $1 and costs in his suit against Provincial Constable Schisler of Georgetown, for false arrest. Rachlin had sued for $500. He was arrested Oct. 25 on charges of speeding and resisting arrest, and was held in jail overnight. The charges were later dismissed.

MP Team Whips Press Gallery In 15-6 Triumph

OTTAWA, June 9 (CP) — One of Canada's greatest all-round athletes collided with some of the country's worse Thursday night. The result was devastating.

Lionel (Big Train) Conacher, Resources Minister Bob Winters and Wilfred (Bucko) McDonald slammed out a total of four homers to lead the House of Commons to a lop-sided 15-6 softball victory over the Parliamentary Press Gallery.

Proceeds from the annual game between the members and the press, played on the lush front lawns on Parliament Hill, were turned over to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund.

The Rev. Dan McIvor, manager of the Commons team, announced following the game that the collection taken from spectators, including a large number of Senators and members, totalled $265.

In There Punching

Conacher, Liberal member for Toronto Trinity, and former hockey, football, and lacrosse player, drove out two homers and a triple. McDonald, former defence star with Toronto Maple Leafs and now Liberal member for Parry Sound-Muskoka, added another four-bagger as did Winters and George Hees (L-Toronto Broadview.)

McDonald, on the mound for the Commons team, limited the gallery to 10 hits, including two-baggers by D'Arcy (Canadian Press), O'Donnell and Denys (Montreal La Patrie) Pare.

Wins by Decision

Kid Gavilan, 151, Cuban welterweight champion, Thursday night earned a unanimous 10-round decision over Mike Koballa, 151¼, Pittsburgh, on the opening program at New York's Dexter Park outdoor season.

Couldn't Resist It

Play Hookey From School Children Paint Town Green

TORONTO, June 9—Two children played hookey from school Thursday and had the time of their lives. They decided to paint the town green.

Starting from their Maitland St. home, the boy, aged nine, and his sister, aged 11, found a can of green paint. Soon an old model car and a dog were painted green. Then the children stripped to the waist and proceeded to coat each other with the paint.

Being a nice hot day, they thought htey should romp around nearby Queens' Park, so off they went. Frequenters of the park could hardly believe their eyes when they saw two greenish apparitions running about the lawn.

The two youngsters might have continued their frivolities but for Const. Ernest Gibson. He noticed them and decided to have a little quiet chat. But the little girl hustled away and was not found for several minutes. She was hiding under a parked car.

When he finally rounded them up, the constable was shaken by their appearance. The only solution, he thought, was to take them to the Hospital for Sick Children.

There, nurses had the task of giving them a bath. But it was not easy. Before the children were ready to go home, the hospital emergency ward—and nurses—had fallen prey to the green paint. Neither child could resist the temptation to touch everything within reach of their very green wet hands.

Council Gets No Apology

COBOURG, June 9 (ENS)—In the issue of January 25, 1950, the Cobourg Sentinel Star printed an editorial charging that vile language and oaths shattered the dignity of the counties council session twice at the November session of 1949. The same editorial said that it might come as a surprise to the electors if they could see "the man they voted for stagger toward the chair and in a voice heavily influenced with intoxicants slur and mutter through his reports."

At a special session called last February to consider an addition to the counties home, the editorial was discussed and the warden and various members of the council said that it was not warranted in any respect. Council passed a resolution demanding an apology from the editor of the Cobourg Sentinel Star.

Wednesday, at the Counties Council meeting, Deputy-Reeve George Galbraith of Cobourg asked if any reply had been received from the Sentinel Star.

"I sent a letter to the editor, but we got no reply," said the counties clerk.

"The editor apparently didn't see fit to answer our letter. I wonder if the counties solicitor has any suggestion," said the Warden.

"I don't think you should consider taking any legal action," said Alan Field, counties solicitor.

"That reminds me of the one where they asked Pat what he was going to do about the mule giving him a kick and Pat said he just considered where it came from," said Deputy-Reeve G. F. Jamieson of Bowmanville.

And the matter ended there in a round of appreciative laughter.

Strawberry Minimum To Be 17 Cents Quart

HAMILTON, June 9 —(CP)—Minimum price of strawberries this year will be 17 cents a quart, one cent below last year's minimum, G. F. Perkin, chairman of the Ontario Farm Products Marketing, Board announced Thursday.

The minimum price was the unanimous decision of processors and growers negotiating here Wednesday.

There will be an open market for raspberries. Mr. Perkin said it was anticipated demand would exceed the supply of raspberries this year.

The strawberry minimum is the factory delivered price. As in other years, crates and boxes are to be returned to the grower.

Stop Trying To Deny Story

HAARLAM, The Netherlands, June 9 (Reuters)— The Dutch people Thursday stopped trying to deny Holland's most famous story, and unveiled a statue to something that never happened—all to satisfy the thousands of tourists who ask where the Dutch boy put his finger in the leaking dike.

Queen Juliana attended the ceremonies.

Since 1873, when the story was launched on a receptive world by the American writer Mary Mapes Dodge, it has travelled further afield and grown stronger. Mrs. Dodge included it in her book "Hans Brinker and the Silver Skates."

The Dutch people have insisted for years that the tale was not true.

Will Is Upheld

EDINBURGH, June 9 —(Reuters)—A court Wednesday upheld the will of Edward Cronin, Scottish millionaire uncle of novelist Dr. A. J. Cronin, excluding the writer and other relatives from all benefits. Judge Lord Burnam said that the uncle, who left estate worth £293,000 ($908,300), disliked his relatives and provided in his will that no nephew or niece should benefit.

Attacks Babies

LONDON, June 9—(Reuters)—A golden - haired six-year-old girl sat smiling and playing with her doll in a juvenile court here Wednesday as a detective told how she had attacked babies in their baby carriages. One baby, four months old, was clawed from forehead to chin. Another baby attacked by the girl was only four weeks old. A dummy baby, placed in a carriage as a decoy, trapped the child. Lab Investigates Metal Secrets At Toronto

TORONTO, June 9 (CP)—The first university laboratory in Canada to use radio-active tracers to pry into the secret life of various metals will be in operation at the University of Toronto about three months from now. Dr. Bruce Chalmers, professor of physical metallurgy, Thursday night described the project, financed by the National Research Council, as a search for secrets.

A small team of post-graduate students will be headed by 25-year-old Bill Winegard, under supervision of Dr. Chalmers, a 42-year-old scientist who headed the British atomic energy development project at Harwell before coming to Canada two years ago.

In the new laboratory some of the atoms in metals under study will be made radioactive by plating a piece of radio-active material to it. Since the atoms then will give off easily detected signals they can be traced while the metal is subjected to different treatments.

"We should be able to see if the atoms walk, run, jump or ride a bicycle," said Winegard.

Wallis Simpson Tried To Break Romance Off, Duke Recalls

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP) — The Duke of Windsor reveals today that Wallis Warfield Simpson left him and tried to break off their romance rather than cause him to give up the throne.

His future wife telephoned him from France at the height of the abdication crisis and said that, "since I would not renounce her, she would perform the act of renunciation herself," the Duke says in the final instalment of his memoirs published this week in Life magazine and to be published next week in the Montreal Standard.

The Duke says he replied: "Of course you can do whatever you wish. You can go wherever you want—to China, Labrador or the South Seas. But wherever you go I will follow you."

When he finally left Britain, no longer King, the Duke says:

"So far as I was concerned, love had triumphed over the machinations of politics.

Worth While

"If it had proved my fate to sacrifice my cherished British heritage along with all the years in its service, I today draw comfort from the knowledge that time has long since sanctified a true and faithful union."

The Duke says he rejects any suggestion that, faced with a choice between love and duty, he chose love.

"I certainly married because I chose the path of love, but I abdicated because I chose the path of duty. I did not value the crown so lightly that I gave it hastily away. I valued it so deeply that I surrendered it rather than risk any impairment of its prestige.

"Her only thought was what was best for me," he says. "Whatever the cost to us personally, she said that I must remain on the throne."

The former King tells of the "dreadful day—the most desperate I have ever known," when Mrs. Simpson left England secretly for France.

"In the desperate hope of staying the abdication she had decided, alone, to leave me. In putting the Channel behind her she intended also to put behind Great Britain and all that I had in my love planned for her.

"It was her idea to stop only a moment with Mr. and Mrs. Rogers (Herman and Katharine Rogers, American friends living in France) and then hurry on, perhaps to America, or even to China, where she had lived for awhile 13 years before."

Didn't Need Persuading

The Duke reveals that Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born publisher in Britain, was inspired to plant in Mrs. Simpson's mind the idea of renouncing the marriage. Mrs. Simpson, however, needed no persuading, the Duke says.

Lord Beaverbrook's plan, the Duke says, was to solve the immediate abdication crisis and reopen the question of marriage later when public excitement had died down.

The Duke speaks warmly of Winston Churchill's efforts to save the throne for him and of Churchill's lone attack on the Stanley Baldwin government, which had refused consent to the King's marrying the twice-divorced American woman.

He said the famous speech relinquishing his crown for "the woman I love" was written by himself and not by Churchill, as had been widely rumored. Churchill, the Duke said, did supply the final brush strokes to the speech.

CBC Would Like To Have More Business Trips

OTTAWA, June 9—(CP)—The Commons committee on radio broadcasting, continuing a study of the financial affairs of the CBC, was told Thursday the CBC would like to provide more business trips for members of its staff.

A. D. Dunton, CBC chairman, said that for the good of the corporation he would like to see members of the staff working on the same thing in different regions brought together every so often to exchange views.

For instance, he said, he would like to see those handling farm broadcasts meet. Budget limitations restricted such trips.

He made the statement after Donald Fleming (PC, Toronto Eglinton) noted that the CBC's travelling expenses for the 1949-50 fiscal year amounted to $147,000. He considered it fairly large. Mr. Dutton said the figure also covered the travelling expenses of the CBC board of governors.

Alistair Stewart (CCF, Winnipeg North) noted that the CBC paid $144,000 in 1949-50 to news agencies for their daily reports of world and Canadian news. He asked Mr. Dunton for a breakdown.

Withdraws Question

Mr. Dunton said that he was in the hands of the committee, but he would prefer not to give a breakdown because the CBC had to bargain with two or three agencies. Mr. Stewart withdrew his question.

Then he asked if the CBC was satisfied with the news service it is getting.

Mr. Dunton said the CBC thought it was "pretty good," but "sometimes we would like to see something a little better still." As other customers, the CBC was in the position where it was paying money for the service and it made suggestions to the services from time to time. Not all of them were accepted, but sometimes improvements were made.

He said the CBC received the reports of The Canadian Press, Reuters, Associated Press, British United Press, United Press and Agence France Presse.

HEROIC DOCTOR HAULS MAN FROM GAS-FILLED WELL

Dr. N. A. Stewart, of Davidson, Sask., completes rescue after twice losing consciousness

1. Digging a well with the help of his young son Tony, Adolph Shymko had reached a depth of about 40 feet when he was overcome by toxic gas fumes. Seeing his father unconscious, young Tony screamed for help. However, rescue attempts by two men failed . . . and Dr. N. A. Stewart was called to the scene.

2. Dr. Stewart immediately secured a cable and ordered the others to lower him to the bottom. He lost consciousness about two thirds of the way down, but regained it at the bottom long enough to fasten a rope to Shymko's inert body. He then called to the men above who started to haul both of them to safety.

3. Courageous Dr. Stewart lost consciousness again when he was being pulled up, but recovered when he reached the surface. Shymko came to on the way to the hospital. Dr. Stewart's deed is in keeping with the highest traditions of his profession. We are proud to present him with THE DOW AWARD.

Trip to Woodstock For Grassland Silage Day June 20 Planned By Federation Of Agriculture — Juniors Go East Next Week — Women's Institute Annual Meeting At Havelock June 15 — Calf Club Meetings Next Week. — Ernie Scott And Roy Sanderson At Great Guernsey Sale.

Both senior and junior farmers are taking to the road in the next two weeks to relax briefly and look around their country before going all out on the main job of the season.

Juniors are heading east next week, and the seniors west in the week after, providing the seats of two buses are taken in the meantime,—and promptly.

As previously announced the Junior Farmers are leaving the King St. bus terminal at 6 p.m. Thursday June 15 for Ottawa, Montreal and the Eastern Townships of Quebec, returning Sunday night. Transport and hotel accommodation cost $23. meals extra. Fifteen of the members have already signed for the trip. That leaves 22 others to hear from, and the last should be taken before next Tuesday. The first 37 will compose the party.

The seniors can only afford one day's outing. At the Federation meeting Tuesday night, the chairman, W. W. Dawson, suggested a bus journey to the Grass Silage Day near Woodstock, Wednesday June 21, the longest day of the year. The proposal aroused approval, and John Kitney went to work on details.

The secretary reported by Wednesday noon that a bus could be chartered to leave at 7 a.m. for the heart of western Ontario.

This Grass Silage Day has been mentioned in recent agricultural despatches, and with good weather should attract thousands.

Grass silage is receiving more attention every day, and many of Peterborough's farmers are interested and some active.

Tickets for this trip may be obtained from W. W. Dawson, John Kitney or Miss Evelyn Scott of the office of the Department of Agriculture. The return will be made that night. The first 37 seniors buying tickets at $5.50 get the seats. If there is excess response further accommodation will likely be provided.

For the junior club members there is an outing taking shape for later in the season. Kiwanis Club arranged a trip to Guelph for the calf club youngsters last year, but with a big increase in membership some revision was invited by the circumstances.

So, if Kiwanis repeat that education expedition, the Federation of Agriculture this week decided to volunteer sharing the cost. Definite promise is not yet held out to the club young people, but they may see the Ontario Agricultural College by fall.

US PASTURE GOSPEL

It costs you four times as much to feed a cow at the manger as it does on pasture.

"Feed," whether you grow it or buy it, is always your biggest single expense in raising livestock. So, if you are going to make money on milk, wool, eggs, you've got to cut those costs.

That is a quotation from an article on feed in the US Farm Journal.

"Pasture is the best way to do it. You can make a thousand pounds of pork with 15 to 18 fewer bushels of corn, and 500 lbs. less protein supplement, if you have an acre of good legume pasture. If you are fattening steers, an acre of pasture can save 20 bus. of corn, and cut your protein needs in half."

"An acre of pasture furnished 250 days of grazing, and produced 100 lbs. of actual feed (what the scientists call 'total digestible nutrients') for only 29 cents. Alfalfa hay (it made 4.7 tons per acre) produced 100 lbs. actual feed for 49 cents. Corn silage (13.7 tons an acre) cost 91 cents per 100 lbs. of feed. Grass silage $1.17.

But, with corn (63 bus. an acre) that 100 lbs. of feed cost $1.29—exactly a dollar more than it cost to get the same amount of feed from pasture. With 66-bushel oats, the cost was $1.19; with 40-bus. barley, it jumped to $1.40.

If you are getting yields like these, and feeding the grains to your livestock when they could be on pasture, you are passing up the best way you've got to get those feed costs down. Most of us let our pastures take care of themselves, like a runty pig. We call them "pastures," but they are really nothing more than gymnasiums during most of the summer. What little feed we do get, is bound to be expensive. And, that's our fault.

You've got to fertilize." Each ton of commercial fertilizer that you put on pasture will make an extra thousand pounds of beef, or 8,000 lbs. of milk. The wisest thing to do first, is to test the soil."

The suggestion of this article is: "plant the grasses and legumes that will make the most feed on "your" farm. A mixture will usually produce a fourth to a half more feed than either growing alone. Besides, a good crop of legumes will grab up to 200 pounds of the 32,000 tons of nitrogen floating over every acre of your farm, and put into the soil for the grass and following crops to use.

Here is an example local farmers will recognize. "In 1948, William Knoblock, Stark County, Illinois, had trouble feeding 11 cows on 15 acres. He ripped it up; seeded a ladino-alfalfa-brone mixture. Last summer, the same ground fed 20 cows and made 28 tons of hay to boot.

If more than a fourth of the pasture is still un-grazed by June, it's under-grazed. If less than 10% is un-grazed, the cattle will probably run out of feed before other pasture is ready in July.

Pastures are doubled-barreled cost cutters. They're feeding your stock and building up your soil at the same time.

Iowa land in corn for 17 years straight made 21 bus. an acre in 1948, a good corn year. Across the fence, corn rotated with oats and meadow made 85 bus. an acre.

At Temple, Tex., the tenth crop of continuous cotton yielded 423 lbs. of seed cotton an acre. Cotton grown in rotation with legume pasture made 1,110 lbs.

Can you blame people for getting excited about their good pastures?"

RECENT HOLSTEIN SALES

Thirty Holsteins averaged $1,268 at the dispersal of the Montview herd of W. A. Hodge, St. Laurent, Que., June 3. That average was exceeded in Canada only by the Mount Victoria herd in 1942, at $1,925.

The government of Mexico paid $10,000 for the five-year-old herdsire, Raymondale Yalta. Two representatives of the Mexican government have bought ten bulls in Canada for an artificial breeding unit to be established in that country.

The two highest priced females were bought by H. J. McFarland of Picton: Montview Artis Posch Lady (five years) at $2,600, and her daughter Montview Princess Artis (two years) at $1,700.

Other purchases ranged from $1,600 down. The estate of A. D. Fleming, Reaboro, Ont., paid $875 for an open yearling.

As reported in the daily news, the annual National Holstein sale at Oakville, June 2, reflected a firm market with an average of $985 on 64 head that brought a total of $63,050.

Oxford Holstein Breeders' Association, Woodstock, paid top of $7,500 for the eight-months-old bull calf Glenafton Symbol from the herd of J. J. E. McCague, Aliston. Buyers for the Mexican government took 10 head for a total of $10,425.

Highest price received for a female was $1,825 paid to J. J. E. McCague by La Societe de Rehabilitation, Sherbrooke, Que., for the four-year-old Glenafton Laurel Evelyn B.

Ten bulls averaged $1,717; six milking females $1,195; 44 bred heifers $823; two open yearlings $600, and two heifer calves $750.

AT GUERNSEY SALE

To see $11,500 paid for a bull calf of last December, and $21,000 for another of the same breed now in his second year, was a memorable event in the life of any farmer, Ernest A. Scott of Smith township remarked to the Examiner this week.

He and Roy Sanderson, both of the Chemong Road, attended the sale of Guernsey cattle at McDonald Farm near Cortland, NY, in May. The average for 45 head was $3,505, which is said to be the highest ever made on this continent at any dairy breed sale.

To hear that kind of money bandied about the auction block is to absorb a deep conviction of the values of the animals changing hands under the hammer. And, when they are your own breed of cattle, the exciting scene tends to confirm your preference.

"I came back from that trip to New York with a strong feeling that we should be giving more attention to the Guernsey breed," Mr. Scott said. "Membership in our association has been increasing quite a lot in recent years. When I joined the Guernsey Association nine years ago we had about 100. Now it is getting on to 400 in Ontario."

The tour into New York was timed for the McDonald Farm sale. Some of those from Central Ontario, with Mr. Sanderson and Mr. Scott, were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Batty of Brooklin; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wilson of Garden Hill; Talmage Bryan of Sunderland; Dan Howey and Norman Irwin of Whitby. The others were mostly from western Ontario and in the York section.

The route of the trip was laid out across northern New York and down the centre of the state towards Ithaca and Albany.

"We visited ten or eleven Guernsey farms," Mr. Scott said. "We were three days across the border, May 18-20, and the big sale was on the last day.

The Tarbell Farm at Smithville Flats is a tremendous place, 530 pure bred Guernseys, 12 herd sires, and a highly mechanized plant with their own pasteurization system, ice cream production, shipping 96 cans a day to New York.

The herd manager at Tarbell is a woman, Mrs. A. K. Wightman, and remarkably capable. She showed us through the barns and apparently knew almost every one of the cattle, their pedigrees, records and so on. They have steel barns set on the ground, not on foundations. The cattle are in double rows with little or no loft space. They truck in the feed from other barns and feed the stock at the head. The lighting is fluorescent.

"One thing I noticed was a striking uniformity of type at most places. There is not a great deal of sentiment anywhere. The cows are all on test, and they don't keep the cow that isn't playing her way. But, that is just common sense. Some of the farms had two and three silos."

McDonald Farms has 475 Guernseys, nine herd sires, an outstanding show herd. At other farms the herds were nearer the capital of the average farmer, one 48 herd, another 49 and so on.

"We were warmly welcomed everywhere we went," Mr. Scott said. "At one place they even provided dinner for our party. The New York State Guernsey Association co-operated splendidly. The dam of that $11,500 bull calf is now 17 years old and is again in calf. She is Douglaston Lady Augusta, and at that sample of value she must have made a lot of money for McDonald Farm."

CALF CLUB MEETINGS

Members of the calf clubs are being notified of three meetings listed by R. E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, for next week. They are at 7.30 p.m.

The beef club meets at the farm of M. H. Pimmett & Sons, Indian River, Monday evening; the east dairy club at Standley Wood's farm Tuesday and the west dairy calf club at Clarence Mann's place Wednesday.

HERE A YEAR

Robert A. Bell, assistant to Mr. Paterson, came to Peterborough a year ago Wednesday May 31. He has already become widely known throughout the county, is keenly interested in junior farmers and their affairs.

Mr. Bell has received every encouragement from Mr. Paterson, has visited many of the farms in the community, and has already won the confidence of senior farmers.

GOOD USE OF MANURE

The value of livestock in maintaining soil fertility is shown on the farm of J. T. Tully, Otonabee, Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, commented yesterday.

"Mr. Tully has kept a strong herd of cattle, and has made good use of manure, reinforcing it with superphosphate daily in the stables. Spread on the field it not only promotes fertility but also builds up the humus content.

When that practice has been carried through the years, the cumulative effect is bound to show. Mr. Tully has combined that method with good rotation.

He is one of the best growers of silage corn in the country, and one reason is because he has used plenty of reinforced manure in preparing his land."

Junior farmers probably know that the symbol for stable manure is approximately 10-5-10.

"Those are the pounds of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash to the hundredweight of commercial fertilizer. Add the superphosphate," Mr. Paterson said, "and you increase the "5" lbs. of phosphorus to 10 or 12, possibly 15, depending on the amount of superphosphate used."

Most farmers make good practical use of manure, Mr. Paterson, getting it onto their fields not leaving it piled around the yard.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The annual district meeting of the Women's Institute will be held Thursday, June 15, at Havelock town hall beginning at 10 a.m. Mrs. Harry Shearer is the district president, and Mrs. Joseph Moore, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Karl Moynes of the federated board will speak at 1.40 p.m. and the election of officers will be at 2.25 p.m.

TIME-BOMB MAKER — Watchmaker Genereux Ruest, 51, described by police as a "wizard with his hands", hobbles along on crutches to a waiting police car after being arraigned on a charge of murder in the Sault au Cochen air disaster which claimed 23 lives. J. Albert Guay, convicted of platting the time-bombing of the plane to kill his wife, is scheduled to be hanged Jan. 12. Guay's execution was originally set for June 23 but it is believed he will be brought to testify against Ruest, who admitted making the bomb when, he said, Guay wanted to blow up tree stumps.

Mother Earth

"Next comes the earth, the one division of the natural world on which for its merits we have bestowed the venerable title of mother. She belongs to men as the sky belongs to God. She receives us at birth and gives us nurture after birth. She upholds us always when once brought forth, and at the last when we have now been disinherited by the rest of nature she embraces us in her bosom and at the very time gives us maternal shelter; sanctified by no service more than that whereby she makes us also sacred, even bearing our monuments and epitaphs and prolonging our name and extending our memory against the shortness of time; whose divinity is the last which in anger we invoke to lie heavy on those who are now no more, as though we did not know that she is the only element that is never wroth with man.

Water rises in mist, freezes into hail, swells in waves, falls headlong in torrents; air becomes thick with clouds and rages with storms; but earth is kind and gentle and indulgent, ever a handmaid in the service of mortals, producing under our compulsion, or lavishing of her own accord, what scents and savors, what juices, what surfaces for the touch, what colours!

How honestly she repays the interest lent her! What produce she fosters for our benefit!" . . . Pliny—"Natural History", 1st Century, A.D.

Canada should concentrate on building up her air force and a swift armored force which would be sent quickly into action in Europe.

He criticized Mr. Claxton for not explaining how Canada would play her part under the pact. Parliament, he suggested, should not be asked to vote $623,000,000 for defence—the amount of the estimates under study — without specific detail.

He also criticized the handling of the reserve forces and said that while many reserve units are in training they are far from ready to take the field. Canada had the widespread terrain needed for the training of armored units.

Low-Cut Gowns Go Too Far Actress Says

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, June 9 (AP)— The girls on television have gone too far with their low-cut gowns, says Ann Sheridan, of all people

What's more, she predicts the next trend in feminine fashions will be toward concealment.

"Women have gone to extremes in nudity," said the former Texas school teacher. "They have lost the art of glamor, which is concealment, not revealment.

"Most of the offenders are the TV girls who vie to see who can wear the lowest gowns. That, coupled with the fad of French bathing suits, has worked to eliminate whatever mystery existed about the feminine form."

The glamor girls of video (notably Faye Emerson) have been featuring gowns cut to amazing new lows. But Miss Sheridan indicated this trend will be stopped.

Eyes Have 'It'

"A woman's eyes are her greatest attraction," she expounded. "She can create much more attention with her eyes than being half-dressed.

"Women will have to learn to use their eyes and their voices again, because television must eventually be censored."

Miss Sheridan made it clear that wasn't knocking cheesecake. "Every man likes sweater pictures of Lana Turner or bathing suit pictures of Joan Caulfield," she said. "But there is such a thing as going too for."

No Surprises

She was reminded that she first found fame as the exponent of "oomph." She said she never liked the word because "it sounds like a man stooping over in a telephone booth."

"But at least 'oomph' was an expression of surprise. How can a girl surprise a man today? It's getting to the point where a girl in a tight sweater won't get a second look from a man."

Meat Up Again Seasonal Rise Below '49 Level

A packers' increase in beef and lamb prices to the local retailers has forced the price of meat up five and six cents on some cuts, local butchers said today.

A downtown butcher reported that gradually for the past month the price of beef to the retailer has risen about five cents a pound. This increase, he said, means an increase of five cents to 10 cents on different cuts. Round steak rose slightly during the last week and is selling at 85 cents a pound. Loin and leg roasts which were 89 cents last week are up to 95 cents a pound this week.

The same butcher pointed out that beef has not yet reached 1949's peak, being still four or five cents below it. Pork, on the other hand, he said is down this year. Bacon, he pointed out, was 90 cents a pound this time last year and is now selling at 75 cents a pound throughout the city.

"The public are not too badly off yet," he commented.

No Lamb

No sale of lamb was reported by the butcher due to the high price. One butcher said that lamb is too high to touch yet and added that every year the prices on the early spring lambs are usually high.

Another butcher said that he has not yet changed his prices from last week but believed there would be some rise. He said that he was only getting a markup of eight to 10 per cent where he should be getting 15 to 20 per cent to operate on a paying basis.

In Toronto the beef and lamb prices have risen five or six cents in the last week but packers say they probably have reached their peak.

General Situation

Round steak which sold last week in Toronto at 79 cents a pound was advertised Thursday at prices ranging from 79 to 85 cents. Cheaper cuts of spring lamb which sold last week for 70 cents were 75 cents a pound. Loin and leg roasts were unchanged at 95 cents.

The packers attributed the price rise to increased demand for Canadian cattle in the United States. The June market, however, is usually the best of the season when the last of the feed cattle appear. Prices would likely decline in a week or two when the grass-fed cattle reached the market. The price of live beef rose half-a-cent a pound during the last week.

Peterborough butchers reported an increase of one cent a pound from the packers.

Robert Starr 48 Years CGE Employee

Senior employee in continuous service with the Canadian General Electric Company, Robert Starr, 18 Maria St., retires today.

On Dec. 6, 1901, Mr. Starr joined the company, and was assigned to the wire and cable department eventually becoming foreman of the compound shop. Today, he is finishing that engagement with an exemplary record of 48 years, seven months and three days, not only of continuous work, but also of efficient and faithful performance of duty, one of the men of the Peterborough Works who contributed his part in developing the national reputation of CGE.

From the compound department foremanship in 1943, Mr. Starr was transferred to the order and stores section of the wire and cable division.

The compound shop was the second of the older buildings west of Park St., and north of the present offices. The first building in those days was also a part of the wire and cable department, and it is recalled that the old lamp department was on the upper

Frozen Minnows Fail To Live Try New Kawartha Variety

By NICK NICKELS

Now the Herring Chokers in New Brunswick are horning into the minnow-air transportation experiment that has been going on for the past two weeks between Halifax and Peterborough. Members of the New Brunswick Fish and Game Protective Association said on Thursday that they are experimenting with quick-freeze bait for shipment to Peterborough. How dull do they think we in Ontario are? We have been experimenting with this for several days. Baitmen Cy Hopkins, Lakefield and Grant Lytle of this city are quick freezing black heads, chub, suckers, lake and creek shiners, rock rollers and horned dace. All of these native Kawartha varieties are being quick-frozen both in dry leaves and water. The results have not been too successful, but, everyone is enthusiastically trying. Cold locker operator Clarence Harloff was so concerned that he took a defrosting batch of minnows home in a pail and nursed them all night. They floated belly up today. The boys are putting their money on the rock roller species, he is standing up to the rigid ice tests better than any of them.

Clerk Of Works City Hall Named

Clerk of the works on the new city hall job will be W. F. Orr, of Toronto, whose recommendation by the architects, Marni & Morris, has been accepted by the council.

Mr. Orr is to receive $80 plus $20 living expenses a week. He has been engaged on a hospital at Stratford. That work is now complete. Commencement of his services is to be determined by the architects after consulting the contractor, J. H. Eastwood.

Dr. Cleaners' Reuest

City council recently re-opened the question of permiting the locating of a dry cleaning shop on the south side of Hunter St. between Mark and Rogers Sts.

Indications of granting the application of Grants Cleaners brought rebounding protest from the neighborhood, and the present action of the council is to afford the property owners an opportunity of submiting their objections.

It is now a threadbare story. They know it backward and forward at the city hall. In the recent revival of the Grant idea it was proposed that city planning board re-zone that stretch of Hunter St.

Taxi Operators Protest Proposed Bylaw

Taxi operators renewed their protests against the proposed new taxi bylaw at a meeting of the Police Commission Thursday, this time represented by T. J. Carley KC and J. C. N. Currelly.

Mr. Carley was acting on behalf of Hugh J. Davis, owner of Capital Taxi, largest cab business in the city. Mr. Currelly represented 15 taxi operators, more than 50 per cent of the city taxi owners.

Objections were similar to those raised before to the proposed changes in the new bylaw, which has now been drafted.

Some of the same criticisms were offered by both lawyers; on others they differed, principally compulsory insurance and 24-hour service.

Both groups objected to taxi drivers having to be fingerprinted and photographed. Sections 24 and 25 of the new bylaw would make it necessary for each taxi driver to present two photographs of himself when making application to get a taxi driver's licence. One would be kept in police files and the second would be attached to the driver's licence and put up in the car he was driving.

Drivers' fingerprints would be taken "if so required by the chief constable."

Mr. Carley said there was an association in the minds of people of fingerprint taking and law breakers. The police he said, would like to see everyone in the city and the country fingerprinted.

Not a Police State

"But this is not a police state" he said. He said he thought the section was a police recommendation and "we feel the taxi drivers should not be discriminated against."

He said he thought it was wrong to leave it to the discretion of the chief constable to say to one driver "pass through" and to another he must have his fingerprints taken.

If the Police Commission insisted on including the fingerprinting clause, then it should treat all taxi drivers equally and require them all to be fingerprinted.

Mr. Currelly said he thought a bylaw of this type was unconstitutional or ultra vires. He said Dominion legislation was needed before a municipality could pass a bylaw enabling police to trespass on the right of individuals which was exactly what fingerprinting taxi drivers was doing.

He said taxi drivers would feel degraded in the eyes of the public if required to be fingerprinted and photographed.

"It's a matter of human feeling, but I think they are right about it," he said.

He felt the requirements would serve no useful purpose in a city

Review Course Proposed To Aid Students

Approval of a two-week intensive course in mathematics and science for grade 10 and 11 pupils trying supplementary exams in those subjects was given Thursday by the Board of Education.

The two-week course will be held in the final weeks of the holiday season, with mathematics likely being taught in the mornings and science in the afternoons.

Believing the use of tutors "not good practice," K. S. Wightman, superintendent, recommended the intensive course in his report to the Board on the 1949 examination. He said the two subjects were the ones most difficult for students to study individually.

"I hope the classes won't be very big," he said. "I believe such courses can do a great deal to bring students up to standard."

Replying to a question from Dr. R. M. Matthews as to the percentage of successes in previous supplementary exams, C. S. about 80 per cent passed, but Browne, PCVS principal, said that he believed it was due to the use of tutors.

Mr. Wightman suggested two teachers—one for each subject—be engaged for the final two weeks of the holdays at night school rates ($3.30 hourly). Cost of the two-week course was estimated at $200.

"I'm not saying this will work," said Mr. Wightman, "but Mr. Browne and I think it is a worthwhile experiment, and that it has definite possibilities."

Suggestion that the course be given a trial was moved by G. W. Craw and seconded by S. R. Adamson.

Judge Refuses Prison Terms Fines Totalling $400 On Three Assault Counts

A jury decided today that during a rumpus at the Melody Inn, one-and-a-half miles north east of Lakefield last November, James and John Zahodnik assaulted the proprietor, James Hogan, causing actual bodily harm. After the jury announced its conviction James Zahodnik entered a plea of guilty to a second charge, that of assaulting and beating Mrs. Hogan. The rumpus occurred on November 17 when the two brothers, with a third brother, Paul, and a friend, William Yuzwa, called at the Melody Inn for coffee, while on their way to Quebec Province for a hunting trip.

Judge D. B. Coleman refused Crown Attorney John Bradshaw's request for "an adequate prison term." His Honor said he did not think the offences were a serious matter and the men did not deserve prison terms.

James Zahodnik was fined $200 and John Zahodnik, $100 on the charge of assaulting Mr. Hogan and James was fined an additional $100, for the charge of assaulting and beating Mrs. Hogan.

Deliberate One Hour

The jury brought in its verdict after deliberating for about an hour. Before retiring, they had been told by Judge D. B. Coleman that Hogan's evidence that he had been struck by James Zahodnik while John and two others had held him, was the only evidence on which the jury could convict.

No one else had said they saw Hogan being struck, nor that they had seen him bleeding, or with a black eye.

These remarks were made during the judge's charge to the jury. His Honor said that the jury was solely responsible for deciding the verdict of the case, but that he had the privilege to express his own interpretation of the evidence before the jury retired.

His Honor did not think the matter had been a very serious affair. The evidence did not seem to show any grave offence and was a case which he thought would ordinarily have been heard in a magistrate's court.

In a charge of common assault a threat was sufficient but in this particular case—a charge of unlawful assault occasioning actual bodily harm—the evidence had to go further.

"Whatever happened inside the restaurant, there is not the slightest evidence that there was an assault," His Honor said. If the jury believed Hogan's evidence that he was held outside the building by John and Paul Zahodnik and Bill Yuzwa while James Zahodnik struck him, giving him a black eye, a cut mouth and a bruised thigh, then John was a party to the offence, if he was holding Hogan to assist his brother to strike him.

That evidence, given by Hogan, was the only evidence justified to convict John Zahodnik.

Hogan was the only person who suggested he had been struck, no one else said so. If he was he was not hurt very much.

Mrs. Hogan High-Strung

Referring to Mrs. Hogan's evidence, His Honor said she was a highly strung, nervous woman and that type would, perhaps, have been over anxious. She need not have been so apprehensive, perhaps, and Paul Zahodnik tried to calm her down. Her action in court,—breaking down, weeping and crying—had to be taken into consideration.

Want More Time For Inspection Of Collegiates

Resolutions affecting the present system of school inspection, forwarded from the Port Arthur Board of Education, were approved in part by the Board of Education Thursday night.

One resolution, which declared there was insufficient continuity in present inspection methods in secondary schools was left in the hands of the delegates to the convention of urban school trustees, which meets in Muskoka June 18 to 24.

The resolution suggested a system of resident inspectors be set up which would make for greater continuity. K. S. Wightman, board secretary, said he thought something might be gained by more frequent visits by inspectors, but that he could see nothing basically wrong with the present system.

Present method allows for specialists in various lines to visit the schools and check up on their specialties. "I think we'd lose something if we abandoned the present system," commented C. S. Browne, principal of PCVS.

Now, inspectors' visits vary from two to three-and-a-half days in length, which some members felt was too short a time.

Three Days Sufficient?

"Is three days' inspection sufficient?" Mrs. Paige Rowell asked Mr. Browne. "It's helpful, but not sufficient."

Dr. Russell Morgan asked if such inspections were any help to the teacher. "Not as much as they should be," answered Mr. Browne.

"You must remember we have a principal looking over the teachers too," said Mr. Wightman.

The board gave approval in part to this resolution.

Withhold Support

A second resolution forwarded by the Port Arthur board did not gain the Peterborough board's approval. It dealt with repeal or amendment of a clause of the Teaching Profession Act which provides that when a principal makes a report on a teacher he must first speak with the teacher concerned in the report.

Both Mr. Browne and Mr. Wightman said they thought this was a sensible and fair practice. S. R. Adamson, seconded by G. W. Craw, moved the board withhold its support of this resolution.

A third resolution, suggesting formation of a federated trustee body for those boards connected with the Urban School Trustees' Association, was approved by the board. Approval was moved by Mr. Adamson and seconded by Mr. Craw.

Miss Gwen Record to Teach At Aklavik Mission School

Take a place like Aklavik—the temperature never goes much above 68 in summer, and hardly ever below minus 65 in winter, there aren't many vegetables to eat, and all the meat you get is venison, beaver, bear or moose—it's rugged.

Most people wouldn't take Aklavik if you gave it to them on a platter. But a girl from Bridgenorth thinks she's going to like it. She is Gwen Record, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Record and she taught at Curve Lake Indian reserve school for two years.

Aklavik is about 200 miles inside the Arctic Circle and about 2,000 miles north of Edmonton, Alberta. Once a year a boat from Waterways, Alta., gets there, and twice a month aircraft fly in to deliver air mail.

"I don't know how the ordinary mail gets in," Miss Record said. "I guess they send it in on dog-sleds."

She is going to teach two of the junior grades at All Saints' Anglican mission school their. Asked how she liked teaching at Curve Lake, she said "Those kids are good to work with."

Miss Record, who got her BA at Victoria College this year, will head for the Northwest Territories early next week.

From here to Edmonton, she will travel by train, and a plane will take her north from Edmonton on the first 10-hour leg of a two-day air journey to her destination. After a stopover for sleep at Norman Wells, she will take another plane for another 10-hour leg, and arrive at Aklavik about 6 p.m. June 17.

When she gets there, it will be the first of a long series of nights, for she has four years to put in before she gets her six-month furlough. Apart from the furlough she has one-half day off each week.

Her job isn't only school-teaching. She'll have to train Scouts, Cubs, Brownies, and Guides while she is there. While getting her BA in Toronto, she picked up her first class Guiding certificate. She already holds certificates for Cubbing and Scouting.

Aklavik, a town of about 1,500, is on the Arctic Ocean near the mouth of the Mackenzie River. There are three schools, one of them the Anglican mission school. The other two are Roman Catholic schools, one a day school and the other a residential school. The Anglican school is of the latter type.

Besides the schools, stores, and assorted citizens, there is a detachment of Mounties, first Aklavik has ever had. Previously, said Miss Record, Mounties used to visit the town several times a year.

The farthest north Miss Record has been before is Calgary, and she says all her information on Aklavik has come from the federal department of mines and resources.

Children going to the school live in, and occasionally visit their parents in the Indian settlement outside of town. Eskimo children who are going to school says Miss Record, may be snatched from the teachers' hands in winter when the parents take once more to their igloos on the frozen ocean.

The Rev. William Gibson of Ottawa is minister of All Saints' Anglican Church in Aklavik, and has a staff of 14 to look after the school. About 100 pupils attend the school and are taught by three teachers.

All pupils in the school must speak English, because of the great variety of Indian and Eskimo dialects in the district.

Miss Record says she is looking forward to her stay within the Arctic Circle, with some reservations. She wouldn't say what they were.

Delay Unveiling 6 Months Till The Stars Auspicious

By DOUGLAS LACKERSTEEN

RANGOON, June 9 —(AP)— Burma's monument to independence, a 75-foot obelisk in the heart of the city, must wait six months more for unveiling at formal dedication ceremonies—because the stars say so.

Work on the monument started the day the country became independent from Britain. Prime Minister Thakin Nu patted its foundation stone into position exactly at 9:20 a.m., Jan. 4, 1948 —the hour judged most "propitious" by state astrologers.

In star-conscious Burma, astrologers thronging the countryside reap a rich harvest choosing auspicious days and hours for a populace demanding "heavenly guidance" for almost every action.

These claims descended from the ancient Brahmin priests who came to Mandalay as advisers to the oldtime Burmese king. Their secrets were handed down from father to son.

Early this year the monument was completed. But when should it be dedicated? That was the question, and in Burma it was not one answered haphazardly.

Summoned for Advice

A conference in Rangoon resulted in the summoning from Mandalay of three of Burma's ablest mystics, the sayas (teachers) Kan Nyunt, Kyaw Nyein and Kyaw Zaw.

They came in a manner befitting mystics — through the skies — but not on old-fashioned broomsticks. They travelled in a plane sent by the state-owned Burma Company.

The three wise men from the north unfolded strange charts, made weird incantations, mapped the paths of the planets, measured the distances of the stars.

Five days later an official statement was issued:

"Following a thorough study by the learned astrologers in selecting an auspicious day for unveiling the independence monument, 7:10 a.m., Sunday, Nov. 26, has been fixed at the proper time for the ceremony."

BRIGHT AND AIRY SHOES carry the washability of summer play togs right down to the toes. Carry-alls with waterproof linings make a color match with these cool rubber-soled shoes. All that needs to be done to clean these accessories is to dunk then in suds, rinse and hang up to dry.

While ballet slippers which the model wears (right) owe their sleek fit to a concealed lacing around the top. Black and white striped swagger bag picks up the stripes of the blazer jacket. Casual, wedge-heeled strollers (top left) of Chinese blue have multi-colored striped straps across the toes and heels which repeat colors used in the roomy tulip-shaped drawstring bag.

Lacings on the barefoot sandals (lower left) can be removed and other colored ribbons substituted to match play clothes. Thick cork and rubber soles insulate feet from hot sands or rocks.

Better Than Oysters

PORTLAND, Australia —(CP) — When Mrs. Charles Keiller lifted the sheepshead from her soup-bowl she found the 17 teeth heavily encrusted with gold. The butcher's staff quickly checked other heads in the shop, but could not duplicate the find. As there is no gold-bearing country near here, it is believed the animal came from the Ararat-Stawell district.

Fenelon Falls Votes To Build New School

FENELON FALLS, June 9— The people of Fenelon Falls voted over two to one in favor of building a new public school in the village. The final tally of votes showed 138 for, 61 against, the undertaking.

Commencement of the project hinges somewhat on the decision of the village re entering an enlarged high school area. There was some speculation that if the village did this, the present high school might become vacant and it could then be converted into a public school. However, latest reports indicate that this is rather unlikely and there are indications that even if Fenelon Falls joins an enlarged high school area, present high school will be employed.

The estimated cost of the proposed new school was estimated at $165,000.

"The Dove, is of Methodist origin, depicting the Holy Spirit descending; the open Bible, is a symbol of the Congregationalist; the Burning Bush was the Presbyterian seal; Alpha and Omega, Christ first and last; the central X which divides the symbol is the Greek letter meaning Christ, the centre of the seal."

Social Christians Form Cabinet

BRUSSELS, June 9 —(CP)—Premier-designate Jean Duvieusart, committed to bring exiled King Leopold back to his Georgian throne as soon as possible, announced Thursday he had formed an all-social Christian (Catholic) cabinet.

It was the 10th government since the war and put the Catholics in power alone for the first time since 1914.

Duvieusart told a press conference the 14-man cabinet would be sworn into office this afternoon.

The regent, Prince Charles, asked the Social Christian Party leader to form a cabinet as the aftermath of general elections Sunday in which the Catholics won a parliamentary majority.

The premier-designate said Wednesday his new cabinet's first act would be to convene parliament for the repeal of the act creating the regency so that Leopold could return to the throne.

Young Lady Takes Off Dress Too Hot, No One Cares

LONDON, June 9 (Reuters) — The blond young lady paused on the curb at Piccadilly, squinted up at the blazing sun, thought it over and then removed her dress.

Unabashed by the stares of passers-by, she folded the dress over her arm and proceeded across London's busiest intersection.

There were no outcries for law and order. The blond young lady was about four years old and the temperature hovered near the 80's.

It was just another incident in Britain's current heat wave, which cooled off a little Thursday from the sticky 86 degrees of Wednesday.

More disturbing was the milkmen's convention that, literally, went sour. Most of the milkmen had to stay home to keep their products from going bad. The chief speaker failed to show up. He had sunstroke.

Even animals couldn't take it. Officials of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have been kept busy collecting cats that have nose-dived off rooftops. Explanations ranged from mass suicide to another atomic explosion in Russia, but the most reasonable was this: The local cats unaccustomed to such strong sunshine, went up to the rooftops to reap the full benefit, were lulled into deep sleep, lost their grip and keeled over.

Sailors Bowled Over

During a parade rehearsal at Plymouth, about 30 hardened sailors in the Royal Navy were bowled over by the heat.

But it is an ill heat-wave indeed that cooks up nothing good.

An ice cream peddler was taken into court today to answer a speeding summons. The court adjourned as soon as his case was heard and judges, policemen, lawyers and witnesses all flocked out to his truck. He did a roaring business and later said: "They fined me two pounds, but I still made a profit."

A possible profit from the heat wave may also be shown by ceremonial guardsmen, who sometimes have to stand for hours in the sun in their heavy bearskin helmets. Charles Gubbins, a 44-year-old Londoner, has advanced a plan to equip the bearskins with dry ice.

Army authorities are said to be enthusiastic about the idea, but old soldiers are not so certain. They just can't imagine facing a tough quartermaster and asking for an issue of dry ice.

Most of Europe also suffered scorching heat, for the fifth successive day.

Germany got rain, and the slight relief of cooling winds was reported in some areas, but Switzerland got hotter and hotter, and in Sweden fires broke out in parched forest country.

Cut Off Phones

YONKERS, N.Y., June 9 (AP) —Authorities Thursday cut off all telephone service to the Yonkers Daily Times after police alleged the wires were used for gambling purposes. Pubic Safety Commissioner Patrick O'Hara said the move was not aimed at the newspaper itself but at the use to which the phones were put. The Times is a daily morning newspaper.

Raps Monopoly

WASHINGTON, June 9 (AP)— David E. Lilienthal Thursday urged the United States to free the atom from what he called a "Soviet-type" government monopoly. The former chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said this monopoly is stifling development of the atom for peaceful purposes. He said private industry should be given a chance to pioneer on this new frontier of undreamed of possibilities.

Baptist Greetings

Dr. J. A. Johnston, Westmount, Que., Baptist Church minister, spoke on behalf of the Baptists of Canada and brought greetings from the Baptist World Alliance.

Right Rev. John Dixon, Anglican Bishop of Montreal, presented for the primate of all Canada, Archbishop Kingston of Halifax, and for the people in his own diocese "our friendliest greetings and heartfelt wish that this historic assembly may bear rich fruit."

Bishop Dixon said he had asked all ministers in his diocese to pray last Sunday for God's blessing and guidance upon the assembly's deliberations.

"The Body of Christ is tragically weakened by our many unhappy divisions," he said. "The sin of disunity rest terribly lightly on the christian conscience."

Increase Pensions

The general assembly voted to increase pensions, and the allowance for widows and orphans, by one eighth. The maximum pensions for ministers after 40 years of service now will be $700 per year, and for widows of ministers $350 per year.

Rev. G. Deane Johnston of Brantford, speaking as chairman of the General Board of Missions, said that his board had determined to leave Presbyterian male missionaries in Formosa as long as possible.

The mission board overspent its allocation by $46,000 last year, and Mr. Johnston repeated his warning of a year ago, that the church must either curtail its mission activities, or raise the funds to carry them out.

Quinte Clergy Elect President

MARMORA, June 9 (ENS) — The Bay of Quinte Clerical Union held its spring meeting in Marmora on Wednesday, when the Rev. H. Secker of Adolphustown, was elected president. His former office of secretary-treasurer was filled by the Rev. M F. Oldham of Camden East.

This Union is one of the oldest clerical organizations of its kind in the British Empire, having been organized more than a century and a half ago by the Church of England clergy who lived along the shores of the Bay of Quinte.

A celebration of Holy Communion was held at St. Paul's Church Marmora, at which 18 clergy of the diocese were present, including the Dean of Ontario, the Very Rev. A. Briarly Browne, Archdeacon F. A. Smith, Canon W. E. Kidd and Rural Deans J. M. Brownlie of Hastings Deanery and F. Ware of Lennox and Addington Deanery.

Canon W. E. Kidd, retiring president, was celebrant, assisted by Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie.

Members of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild assisted Mrs. J. M. Brownlie in serving lunch in the rectory.

The business meeting took place on the rectory lawn.

A paper on the Church in Ireland was given by the Rev. Harvey Good, rector of Madoc.

The fall meeting of the Clerical Union will be held at Wolfe Island on invitation of the missionary, the Rev. A. Gardam.

Farmer Shoots Killer

BONARLAW, June 9 (ENS)— A large black bear was shot in a swamp on Gordon Webb's farm one mile east of Bonarlaw on Monday. Mr. Webb lost five sheep and Charles Gordinus had also lost a number of sheep. On Monday Mr. Webb went out in search and discovered the bear in the swamp. He fired, killing the animal, which weighed 246 pounds. It was taken to Mr. Gordinus' farm where scores of people have called to see it.

The world health organization's definition of health is "a state of complete physical, social and mental well-being, not just the absence of disease or infirmity."

MR. PAUL A. MOORE, son of Mrs. B. C. Graham, who graduates today with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Classics from Trinity College, University of Toronto.

Bruce Warr Heads Christian Education

WESTWOOD, June 9 (ENS)— The annual convention of Asphodel township Council of Christian Education was held on Wednesday in St. Andrew's United Church.

A short address of welcome was given by Bruce Warr, superintendent of Westwood United School, who was named president in the new slate of officers.

A musical number was contributed by Bruce Warr and Fred Mortlock.

The convention speaker was the Rev. J. Arnold Foster, Boys' Work Secretary, of Ontario Council of Christian Education. Mr. Foster based his remarks on evangelism in the church school, and gave a splendid address at both afternoon and evening sessions. The subject, "Reach. Teach, and Win," was a challenge to all workers who were privileged to hear the inspiring message.

Vice-president George Humphries, of Hastings, presided for the afternoon session and president Wm. Gallaher, of Norwood, in the evening.

Mrs. Alfred Metcalfe, of Hastings, was secretary-treasurer and the worship service in the evening was conducted by J. H. Caskey, of Norwood.

Lunch was served by the women of Westwood United School.

Working Mothers Create Child Problem

By MURRIEL NARRAWAY

LEAMINGTON, England (CP) Working mothers are a new problem for British school-teachers. Children who arrive late for lessons, untidy and without their dinner money, are generally those whose mothers go out to work.

"In nearly every case we find it is these children who are generally the most unsatisfactory," Miss C. M. Scott of Liverpool told a conference of head teachers.

The trouble simply is, said Miss Scott, that in many cases women prefer work outside the home. They'd rather do office jobs than look after junior.

"Many children leave home in the morning without having seen their mothers. They have to get ready for school themselves and prepare their own breakfasts."

Miss Scott recited lines written by the Bishop of Rochester:

"Bless the clean clinic which weighed me with care,

"And the nursery school teacher who toothcombed my hair,

"And the youth movement leaders, so careworn for me,

"But my mother, God bless her, she never sees me."

Playgounds Full

Miss F. Dickinson, also of Liverpool, said that every day, wet or fine, she found the playgrounds full of children sent to school early because their mothers worked. Another problem is that the mother is not home to welcome her children back.

"Some children go to play centres, but many run wild in the streets and it is probably during this time when the seeds of juvenile delinquency are sown," Miss Dickinson said. "These mothers are doing irreparable harm."

She told the conference that one girl, asked to write an essay on her dearest wish, wrote: "My wish is that my mother need not go out to work."

The conference passed a resolution recognizing the need for more production. The resolution acknowledged that in many homes the woman is the breadwinner, but deplored that so many mothers do full-time work.

Centennial Tea Is Held By St. Peter's CWL

A June afternoon that exemplified traditions of the month contributed much to the success of a centennial tea held Wednesday afternoon on the grounds of the Stone school, corner of Hunter and Rubidge Streets. It was under auspices of St. Peter's subdivision of the Catholic Women's League.

Tables, set on the greensward under the trees, were gay with flowers. The long main table, with a cloth of embroidered linen, was centred with a silver basket filled with purple and gold iris and lilies, flanked by tall gold candles in silver holders. The patriotic centennial note was achieved by festoons of red, white and blue along sides of the table and tiny flags in low bowls.

Guests were received by the president, Mrs. S. J. Houlihan and the first vice-president, Mrs. T. J. Carroll. They were ushered by Mrs. A. Willis and Miss Teresa McNamara. Mrs. J. Begley was in charge of arrangements for the main table where tea was poured by Mrs. D. Sullivan, Mrs. W. O'Donnell, Mrs. P. J. Burke, Mrs. J. Rutherford, Miss Lillian Hurley and Miss Rose Brennan. Hostesses for the small individual tables included Mrs. F. Kylie, Mrs. J. E. Sullivan, Mrs. T. Cupoli, Mrs. E. Quinlan, Mrs. S. Lucas, Mrs. L. McCormick, Miss Cathleen McCarthy and Miss Mary Sullivan.

Assisting to serve refreshments were Mrs. E. O'Brien, Mrs. A. Feeley, Patricia Beresford and Joan Begley. Facilities for serving were provided in the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. P. McNulty.

MR. AND MRS. ALLAN CARL CURTIS

Curtis-Fawcett Nuptials Held

In the Lakehurst Presbyterian Church on Wednesday afternoon, the marriage was solemnized of Melva Maxine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fawcett, Lakehurst, and Allan Carl Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Curtis of Baltimore.

The Rev. A. C. Luffman of Baltimore performed the ceremony. A profusion of tulips, lilacs and other spring flowers decorated the church and the music was played by the bride's cousin, Miss Mary Nicholls.

A gown of white brocaded satin was worn by the bride and she had a fingertip veil of French illusion caught to a crown headdress, and she carried red roses.

She was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Caroline Clarkson as maid of honor, Misses Mary Easson and Bernice Curtis, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids, and a younger sister of the latter, Lorraine Curtis, was flower girl.

Bridal attendants all wore frocks of organdy, over satin, in pastel shades and hats to match and they carried bouquets of roses and sweetpeas.

Mr. Keith Curtis was groomsman for his brother. Ushers were Keith Fawcett, Allan Cane, James Fawcett and Donald Hannah.

The reception following was in the Lakehurst Community Hall. The bride's mother received in a gown of black crepe with yoke of net over beige satin and wore a black hat and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother was attired in navy with white accessories and also wore roses.

Leaving on a wedding trip to the United States, the bride wore a rust suit and white accessories. On return the couple will live in Baltimore.

Taxi Operator

the size of Peterborough, where police know most of the drivers. Both he and Mr. Carley felt much the same objections could be made against photographing the drivers.

Mr. Carley asked that there be included in the bylaw some measure enabling a driver to get a temporary licence until his application could be passed by the Police Commission at its monthly meetings.

Mr. Carley said his client, Mr. Davis, was much in favor of the clause demanding taxi operators provide 24-hour service. But he said the measure, which was included in the old bylaw, was not enforced in the past.

"It's been winked at, blinked at and everything else," he charged.

Magistrate Objects

Magistrate W. R. Philp KC, objected to the charge. He said one complaint had been received in the past and the police had investigated, but not uncovered enough evidence to prosecute.

He said the commission does not in any way wink at any such infractions of the bylaw. He said if Mr. Davis wanted to name any who were not providing 24-hour service, perhaps something could be done about it.

Mr. Davis had no wish to become a common informer, said Mr. Carley. But he added if the police came to the commission and said they didn't know of any taxi owners not providing the required service, he could give them the names. But he said he would be very surprised if the police did not know.

Said Impossible

Mr. Currelly objected, on behalf of the 15 smaller taxi owners, to their being required to provide round-the-clock service. He said for some it was impossible. Some of the taxi owners had only one car and were their own drivers. He said they could not afford to hire a driver who would spend most of the time sleeping because there was literally no business after three a.m. each morning.

He said if the business were there the taxi owners would meet the demand because they were in businss to make money.

Mr. Davis was in favor of the clause because it would be helping him to force smaller operators out of business, Mr. Currelly charged.

Mr. Currelly's statements left no doubt, said Mr. Carley, that his own statement that some taxi operators were not providing the required service was correct.

No Taxis Available

Mayor Max J. Swanston, chairman of the Commission, said quite often the public was not getting the taxi service it repuired. He said he had been wakened at two and three o'clock in the morning by people who arrived on late trains and found no taxis available to take them home.

On the question of public liability and property damage being made obligatory, Mr. Carley and Mr. Currelly again differed.

Mr. Carley said the public was entitled to protection and the taxi owners themselves should see that they were protected.

Mr. Currelly said one of the most expensive insurances to get was taxi insurance. He said it cost one of his clients $350 to $400 for one car in premiums for a year. He said it was almost hard times for taxi operators and it should be left to the individual taxi owner whether or not he stuck his neck out by not having insurance.

He said taxi customers had protection in the provincial government's Unsatisfied Judgement Fund. Mr. Carley said this fund gave only limited protection.

Carrying Liquor

Mr. Carley said there was lax law enforcement in the cases in which taxi owners were carrying liquor and beer instead of passengers to supplement their takings.

Members of the Commission said they would consider the taxi operators' objections at the next meeting when Judge S. L. Smoke who was not present at Thursday's meeting, would be on hand.

Women Politically Immature Says Mrs. Hodges, B.C.-Lib.

OTTAWA, June 9 — (CP) — Canada's women Liberals scored juvenile delinquency and "intimate romantic comics" and took a poke at living costs in a battery of resolutions approved at Thursday's meeting of the National Federation of Liberal Women.

As the fourth biennial convention continued its morning-to-night sessions, delegates elected a new persident, Mrs. W. T. O'Regan of Ottawa, and found time for a brass-tacks debate on woman's position in Canadian politics.

They reached the conclusion that it was high time women slipped out of their political cocoon and took their rightful place in the public eye.

"Political immaturity," was the way past-president, Mrs. Nancy Hodges of Victoria, described the present condition of the fair sex.

"Women have not yet evolved from within the four walls of their home."

Mrs. Henri Vautelet of Montreal said she would like to see all women—whatever their politics—realize they have no right to enjoy democracy unless they take their full "50 per cent" share in the running of democracy.

Merely playing a "handmaid's role" in elections and political organization wasn't enough.

From examining their own weaknesses the women turned a critical eye on the men folk.

Among their recommendations was one urging the government to appoint a woman senator from every province with two additional from Quebec and Ontario.

It was further resolved that each provincial Liberal Women's Association be asked to be prepared "to recommend an outstanding and public-spirited woman" should a vacancy from their province occur in the Senate.

There now are two women senators, both from Ontario, in the Upper Chamber. They are Iva Campbell Fallis, a Progressive Conservative, and Cairine Wilson, a Liberal.

On the home front the convention recommended that the federal government be urged to bring about a lowering of the cost of essential commodities "in order that a decent standard of living may be maintained by all classes of Canadians."

It was generally recognized that "since our government dispensed with price ceilings the cost of food items, clothing, and rentals, has increased to such proportions that despite higher wages and children's allowances, the cost of living is causing grave concern to the majority of our citizens and especially to those in the low income brackets and on pensions."

GRANTED DIVORCE

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Loathes House Work Spats With Spouse Over It

DEAR MISS DIX: I am married to a young woman who is pretty, intelligent, amiable, affectionate, all that a man could want in a wife, except that she is the world's worst house keeper. I bought a pretty home when we married. It is never clean or orderly. There is never a [illegible] where you can sit down in comfort. Even the laundry isn't sent out. I provide ample money to keep a good table, but there is never anything fit to eat. My wife frankly tells me that she loathes domestic work. That cooking bores her to tears, and, besides, she hasn't any turn for it and could never learn how to do it.

Dorothy Dix

The situation is particularly hard on me because I am a domestic man and had looked forward to having a home that was like the one in which I was brought up.

My wife and I have got almost to the breaking point. We quarrel continually because when I come home tired and hungary from my work of an evening I am infuriated over the mean dinner which she puts before me, and she considers me gross and material because I put stress on such creature comfort as a clean room, fresh towels in the bathroom and decent food. What do you think of our problem? ARTHUR.

ANSWER: It is a pity that when you were courting your wife you were so busy asking her, "Do you love me?" you neglected to inquire if she knew how to cook and generally to ascertain her views on a woman's place in the home.

The way for you to settle your problem is either to hire a competent housekeeper and put the entire management of your home in her hands, or else break up your home and go and live in a hotel where you can get good food and good service. Perhaps your wife's other charms and graces offset her lack of domesticity. But don't try to go on as you are, quarreling over her inefficiency. It will kill your love and send you to the divorce court.

DEAR MISS DIX: We are a young couple who have been married a year and a half. Get along fine together. Everthing all right, except that I can't get my husband up in the mornings. He gets plenty of sleep. Is not lazy. But he is just terrible to get up in the mornings. I have let him be late for work several times but I can't take a chance of letting him lose his job. He gulps a hurried breakfast and is off. Never a chance to fix the furnace. I am so tired of this and we scrap over it to the extent that he hardly talks to me for several days. I don't like to have every day begin with a quarrel. What shall I do about it? A. L. B.

ANSWER: Quit making an issue of it. Just accept the fact that your husband is a sleepy head and that it is part of your job to wake him up and get him off to work. Make a joke out of it instead of a tragedy. He might have a lot worse fault than that.

I'm not saying that a man who hasn't enough energy and initiative and the get-up-and-get-out about him to wake up of himself isn't aggravating. He is. But there is nothing you can do about it. Nothing you can do or say is going to turn your husband into an early riser. You can have a fight over this fact every morning and send him to work peeved with you and thinking bitter thoughts of you all day. Or you can make a game out of getting him out of bed. Give him a good breakfast with a jolly wife across the table from him and send him away convinced he has the greatest little girl in the world for a wife.

Which policy do you think will pay better, and do more to keep you out of the divorce court?

DEAR MISS DIX: I am married to a man who is perfectly splendid in every other way except this. He delights in airing all my faults in front of company. When we are alone together he practically never criticizes me, but just let company come and he holds up all of my faults and shortcomings for their amusement. Why is this? G. M.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: It is his way of being witty. Lots of men do that. They really think their wives are just the best ever, but in order to show off how humorous they are they drag out poor old wife before company and try for laughs by making fun of her. The only way to cure him is to make up some nice spicy stories about his little peculiarities and set the table in a roar by countering with them when he starts out with his little spiel.

Regina Actress Gets Big Role In "Streetcar"

LONDON —(CP)— A slim, green-eyed beauty from western Canada gets her big chance on the London stage next month, (July).

Frances Hyland, just 22 and until a few weeks ago a student at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, takes over a top role in the London production of "A Streetcar Named Desire."

Miss Hyland, brought up in Regina where her mother still lives, succeeds Renee Asherson as Stella, sister of the unhappy Blanche Dubois in Tennessee Williams' story of seamy life in the southern United States.

Vivien Leigh, the star, who learned of southern ways as Scarlett O'Hara in the movie "Gone with the Wind," also is leaving the cast, and the fair-haired Canadian girl has started rehearsals with the new Blanche, Betty-Ann Davies.

Gets Scout's Attention

Miss Hyland caught a talent scout's eye while appearing in a television show. She hasn't even seen "Streetcar."

"I am not allowed to see it," she explained. "It might influence my playing of the part."

Before she can take over the role of Stella, the slim actress must put on at least 10 pounds. She'll do this "by cutting down my smoking, eating more, drinking lots of milk and taking extra sleep."

She is hopeful her mother will come from Regina to see her London bow.

"I've already cabled the news," she said.

Miss Hyland will have Canadian company in "Streetcar." Bernard Braden of Vancouver plays Mitch, the suitor of Blanche.

Of Interest to Women

What's Right

You have guests drop by who stay beyond your dinner hour and you have a very simple meal planned.

WRONG: Say, "I wish I could ask you to stay for dinner, but we are just having such-and-such."

RIGHT: If you are going to mention dinner invite your guests to stay, saying that it is just going to be a simple meal, but you would like to have them.

Poetry Infectious Noted Writer Tells Club In BC

VERNON, BC —(CP)— Audrey Alexandra Brown, noted Canadian writer, believes poetry is infectious "and there is nothing sissified about it."

Addressing the Vernon women's Canadian Club, Miss Brown invited her listeners to expose themselves "to poetry and see what effect it has on you."

"Poetry," she said, "is alive. The words fairly leap at the reader from the printed page. Verse, on the other hand, is flat and dead.

Should have Reaction

"I have never read real poetry without experiencing a purely physical reaction of chills and fever. If the ordinary, sensitive person does not react to real poetry either by a prickling of the scalp, a sense of coldness down the spine, or a sensation of being stabbed through the solar plexus—either the poem is not really poetry, is not the kind of poetry which appeals to the reader, or the person is immune.

"Poetry is an interpretation of life by metaphor; as a light shines through a window, breaking into rainbow colors, so poetry reveals the inner beauty of life. Poetry has rhythm or cadence, but not rhyme.

"There is nothing sissified about poetry. It is not effiminate or flabby. The best poetry has been written by virile men who also make the best cooks and dressmakers. So that doesn't prove a thing."

Gum Plays Part In This Swimsuit

LONDON —(CP)— A new idea in swimsuits designed to give the utmost nudity for purpose of suntanning is the shortest of briefs combined with two strapless bra cups stuck on with gum.

The idea was devised by Charles L. Lang to solve the problem of women who desired an evenly tanned back and shoulders.

Trouble was that backless bras had to have straps and strapless bras had to have backs. The only answer seemed to be gum. So Charles set about inventing a gum that left no trace on the skin.

This he has done, but there's still a snag. The gum must be renewed after every swim. So far Charles has not managed to solve that one.

MacDONALD—In loving memory of my dear wife, Mrs. James MacDonald, who passed away June 9, 1949
One year has passed and gone,
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we place upon her grave
May wither and decay,
But the love of her who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.
—Lovingly remembered by her husband and family.

MacDONALD—In loving memory of a dear sister, Elizabeth MacDonald who passed away June 9, 1949.
Upright and just in all her ways,
Faithful and true to the end of her days,
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.
—Deeply missed by sisters and brothers.

MISSING GIRL SAID SEEN IN ANCASTER

Jap Reds On Tough Spot As Chinese Communists Urge Purge Counterblows

New Crackdown Likely By Government Holding Special Meeting; New Threat Against MacArthur Said False

TOKYO, June 10—(AP)—Life grew increasingly complex today for Japan's Communists, already staggered by two purges of their top strategists. On one side, the Chinese Communist Peiping radio—a link in the line to Moscow—urged them to "deal effective counterblows" to the purges ordered by Gen. MacArthur. On the other side, the government cracked down wherever the Communists raised their voices in public criticism of the U.S. occupation. Cabinet members and both rural and Tokyo police officials met with Premier Shigeru Yoshida to consider stronger measures.

Meanwhile, a new plot against MacArthur's life—the second in 10 days—was reported and brushed aside by key American officials. They called it another "fake" —like the last.

Information said a letter was intercepted two days ago, mentioning vaguely a plan to kill the supreme allied commander. The address was false and the author remained a mystery.

"Nobody at headquarters takes it seriously," an official said, "somebody is crying wolf."

A Japanese arrested June 1 after babbling details of an alleged plot to kill MacArthur has been sent to a mental hospital.

The Peiping radio, monitored here, called MacArthur's purge order of all 25 politburo members and 17 editors of the party newspaper Red Flag, "as absurd as it is reactionary." It added:

"Unless the Japanese people deal effective counterblows, they will once more be driven along the path of destruction by Japan's modern Tojo—MacArthur."

Three cabinet ministers and a batch of police officials from rural Japan and metropolitan Tokyo threshed out views with Premier Yoshida. The results were not disclosed but sources said they discussed means of cracking down on any Red protest demonstrations.

Police arrested Hidetaro Ikeda, reputed head of a Communist cell, on suspicion of criticising the occupation.

Education Minister Teiyu Amano said stronger measures will be taken against the "radical student movement." Students and some labor unions are bulwarks of the Communist strength.

Trains Collide Head-on; Three Injured

WINNIPEG, June 10 (CP) — Wrecking crews Friday found the body of a missing fireman in a Northwestern Ontario railway cut, raising to three the death toll in the head-on crash of two Canadian National Railways freight trains.

The body of E. L. Ruston of Cypress River, Ont., fireman on the eastbound train, was located hours after two of his fellow trainmen were found dead and another seriously injured.

One of the dead was Ruston's engineer, E. D. Mahoney. The other was A. J. Dillon, both of Sioux Lookout, Ont.

Brakeman H. R. Roy of Fort Frances, Ont., was seriously injured. He was taken by train to the Indian hospital at McIntosh near where the wreck occurred.

Cause of the crash, which occurred about 8:50 a.m. in a curving rock-cut was not known.

The accident scene is about halfway between Sioux Lookout and Reddit, on the CNR main line through Northwestern Ontario, and about 179 miles east of Winnipeg.

It was known whether the track would be back in service to permit on-time passage of transcontinental passenger trains in each direction early Saturday.

Farm Prices Lower Than '49

OTTAWA, June 10—(CP)—Farm prices of agricultural products in Canada—excluding Newfoundland—increased in April over the preceding month, but were below April last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

The index number for all-Canada, on the base 1935-39—100, stood at 248.8 in April as compared with 246.0 in March and 250.9 in April, 1949.

The Bureau attributed the "steady rise since January" largely to rising lives ck prices.

Increased prices were recorded in all provinces from March to April, but with the exception of Ontario, were below those of a year ago.

Teacher, Trustees Liable For Damages

TORONTO, June 10—(CP)— A schoolteacher and a group of township trustees Friday were held liable for $9,208 damages as the result of a fire in which a pupil was seriously burned.

The Ontario Appeal Court was told that 11-year-old Charles Gray, son of the caretaker of a school in Leeds and Lansdowne Front township was burned when asked to light a gas stove. The township is in Leeds county.

The teacher, Hazel McGonegle, and the trustees claimed that, under the Public Authorities Protection Act, they were not liable for the boy's injuries.

There was no fuel for the wood stove, the teacher said, so she instructed Gray to take the gas stove into the yard and light it so the children might have hot soup.

However, the court ruled that the boy had stated he did not know how to light the stove, which had been stored in a closet for 14 years.

Nab Two Prisoners

ANSONVILLE, June 10—(CP)—Two men who escaped Thursday from the Industrial Farm at Monteith were recaptured five miles south of here Friday night by Constable Roland Lauzon of Ansonville.. The officer tracked them nearly three miles through fresh mud. Henri Poisson, 27, of Sturgeon Falls, and Edward Graves, 21, of Windsor, had travelled about 20 miles north from Monteith. Ansonville is about 35 miles northeast of Timmins.

Ontario Gets Heat Relief Ahead Of Time

TORONTO, June 10—(CP)—A speed-up of cool air masses over the northwestern United States today brought southern and central Ontario relief from a three-day heat wave sooner than anticipated.

Dominion public weather office officials Friday morning forecast hot, sunny weather for the region, counting on a continued slow eastward movement of the cool air. Later in the day, when the movements started speeding up, they revised this to "cloudy with scattered showers and thundershowers and not much change in the temperature."

This was the weather which greeted most residents of central and southern Ontario when they arose today. A thick blanket of cloud brought some relief from the heat.

The cool, dry air which was over the Dakotas yesterday has not yet reached Ontario, but is expected ot do so by tonight. This should bring comparatively clear weather Sunday, with top temperatures of around 75 degrees.

17 Race Horses Die In Flames

CHICAGO, June 10—(AP)—A watchman perished and between 17 and 22 racing horses burned to death Friday night in a fire which destroyed the huge barn on the Emil Denemark farm near suburban Hinsdale.

Denemark estimated the loss at $700,000.

Among horses that died in the fire was Curtice, which last year won the $57,850 Futurity at Washington Park race track.

Denemark said he recently refused an offer of $100,000 for Curtice.

John Cooney, 38, a watchman who lived in the barn, said the flames spread rapidly and dense clouds of smoke soon were billowing from the 320-foot long, 40-stall structure.

Cooney said he and Frank Nemeck, 48, the watchman who died in the flames, attempted to rescue some of the frightened animals but were driven back by the intense heat.

He said Nemecek apparently was overcome by smoke and died inside the barn. His body was recovered later by firemen.

Wild Life Inspector Missing At Kenora

TORONTO, June 10 (CP). — W. Harris, a fish and wild life inspector of the Ontario Lands and Forests Department, is missing from his home at Kenora, the Department here said today. A widespread search of the Lake of the Woods area has been organized. Deputy Lands Minister Frank McDougall was informed that Harris has been missing since Thursday when he went out to inspect nets. His boat, with an outboard motor attached, was found Friday in the Lake of the Woods.

World's Prize Gorilla Gravely Ill In Chicago

CHICAGO, June 10—(AP)—Bushman, a massive, ugly-faced gorilla who is regarded as the world's prized zoo animal and probably has more fans than a movie star, is gravely ill.

The famed ape, Chicago's biggest single attraction for 20 years, was reported suffering from arthritis, heart disease and old age.

"He might die in the next five minutes or he may live a year," said Dr. Wesley Young, head veterinary at the Lincoln Park Zoo.

The veterinarians attending Bushman diagnosed his illness from a distance. They said that even in his weakened condition it would be impossible to enter his cage to examine him.

No one has entered the huge gorilla's cage since 1936. The ban was ordered after Bushman, then weighing 150 pounds, pulled his 185-pound trainer down a flight of stairs.

Bushman is 22 years old and said to be the oldest gorilla in captivity. He weighs 550 pounds and is six feet, two inches tall. The strength of his hands is immense, veterinarians said, and even if he were unconscious his reflexes might seriously injure a man.

The veterinarians are giving him digitalis—a heart stimulant —in his food. But he is not getting his normal daily diet of 20 pounds of food and three quarts of milk. It has been reduced to some fruit and milk. Guards maintained a 24-hour vigil near the big ape's cage.

Bushman was captured in the French Cameroon country of West Africa.

The zoo paid $3,500 for him. Zoo officials have said because he is irreplaceable, it was impossible to estimate his value in money.

Being Held By Force Woman Told

Had Bleached Hair, Acted Drugged Operator Tells Police

HAMILTON, June 10—(CP)—A girl believed to be Mabel Crumback, 19, missing from her home in suburban Toronto since May 28, was seen Friday at a tourist home in nearby Ancaster. Accompanied by a man, she left later, travelling west. Mrs. Wesley Jenne, who operates the Highland Cabins Tourist Camp, Friday night identified a photograph of Miss Crumback as that of a girl who stopped at the cabins with a man earlier in the day.

The girl appealed to her for help, saying she was being held by the man against her will. The woman said she paid no attention to the request at the time.

Mrs. Jenne said the girl had bleached blonde hair—Miss Crumback had dark wavy hair when she disappeared—and acted as if she had been drugged.

She said that, during a few minutes when the man was not watching, the girl pleaded with her to tell police that she was being forced to accompany him.

Dyed Hair!

Police expressed belief that the girl's hair might have been dyed.

A search of the London district was launched Friday night by provincial police but it was unsuccessful.

Miss Crumback, clerk in the office of a steel-fabricating company, vanished from her York township home during the night after a late date with a boy friend, James Bryan. Her parents had gone away for the weekend, but her brother, Gary, 8, was at home.

The brother said later he was awakened during the night by what sounded like "a dogfight downstairs." He said he heard a dog barking, voices, and what he thought was Mabel's high-pitched laughter.

Navy Worried About Tradition

VANCOUVER, June 9 (CP) — Deep conocern at what was described as the weakening and undermining of naval tradition was expressed Friday by the annual meeting of the Dominion Council of the Naval Officers' Association of Canada.

A resolution, endorsed by the 22 branch associations for forwarding to the defence minister, said in part "this insidious process is materially weakening the morale of those serving in the navy."

The association endorsed close inter-service co-operation but said it felt recent developments have gone beyond the point of increasing deficiency.

It said progressive elimination of naval tradition and uniform during officer training is occurring and while HMCS Royal Roads is being divorced from navy tradition, the Kingston Royal Military Academy retains its military background.

Fight Underground Fires

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP) —The federal government is making progress in its two-year-old war against underground fires, some of which have been smouldering for years, the Bureau of Mines said today. Some of the fires, licking away at valuable coal beds in Pennsylvania, Colorado and Wyoming, are being choked off by a block on their sources of oxygen; others are being isolated by trenches; some are being literally dug out of the earth.

Made An Embassy

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 10 (AP)—The Hungarian legation in Peiping, China, was raised Friday to the statue of embassy. The present minister, Emanuel Szafranko, assumes the rank of ambassador. Hungary has only one other embassy — Moscow. She maintains legations in other countries.

VILLAGE LIFE IS PLEASANT in Keene these warm afternoons. One can wander down to Indian River at the foot of the main street and fish off the village dock for pickerel. These two boys were so absorbed they did not notice the photographer, but their dog did. Black and green bass and muskies are taken in this spot in season, the boys said.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Red River Flood Officially Ended Today

WINNIPEG, June 10 —(CP)— The Red River flood of 1950, worst of a century, ending officially today in greater Winnipeg.

At 7 a.m. CDT a voice at James Avenue pumping station, where the river level is read, announced:

That is the point where all flooding in the sister cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface stops.

The muddy Red still was more than 10 feet above its average level through the year—but it was more than 12 feet below the peak of 30.3 feet, reached three weeks ago.

Greater Winnipeg then was within an ace of army-directed, mass evacuation that would have slashed its normal 350,000 population to a mere 75,000 "fit males and working females."

Cost-of-Living Up In Three Cities

OTTAWA, June 10— (CP). — Living costs in Vancouver, Winnipeg, and Toronto were higher at May 1 than a month earlier.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Friday that the cost-of-living indices in the three cities showed an increase in this period. At Vancouver the index rose .5 to 166.2, Winnipeg .3 to 159.3, Toronto .2 to 160.6.

On the other hand cost-of-living in Saint John, NB, fell .4 to 159.4, Montreal .3 to 166.2, Halifax .1 to 155.5, Saskatoon .1 to 164.7.

The Edmonton index remained at 160.4. In the same interval the Dominion index also remained stationary at 162.7.

Popular Songwriter Joseph Burke Dies

PHILADELPHIA, June 10 — (AP) — Joseph A. Burke, widely-known songwriter, who numbered among his hits "Carolina Moon," died Friday He was 66.

Burke's song hits were numerous. He wrote several numbers for the first "Gold Diggers of Broadway," one of the early talking pictures extravaganzas.

Other compositions by Burke included: "Oh, How I Miss You Tonight," "Yearning," "I'm Dancing With Tears In My Eyes, "In A Little Gypsy Tearoom," "A Little Bit Independent," "Moon Over Miami," "My Harbor of Dreams," "Rambling Rose," and "For You."

Train Hits Stalled Car One Killed, Four Injured

NORTH BAY, June 10—(CP)—One man was killed and four other persons were injured Friday night when a westbound freight train struck a stalled automobile on a crossing at nearby Corbeil. Killed was Louis Roy, 62. Most seriously injured was his wife, Mrs. Valeda Roy, 61. She has a double fracture of her left forearm, fractured clavicle, multiple cuts and bruises to head and body.

Driver of the car, Louis Roy's son, Robert Roy, 22, of Sudbury, was uninjured. Wife of the driver, Mrs. Patricia Roy, 22, escaped with bruises and a severe shaking up.

Mrs. Rudolph Lemieux, 25, of Sudbury, and her 10-month-old daughter, Mary Louise, also were injured. The baby suffered a 3½-inch gash in her neck and bruises. The mother suffered multiple cuts and bruises.

Spend Fair Night

Hospital authorities said the injured spent a "fair night."

Eye-witness Leo Voyer, sitting in front of a store when the accident occurred about 8:45 p.m., said that warning flashes and bells were working on the crossing.

He rushed to the wrecked car, which was carried 60 feet down the right of way, and found that only driver Robert Roy and his dead father had been thrown clear. Mrs. Robert Roy managed to free herself. Crow bars were used to pry the baby, its mother and the dead man's wife from the upturned car.

Engineer S. Donaldson of North Bay, said he first saw the stalled car "about 10 box car lengths away" and applied the brakes, but it was too late to halt the long freight.

An inquest likely will be held, police officers said today.

Mrs. Vandenberg Dies In Capital

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP) —Hazel Whitaker Vandenberg, wife of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, died early today.

Mrs. Vandenberg, 67, had had spells of serious illness since she underwent two major operations in 1947. Despite this and her many duties as a Senator's wife, she continued active until recently in a varied career of her own.

She served for a time as national chairman of the University of Michigan Alumnae Association and led in a drive for a $1,000,000 Woman's League building at the university.

In the Second World War she held a full-time job in the American Red Cross as director of camps and hospital services.

She accompanied her husband, the Republican's chief foreign policy spokesman in the Senate, to many of the international conferences at which he played important roles after the war, flying with him to Rio de Janeiro, Paris, London, San Francisco and other cities.

Mrs. Vandenberg always took her typewriter along on these trips. A one-time Chicago newspaper woman, she helped her husband with his speeches and occa- gave a hand to reporters ng them.

US Likely To Increase Defence Spending For Years

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP) —By dovetailing its military planning with that of western Europe, the United States is more likely to increase than to cut its own defence spending for several years.

This is the concept of U. S. defence officials who are working to translate the concept of a western pool of defence resources into fighting units equipped with atomic-age weapons.

U. S. military spending may run higher, they say, because (a) the U. S. has the most to contribute to the Atlantic Pact pool, and (b) it has additional military responsibilities in other parts of the world.

Defence secretary Louis Johnson has warned Congress against cutting "by one nickel" the $13,000,000,000 military budget for the fiscal year starting July 1, saying that nothing in the country's European commitments justifies any cut in its own defence program.

He is known to feel that the military budget should continue at the current level for several years.

Other defence officials have hinted that this level may rise.

Top military planners generally concede that it will take time—perhaps two or three years—for the 12 Atlantic-pact allies to work out details of how best to put the accepted principle of collective defence to work.

This will involve some compromises with national pride.

For instance, France, might agree to spend less on her navy if the United States shows that it is ready to increase its naval force in the Mediterranean. Belgium might be called on to spend more on development of uranium deposits in the Congo and less on her armed forces.

Hope To Stem Flames, Save Homes

Newfoundland Men Rally To Emergency As Wind Fans Blaze

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 10 —(CP)—Sweating and begrimed, weary fire-fighting crews worked doggedly today in an attempt to control Newfoundland's worst forest fire eating toward the fringes of the northern port town of Lewisporte.

There was almost a flat calm as the men made a desperate effort to stop the blaze which could devour their town of 1,500 and reach its big gasoline depot supplying nearby Gander airport.

It was a race against time because the weather office predicted freshening winds late this afternoon. If the fires are not controlled by that time, Rangers said, the situation might easily become hopeless.

The forest comes down almost to the town. It is separated from huge oil storage tanks only by an old Canadian army barracks. If it reached the edge of the forest, little hope is held for the town.

All Lewisporte businesses were closed and everyone physically able was on the fire front, slashing a wide break between the fire and the town or working on the pumps.

Ready For Evacuation

Red Cross headquarters in St. John's is prepared to handle any evacuation that might become necessary. The Canadian National coastal ship Springdale is standing by to help.

Roy Forward, Lewisporte businessman, reported there was no panic in the town and no move was being made to evacuate. He was confident that it the wind did not freshen, the crews would be able to get the fire under control.

The Lewisporte fire was the most serious of eight throughout the island province. Here are brief reports from other areas:

Heart's Content—Fires running wild through the barrens in bush and turf. But the town is not threatened.

5% Increase In Hydro Rates

BIGWIN INN, Ont., June 10 —(C)—Effective Jan. 1 next the Ontario Hydro Commission will increase its rates to municipalities by five per cent, it was announced Friday night by Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission.

The increase is on the wholesale price of power sold to municipalities, the chairman explained to the Association of Municipal Electric Utilities meeting at this Muskoka resort.

Mr. Saunders said the increase will not affect Toronto's domestic rates to consumers, nor will it affect communities where increase were recently allowed.

The Ontario commision late last year announced a 12 per cent increase in wholesale price to municipalities, retroactive to Nov. 1. Following that increase various municipalities increased their rates to domestic consumers.

Not Greater Love Shares His Suspenders

CHICAGO, June 10 — (AP).— Police Sgt. Thomas O'Grady suspended official business at Town Hall Station Friday night to give the suspenders off his back to a prospective bridegroom in distress.

Joseph Nedza, 22, who is to be married today, came to the station in search of a pair of suspenders. He told O'rady that the dress suit he rented was minus suspenders. None of his friends had any. And he could not find a store which sold suspenders.

O'Grady unstrapped his 30-year-old yellow-and-blue suspenders and gave them to Nedza.

"You take them and do right by the little lady," O'Grady told Nedza. "You've got something old, something borrowed, and something blue."

O'Grady still had a belt for his pants.

Banker Takes $120,000 Jailed 3 Years

Find Thefts Occurred Since Monty Manager From 1929

ST. JEROME, Que., June 10 —(CP)—Romeo Monty, 54-year-old manager of a bank of Nova Scotia branch at Grenville, Que., was sentenced Friday to three years in penitentiary on charges of stealing $120,000 from the bank.

The thefts were said to have been committed since Monty became manager in 1929. Monty was charged after a month-long investigation of the branch bank's books. It followed discovery of several discrepancies by a bank inspector last April.

Monty was charged with stealing the money from the branch funds and "legal possessions" being held in "safekeeping." Bank officials said depositors will not suffer from the embezzlement as the bank will absorb all losses.

Monty Suspended

Investigators are reported to have questioned Monty at great length before laying charges. They suspended him immediately after the shortage was revealed during the inspection of the books while Monty was on holidays—his first vacation in several years.

Officials said Grenville, a small community on the Ottawa River about 50 miles west of Montreal, serves several large pulp mills and upwards of $100,000 passed through the bank each week.

Monty entered the employ of the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1912, serving at other branches before going to Grenville in 1929.

Small Forces Alarming Drew Declares

OTTAWA, June 10 — (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, told the Commons Friday that every Canadian should be alarmed at the smallness of the army Canada has available to meet a sudden attack.

In a verbal battle with Defence Minister Claxton over the state of preparedness of Canadian forces Mr. Drew said only 4,000 of the 20,000-odd men in Canada's regular army are in the airborne brigade group that is its striking force. Every Canadian should be alarmed over this "serious disproportion."

Mr. Claxton said that in the opinion of his advisers the Canadian forces and those planned by the United States for Alaska would be sufficient to deal with an attack on the northwesa part of the continent on the scale that might be anticipated as part of a total war.

In any attack from the northeast the Americans had forces in Newfoundland that would be available and Canada had reserve units which "are in very good condition indeed."

Mr. Claxton's statement, coupled with reports from Washington, indicated that the United States and Canada intend to have about 20,000 men ready to defend Alaska and the Canadian northwest.

"Alarming Situation"

Mr. Drew said that if only 4,000 men are ready for action tomorrow, it is a disproportion that should alarm the country. This was not in balance with the task facing the country.

Mr. Claxton had stated that the Reserve Army stood behind the active force ready to take the field after "varying times" to prepare. In the last war it took up to 2½ years to prepare them.

Mr. Drew doubted if one of them could take the field in less than six months this time.

He called for a disclosure of Canada's actual fighting strength and said the only people who would be misled by failure to give that information would be the Canadians, not the Russians who had 160 divisions.

Meet Any Challenge

Canadians would respond to any challenge. They would meet any demand rather than stoop to the "criminal folly" of unpreparedness again.

Canada should never again face the prospect of putting inexperienced flesh against enemy steel.

Stock Markets Still Rising After One Year

By FRANK KAPLAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stock markets were still rising this week after a year of almost uninterrupted advance.

The bull market was going strong. Signs of bogging down appeared early in the week but prices quickly bounced up, recovering losses and moving further into new high price territory.

This was the sixth successive week of advance for the market. The bullish tone is spreading into business. Optimism is on the increase in the business world. Unemployment figures in Canada continued dropping. Business men report "bright outlook for the remainder of the year and some are saying that present conditions should continue well into 1951.

Commodity prices, a basic indicator of future business operations, have been rising in recent weeks.

Activity on stock exchange continues at a rapid rate. Brokerage house staffs are working long overtime hours.

Many observers continue maintaining that public participation is small though on a steady increase. Daily markets have become broader in recent weeks.

Show Gain

At New York the Associated Press 60-stock average closed Friday at 80.1, a gain of .2 from the previous Friday and the highest figure since June 1946.

Canadian industrial markets also gained. In Toronto, industrials showed an advance of 1.27 on the exchange's index and was at the highest point since the index was first compiled in 1934. Paper stocks continued feature performers on industrial boards.

Western oils were the most outstanding issues over the four days. The index rolled ahead 4.38 to the highest point since the boom days of Turner Valley in 1937.

Base metals also gained following recent price increases in copper, zinc and nickel. The index rose 1.50.

Golds wre the only losers. steady selling in leading senior and junior producers pushed the index down to the lowest point since last June.

Low-priced prospects continued brisk traders. Rumors of bringing the Canadian currency back to par with the United States currency tended to depress golds.

Have Ample Forces

COLOMBO, Ceylon, June 10— (Reuters) — Field Marshal Sir William Slim, chief of the Imperial General Staff, said today that the democratic powers "have ample" forces with which to protect themselves — if only they have enough sense to combine, which they are showing signs of doing. He stopped here on his way to Pacific defence talks in Australia.

TORONTO, June 10 — (CP) — Five suburban municipalities and the police village of Thistleton Friday filed briefs with the Ontario Municipal Board opposing the application of the city of Toronto for progressive amalgamation of suburban municipalities. Ask Drinking Stop

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP) —The Women's Christian Temperance Union for the District of Columbia adopted a motion Friday urging President Truman to "abstain from drinking." The motion called upon the President to set an example for the United States in temperance. Truman can take the stuff or leave it alone. Jealous Admirer Slays Woman, Then Suicides

PONTIAC, Mich., Jun 10—(AP) —The middle-aged and lovelorn admirer who killed socially-prominent Mrs. Thelma Clark came to his own death as he had promised.

Searchers Friday night found the body of Lloyd Gesch, 50-year-old contractor, beside his car in the woods near here.

He had been shot in the heart. The deer rifle which police said he had used in killing Mrs. Clark, 39, women's city golf champion, lay between his legs.

Gesch's death, which a friend said he had foretold after the shooting of Mrs. Clark, was declared a suicide by Prosecutor Clyde D. Underwood.

Mrs. Clark, a divorcee and mother of a 12-year-old son, was slain Friday in front of the home of her father, a General Motors Corporation official.

Case Of Jealousy

Police said it was an evident case of jealousy.

In the gunfire Mrs. Clark's mother, Mrs. Hettie Gorsline, 58, and Charles Moore, 38, an automobile salesman, were injured. A chip of concrete ripped from the sidewalk by a bullet struck Mrs. Gorsline in the chest.

Mrs. Clark and Moore had just returned from a tavern visit when Gesch appeared, began an argument and fired at them, police said.

Police said that Gesch later showed up at an employee's home, left some belongings and declared "Take these, I'll be dead in 20 minutes."

About midnight his body was found.

Warns States Competing For Tourists

MARMORA, June 10 (ENS)— Thomas C. McCall, Deputy Minister of Travel and Publicity spoke at the June dinner meeting of the Marmora District Chamber of Commerce in the Royal Hotel on Thursday about the need for Ontario's tourist facilities to be extended and advertised.

Having mentioned that it was his initial visit to the Crowe Lake and River district, he presented the present outlook on the Ontario tourist business. While the four past years had been record years he pointed out that this would be the critical year. The American tourists had more places to go and he asserted that 46 American States were keenly competing with Ontario for business. There will have to be a great picture of community development and benefits and courtesy to our American summer guests is a vital concern, he said.

He contended that it was more pleasing to their eyes to see the highway free of undue advertising signs. "Let's settle to be Canadian", he urged. Many letters read in a check-up of resort businesses received by the proprietors, referred to the people as being nice to their visitors. Mr. McCall felt that the tourist home operator had been, in the past, carrying most of the load.

There is a need for better secondary roads in our province as well as of good coffee to make a visit more inviting," he said. He also was convinced that the development of historic sites in the province played its part in the province's attractions. In his closing remarks directed to the activities of the Chamber of Commerce the Deputy Minister declared. "The Chamber of Commerce is the great voice in the world at large."

A vote of thanks was expressed by Don Marett.

Need Better Roads

Elmer Sandercock, MPP, for North Hastings, who was also a guest of the evening, admitted the need for better roads into resorts in his constituency as well as a better hydro service and said he would support any effort put forth by the Chamber or organized resort operators in that connection.

President Alex Fraser, who presided, welcomed all guests. In the business section of the meeting a letter was read from the Ontario Chamber of Commerce soliciting the branch's membership. This matter was passed to the Board of Directors for action.

The president reported for the chairman of the regatta committee, Vern Caverly, of the progress made. The Marmora and Lake Township Council has promised to do what it can to improve the road into Glen Allan Park, the venue for the regatta.

Discussion ensued and notes were made by the secretary, Ralph Neal, on suggestions to make the event most attractive. Don Marett for the publicity cammittee, explained that the signs at the approaches to Marmora had been taken down for repainting and that they would soon be put back.

Hydro Too Costly

A motion was passed that the Chamber of Commerce take some action on the matter of the increased hydro rates for summer cottages and summer resorts. The local member promised to associate himself with the representations, which will be made.

For the membership committee James L. Shannon reported there were about 62 paid up members. Gordon Young of Belmont Lake, gave a short talk on the irrigated deserts and dude ranches he had seen in his visit to Arizona and other south-western states this past winter.

The Chamber decided to write a letter to the Belmont Township Council on the matter of improving roads leading to resorts in their township.

The president announced the next meeting would be held on the second Thursday in September.

Freak Storm Strikes At Windsor

Lasts Only 15 Minutes But Damage Runs Into Thousands

WINDSOR, June 10—(CP) Strong, gusty winds which at times approached a velocity of 60 miles an hour caused heavy damage in parts of Windsor and Detroit late Friday.

The storm lasted only 15 minutes. But in that time several persons were injured, trees were uprooted, roofs were lifted and high-tension wires blown down.

Damage, confined for the most part to the East Windsor suburb of Riverside and that part of Detroit directly across the river, is expected to run into thousands of dollars.

Most of the injuries—none serious—were caused by flying glass. At the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, a large glass pane shattered over a group of production workers and most suffered cuts.

Lightning and wind accompanied the wind. A hydro-substation was struck by a bolt and firemen were called to put out the blaze.

Power Fails

Power failed in four of the city's main east-side hydro districts and linemen worked all night to restore it. Extra police were called out to prevent people touching live wires which were blown down.

On Belle Isle, Detroit's large island park, officials said 1,000 trees were destroyed.

In Riverside, the roof of a beauty shop was torn off, gasoline pumps were torn from their foundations and garages shifted several feet.

The storm was little more than local, weather bureau officials said. Only slight damage was reported in Essex county, Leamington and Kingsville, 25 to 30 miles away

Dr. G. A. Howson Widely Mourned By Community

"Arthur Howson marked just that ideal of what a medical man should be," said Archdeacon W. P. Robertson conducting the funeral service of Dr. George Arthur Howson in St. John's Anglican Church Friday.

Speaking, he said, for the benefit of the family and the many representatives of the medical profession who attended the funeral service, the Archdeacon declared that disease of the kind which killed Dr. Howson was not the will of God.

He hoped the medical science would soon rid the world of that "dire enemy" of mankind.

St. John's Church was filled to overflowing with relatives, friends, colleagues of the medical profession and former patients. Nineteen nurses in uniform from Civic Hospital attended. Representatives of the Peterborough Clinic and both hospitals as well as the Peterborough Medical Society, were on hand. Doctors from towns and villages throughout the entire district were present.

Dr. Howson's parents were the late George Howson and Jane Laing. One of his surviving sisters, Mrs. Frank Simpson of Detroit has the Christian name of Marion, not Miriam as reported.

Honorary pallbearers were Dr. A. Moir, Dr. G. S. Cameron, Dr. J. M. McCulloch, Dr. H. V. Dobson, Dr. B. H. Cragg, Dr. Ralph Honey, Gerald Wood and George Bobard.

Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Of The United Church

Twenty-five years ago today Canada's largest Protestant church came into being through a union of the Methodist, the Congregational and a large part of the Presbyterian churches in this country. Tomorrow in special services across the land the consummation of the union on June 10th, 1925, will be remembered, and with it the ardent ministers and laymen of the three churches whose vision was realized that day, a vision of a united and a unifying church. Ut omnes unum sint ('That all may be one') is the United Church of Canada's motto and its prayer. The union has not embraced all of Protestant Canada, nor indeed all of the three national uniting churches. But now, twenty-five years later, it can be said to be truly united in its faith, its aspirations, its work and its worship. The three denominations have contributed from their rich heritages to form, not a national, nationalistic church, but a great church of Canadians.

• • •

Tomorrow United Church congregations will remember the great architects of union, men like Dr. A. H. Warriner and Dr. D. L. Ritchie of Montreal; Dr. S. D. Chown, of Toronto; the two Pidgeons, Dr. Leslie of Montreal, Dr. George of Toronto; Dr. T. Albert Moore of Hamilton, first General Secretary; Dr. Richard Roberts, of the American Presbyterian Church in Montreal who brought his congregation into the church with him on June 10th, 1925; Dr. Robert Laird of Kingston, first treasturer, a devoted churchman and executive; Dr. E. H. Oliver of Saskatoon, a former Moderator; Dr. E. J. Edmison. They will remember especially the first three distinguished Moderators of the new church: Dr. George Pidgeon, a former Presbyterian; Dr. James Endicott, a former Methodist, and Dr. W. T. Gunn, a former Congregationalist. Most of these men have gone from the scene of the labours, but their work remains.

• • •

United Church people will also remember less widely-known ministers and laymen, who in their own congregations and districts, cultivated the seeds of union. Memory of those days is still vivid in many faithful persons' minds, but the heart-bleeding and the scars have become things of the past. The bitterness which was unhappily engendered between two factions, each of goodwill and righteousness, the rancour which split congregations, has gone. If some of the purposes which the designers of union had in their hearts have not been achieved—for instance, if the little rural charges were not united, and there is still no one Protestant Church of God in Canada—time has healed fissures and no doubt great good has been achieved by the Union. It is not within our province here to argue that the Union came too early or that it was unnecessary. To argue so is as fruitless as to say that the Reformation was irreparably damaging to Christendom.

• • •

A great Church came into being, and it has flourished.

• • •

Today the United Church of Canada, stretches from coast to coast (Newfoundland churches were from the beginning part of the United Church), and, in schools, hospitals and missions, to India, Africa, Japan, Korea, and China. Today the United Church has a membership of 800,000, and it has two million Canadians reported to be under its "pastoral care". Its Woman's Missionary Society had 200,327 members, its Woman's Associations, 163,444. The Church has eight theological colleges, three Arts colleges, and various training schools in Canada. It operates at home and abroad institutions for orphans, for lepers, for the aged, the sick, the blind, the hungry, and the illiterate. One of the hall-marks of the United Church is its intense interest and activity in healing and social work.

• • •

The United Church has laid a firm foundation and faces the future with justified confidence.

Stab In The Back Wound Closed

Ten years ago today an important little man stood on the balcony of the Palazzo Venezia of Rome and announced Italy's declaration of war on the side of Germany. "Our conscience is perfectly tranquil", he said. "All the world knows that Italy has tried in vain for peace. The Allies should not have repulsed the peace offers made by Hitler. But all that is a fact of the past." Mussolini has now been in a grave for five years, and, as he shouted from the balcony in Rome, "all that is a fact of the past."

The "stab in the back"—Churchill's description—was painful to the Allies. The longest campaign in the West was waged in Italy but chiefly against the Germans. Fascism has been ousted, Mussolini hanged, the Savoy, monarchy has gone, the new Republic has celebrated its fifth anniversary, Italy is firmly in the western world's democratic capitalist fold, and this year all western roads are leading to Rome for the Holy Year.

Today western feeling for Italy is warmer than it has been for twenty-five years, when Fascism's nature was revealed. The wound in the back inflicted a decade ago has healed, leaving hardly a scar. In our dealings with Italy now—our wooing, it could almost be said—there is little time or general desire to look to the back.

But this newspaper's front page of June 10th, 1940, has, nevertheless a present dark fascination. "Italy Declares war", and beside it a smaller, but important Canadian story: "The House of Commons unanimously voted approval today for Canada to declare war on Italy. The resolution was carried at 3.46 p.m., EDT, without a vote." On the same page is the Admiralty's news that the aircraft carrier Glorious had been sunk. Another heading is ominous: Allied troops quit Norway: Men and supplies rushed to bolster lines before Paris. (Norway and Denmark were definitely in German hands but Paris had a few days left before its fall.) There is a front-page whisper of the confusion and rout in France, which before the end of the month was to result in the capitulation of that country and Hitler's assertion—premature as he found out—that "the war in the west has now ended". On the same day Canadians were shocked to read that the Honourable Norman Rogers, their Minister of National Defence—a post of importance second only to the Prime Minister's—had been killed in in an aeroplane crash near Newtonville.

It was a newsy day, but the kind of news which we hope never to have in one day again.

The Wrong Road To Mental Health

Health is one of the great preoccupations of the age. Thousands of articles appear to be written every year recommending ways of becoming healthier, or preserving whatever degree of health you already enjoy. And a great deal of this writing is windy nonsense.

Consider a press release which has just reached our desk from the National Health Association—whatever that may be. It is headed "Avoid A Nervous Breakdown". At the end of the article it gives eight rules which are designed to prevent nervous breakdowns. We reprint the first four of these:

1. Do on repress your emotions. Let them out.
2. Remove all feeling of guilt that you may have.
3. Do not punish yourself needlessly.
4. Reduce over-sensitiveness by getting tough.

This, we submit, is nonsense. If we do not control our emotions in some degree we shall shortly have chaos. Feelings of guilt cannot be shrugged off; they require the attention of a skilled psychiatrist. So does the tendency toward self-punishment. And to try to reduce ones' sensitivity by "getting tough" is to court disaster; a bad trait of personality is not cured by simply trying to assume its opposite. These rules, if anyone takes them seriously, are not likely to help anyone who is really neurotic. And they are mischievous because they promote the idea that mental ills are susceptible of cure by shallow and generalized methods.

Mental illness and neurosis must be treated by qualified persons, like illness of any other kind. Advice of the sort handed out by the National Health Association can do no good, and may conceivably do harm.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Biologists foresee that by 2050 the average Canadian will be seven feet tall. And the average Canadian home, judging by the way it is going, will have shrunk to the size of an orange crate.

We read of a church which offers special prayers for "Makers of Opinion—Authors, Editors, Journalists". Aha! That explains that sanctified feeling which we have noticed recently.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Raymond Cataplasm, M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dear Dr. Cataplasm:

I am greatly worried, and I am worried because I am worried, for I read in several magazines with large circulations (which means that they must be good) that worry causes high blood pressure and ulcers, and that high blood pressure and the things which go with it kill more people than any other group of ailments. How can I stop worrying about worrying? If I could do that I could begin on the job of ceasing to worry altogether.

The notion that worry shortens the life-span is a new one to me, for my family are remarkably long-lived, and they are all master-worriers. And after they have passed the age of eighty they raise worry to the virtuoso level, worrying about things which cannot even be understood by less gifted people. But if worry is a shortener of life I must root out this ingrained ancestral habit, or I may drop off my perch at some disgracefully early age.

All the magazine advice to worriers stresses the need for relaxation. Apparently one ought to be as relaxed as possible all the time. Now when I relax completely, I fall down; I have to keep a tiny bit strung-up in order to get my work done, and to retain the respect of my colleagues. The only way for me to achieve complete relaxation is to go to bed in a darkened room. But that makes me fall asleep, and the magazine articles say that too much sleep is worse than too little. I can also relax after eating a very large meal, but over-eating is not only bad for the blood pressure, but a cause of ulcers, as well.

I am doing my best to live a healthy, relaxed, temperate, unworried life, but you doctors are making it very hard for me. In fact, you are worrying me, and you know what worry does.

Yours confusedly and miserably,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Haubergeon Hydra, Esq.

Dear Mr. Hydra:

I see that Parliament is much concerned about the quality of modern Canadianism. Apparently it is not Canadian enough—there are still big lumps of British Influence and Colonial Inferiority Complex swimming around in it. May I make a suggestion to you as Deputy Assistant Sterilizer of Canadian Patriotism?

We need bigger and better Canadian heroes. We have the raw material, but we must work on it. You know how Canada hates anything raw. We have heroes, but we have not yet blown them up to full heroic stature.

Look at what has been done in the States with Washington, Lincoln, Barbara Frietchie and others. Unpromising material to begin with. Just men and women. But by the use of gas and mirrors they have been given heroic stature. Think what that story about the Cherry Tree has done for Washington! We couldn't copy it, of course, for in Canada we still admire people who cut down trees, and could not see any particular nobility in admitting such an action. In Canada, a tree is still looked upon as a Big Weed, to be hoiked up or chopped down, or mutilated with impunity. But there are other stories which we could bend to our use, and I submit the following examples for your consideration.

Sir John and The Spider

One day our Great National Hero, Sir John A. Macdonald, sat disconsolately in his lawyer's office in Kingston. Try as he would, he could not get the Canadian provinces to confederate. They simply wouldn't. As he sat, his eyes were attracted by a little spider which was trying to climb up a piece of string (or whatever that stuff is that spiders extrude so unpleasantly from their stomachs). He paid no attention, for spiders were then, as now, part of the standard furnishing of all lawyers' officers in Kingston.

Up the spider climbed, and down it fell. Sir John's left eyelid twitched. Again the spider tried to climb the string, but again it fell with an arachnidal curse. And a third time it struggled up the string, and immediately set to work to gobble up a juicy fly.

Sir John was now fully awake. "By George!" he cried (referring to George Brown of the Toronto Globe, and thus uttering a terrible Conservative curse) "shall yonder foolish insect put me to shame? I too shall strive, and strive again, until here is a Federal Government in Canada, gobbling up the richest flies the land affords!" And hastily taking a drink of soda water (of which he was inordinately fond) he rushed out and confederated Canada in a twinkling.

MORAL: Never sweep your office.

Laurier and the Teakettle

One day Sir Wilfrid Laurier sat by the hearth in his parents' home, musing and pondering in French (though being completely bilingual, he could just as easily have done it in English). Beside him on the hob, the kettle bubbled. "Etre, our non etre?" mused Sir Wilfrid; "c'est la question". (This splendid line was later incorporated into the film of "Hamlet", but it lost a great deal in translation). "Blubbety-blub!" mused the kettle, in kettle-language. "Qu'est-ce que c'est que vous avez dites?" asked Sir Wilfrid. "Bloop!" said the kettle.

In that instant Sir Wilfrid conceived the whole theory of the steam-engine, and would have built a railway to the Yukon if the Senate had not vetoed the idea.

MORAL: The Senate should be reformed so as to consist entirely of the Cabinet.

Laura's Jewels

The constant companions of the great and good Laura Secord were her cows. Indeed, it was a cow which overheard the American officers planning their wicked attack upon Colonel Fitzgibbon's troops, and warned Laura. The story that she herself listened at the keyhole is a vicious canard. Being immoveably upright, she could not stoop to a keyhole.

One day she was entertaining a purse-proud friend who boasted immoderately of her riches and her articles of personal adornment. "And will you not show me your jewels, Mrs. Secord?" said she.

Smiling enigmatically Laura called her cows to her. She put her arms around each brown neck, and drew the wet noses close to her own. "These are my jewels", said she, with well-nigh unbearable simplicity.

MORAL: The cream of the cream can get along without diamonds, even of the first water.

There you have it Mr. Hydra. Fill our children up with that sort of thing, and in no time their patriotism will have surpassed even our most unreasonable expectations.

Yours for an aggressively Canadian Canada,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

Naval Arms Race In The Baltic

From
JOHN KILMARNOCK in Stockholm

WITH little Press publicity but considerable private concern, Scandinavian defence experts are watching a silent contest which is at present being played out between the only two considerable sea powers in northern Europe—Sweden and the Soviet Union. The prize: control of the Baltic Sea, which is nearly as vital to both powers as the Mediterranean was to Mussolini.

Over the past eight years, and especially since the war, Sweden has been actively increasing and modernizing her small but efficient navy. Co-operation with the air force (now being supplied with British jet fighters) has been intensified, the Swedish Admiralty having been quick to recognize the necessity for air cover for warships in the confined waters of the Baltic. In ship-building, the tendency has been towards faster and more lightly-armed ships, to give the Navy the speed and mobility which modern sea warfare demands.

Elderly warships have progressively been replaced by modern ones, so that now the average age of Swedish naval vessels has been reduced from 20 years (in 1939) to something under nine. Two of Sweden's new cruisers, the Tre Kronor and the Gota Lejon (each of 7,600 tons) as well as a number of destroyers and smaller ships have been completed since 1945 and thus are fully up to date. Improvements in armaments include guns manufactured by the Swedish firm of Bofors which are not only more rapid firing than before but are also capable of being more quickly directed to their targets.

Today the Swedish navy (which also includes a highly organized coastal artillery) comprises five coast defence battleships, four light cruisers, 21 destroyers, 18 motor torpedo boats, 25 submarines, 10 minelayers, 46 minesweepers, and 27 patrol boats.

Under construction in 1949 were two more destroyers, 11 motor torpedo boats, three submarines, two minelayers and two patrol boats. Altogether Sweden is now scheduled to spend something like 800 million crowns (£55,000,000 or 222,000,000 dollars) annually on her permanent defence system.

But recently a greatly increased activity by the Soviet Union in naval matters has led to a growing fear in Sweden, especially in naval circles, that even these preparations are insufficient to meet what is regarded as a long-term Russian plan to turn the Baltic into a Soviet "Mare Nostrum". Swedes have noted with something more than academic interest the Kremlin's decision two months ago to create a special Ministry of the Navy, separate from the Defence Ministry, under Admiral Yumachev. They have also regarded as a somewhat dubious compliment the fact that the Russians have this Spring sent to Stockholm as the new Soviet Ambassador such a high naval personage as 49 year old Admiral K. K. Rodionov, who was Soviet Ambassador in Greece when the civil war began, has served with the Red Fleet, and has also been a member of several Russian delegations to the United Nations.

But the Swedes have been even more disturbed by signs of Soviet naval activity along the great area of Baltic coast which the Russians now control, from Porkkala and Viipuri in the Gulf of Finland to Wismar, in the Bay of Lubeck, due south of Denmark.

THIS coast has, of course, traditionally been the site of many famous naval bases, from Leningrad and Kronstadt to Tallinn, Memel, Windau, Konigsberg (now Kaliningrad), Danzig, Swinemunde and Rostock. A number of smaller harbours were also developed by the Germans for naval use during the war, such as Kolberg, Sassnitz and Wismar. Although much material destruction was carried out by the Germans in the last days of the war, Swedes believe that all this great chain of naval bases has now been set in order by the Russians, and that a number of them, especially Kaliningrad and Swinde-munde have been considerably extended.

Heavy fortifications have apparently been carried out, too, on the islands of Osel and Dago, off the Gulf of Riga, which are also believed to have been prepared as bases for possible V-weapon attacks on the Swedish coast. Reports from German refugees arriving in Sweden say that V-weapon bases have been constructed along the German Baltic coast opposite southern Sweden, more particularly at Kolberg, at the former German experimental station at Peenemunde and probably also on the island of Rugen. Swedes have taken note of the fact that Stockholm itself would be in easy range of any modern V-weapons which might be installed in the Soviet-controlled "Porkkala pocket" 20 miles along the coast from Helskini on the Gulf of Finland.

The Russians are making every effort to guard jealously the secrets of their Baltic preparations. Radar detection networks have been installed along the whole coastline, and the coast itself is in many places provided with barbed wire fences and high look-out towers. Swedish fishing trawlers venturing too near Soviet waters have been unceremoniously warned off by Soviet patrol ships or else taken into custody.

TODAY, according to the latest figures available in Sweden, the Russian Baltic fleet consists of one battleship, four heavy cruisers, one light cruiser, three torpedo cruisers, about 20 destroyers of around 2,000 tons and 100-150 submarines, of which about 100 are fully up-to-date. In addition the Russians have, according to the Swedish naval calendar, 12 torpedoboats of 800-1,000 tons, about 50 minesweepers and a large number of smaller vessels.

Last autumn Swedish experts reported that one, and possibly two, of the three new improved Kirov-class 8,800 tons cruisers which have been building in the Leningrad yards took part in Red Fleet manoeuvres. The speed of these ships is given as 35 knots. Their armament consists of nine 7-inch and eight 3.9-inch guns together with extensive equipment for torpedoes, mine-laying and anti-aircraft defence.

The Russians, in addition, are said to have been pushing anead, though under some difficulties due to lack of equipment, with the outfitting and modernizing of the two former German heavy cruisers Petropaviovsk (ex-Lutzow) and Poltava (ex-Seydlitz) which, according to German reports, are being made ready at the Putilov docks at Leningrad, where the third cruiser of the Kirov class is also being completed. Some mystery surrounds the 35,000 ton battleship Sovietski Sojus, which the Russians have been building since the war. According to some reports, she is nearing completion, but other sources suggest that work on her has been at least temporarily suspended.

Studying Soviet naval activity in the Baltic as a whole, the Swedish Admiral Stromback recently declared that it "goes far beyond the demands of normal defence" and that impression is certainly widely shared in Sweden. The organ of the Swedish Navy League, "Sveriges Flotta", declares in its current issue: "It is high time that we set our house in order. No nation has succeeded in maintaining its neutrality or its independence through weakness. Few people really understand how exposed and dangerous our situation is. Are we going to take the proper action in time?".

'It Belongs To Canada'

(Commons Hansard)

Mr. Blair: I refer to the astrolabe of Champlain, who was one of the greatest early explorers of this country.

Any hon. member who visits Nepean Point will find there a statue of this great early Canadian explorer, looking up the Ottawa river toward the scene of some of his early explorations, and holding in his hands a scientific instrument for the taking of latitude and longitude. He used it when he was searching for the Northwest Passage.

In his memoirs Champlain tells of how he lost this instrument. Some years ago a farmer near Cobden found it when ploughing, but unfortunately it found its way to a collection in New York.

This instrument should be in our national museum. Not only is it an instrument used by one of the greatest explorers; it is a tangible reminder of the great things he did for this country. I feel that it belongs to Canada, and I suggest that an effort be made to have it brought back and placed in our national museum.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now when Jacob saw that there was corn in Egypt, Jacob said unto his sons, Why do ye look one upon another? And he said, Behold, I have heard that there is corn in Egypt: get you down thither, and buy for us from thence; that we may live, and not die.

And Joseph was the governor over the land, and he it was that sold to all the people of the land: and Joseph's brethren came, and bowed down themselves before him with their faces to the earth. And Joseph saw his brethren, and he knew them, but made himself strange unto them, and spake roughly unto them; and he said unto them, Whence come ye? And they said, From the land of Canaan to buy food . . . And they said, Thy servants are twelve brethren, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan; and, behold, the youngest is this day with our father, and one is not . . .

Then Joseph commanded to fill their sacks with corn, and to restore every man's money into his sack, and to give them provision for the day: and thus did he unto them. (Gen. 42: 1, 2, 6, 7, 13, 25.)

And it came to pass when they had eaten up the corn which they had brought out of Egypt, their father said unto them, Go again, buy us a little food. And Judah spake unto him, The man did solemnly protest unto us, saying, Ye shall not see my face, except your brother be with you . . . And their father Israel said unto them, If it must be so now, do this; take of the best fruits in the land in your vessels, and carry down the man a present, a little balm, and a little honey, spices, and myrrh, nuts, and almonds . . .

And the men took that present, and they took double money in their hand, and Benjamin; and rose up, and went down to Egypt, and stood before Joseph. (Gen. 43: 2, 3, 11, 15.)

Then Joseph could not refrain himself before them all that stood by him, and he cried, Cause every man to go out from me. And there stood no man with him, while Joseph made himself known unto his brethren . . .

And Joseph said unto his brethren, Come near to me, I pray you. And they came near. And he said, I am Joseph your brother, whom ye sold into Egypt. Now therefore be not grieved, nor angry with yourselves, that ye sold me hither: for God did send me before you to preserve life. (Gen. 45: 1, 4, 5.)

The Immigrants Settle In To The New Life Survey of Settlement Cost and Condition

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

The majority of the emigrants began immediately to clear and cultivate their land, and to plan how to beg or buy more acreage for themselves and the children. After clearing an acre or two in the first winter, and piling the logs for burning in spring, grain was sown broadcast by hand among the stumps as soon as the snow melted. In addition to wheat, potatoes and corn were the chief crops in the first years. The seed was covered by using a hoe or dragging bushes over the ground. When ripe the grain and corn were harvested by reaping hook or scythe, the potatoes by spade and hoe; they were transported to the leanto barn or potato cellar on a flat wooden sleigh pulled by oxen or by manpower. Grain was threshed with a flail on the barn floor, and the corn husked at autumn 'bees'.

When the next winter approached, the new settlers prepared for the zero weather and deep snowdrifts they had never known in Ireland. Most built stone fireplaces in their cabins, filled all the chinks between logs with moss and mud, and threw up sod embankments around the lower logs, as well as piling many cords of firewood nearby.

Susanna Moodie in her ignorance condemned these cabins when she arived in 1832: "Dens of dirty and misery which would in many instances be shamed by an English pigsty" On winter nights the women sat around the fireplace working their spinning-wheels and knitting needles, while the men ground their axes and hoes or hewed from wood the stools, tables, shelves, tool handles and other articles they would need. In most shanties the babies were rocked in troughs hewn from a section of treetrunk; most furniture was homemade thus by axe and saw, held together with wooden pegs when the few precious nails given by Government were used up.

Since candles were expensive and oil lamps not yet used, most people obtained their light from the fireplace and from 'peddogues' —rags soaked in fat and burning in a saucer, or tied around the end of a pineknot. Fires were lit with flint and punk, a tedious process; if the fire on the hearth went out, which was seldom in any season, someone usually was sent to the nearest neighbor for a few coals. The chickens may sometimes have roamed around the cabin pecking for food, but the cow and the pig were kept in a small leanto or stable close by the shanty for protection against wild animals. A step upward had been take from condition in Ireland, about which the children sang:

"Me mayther and fayther wuz Oirish, and Oi was Oirish too; We kaipt the pig in the parlor, and the pig was Oirish stew."

Bears Loot

Ferocious bears swarmed in the Peterborough district, according to many tales. Strickland told of one such incident: "The wife of an Irish emigrant saw a large bear very deliberately walking toward the shanty, which without doubt he took for a pigsty. The woman and her three children had barely time to get into the potato cellar and and shut down the trapdoor when his bearship made a forcible entrance through the door, to the dismay and terror of the subterranean lodgers, who lay shaking and quaking for more than an hour till the dying screams of their fatted pig told that he was after game of a more savoury nature . ." He also told of a huge bear surrounded by himself, Reid and others, which was wounded and swam across the Otonabee, being found dead at last about 1½ miles above Peterborough, near a creek which they named Bear Creek.

Mrs. Tinker tells a story about John Becket in Otonabee, who on hearing the squeals of his pig one night ran out to investigate. "To his amazement he saw, outlined against his log barn, a huge black bear carrying away his pig from its fresh-air pen near the barn . " Becket shot the bear and saved his bacon. William Foley of Foley's Point on Rice Lake told of an adventure when he was a lad in 1827 or 1828, while rowing near the mouth of Indian River: "We saw something dark among the rice and reeds. Thinking it was ducks we sailed close, breaking the thin ice, and found it was a large bear . By beating it over the head with an oar, and holding it under water, they managed to kill it; it weighed over 400 pounds, and they got $11 for the hide.

P. G. Towns, of Douro, recalled some years ago a story told him by his father: "The women broke land with their men, and they'd have to bring the children with them for fear of the bears. In one house a child died when the men were away . . . and the bears came, scenting the corpse. But the mother let loose the pig and that satisfied them . . . A boy sent through the woods to a neighbor's was never heard of again. Indeed, there were a number that met death by the wild animals . . ." As the forests were cut down, the bears, wolves, deer and other wild animals gradually decreased in numbers in the settled townships.

Another peril which appears in many pioneer stories is drowning. The Ration ledgers noted as "drowned May 21, 1826, in the rapids of the Otonabee" Michael Dillon, 22, and James Hallahan, 17, of Otonabee, and John Molony, 14, of Douro. Mrs. Stewart records this incident, mistakenly dated a year later: "On Sunday evening John Reid was ferrying over five immigrants from the opposite side of the river at Mr. Reid's place, two men and three boys of from 15 to 18 years of age . . by the obstinacy and ignorance of one of the lads the boat was upset. With great presence of mind John disengaged himself from his clinging companions; he then tried to seize one by the hair and dragged him to the bank with very great difficulty, as the current was extremely strong. The other men could swim, and got out safe, but the boys perished . . ." Ten days later John Keleher drowned in Chemong Lake, and two sons of Wm. Foley drowned about the same time.

Strickland was in a boating tragedy in the spring of 1827: "My farm was situated on the east shore of the Otonabee, the town of Peterborough being on the west, an dthere was no bridge between us and that place, so that we were obliged to cross in skiffs, canoes, or any other craft we could get . . . The stream was then at its greatest height, and running with extreme rapidity, and I had to contend with its force only a small canoe of log about 12 feet long by 30 inches broad, in which three of us ventured out: John Fontaine, a French boy; Michael Walsh, an emigrant; and myself. We crossed a little above the new mill dam constructed at government expense for the Irish emigrants, and we managed to get over pretty well. Not so on our return—the canoe upset, Walsh went over the dam and was drowned, and Fontaine and myself managed to get to an island from which we swam to shore. . ."

Lawsuits

Errors in surveying lotlines and in locating settlers led to quarrels and lawsuits. For example, John Sullivan wrote Robinson Jan. 15, 1829: "I was located on No 32 in 6th con. Otonaby which is only 80 acres and most of that a bad swamp unfit to live on therefore I hope your Honour will grant me east half of No. 3 in 3rd con. Douro now vacant . . ." This young man did not get his transfer, and left the region.

Alex McDonnell sent to Robinson regular reports on the progress of the Irish, of which the following two are picked from scores: "July 1, 1828: In my visit to Emily I was much pleased to find the people in good spirits

Burnham Home Almost Host To Royalty

By HAZEL PAULL

Maypole parties in the late Judge E. C. S. Huycke's garden at the beautiful home built in the 1850's by the late Rev. Mark Burnham on Engleburn Ave., Ashburnham, are still remembered by a few Peterborough residents who spent their childhood in the city.

The house, named Engleburn, still stands as one of the fine brick houses built by one of the stalwarts whose contributions to the development of the city in the early days made the city the pride of their grandchildren.

Conversion into an apartment building may have dealt a hard blow to sentiment, but in this way the present owner, William Tinker, is avoiding what otherwise might have been a tragedy. It would be unthinkable for this home, which has known so much activity in the past, to become a more or less lifeless shell because the days when large, stately homes could be maintained have passed.

The Hon. Zaccheus Burnham built the house in the 1850's for his son Mark, whose memory has been immortalised in the city. The Rev. Mark Burnham was the fifth rector of St. John's Anglican Church and it was chiefly through his exertions and generosity that St. Luke's was built in Ashburnham.

Royal Visitor—Almost

One of the most fascinating stories of Engleburn recalled by Miss Florence M. Burnham, granddaughter of the rector tells of the opportunity Ashburnham missed of being honored with an overnight visit by King Edward VII when he was Prince of Wales.

Queen Victoria's eldest son asked Mr. Burnham for the use of his home while he was visiting this part of Ontario. The rector was happy, and probably felt honored, to place his house at the prince's disposal but when he learnt that he was expected to vacate the house during the royal visit, he took a different view of the proposition.

Whether he felt it was not quite good enough for anyone, even royalty, to ask him to withdraw from his own home, or what the motive was, no one but Mr. Burnham knew. However, he decided there would be no entertainment of royalty at his home unless he was there.

Result of the clergyman's action was that the future king spent the night at Sidney Smith's home in Cobourg, now known as the Tracey home.

Miss Burnham remembers the home for its long corridors and the carrying of meals from a kitchen at the back of the house through a devious route to the dining room. That is all changed now. Modern apartments are more in keeping with the contemporary speed of life.

The Rev. Mark Burnham owned extensive property round the house and one of the interesting features of his garden were well kept stone walks which had been quarried in New York State.

The house was surrounded by a moatlike trench for drainage purposes.

The house was purchased in 1903 from the Burnhams by Mr. McAllister, a miller whose mill was situated on the Otonabee opposite the present location of the Quaker Oats company.

Judge Huycke purchased the house in 1910 from Mr. McAllister and his daughter Mrs. J. Blaiklock is today living in one of the apartments. The judge's son is Wilfred F. Huycke KC, city solicitor.

The croaking of frogs, the cry of the loon or the steady hum of mosquitoes may all very well be nature's surest sounds that summer is here. But give me the mournful call of a whip-poor-will at dusk. There is no doubt about it, then. It is odd that this bird who was so well named from its distinctive enunciation, should be given such an ugly family name by scientists, the goat sucker. Because they frequently wheeled over pastures at dark after insects, legend has it that they suckled grazing goats with their immense mouths. Nothing could be sillier because none but the most patient of bird watchers have ever been able to get close enough to a whip-poor-will to describe it accurately.

It is a long winged, long tailed bird about the size of a nighthawk. The head is flattened, the bill is small and the mouth enormous and equipped with bristles or long hairs. There is a narrow white collar at the base of the throat and more white markings in the tail feathers. The rest of its body is camouflaged in wood browns, neutral buffs and grays.

The whip-poor-will seldom comes to ground, except to nest, but spends its time in flight or resting on small weak feet lengthwise on broad limbs. It feeds entirely on insects and one specimen that was examined was said to have 36 moths, alone, in its stomach. To those who care for its haunts, its call is most welcome. But they annoy people who are not used to hearing them. How many times will you again hear from city guests at the cottage: "Couldn't sleep a wink for those $%&£$% whip-poor-wills."

Good Fishing: 39 Pinched Proofs

Pickerel fishing seems to be exceptionally good up around Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls this season. I would attribute the reason to the zealous work of Game Warden Ron Simpson who had made a total of 39 pinches already this season. The more rigidly fish and game laws are enforced in any given area over a period of time, the more fish and game there is for everyone. Stands to reason, doesn't it?

• • • •

There's more stir going on about dry-pack minnows than you can shake a net at. Bait-wise fishermen in the Maritimes are giving us the sneering laugh and say we are 25 years behind the times in Ontario. Department biologists are keeping their eagle eyes peeled for any infringement against bait dumping laws. Airline personnel are bumbling about with shipments en route from Halifax to Peterborough so that experimental packages get held up needlessly and the contents cooked. Press service news wires are screaming for running news stories that never seem to jell. To show that we can go along with a gag, a well-routed shipment of Ontario bait may be on the way to Halifax, very soon. Round two has begun.

Why Pickerel Go From The Trent

After talking to a disgruntled American fisherman at Hastings about the yearly decreasing lack of pickerel in the lower Trent system, outdooriter Pete McGillen is perturbed. He is offering some solutions to bring back pickerel stocks with which I don't agree. Says he, let commercial fishermen at the Quinte and Georgian Bay ends of the Trent sell live fish to municipalities for restocking purposes.

It would be more to the point to drastically reduce the pond-netting takes of commercial fishermen and allow this prolific breeding fish to seep back into the Trent system from both ends. I heard of one commercial operator of pond nets on Georgian Bay who took EIGHTY TONS of pickerel in a season, just one operator, mind you. Multiply this by several hundred commercial fishermen and you can see why pickerel are being drained from the Trent.

It is true that there are some spots where fish are blocked in the Trent from roaming where they will, the lift locks at Peterborough and Kirkfield are two of them. But there was a time, and perhaps the practice still continues, when canal gates at Port Severn were opened several times a day to accommodate fish traffic. This program might be revived and enlarged upon to distribute pickerel, IF netting in such quantities is stopped. This would allow them access to the Trent at both entrances.

Good Sportsmen's Show Effort

The Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association are to be congratulated on the successful staging of the city's first outdoor sportsmen's show. It was really a splendid effort for a group who tackled the job without knowing a great deal about that sort of thing. But they learned fast. I would estimate that they spread the outdoor message to about 4,000 home-towners. They may also have made a few shillings on the deal. If they didn't, that's alright, too. No first ventures are financial successes. What little profit they might have shown was dissipated by city hoodlums who played deliberate hob with their large rented display tent.

Cleveland Press' outdoor editor Hank Andrews dropped in the office on Thursday to talk shop and curse our still-fishing pickerel by-law. This law is not pointed out to his fellow countrymen, he says, and when they find out about it on arrival, it leaves a nasty taste in their mouths. He was quite justified in beefing. Hank is on his way to Outdoor Writers' Association of America convention at Moose Head Lake, Maine, lucky fellow.

More American outdoor scribes are gathering at Minaki, in Northwestern Ontario for several days of fishing and northern tripping. The trip is being sponsored by the Travel and Publicity Department under the able leadership of friend director George Maclean, so deputy-minister Tom McCall tells me.

Mrs. Bob McClelland is top fisherman of the week. With husband Robert, Dave and Mrs. Wilson, she took an 18-pound laker and a 14'er from Round Schooner Lake down Land o' Lakes way early in the week. They were really lovely things to look at, and eat, they all say.

Though the pressure of outdoor editing goes on day and night, it must give way occasionally to domestic duties, such as hearing my Junior Miss her spelling 'zams. Why do I have to confuse her still more in the middle of everything by explaining the 12 different ways to spell "muskie"?

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

For Wives

Remember good old Sara, though she be dead and rotten;
She left a lesson to all Wives which should not be forgotten.
She reverenced her Husband, and called him her Lord,
And feared lest she should offend, either in deed or word.
She did not, like some women,
her wedded mate despise;
But as old Abraham had her heart
so did he please her eyes.
Neither would she cloth herself
beyond her husband's state,
As now some women vainly do,
and rue it all too late.

Red Fife Wheat Germinated In Otonabee Gave The West Its Great Grain Harvests

While Peterborough during the past ten years has grown to appreciate her potentialities as a centre of industry and scientific invention, seldom is thought given to the first invention of major importance when an Otonabee pioneer made a discovery which has since been responsible for the Dominion's progress as an economic entity.

As even a youngster at school becomes aware after his first lessons on Canada, it was the large scale cultivation of wheat across the country which assured the Dominion of prosperity.

The man who introduced Red Fife wheat to Canada, at a time when there was no grain sufficiently hardy to withstand the Canadian climate was David Fife, grandfather of Edwin Fife who lives on Lot 24, Concession four, Otonabee where the grandfather made his home at the beginning of the 19th century.

David Fife, although he enjoyed little of the fame during his lifetime which has since made him a national figure, is today the pride of Peterborough people.

His story has become almost a legend in this part of Ontario but so great is the importance of his discovery that repetition is permissible.

Plans were made in 1930 for a permanent memorial to be placed in David Fife's honor and although leading citizens of the country were associated with the project, it appears that nothing has materialised and is not likely to now.

Miss Phoebe Fife, 583 Aylmer St., is a great niece of the celebrated farmer and today has memories of knowing her grandfather when she was a child.

David Fife was a horse back rider, she recalls and would take the mail on horse back from Keene to Allendale.

He built a large log house—with 60 foot logs that presented no problem in those days—and later a frame addition was built for a kitchen. The house was burnt however, in 1883 but his son replaced it with a brick house which is still standing.

To Canada 1820

In 1820 David Fife came to Canada with his father and five brothers, a sixth brother, James, followed two years later.

The family settled in Otonabee except the eldest boy John, who took up farming in Asphodel. David, who was 15 when he came to Canada, settled on the west half of lot 24 in the fourth concession.

As well as clearing the land—cutting down the tall trees, dragging out the stumps and burning what was not required—David Fife sent a great deal of timber for masts down the river to the boats at Quebec. He drove the pole teams, which often required great skill as a teamster, taking the masts on the first part of the journey. There were often as many as three or four teams, one behind the other, Miss Fife says.

He planted his little clearings with grain, mowed it with a sickle, ground it to flour between stones and was never without food.

To Cobourg for Supplies

For years they went to Cobourg for supplies, carrying them on their backs to Rice Lake and sometimes, an Indian would row across the lake or in winter, draw the load on a hand sleigh across the ice.

In 1826 he married Jane Becket at Cobourg and eight children were born, two of which died.

IN 1841 SCOTTISH DAVID FIFE and his wife of Otonabee planted a few kernels of wheat got in Glasgow from a Danzig ship, and from them flourished the rich wheat fields of the Canadian West.

Of Mrs. Fife, Miss Fife says "she was a big hearted woman always ready to help her neighbors and friends in any need. She knew the use of all the herbs and had good old fashioned remedies which helped out greatly in sickness."

David Fife did not live to see his son Sylvester's binder, which was the first in the country.

He died in 1877, Miss Fife recalls, and was survived by his wife, who had been a constant and active companion. He would not go off without her and when he planned a visit to his native Scotland, at first intending to go alone, he turned back for her and together they went on an expedition to seek a satisfactory grain.

The grain which David Fife brought back from Scotland was not satisfactory but later he received a shipment from his friend Mr. Struthers, who was clerk in a grain store in Glasgow.

A letter written many years ago by David Fife's son, Sylvester, tells the story of the ultimate discovery.

Sylvester Fife Account

"The late David Fife, Otonabee, Peterborough county, wished to see the quality of our Canadian wheat improved and with this object in view, sent to Scotland for samples of wheat. Some were forwarded to Port Hope and lay there in storehouse during fall and part of the winter. Three dollars storage was paid and the wheat was sown, but it came to nothing.

"My father then wrote again to his friend Mr. Struthers, clerk in a grain store in Glasgow, for the second supply of wheat.

"Mr. Struthers noticed a new kind, an excellent sample brought by ship direct from Danzig. He thought it would be just the kind for Canada and sent two samples, one of fall wheat and the other of spring wheat.

"These were sown in the year 1841. They also laid in the store house at Cobourg during the fall and part of the winter. In the spring each sample was sown. The fall variety came to nothing but the spring sample proved superior to any other kind sown.

"Out of this three ears were saved. This was on the farm of my father, David Fife, now occupied by me. But owing to the illness of my mother who took special charge of this wheat, it was not sown until after the other wheat was above ground. At harvest time the Siberian wheat was badly rusted, whereas this sample was affected the least.

"This crop was gathered by my mother and brother David in a sheaf and carefully stowed away. They had now realised a quart of seed. This was sown the following spring by my mother and brother, producing half a bushel at harvest time and from the produce of this half bushel the neighbors were supplied and the country benefitted by the introduction of the Fife wheat.

"Among other neighbors, Mr. Henderson bought a bushel and from the second sowing of the same reaped 300 bushels, part of which he carried to Keene and turned into the agricultural society for $3 per bushel, wrongly calling it the Glasgow wheat.

"It never grew in Scotland but was imported direct from a ship arrived from the Baltic."

Since that time Red Fife wheat has become a parent of the Marquis wheat, whose good qualities were realised at the beginning of this century.

Petes Trounce Toronto 22-7 In Lively OLA Senior Game

Getting the range on the Torontos' net good in the second quarter, the Petes went on to pile up a 22-7 victory over the visitors before some 2,000 fans at Miller Bowl last night in an OLA senior "A" fixture. It was their third win in four games played so far this season and keeps them right up in the scramble for second place in the standing. It was a keen contest for half the fray and interesting enough in the third as both sides hustled and checked hard. But the Creighton crew kept popping in the markers to roll up the count and make it one-sided before the finish. The count was 2-1 for them in the first heat and they had a 6-3 edge n the second. They clicked good in the third for a 6-1 margin to make it 14-5 going into the 8-2 final frame.

A BIG NIGHT—Bob Thorpe, classy forward for the Petes' Senior A lacrossers had a big night Friday at Miller Bowl. He banged home five goals and assisted on five more as the Petes trimmed the Torontos 22-7 before a big crowd.

Piper Tough

Referee Piper Bain—with his partner Al Jeffries active at times—was tough and took no nonsense. The big fellow threw Jackie Howse out early in the first period for the duration of the tilt. Howse drew a minor slashing penalty but wanted to beef about it. He was warned once but kept abusing Bain till he was thumbed away. Frank King later got a misconduct for arguing over a teammate's penalty, and Dootch Vitarelli was given a major for tossing a few punches in a minor mixup. The teams split 14 penalties evenly.

A clear warm evening with a lively lacrosse joust in prospect drew the best crowd so far this season. They saw plenty of action and a home victory, if a little too one-sided the last half, and a draw was conducted for three prizes during the intermissions. Several of the Torontos were a little late arriving, but all were on hand before the end of the first period, which started a few minutes before nine o'clock.

Soundly Beaten

While the visitors battled valiantly and made it close enough for two chukkers, they were soundly beaten throughout by a team that clicked in all departments. Goalie Ralph Speck turned in a fine chore again and his defence was tough to beat after the first half. The forwards were all going well, though the first line again proved a lot better over most of the route than the other attackers. The Petes showed again that they are strong finishers, being in good condition and hungry for goals.

Bob Thorpe starred with 10 scoring points, five goals and five assists, in a grand showing. Big Jim Kinna got going the last half, teaming well with Russ Buchanan, to score five, as Buck got one and three assists. Arn Dugan and Joe Nolan hit the hemp three times each, Dugan also having three assists, and Joe one. Don Ashbee was good for two and had four assists. Single markers were gained by Jack Breakspear, Jerry Fitzgerald and Dootch Vitarelli, the latter aiding on a pair and Jerry helping out twice. Frank King and Steve Kapasky each scored twice for Toronto, with Jack Howse, Boog Webster and Red Campbell having one each, the latter with Wimp Timpson, Boog Webster and Chick Edge each aiding on one.

Toronto Goal, Johnson; defence, Facto and Webster; centre, Barber; wings, Timpson and Kapasky; rover, Fairley; alternates, Moher, Howse, King, Edge, Chaplinsky, DePippo and Campbell.

Petes: Goal, Speck; defence, Nolan and Fitzgerald; centre, Creighton; wings, Dugan and Ashbee; rover, Thorpe; alternates, Curtin, Kinna, Buchanan, Vitarelli, R. Breakspear, Magee and J. Breakspear.

Referees, P. Bain and A. Jeffries.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Judging by the scores handed in last evening, it would appear as if the ladies had reached mid-season bowling form. One game finished a tie, four games were won by one shot, one game by four shots and the other two a little more one-sided. That's not bad, and the season has only really begun.

One week from tonight we expect a number of Toronto bowlers will pay us a visit. More later.

The "Family Hour" tournament this evening is at 7:30 o'clock.

Ashby's Victors By 10 to 4 Over Woollens

Ashby's downed Woollens 10-4 in a Girls' Softball League encounter at the Bowl last evening. Errors hurt the losers' chances, though they showing improvement every time out. Ashby's earned the verdict even if not playing their best ball at times. They racked up a 7-1 lead in the first three frames with some timely hitting, and that was that. The hitting was pretty even over the route, with Woollens booting two more than the winners.

M. Stewart on the Ashby slab had five strikeouts and kept 11 hits fairly well scattered. D. Derry took over from J. Black on the other hill in the seventh. It was a rather good game to watch. C. Ferguson and S. Harris went well defensively for Woollens as M. Freeman and E. Simmons were the pick of the victors in the field. D. Jordan led them at bat with three for five. S. Harris, M. Laing and J. Walling each clicked for two safeties on the other side.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

The owner of the St. Louis Cardinals said Friday he will ignore an order by Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler to cancel a Sunday night game until the club is given a hearing on the matter.

Fred Saigh, the Cardinal owner, told Chandler in a sharply-worded telegram that until he is given a chance to present his case the scheduled night contest with Brooklyn July 16 "will remain in status quo."

Ford Frick, president of the National League, also ordered Saigh not to play the game. Frick said an amendment to the National League rules adopted last winter prohibits Sunday night games.

"That's not so," Saigh declared. He told a reporter the rule plainly states that a game may be re-scheduled on a Sunday night if consent is obtained from the opposing club.

"That's what it says," Saigh insisted.

The Cardinal owner contends that owner Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn club gave such consent orally. He said Rickey had not withdrawn his agreement to play the Sunday night contest.

At Philadelphia, Connie Mack, for the first time in his 50 years as boss of Philadelphia Athletics, said Friday that his American League club is for sale—"for the right offer."

Mack's statement followed by less than 24 hours an announcement by James P. Clark, president of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, that he and a 100-man syndicate plan to make an offer for the Athletics.

"If he makes the right offer," said the 87-year-old Mack, now in his golden anniversary season as manager of the A's, "we'll sell."

Roy Mack, business manager of the A's and one of Connie's three sons who hold sizeable shares in the club, was asked what price tag he would put on the A's.

"I think," said Roy, $5,000,000."

Bobby Riggs, the defending champion, shopped his way into the semi-finals of the United States professional tennis championships at Cleveland Friday with a 6-4, 6-1, 7-5 victory over Jack March of Cleveland.

Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., and Welby Van Horn of Philadelphia, top seeded in the upper bracket of the doubles, gained the semi-finals with a 6-3, 6-3 triumph over Billy Doeg of Pittsburgh and Martin Buxby of Hollywood, Fla.

Kovacs and Pancho Segura of Ecuador already have earned berths in the singles semi-finals.

At Exeter, N. H., Ledell (Cannon Ball) Titcomb, a New York Giant pitcher in the dawn of big league baseball whose fans said he had a fast ball that split pants, died Friday at the age of 83.

His playing career stretched from 1884 to 1892 and he was with the Giants for three years including their 1888 pennant season.

He quit baseball in 1892 because of an ailment in his arm while playing with a Toronto club.

They said the only man who could catch "Cannon Ball" was the late Wilbert Robinson who later went on to manage Brooklyn Dodgers.

Philadelphia at Pittsburgh (2); Brooklyn at Cincinnati (2); Boston at Chicago (2); New York at St. Louis (2).

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Of course it's unseasonable and all that, but nonetheless rugby football will be the next sport to re-organize for the season — play commencing before all the summer sports have ceased for this year. There's that old gridiron glint already in the eyes of husky chaps like Dave Wilson, Doug Delaney, Dick Ouimet and other local ORFU officials, and it is quite likely that Bev Golding and Alex Londry of Collegiate are thinking of summer courses ere autumn rolls around. Panthers are in for quite a shake-up this fall in a real all-out effort to produce a winner in a strong setup, and another coach will likely be handling things when training commences in August.

* * * * * *

Fred Allore, physical education director at St. Peter's High School, is breaking his summer up by studying at Frank Leahy's coaching school at Colby College in Waterville, Maine. He'll also attend the grid and basketball clinic at Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, and Johnny Metras' coaching school at Western University, London. An ambitious program of coaching study, but then St. Peter's High has become quite football conscious the past few years and hopes are high of fielding strong senior and junior squads this autumn. It should make for keen competition in the sport around these parts.

Two Tussles On Tap

Two baseball games listed for Riverside Park today, weather being right. At three, the Viaduct Major League sees the senior Petes at home to Toronto Dovers as the men o' Murphy drive back from third place in an attempt to get up around the top again. Some fine ball is being served up so far in this senior "A" circuit, and home games here rate larger crowds. At 6.30 this eve, Oshawa and the local intermediate Petes tangle in a Lakeshore League fixture, and it, too, ought to be an interesting diamond duel. The local crew is building up gradually as it goes along and will likely make a real showing from here on in. The boys deserve support.

* * * * * *

Ashby's turned down Woollens—who wouldn't in this weather?—by a 10-4 score last e'en at the Bowl in a neat lasses' softball fixture. Both teams are coming along nicely now. In the other end of the twin bill, Mary Downer threw four-hit ball as Westclox walloped the Marines 14-0. Hammered three twirlers for 15 safe blows and looked good all the way. The Marines, on the other hand, looked bad, and they failed to hustle or show any pep except in isolated cases. What's wrong with 'em lately? On paper, they look just about the best club in the circuit or close to it, yet they're not giving with the old fight in recent games. A few shots in the arm or something is indicated. On Monday, CGE plays Westclox, and Ashby's meet Woollens.

* * * * * *

Just An OLA Breeze

Nothing to it the way the Petes' senior lacrossers do it, eh? Just a 22-7 victory over the Torontos whilst about 2,000 fans cheered heartily. 'Twas a better tilt than it sounds, the Petes pulling away out in front in the later stages. For a time it looked like a real gutted-stick scrap, but the Creighton crew were clicking and they had the legs at the last. Finished much stronger. If they continue like that—it's three wins in four starts—they'll have all the other "A" clubs plenty worried. Speck appears in for a fine season in goal and he has a pretty fair squad in front of him. That first line, particularly, is dynamite, and other forwards are starting to strut their stuff, too.

* * * * * *

Bob Thorpe was in oldtime form to throw in five goals and assist on five more for 10 points. Others prominent up there were husky Jim Kinna from out B.C. way—with Buchanan helping a lot—Arn Dugan (in on six), Joe Nolan, Don Ashbee, Jerry Fitzgerald, Jack Breakspear and Dootch Vitarelli. That doesn't leave too many, does it? Yeah, the team was going right this game. King and Kapasky got two each for the losers, who lost Jack Howse early when he beefed too much to Referee Piper Bain. The Piper never would take much from anyone, and he was tough last eve in a fairly rugged joust. When a guy gets a penalty, he should take it and shut up—squawking never changed a ref's mind yet.

Senior Hockey Split By CAHA At Conference

BANFF, Alta., June 10 (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has split senior hockey down the middle, separating the weaker, simon-pure leagues from the more-powerful, subsidized circuits to which high salaries give a professional tint.

The move came Friday at the end of a three-day annual meeting. The Association also elected a new president, Doug Grimston of New Westminster, B. C., and adopted for senior hockey a contract system similar to that used in professional ranks.

The Allan Cup still will be up for competition—but only by the smaller leagues which come closest to being genuinely amateur.

Five major circuits—the Western Canada, Ontario, Quebec, Maritime, and Cape Breton senior leagues—will play off separately for a new trophy yet to be named.

To Complete Details

Details of the new set-up will be completed at a special meeting in July, probably at Winnipeg. There was no immediate indication that the juniors will be affected by the move to re-arrange amateur hockey.

For the first time, the CAHA decided to introduce the contract system for seniors who previously signed only player's cards.

Next season seniors will sign contracts tying them to a team for one year and giving that team first call on their services for the following campaign. The contracts will list the players' salaries and records.

Under a draft clause in the contracts, a limit of three players from any one team may be drafted by professional clubs provided the hockeyists involved are willing. A club may replace a man lost through the draft.

Grimston steps up from first vice-president to succeed Al Pickard of Regina who decided not to seek re-election after three terms as boss of amateur hockey in Canada.

Re-elected were George Dudley of Midland, Ont., secretary-manager, and W. A. Hewitt of Toronto, registrar-treasurer.

W. B. George, of Kemptville, Ont., and James Dunn of Winnipeg were named first and second vice-presidents respectively.

Hastings Beaten

HASTINGS, June 10—(ENS)—Hastings Legion dropped another decision in Hastings Park as Trenton took them 18-10. Legion took the lead in first when Fife hit, Morrow and Beavis drew walks and Scott came through with a double, scoring both runners. They added one more in the second on doubles by Fife and Stevens.

The game stayed at that till the fourth when Trenton combined five hits, a walk, and three errors for seven runs. They added one more in the fifth to make the score 8-3.

Legion kept punching away, adding three runs and then in the sixth took the lead once more, as they crossed the plate three times. Legion defense again crumbled in the seventh and Trenton added eight runs to put the game on ice.

West started for Hastings and pitched fine ball, but his team fell apart in the pinches in both bad innings, and Scott relieved in the seventh. Forbes was on the mound for Trenton and was hit quite freely but was given good support.

Rochester Trips Syracuse In 9-3 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Rochester's busy home-run bats are booming the Red Wings' drive for their first International League pennant since 1940.

The Wings, who socked 139 home runs last year, are belting four-base blows at a rate of better than one a game.

They increased their output to 50 in 46 games Friday night in downing Syracuse Chiefs 9-3. Steve Bilko husky first baseman, pounded out two—his eighth and ninth—and rookie second baseman Lou Ortiz slammed his first to allow Bill Reeder to coast to his fifth victory.

Reeder scattered 10 hits, including a home run by veteran Al Rubeling. Kent Peterson was the loser.

Boost Margin

The triumph increased Rochester's first-place margin over the runner-up Montreal Royals to a game and a half. The Royals suffered a 9-5 beating at the hands of Jersey City Giants.

Lefty Roger Bowman stopped the Royals on six hits while his mates pounded out 11 hits, including home runs by Chet Laabs, Ziggy Jasinski and Pete Pavlick.

The third-place Springfield Cubs dropped three games off the pace by dividing a twin bill with the tail-end Buffalo Bisons. The Cubs romped to a 9-1 victory in the first game behind the three-hit pitching of Bob Kelly, but lost the nightcap 3-1.

Baltimore Orioles decisioned Toronto Maple Leafs 6-3 and moved into fourth place, a half game in front of Syracuse. Bill Kennedy, who relieved Bob Raney in the fifth, was the winner and young Paul Stuffel the loser.

Lindsay Winner

LINDSAY, June 10—(CP)—A scratch single with one on in the last of the eighth by pitcher Doug Loucks gave Lindsay Merchants a 3-2 victory in a close Lakeshore League game Friday night. Whitby went ahead with single runs in the first and second but the locals got to lefthander Doug Sutton in the fourth to tie it up. An outfield error and Loucks' single with two out ended the game in the extra inning to keep Lindsay on top of the league. Loucks fanned 11 besides contributing two of their eight hits.

Operation For Garagiola

ST. LOUIS, June 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals announced Friday night that Joe Garagiola, their hard-hitting catcher, will undergo an operation Monday and will be out of action for about eight weeks. The announcement said Joe's injury has been diagnosed as a serious displacement of the left shoulder blade. He suffered the injury June 1 in a tumble at first base in a game against Brooklyn Dodgers. Joe's batting average for the year is .347.

Westclox Trim Marines On 4-Hit Chore

Westclox shut out Marines 14-0 in a seven-inning girls' softball melee last night at the Bowl. M. Downer hurled four-hit ball and had perfect fielding support behind a 15-hit barrage by her buddies to coast to victory. She whiffed seven in a nice pitching chore. Three twirlers saw indifferent action for the Outboards, who lacked fight and hust though they committed but two miscues.

The Clockers were in top form, improving each game. M. Hawthorne and B. Anderson (nee Larmer) fielded best for them and J. Vass led the hitters with a homer and three singles in five tries. B. Anderson got three hits, and A. Anderson a homer and single in four. M. Hill was the only real hustler for Marines in the field, she and M. Carr going best. None of the losers got more than one safe blow off the delivery of the winners' flinger.

The teams:

Westclox: A. Anderson, cf; B. Morrow, ss; J. Vass, 3b; B. Anderson, 2b; M. Hawthorne, c; M. Selkirk, lf; A. Porterlante, lf; J. McIntyre, 1b; J. Hardy, rf; M. Downer, p.

Marines: B. Ayotte, 3b; V. Page, c, rf; M. Connelly, rf; M. Hill, 1b, p; M. Behan, ss; M. Walling, cf, lf; H. White rf, lf, p; S. Wakeford, c; M. Carr, 1b, rf, 2b; E. Whittaker, p, cf.

Port Hope Juveniles Down Cobourg 10-1

PORT HOPE, June 10—Port Hope OBA juvenile team breezed to an easy 10-1 victory over Cobourg in a Lake Shore League game here Thursday night.

Karl Lenehan pitch superb ball for the winners, allowing but four hits and a half-dozen walks in the seven-inning contest. Lawless hurled for Cobourg and was touched for a total of 13 hits. Downey and Gilmer were the heavy hitters for the Port Hope team each getting three safeties.

Hot Giants Nail Down 9-3 Decision At Chicago

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now Leo Durocher can say "I told you so." With "my kind of team," Leo is turning pre-season predictions topsy-turvy in the National League.

New York's Giants drew nothing but boos and catcalls in April and May. In June, they're the darlings of Broadway. Since Leo's gang moved west, they've been red hot.

With seven straight victories the Giants lifted themselves by their bootstraps from seventh to fifth place.

Only one game under .500 and just 5½ behind the leaders, the Giants command new respect in the pennant race.

The ninth inning is their specialty. In nine games they scored 64 runs, 17 of them in the ninth. Coming from behind to snatch a victory is becoming a habit.

Nail It Down

It turned out they didn't need Friday's five-run explosion in the ninth at Chicago but it nailed down a 9-3 decision. The result boosted the Giants past the Cubs into fifth place.

Ed Stanky slashed Johnny Schmitz and Frank Hillen for four singles, a perfect day. Wes Westrum chipped in two homers, helping Larry Janson home with an eight-hit victory, his fourth.

Despite the commotion to the rear, Brooklyn and St. Louis continued to match steps in a first-place tie. The Dodgers squeaked past Pittsburgh 9-7 in the afternoon but St. Louis came right back to take an 8-5 night verdict over Boston.

Manager Burt Shotton called in Don Newcombe, his ace, when the Pirates staged a threat in the ninth. Big Don made Danny Murtaugh hit into a game-ending double play. Roy Campanella's two-run homer in the eighth and Pee Wee Reese's homer in the ninth led the Brooks home safe.

Not Enough

Home runs weren't enough for the Boston club at St. Louis. Two by Walker Cooper and one each by Earl Torgeson and Sam Jethroe, all off winner Max Lanier, fell short of victory.

The Philadelphia at Cincinnati game was rained out.

Detroit salvaged the last game of three at New York, crushnig the Yankees 13-7 in a game marred by an injury to the Yankees' Bob Porterfield.

Porterfield suffered a fractured jaw and concussion when hit on the left cheekbone by a pitched ball thrown by reliefer Paul Calvert in the seventh inning. His condition was reported "good."

The Tigers mauled Yankee pitching for 16 hits, pulling within 1½ games of the league-leading New Yorkers.

Boston Red Sox ran true to form, following a record-breaking 29-run day Thursday by losing to the last-place St. Louis Browns 12-7.

Break Record

Even so, the Sox tied a record and broke another. Homers by Ted Williams (his 17th) and Bobby Doerr matched an old New York Yankee mark of 15 homers in four games. The seven-run total made it 56 in three games, four more than the old high.

Sam Zoldak pulled a "Joe Page with a fine relief job to protect Cleveland's 8-7 edge over Washington. Zoldak, fourth Indian pitcher, needed only two pitched to stop a Washington rally and give Bobby Feller his fifth victory.

Chico Carrasquel scored an unearned run off Bob Hooper in the eighth inning for Chicago's 3-2 edge over the Philadelphia A's.

Crescents Romp To 17-5 Win

By The Canadian Press

The visiting teams had a rough time of it in the Ontario Lacrosse Association fixtures played Friday night.

At Owen Sound the league-leading Crescents romped to their fifth straight win defeating Weston Lions 17-5. At St. Catharines the Athletics knocked over Mimico Mountaineers 22-16.

Owen Sound's Harry Kazarian netted four goals, Campbell three and Slater, Burlington and G. Gillespie two each. Mason, McWhirter, Foote and Woods took care of the remainder for the winners. For Weston, Allwell and P. Chard each scored twice. Brown got the other.

It was hard-checking all the way in the St. Kitt's-Mimico encounter. Jimmy McMahon racked up five goals and two assists for the winners, with Bird, Bradshaw, Welch and O'Hearn each scoring twice. Red McPhail led Weston with four goals, three assists.

United Churches To Mark 25th Anniversary On Sunday

Two mass services in Knox United Church and at George St. United Church will be held Sunday night to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the United Church in Canada.

The guest speaker at the service in George St. Church will be the Rev. E. M. Howse of Bloor Street Church in Toronto, the successor to the Very Rev. George C. Pidgeon, the first moderator of the United Church of Canada.

The music at George St. Church will be provided by the combined choirs of Trinity, St. Andrew's, Mark St. and George St. churches, more than 100 voices. Mrs. R. C. Searles will be the soloist.

At Knox United Church the united rally of the southend churches will be held. The guest preacher, the Rev. Alvin J. Cooper, associate secretary to the Board of Christian Education will speak on "Our Church, Past, Present and Future."

The combined choirs of St. James Church and Knox church will render several hymns while Mrs. C. Renaud will be at the piano and Mrs. William R. Potter will be at the organ.

On June 10, 1925 the inaugural service of the United Church was held in the arena on Mutual St. in Toronto. Two groups were divided on the issue of where the service would be held. Some felt that the service should be held in a church while others thought that a much larger place should be used to accommodate everyone. The large number of tickets demanded indicated that no church could accommodate those entitled to a place; even Massey Hall was too small. Arrangments were made for the service in the arena.

The order of service was prepared by a committee under the leadership of Professor R. E. Walsh of Montreal. The elders and office-bearers were drilled for the dispensing of the sacred elements in the Communion Service by the Revs. R. C. Tibb and W. R. Young. Illness prevented Mr. Tibb attending but 7,646 were served in 27½ minutes.

The service of worship was led by the Rev. Professor W. H. Warriner of the Congregational College of Montreal. A choir of 250 voices, under the direction of Dr. H. A. Fricker, led the service of song. The hymns chosen for the occasion were the favorites of the three churches participating.

Representatives of the bodies uniting chose Dr. S. D. Chown, General Superintendent of the Methodist Church, as the presiding officer of the union service. After a brief affirmation of the purpose to which the Church of Christ "is consecrate," the official head of each church stated the heritage of each negotiating church which was brought into the Union.

The four representatives made then the historic pronouncement:

"I hereby declare that the Presbyterian Church of Canada, the Congregational Churches of Canada and the Methodist Church of Canada, along with the General Council of the Local Union of Churches, are now united and constituted as one Church, to be designated and known as the United Church of Canada."

Prayer was then offered constituting the General Council of the United Church. The act of union was sealed by the celebration of Holy Communion, the Rev. George C. Pidgeon, the first moderator of the United Church, officiating.

Spiritual Pow er Sought

By REV. E. R. JAMES

They brought forth the sick into the streets that at least the shadow of Peter passing by might over shadow some of them. Acts 5: 15.

What a superstitous idea that the shadow of Peter might bless them. A Boston newspaper calmly stated that everything looked black on their street till Bishop Philip Brook passed by and all was well. A man of God stepped down the street and all was well. Your shadow falls on it. He calmly casts it away; your shadow has defiled it. Hindu philosophy teaches that your character passes into your shadow; a shadow with a blessing or a curse. A good man enters your home instinctively you feel his presence is a blessing to your house. On the other hand the presence of an evil man with a satanic tongue spreads defilement.

Why did people place their sick in the street. They knew that Peter believed that Jesus Christ is the Son of God; that He rose from the dead and ascended into heaven and ever liveth. Christ's life and character is seen in Peter's new tenderness and compassion for the sick. Peter believed in the name of Jesus Christ. Peter by faith touched the Lord and there flowed into him the life and power of the Son of God. Christ was being formed in him. Above all every one who came into touch with Peter felt that power flowing from him. The power gave safety. "In my name they shall take up serpents" saith the Teacher. The early Christians came into touch with evil men and were not really hurt by them. They could kill the body but not the soul. You will meet evil men, they will spit their poison at you; and you are not hurt. The life of the Christ kills the poison. Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today and for ever. I am He that liveth and was dead and behold I am alive for ever.

Men who accept Him by faith discover His spiritual life flowing into them. The power is not damned up in them but flows through them into others; they are merely channels through which the power flows.

Today the world is looking for this spiritual power from men who are filled with this vitality flowing from the Lord. We need the experience of the early Christians: They preached everywhere, the Lord working with them and confirming the Word.

To deepen that faith there must be more prayer. You must meditate more deeply upon the word of the written scripture. To your astonishment men will seek your fellowship; your personality grips your fellow man. They will bring their friends to meet you; your shadow is falling upon them. This is God's ideal in saving you. "Lord, here am I use me, my shadow. Thanks be unto Thee, O Lord.

A man shall be as the shadow of a rock in a weary land.

Overlooking Weapon?

OTTAWA, June 9 (CP)—Col A. J. Brooks (PC-Royal) suggested Thursday in the Commons that Canada has been overlooking a possible weapon in Arctic warfare—the Eskimo. He said Russia has 20 divisions in her northland and is training not only her equivalent of Canada's Eskimos but natives of the Aleutian Islands as well to act as scouts and outposts. He wondered if Canada was considering doing the same. Defence Minister Claxton didn't have time to answer before House adjournment.

Oil Pioneer Dies

HALIFAX, June 9 (CP)—John Franklin Shatford, pioneer of the oil industry in the Maritimes, died at his home here Thursday. He was 83. With his brother, S. S. Shatford, he established the Eastern Oil Company, which later was taken over by Imperial Oil.

"Glens" Return To Kingston, First Since '40

More than 75 members of the Peterborough Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders' Association are attending the third annual reunion of the regiment this weekend in Kingston. The vanguard of the Peterborough group left Friday afternoon by car while others left in the evening and this morning by car and buses.

Last year nearly 500 wartime members of the highlanders attended the second annual reunion in Peterborough. The first reunion was held in Cornwall, leaving Brockville as the probable place for 1951's reunion.

Among the senior members attending from Peterborough are Lt.-Col. James Turnbull, Major Archie Hamilton, Major Robert Allin, Major Kenneth Kingston, Major James Gillespie, Capt. Walter Curtis, Capt. William Masters, Capt. Ross Hood and R. S. M. Fred Lockhart.

Registration of former members started this morning and continues this morning and continues through the day until a reception early this evening. In buses, private cars and by trains, the highlanders are pouring into the city from the three other main centres where the regiment was recruited in 1940—Peterborough, Brockville and Cornwall—and scores of other points.

First Return

The veterans who have not been back to Kingston as one group since the unit left here in the fall of 1940, following three months of training at the fair grounds. In many store windows are welcome signs, bearing the Second World War slogan "Up the Glens" and the traditional motto of the regiment—"Dileas Gu Bas."

Some shopkeepers have dressed dummies in Glengarrians' uniforms and given their store decorations a military touch.

Along roads leading to Kingston have been placed signs of the same type as were used to mark routes in battle and training area during the war. Most are marked with the unit's number "68."

Kicks Door In To Save Children In Burning Shack

Two Lindsay women Friday battered down the door of a flaming wooden shack and rescued four young children trapped inside. The children were then taken to Ross Memorial Hospital and were treated for burns and shock.

Carried to safety were Patricia Martin, 5; Terry Grozelle, 3; Carol Chambers, 3; and George Imrie, 4. None of the burns are serious.

The prompt action of the two women is credited with saving the lives of the four children. Mrs. Frank Snelgrove, Crandall St., was working near her garage about 300 feet from the wooden henhouse, converted into a club when she caught sight of the blaze.

She shouted for assistance and then ran to the shack and kicked at the locked door until it gave way.

With Mrs. Mildred Elliott, she darted into the shack and seized the children who were huddled against the wall just beyond the reach of the mounting flames.

A few seconds later the whole structure was a mass of fire.

One of the boys is believed to have been playing with matches and Fire Chief George Webster believes this was the cause of the blaze.

The clubhouse is used by older children and the door is kept locked, but the four had gained entry through a hole in the boards covered by a blanket.

Using her apron, Mrs. Snelgrove extinguished the burning hair of George Imrie. Terry Grazelle was burned on the shoulders and arms.

"Mrs. Snelgrove and Mrs. Elliott certainly deserve congratulations on their presence of mind and quick action in releasing the children," commented Chief Webster.

Thousands of Refugees From Communist China Seek Shelter In Hong Kong

Hong Kong today is no longer the beautiful, leisurely city of olden times, but a city teeming with thousands of refugees from Communist-occupied China, Henry Hum said today, following his return from a 15-months visit to his family near Canton. Life has become a complicated business in the British Crown Colony. The two biggest problems faced by the inhabitants are high prices, which are still skyrocketing, and accommodation.

For anyone fortunate enough to get a room outside a hotel, Mr. Hum said the price for the first month is 450 Kong Kong dollars. The rent for a little cubicle, called a room, which will hold a small bed and table and has standing room only, costs $150 a month. With that, you must pay $300 as an initial fee for being lucky enough to locate such a spot. He had a hotel room but it was expensive and difficult to find

Can't Hurry

No one hurries in that city any more for the simple reason that they can't. There is such a mass of refugee humanity jamming the streets at any time of day or night, that you can barely push your way through at a snail's pace. If you want to be certain of keeping an appointment, it's advisable to leave at least half an hour early to make up for the delay.

Food prices are high for the simplest meals and the quality is poor. Even the rice is not good.

No Jobs Available

The badly overcrowded city poses other problems for the people. Many of the refugees who fled from the north are wealthy and don't have to worry about food and lodgings. But the little man, who has crossed the frontier between Red China and the outside world, finds things more difficult. Many of them, even with their life savings, are in serious financial straits after a brief sojourn. And they are unable to find jobs.

"Several men I knew had been looking three months for work . . . any kind of job . . . and there is nothing. There are just too many people for jobs to go around," he declared.

Another example of the swollen population, is the movie attendance. If you wish to see an ordinary movie, it is necessary to buy your tickets the day before, Mr. Hum said.

Henry Humm will be remembered for his association with the late Hum Hoy in the old Paris cafe and for the months he worked in the DeLuxe cafe, before he sailed for China. He is delighted to be back in Peterborough and hopes to bring more of his family out before too long.

Order Of Coal Placed By City Council

Purchase of coal for the heating of the city hall has been ordered by the property committee of the council in the acceptance of the following bids:

City buildings — bituminous stoker, $13.90 a ton, McCarthy & Johnston.

Fire Hall—bituminous lump for blower — $13.90, McCarthy & Johnston.

Police Station 25 tons Pocahontas, $18.75 a ton; and three tons anthracite $24.50 a ton, McCarthy and Johnston.

These were accepted as the lowest tenders. When the municipality moves into its new administrative building there will be no buying of coal. Tanks are going in for oil storage.

CARS DAMAGED

Damage of about $65 was done to two cars Friday afternoon when they collided at Brock and Donegal Streets. Lyle Peterson, 279 Swanston Avenue, was driving west on Brock Street, and Thomas Blodgett, Sherbrooke Street, was driving north on Donegal. Grill and front bumper of Peterson's car were damaged to the extent of $50 and about $15 damage was done to the right rear fender of Blodgett's auto.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

ICE FOR FOUNTAINS

Sanitary Ice Supply are being paid $200 for putting ice in the public drinking fountains in Victoria Park, Inverlea, King Edward, Riverside, Confederation Square and city hall corner.

MAP IN MOSAICS

Draftsman of the map that is to be set in mosaics in the floor of the main lobby of the new city hall is City Engineer A. E. Chalmers. The council this week accepted his drawing.

WESTERN CROPS IN

Sowing of coarse grains and flax was still reported in Central Manitoba this week. Elsewhere in the west the seeding of the western spring crops was generally completed. Rains in the last 24 hours have been helpful, especially in southern Saskatchewan.

DECLINED LOT

City council declined a small piece of property fronting Hamilton and McKellar Sts. as proffered by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. Main objection was to responsibility for cutting the grass. Besides, it was a small lot, and some one said it should be given to the nearby property owner.

$55 FROM LIONS CLUB

Lions Club bingo last night in aid of the Manitoba Flood Relief turned in $55 this morning into the fund that is being collected through the agency of the Examiner. Warm weather and other attractions clipped the attendance.

DONATE $5,000.

W. A. Mowry, 189 River Rd., executive member of the International Moulders' and Foundry Workers' Union, has been advised that the international organization has donated $5,000 to the Winnipeg Flood relief.

IN OSHAWA HOSPITAL

Nephi Sherwood, 42, of Peterborough, is in hospital in Oshawa for observation. He was admitted while on his way from Toronto to Peterborough by taxicab. Doctors said today that Sherwood has a contusion over the left eye and on his right hip. His condition is not considered serious.

Knocked Down Crossing Street

A pedestrian suffered a possible fractured skull and a broken thumb Friday night when struck by a car on George St. driven by Clifford A. Nicoll, 574 Aylmer St.

Nicoll, who was driving south on George St., said he did not see Bernard Allen, 465 Bolivar St., crossing the street diagonally from west to east. Nicoll told police he was blinded by the headlights of a southbound car.

Allen was taken to hospital last night and found to have a possible fractured skull, a broken thumb, cut chin and lip and some abrasions. He was attended by Dr. Robert Young. PC Jack Morrow investigated.

Allen said in hospital he remembered nothing of the accident.

Gristmill On Indian River In Operation For 102 Years

By JIM ENGLISH

"She died at the wharf."

The old man's voice dropped slightly and he turned to look down the Indian River from a dusty window of Burnham's Mill at Keene.

He had finished the tale of one of the first sawmills on the river, built only a short distance above the stone mill in which we stood chatting.

This is the story as he told it:

"There was a doctor near here by the name of Gilchrist (Dr. John Gilchrist) who thought there ought to be a sawmill on the Indian River. I was told this story by one of his relatives.

"Somewhere in the district, an Englishman had built a sawmill, and his family in the old country were old hands at this business. He wrote to his brother and told him it was the kind of country for sawmills, what with the lumber and the rivers and all.

"The brother came out to Canada, and travelled up the Trent River to Rice Lake and just as they came near the mouth of the Indian River, his wife got pretty sick.

"He asked the Indian who was paddling them where there was a doctor. The Indian told him there was one right near the mouth of the river. So they paddled up it, and the Indian got Dr. Gilchrist.

"But by the time the doctor got down to the river, it wasn't any use. She died at the wharf."

William Plunkett had lived in Keene and district for most of his 73 years. He told us he couldn't tell for the life of him what the names of the man and wife were.

But he did say that when Dr. Gilchrist heard the man knew something of sawmills, he got him work on one by the Indian River.

Built in 1818

The sawmill was built in 1818, he said, and the three-storey stone mill in 1848. He couldn't say what happened to the Englishman who showed Dr. Gilchrist how to build a sawmill, but he said he heard that the man showed him how to build the grist-mill, too.

"And they really did a job of building on it," he said. "Look at those joists. They're spaced the same in all three floors. If you wanted to run an elevator or something up, you wouldn't have to do much measuring."

On the heavy beams supported by foot-square pine pillars, the marks of an adze were clear in the afternoon sun, dimmed by the dust of the old mill.

"Some of those are square as any planed lumber you buy now," he said.

The sawmill had disappeared, but many years will pass before the grist-mill falls. Its limestone and mortar walls, made from district stone, and mortar taken from the foundation hole, show few signs of cracks.

From the lime of the eaves to the pitch of the roof, the end walls are tapered inward a distance of four inches on the outside. On the inside they are plumb. The walls are 18 to 22 inches thick, and drop down 14 feet below ground, making a solid foundation.

Five Water Wheels

"There used to be five water wheels here," the old fellow said. "And they were all fed by that canal out there."

He pointed out one of the northwest windows, and showed us a canal about 20 feet wide. We asked him where that came from.

"Well, there's a dam—Burnham's Dam—about a mile up from here. Old Gilchrist got the farmers all along the bank to take their slush-scrapers and haul out the channel."

The water wheels, he said, were all gone but one. There was one for each set of grinding stones. One is in a mill at Douro, another Meyersburg, and one at the mill in Keene. The other two have disappeared.

"That wheel in there is about 100 years old," the old man said. "I remember one time a hydro man from Healy Falls came down here and he looked at that old wheel and swore. He said they were taking the one out of the power plant there because it got rusty. This one never rusted. I think it was made in William Hamilton's plant in Peterborough, or in Toronto. I'm not sure which."

Mr. Plunkett himself is engaged in the milling business. He has operated the mill at Keene for the past 20 years, and is now trying to perfect a chopping mill—the gadget that grinds grain for livestock feed.

Finishings To Furniture Require Careful Upkeep

"Melt some beeswax and when 'tis cold make it up into a ball and rub it over with a polishing brush; labor till the luster be to your liking." These were Sheraton's instructions for the care of fine furniture. It is more than likely that he told Lady Pembroke of this procedure when she came to claim the table he'd made for her. And, more than likely, that she paid careful heed to his words, for new and expensive furniture from the gifted hands of Sheraton was a rare and valuable treasure.

Fine furniture today is made just as carefully as it was in Sheraton's time. And the constant strides being made in the wood finishing field make it possible to have surface finishes much more durable than those of even a decade ago.

But these finished, just as the surface of Lady Pembroke's table, need proper care to give them increasing beauty and lustre. To understand the care a fine piece of furniture deserves, it is well to understand just how the original finish is applied. Suppose we trace the finishing of your treasured dining room table at the factory.

Staining First Operation

Staining is one of the most important operations, for upon it depends the color of the furniture when it is completed and the perfect matching of various pieces of the same suite.

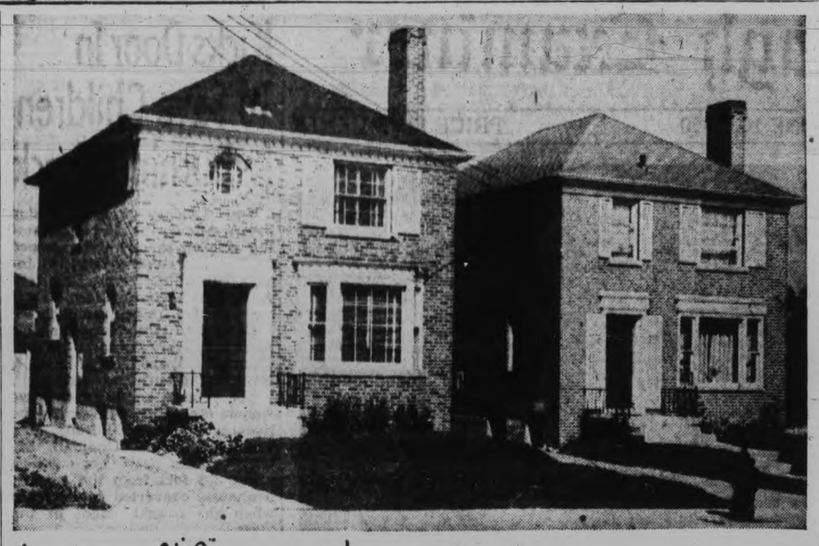
There are three types of stains used: water or acid stains, spirit stains and oil stains. Each type has different qualities.

After the staining has been completed, the pores of the wood are filled with a filler which makes the surface still smoother. After a day's drying time the piece is again sanded. Then comes a coat of sealer—to seal the pores and stain. Again it is sanded.

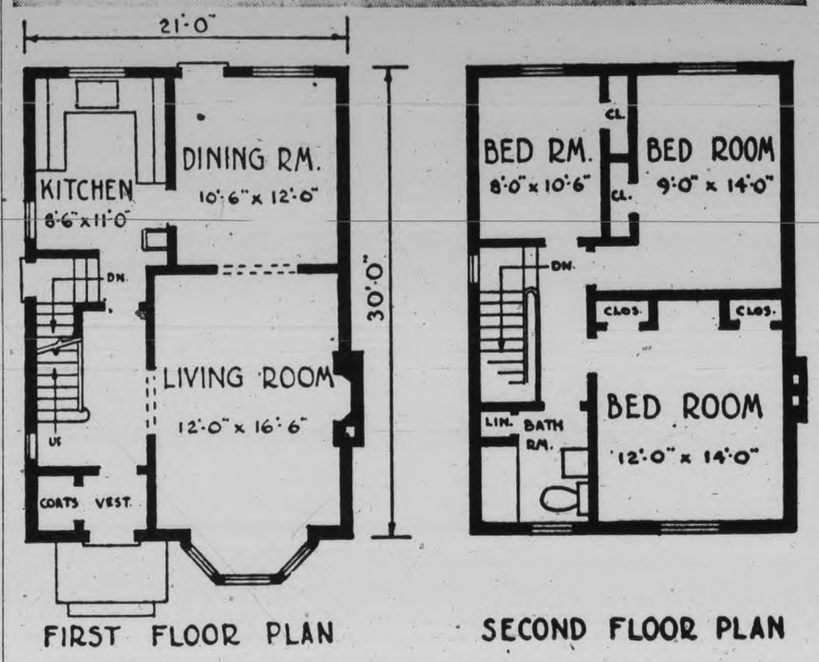
Your table now has color and tone, but it looks dull, for it lacks the protective transparent coating which also brightens and enriches its appearance.

May Need 20 Operations

From here on there are several different paths the finishers may follow. Upon the care and time that is devoted to his treatment rests the richness and durability of the surface of the furniture. Shellac and wax may be used, or lacquer and wax. Shellac or lacquer may also be utilized—without the final coating of wax. Or— the piece may be coated in varnish and finished dull, mat, polished, rubbed or satin. As many as twenty different operations may enter into the finishing of the piece—with all the various sandings and coatings and rubbings to which it is subjected.



Now, do you look upon your table with new respect and admiration? Furthermore, do you give it the diligent care which it deserves? If it is to develop the prized quality of patina—a mellowed texture of wood and finish as difficult to describe as the bouquet of good wine—you will have to devote loving care and elbow grease to the cause.



Hints on Polish

If you use polish on your furniture, be careful not to use too much. Superfluous polish serves only to make a coating to which dust clings tenaciously. Twenty-four hours before you plan to rub down your furniture, it's a good idea to put two tablespoons of polish into an empty screw top jar, then turn it right out again. In the container place a square of old soft flannel, velveteen or chamois skin, screw on the cover and leave until you are ready to use it. Such a cloth will be penetrated uniformly with just enough of the oil and will leave no film or lint behind.

When the polish is applied, it should be followed with lots of steady vigorous rubbing so the wood becomes warmed, the oil seeps down into the tiny pores and not the slightest suspicion of polish remains on the surface to attract dust.

To polish a piece of furniture which has been finished with lacquer, wax—not an oil polish—should be used. If oil is used, your furniture will, in time, take on a bluish-gray cast. If this has happened to one of your treasured pieces, it's a simple matter to remove this grayish coating. At your drug store, obtain a small jar of "Neutral" or "Green" soap. That is, any soap in which the alkali balances the acids. Make a pad of soft cloth, wet it in cool water, wring it nearly dry, then dip it into the soap. Doing just a small section at a time, rub on the soap, rinse it off thoroughly with a clean damp pad, then dry and polish with a very soft cloth—rubbing with the grain.

HOUSE No. 379—Building in the city frequently brings up the old problem of what can be done on a narrow lot. Here's Toronto builder R. Maudsley's solution, and we think he has the right idea. Both houses have a reasonable difference in facade. Straightforward planning and design assures greatest value of the building dollar. Rooms are not large but they are entirely adequate for modern living. Each of the houses contains about 17,700 cubic feet, including full basement. Buoys In Scugog Damaged By Ice

LINDSAY, June 10—Buoys and lights, used as an aid to navigation in the Scugog below Lindsay, some of which were damaged by ice during the past winter, are to be repaired as rapidly as possible. This was reported by Town Clerk Allely at this week's meeting of the Lindsay Town Council in a letter Mr. Allely had received from Clayton W. Hodgson, M.P.

Mr. Hodgson said that most of the damage was caused by ice and high winds to the buoys, and some of it could be done by the Department of Transport man at Lindsay. He added that it might be necessary to bring a tug from Peterborough to finish the job.

The weed situation in the upper reaches of the Scugog River and Lake Scugog is also to receive attention this summer, according to Mr. Hodgson. He reported that the department proposes to operate a weed-cutting machine this summer to open up navigation channels where necessary.

SAIGON, Indo-China, June 10 (Reuters)—A. K. W. Evans, English inspector of the British American Tobacco Company, was shot dead Thursday night in Saigon by Vietminh terrorists, who also shot and killed a Vietnamese policeman.

Evans, 47, who arrived in Saigon last month, was driving Maurice Lebas, French assistant manager of the tobacco company, and two friends from the factory at Cholon.

They were stopped by a group of four Vietnamese including a girl. The men in the group opened fire with automatic pistols.

The killers sped away in a waiting car, were challenged by a Vietnamese police patrol and exchanged shots, killing one policeman.

Urges Sending Unmarried Men As Missionaries

MONTREAL, Jun 10—(CP)—A policy of sending only unmarried missionaries into China was suggested at the closing sessions of the annual meeting of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference of the United Church here on Thursday.

The Rev. D. E. B. Copeland, a missionary recently returned from China, made the suggestion during presentation of a report on overseas missions.

He said the presence of missionaries in China with their families tends, under present-day circumstances, to emphasize a difference in standards of living and educational facilities for the children between the Western and Chinese Christians.

In answer to questions as to freedom of religion in Communist-dominated China, Dr. Copeland said conditions vary in different parts of the country.

The Communists follow the "usual Communist practice" of regarding all religion as superstition and discouraging its practice.

However, he said, they do have a law guaranteeing freedom of worship and, up to the time he left the country about four months ago, there had been no official attempt to suppress the church services.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. B. I. Dench in September.

Plan Indoctrination

HONG KONG, June 10 (AP)—An unconfirmed Chinese report from Red Canton said Friday the Communist government there has ordered compulsory indoctrination of all Roman Catholic priests and missionaries. The report, published in the English-language Hong Kong Standard, said they would be forced to attend regular classes on the "new democracy." The Chinese Communists Began indoctrination courses for Buddhist priests about three weeks ago.

Russia Rejects UN Decision

GENEVA, Switzerland, June 10 (AP)—Russia and four satellites Friday rejected a weeks-old decision of the United Nations Economic and Social Council because Nationalist China took part in it.

This underscored their threat to ignore all UN decisions made with Nationalist China present. Russians started a walkout-strike campaign last Jan. 10 over refusal to open a way for Red China membership in the UN.

Many decisions have been made by the UN since then but none of high political importance because the Security Council has been mostly idle.

The Soviet bloc announced its rejection in a letter to Mrs. Karin Koch, of Sweden, chairman of the UN Economic Commission for Europe, an ECOSOC subsidiary now in session here.

The disputed decision made at Lake Success earlier this year gave the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions consultative status, or the right to limited participation, in sessions of ECOSOC and related organs.

Flaming House Spoils Shower

FORBES, Ont., June 10 (CP)—A shower in celebration of a forthcoming marriage ended suddenly Friday night when flames destroyed a two-storey frame dwelling in this village, about five miles east of Ottawa.

Guests were gathered in a lean-to kitchen at the rear of the house and on the grounds nearby when they suddenly saw flames shooting out of an upstairs window of the front of the dwelling. They scattered.

The fire, causing damage of $5,000 left a family of five homeless. They are Dosithe Lalonde, who occupied the house, together with his wife, his daughter and two sons, Henri and Dosithe, Jr. The party was in honor of Aural. Some 40 guests were in attendance.

Battle Beer Issue At Polls June 28

CORNWALL, June 10 (CP) — A long-standing beer issue between the "wets" and the "drys" in Charlottenburg township, 10 miles west of here, will be battled out once more at the polls June 28.

Historically "dry," the township went to the polls about 10 years ago and defeated the "wets" who demanded that the sale of beer in licenced premises be allowed.

Beer can be sold only if those who favor the licencing get 60 per cent of the vote. In the last count those who favored beer lost out by about 10 per cent of the vote.

Ridge Board Joins Rafters At Roof Peak Of House

The Ridge Board is located at the peak of the roof to help line up the rafter ends. In small frame construction, one-inch lumber is sufficient. The depth should be at least the same as the depth of the rafters on the angle cut. The wood should be selected for straightness rather than strength. As the ridge board runs the entire length of the house, a splice may be necessary. The joint of the splice should be halfway between two rafters. Splice pieces should be nailed on both sides of the joint as shown in Figure 1. Collar beams or collar ties are used to tie together the regular rafters to prevent the ends from spreading. As shown in Figure 2, the most effective location is at the midpoint of the rafters. One colar beam to each pair of rafters should be installed. Collar beams should be securely nailed to the rafters. This ensures the transmission of pressure from one rafter to the other. The size depends upon the weight of the roof, but two-by-fours are usually adequate.

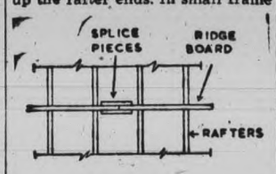

FIGURE 1

When roof rafters are cut to provide an opening for a dormer window, headers must be installed to support the cut ends. The principles for installing rafter headers are the same as applies to installing joist headers. It is advisable to double the rafters on either side of the opening.

Humanities Group Formed At Conference

KINGSTON, June 10 (CP) — The Humanities Research Council of Canada Friday created an organization to be called the Humanities Association of Canada, as the first business it carried out during its three day session at Royal Military College.

The new organization plans to foster the "widest interest in the humanities and to promote effective teaching and research in English, French, other modern languages, classics, orientals, history and philosophy." Membership will be open to any person interested in the purpose of the association.

Manvers Council Admits Fault

Negligence on the part of Manvers township was the cause of an accident to a car owned by Clare Staples, township council decided this week.

Council decided that large stones, left on the township road after repairs, should have been removed, and that the municipality was at fault. Motion was made by Deputy Reeve Beer, and seconded by Councillor Argue.

Cheques totalling $3,543.66 were ordered paid by council, including road vouchers for $1,612, and $65 for sheep killed by dogs.

Road allowance between concessions 10 and 11 opposite lot 10 was ordered closed temporarily on a motion by Deputy Reeve Beer and Councillor Argue.

Hospitalization costs accounted for $634 of cheques ordered signed and school money for $900.

Duplessis Invited To Hydro Opening

QUEBEC, June 10 (CP) — Premier Duplessis said Friday he had been invited to attend the June 28 opening of the new Ontario hydro development at Des Joachims, Que., and that he would do all that is possible to be there.

The Premier said that he had been invited to speak to an agricultural meeting here on the date. However, he said, if he did not go personally to Des Joachims the government "will certainly be represented."

Judge Frees Stowaway, Arrested Again

QUEBEC, June 10 (CP) — A stowaway, who identified himself in court Friday night as Anthony Norton of rural road No. 1, Carnfield, Ont., is back in immigration detention quarters here —to explain his entry in Canada.

Norton, 23-year-old farm hand, earlier Friday was freed on a charge of travelling on a vessel without the captain's permission. A Canadian of Polish descent, Norton is charged with stowing away on the Empress of Scotland in Liverpool, England. He made the trans-Atlantic voyage without detection and police said he won large sums of money while gambling with the passengers.

Judge Achille Pettigrew dismissed the stowaway charge because the complaint was taken under "an article of the English Imperial Statute."

Canada Independent

Judge Pettigrew said Canada "no longer is a British colony subject to the English Imperial statute but an independent nation. He said he could not commit a man under the charge.

"You are a free man," he told Norton.

Norton made a dash for the street but was brought back by police.

Again he was freed on the judge's order. He made his way to Petite Riviere, six miles from Quebec, but was brought back to Quebec on request of immigration authorities.

It could not be learned whether immigration authorities would bring further charges against Norton.

Present Parting Gift

APSLEY, June 10. (ENS)—Several member of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion branch here visited Mrs. Ree Caverly and spent a social evening on Tuesday. During the evening Mrs. Smith presented two china cups and saucers to Mrs. Caverly, who is leaving soon to take up residence in Bobcaygeon, where Mr. Caverly is on the police force. Mrs. Caverly has been an active worker in the Ladies' Auxiliary here.

Use Built-In Furniture To Economize On Space

Smart built-ins can reduce the cost of building and furnishing a home. Their space saving features make it possible to have the same amount of usable floor space in a house as much as 20 per cent smaller than a house with conventional closets and portable furniture. Or by using built-ins in the same size house, the living area is increased by as much as 20 per cent.

Built-ins include dressers, vanities, chest of drawers, bookcases, radio and television cabinets, sliding-door wardrobes, dining tables, sideboards, china cabinets, desks and even beds with shallow drawers under them for blankets.

Modern plywoods of hundreds of types with colorful rare wood surfaces give built-ins all of the beauty of the finest furniture. A new type of plywood impregnated with a plastic coating to give it a permanently polished surface has been developed by the Georgia-Pacific Plywood and Lumber Co.

The cost of furnishing a new home is usually an added burden to the home buyer. Even when installment payments are arranged for new furniture, they extend over a comparatively short term. When as much furniture as possible is built into a house it is financed in the single mortgage covering the house, spreading the cost into easy payments.

Lending institutions recognize this advantage. Edwin H. Guest a director of the New Rochelle, N.Y. Federal Savings and Loan Association, says loans secured homes with a maximum of built-ins represent the soundest investments. As head of Nuroco Woodwork, the millwork division of the New Rochelle Coal and Lumber Co., Guest has made extensive studies of the economy of built-ins.

He has found that built-ins can give a house with 808 square feet of floor area the same amount of walking space around furniture as a conventional home with a total area of 1,014 square feet. "This is a saving of 20 per cent," he points out, "and with building costs ranging from $12 to $15 per square foot, it represents a sizable amount."

One of the first dividends that can be reaped through the use of built-ins is in the utilization of the space usually wasted for conventional interior walls. Roof trusses, or one load-bearing wall with posts and beams for openness can solve the structural problem. In either case the installation of all interior partitions can be delayed until outer walls, floors and ceilings are finished. This reduces the amount of cutting, fitting and piecing.

A storage wall between two bedrooms built of plywood and containing the closets for each bedroom is one of the simplest space savers. From that point on, opportunities for efficient planning continue.

The size of the usual bedroom is determined by the space required for easy movement around beds, but as well as by the depth of each piece of furniture around the walls. To permit a 30-inch wide closet door to swing, at least that much clearance also is needed.

A space of 2 ft. deep and 8 ft. wide on the other hand, can provide for a wardrobe 3½ ft. wide, with sliding doors requiring no swing clearance; a dresser 2 ft. wide with storage cabinets above, and a vanity 2½ ft. wide with built-in lighting, a triplicate mirror and all the drawers and shelves a woman may want.

Sliding doors on wardrobes have many advantages. Clothes are more accessible and in full view, instead of being hidden back in a corner. Sliding doors also cut costs and building time. Made of plywood and equipped with slotted metal tracks, they slide at the touch of a finger. They can be prefabricated at a woodworking plant.

Six-room houses often have from seven to ten closets. When these are built with stud walls, plastered and trimmed, fitted with costly door openings and expensive swinging doors they comprise a big item in building costs.

Any home owner handy with tools finds the construction of built-ins simple and gratifying. Plywood cuts cleanly with a saw and because of its multiple layers it takes nails close to the edge without splitting. It can be used in large sheets in thicknesses up to ¾ inch.

Remington Quits $10,000 Job In Loyalty Case

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP) —William W. Remington resigned his $10,000-a-year job in the United States Commerce Department Friday with a blast at the firing of federal employees who are forced to defend themselves against disloyalty charges.

The 32-year-old economist was indicated by a federal grand jury in New York Thursday on the ground that he lied when he swore he was never a member of the Communist Party.

The Secretary of Commerce, Charles, Sawyer, had demanded Remington's resignation under a quit-or-be-fired ultimatum two weeks ago, but he said that no reflection "in any way" was intended on Remington's loyalty. Rather, Sawyer explained, the resignation was asked for "administrative" reasons.

In a letter to Sawyer Friday, Remington said he was resigning to devote "full time to proving in the courts I am innocent of the charge that I have ever been a Communist."

The letter went on to say:

"It seemed unjust and improper to base a request for resignation or a notice of dismissal on the ground that I spent too much time defending myself against charges of disloyalty and testifying under subpoena before committees of Congress and the grand jury.

"I have put in some 10 hours of overtime for every hour of government time that I have had to spend in my own defence."

New York Winning Battle As Water Supply Grows

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK —(CP)— It takes about 900,000,000 gallons of water daily to slake New York City's thirst. But conservative-minded civic officials aren't too unhappy about the drain on the water supply.

Instead, Stephen J. Carney, commissioner of water supply for this metropolis of about 8,000,000 people, is buoyed by figures showing that average daily consumption has fallen during the last eight months by approximately 300,000,000 gallons.

The average last October was 1,192,000,000 gallons a day.

Carney and his officials since then have waged an unceasing "save-water" campaign. The reason was a drop in the level of the city's up-state reservoirs to near-crisis levels. By mid-December of 1949 they held only 87,000,000,000 gallons, a mere 33.4 per cent of capacity. Warnings of water rationing were issued. Many restrictions were imposed.

The campaign has borne fruit. As June began, the level was up to 91.2 per cent of capacity of 253,136,000,000 gallons.

Plight Simple

The reason for the city's water plight is as simple as turning on a faucet. As New York's population has grown, water consumption has increased. The expanding use threatens shortages at any time until 1956. By then, engineers hope to have tapped new reserves from sources of the Delaware River on the slopes of the Catskill Mountains, about 90 miles northwest of New York. They estimate an additional 540,000,000 gallons daily then will be available.

The water shortage has been a prime topic of cartoonists, writers and conversationalists since civic authorities last autumn warned that New York taps might literally run dry.

Restrictions Improved

Drastic restrictions on water use were imposed by the city. It forbade use of city water for cleaning automobiles. It cut out flushing streets. It prohibited washing the outside of buildings with water.

Dr. Wallace Howell, a consulting meteorologist, was hired to try to fill reservoirs by artifically-induced rain. Dr. Howell for a fee of $100 a day, has been working at this problem by "sprinkling" clouds with silver iodide.

Dr. Howell and his associates have not claimed any major success in their rain-making endeavors. But several times they have expressed cautious belief their efforts may have caused showers over the reservoir - watershed area.

Blame Rainmaker

Some disgruntled New Yorkers, irked by long spells of cloudy weather shrouding Manhattan this spring, have been inclined to blame Howell. One magazine cartoonist depicted a weather bureau official telephoning the rain-maker and asking: "We wondered whether you're planning anything for tomorrow."

The expert consultant, however, has declined to assume responsibility for the city's prevailing grey skies.

Six months ago water commissioner Carney set June 1 as the target date for full reservoirs. Weather statistics show that six-month period starting then usually is relatively dry while the six-month period from Dec. 1 to May 31 usually is wet. In other words, if reservoirs are not full as June starts they may be perilously low when December rolls round.

Rainfall over the reservoir-watershed area to date this year has been approximately normal. During the 12 months of 1949 it was eight to nine inches less than normal.

If late spring rains continue, Carney is hopeful the reservoirs soon will overflow again as they did a year back.

BC Patrol Boats Protect Laws

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Canada's Department of Fisheries, 30 patrol and protection boats are chugging out to tend their 500 Canadian and American charges.

Acting as watchdogs of the halibut fleet and mother protectors of Canada's fishing laws keeps the tiny vessels more than busy. But they still manage to find time for scouting tuna, checking for lobsters, looking for prawns and crabs and keeping a watchful eye on every fishing boat from the Strait of Juan de Fuca to Alaska.

Queens of the pack are the Vancouver-built twins, Howay and Laurier. Each is 113 feet of trim, sea-grey steel, powered by 800 horse-power diesels.

During the summer months, these boats patrol 200 miles or farther out to sea. Until then their beat takes them 60 or 70 miles off shore with the halibutters.

Now that the halibut men are out to sea, the two big boats are on constant contact with their Vancouver headquarters.

Besides their wireless they have radiophones with which they take part in seven daily conferences with headquarters.

Wedding Customs Followed Today Of Centuries Ago

The month of weddings recalls customs old and new, mostly old, though somewhat revised in modern times. Some of them obsolete like "bride bells" for wedding bells, "bride banquet" for wedding breakfast and one still occasionally used "bride's cake" instead of the more usual wedding cake are linked with nuptials dating back many centuries.

The "bride's cake" had its origin in the Roman confarreatio, a form of marriage, the essential features of which were the eating by the couple of a cake made of salt, water and flour and holding by the bride of three wheat-ears, symbolical of plenty. In the middle ages the wheat-ears were worn or carried by the bride and it became the custom for young girls to assemble outside the church and throw grains of wheat over the bride. Can our modern confetti have replaced this?

Biscuits Before Cake

In time the wheat-grains were cooked into thin, dry biscuits which were broken over the bride's head. In Queen Elizabeth's reign, these biscuits took the form of small rectangular cakes made of eggs, milk, sugar, currants and spices. Every wedding guest had at least one and the cakes were thrown at the brides as she passed the threshold. They were the forerunners of the modern wedding cake which assumed its glories of almond paste, confectioner's icing and ornaments during the reign of Charles II. It represents the principle of sharing.

The phrase "bride-cup" was also sometimes used to describe the bowl of spiced wine prepared for the bridal couple.

"Bride favors" or bride-lace were at first pieces of gold, silk, or other lace used to bind up the sprigs of rosemary worn at weddings. Later these took the form of bunches of ribbons.

Ring Is Symbol

The promise "With this ring I thee wed" dates back to the marriage ceremonies of many ages and many lands. It is said that the ring, a symbol of ownership and authority in the wedding rites may be traced to ancient Egypt and signifies the everlasting union of a man and a woman stemming from the symbol of eternity, the circle.

When the bride's father answers the question, "Who gives this woman?" he is re-enacting the selling of his daughter during the period of marriage by purchase. This custom of bride-buying prevailed during the Middle Ages, until the great rise of Christianity made marriage a religious ceremony instead of a legal contract.

The bridal veil today's brides wear has replaced the garland of long ago and the custom of wearing the veil over the face before the ceremony comes from the superstition that ill-luck will befall the bride if her husband-to-be glimpses her face on her wedding day before the ceremony.

Kawartha Ladies Golfing Winners

Weekly field day competitions at the Kawartha Golf Club Thursday afternoon were in charge of Mrs. E. Riley. The 18-hole competition for low net was tied by Mrs. W. Woodcox and Mrs. L. Browne, and on the draw Mrs. Wilcox won a point and Mrs. Browne the prize and went into the second round of the spring trophy. Mrs. Al. Clark won a spoon for par on five holes.

Mrs. Jack Cranfield was competition winner in the nine-hole section and Mrs. D. Meredith was second. Mrs. Cranfield went into the first round of the nine-hole spring trophy.

For the tea afterward there was a beautiful table arrangement of spirea, purple iris and phlox. Mrs. H. R. Scott filled the tea cups and Mrs. Dunfield and others were serving.

Business girls arriving for five o'clock tea had it served by Misses Mary Dodds, Joan Austin and Mrs. Wm. Harle while Miss Jean Cox and Miss Jean Duignan poured the tea.

Arrangements of this section were changed and winners will be decided each week after play. As competitions had not been completed last week there were 3 winners each receiving spoons: Miss Doris Skinner, low gross; Miss Joan Rose, hidden holes; Miss Dorothy Lefebvre, high gross.

Mrs. C. A. Gollitt was in the chair. The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. S. Courtney and Mrs. W. L. McNeil presided at the piano.

A memorial life membership certificate in the WMS of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, for the late Mrs. Robert Ross, was given by Mrs. Fred Weir. The presentation was made to Mrs. Ross' daughter, Mrs. Ken Hanbidge by Mrs. A. A. McIntyre.

The mission study portion of the program was taken by Miss Mary Lees who gave a brief survey of the remarkable life and work of Miss Caroline Macdonald, LLT.

Miss Macdonald went to Japan in 1904 as the country's first national YWCA secretary. After ten years time, the work had grown from its small beginnings into a great national movement and Miss Macdonald felt called of God to resign her post with the YWCA. For the remaining years of her life in Japan, she gave unstintingly of her splendid ability and rare gift, to work among Japanese criminals and their families.

Local Buyers See Fashion Preview

Buyers from local ladies' ready-to-wear stores this week attended a showing by the Dress Manufacturers' Guild in the King Edward Hotel, and previewed Fall styles that will make a bid to earn Toronto the title of fashion centre of Canada.

They report the styles were conservative but their buyers are conservative too. The lines were good, enough hints of Paris to swing in with world trends and there were fresh and interesting colors.

Newest color, seen in every group from coats to evening dresses, was a soft burnt orange; the most startling, a clear scarlet in topcoats. Muted lime green made an effective four-piece ensemble of shower coat, suit and weskit.

Both the narrow and full silhouette were played up. Fashions for afternoon were, for the most part, bouffant, and the materials rich. Tiny jackets over bare-topped dresses will again take the ladies from daytime to dusk. Sweeping ball gowns in the grand manner are to return to this winter's scene.

Hats favored for the Fall of '50 will be small and head-hugging with face veils continuing to flatter the wearer.

WCTU Suggests Toast to Bride In Fruit Drink

HASTINGS, S. England, June 10 (Reuters)—One thousand representatives of the Women's Christian Temperance Union from 40 countries heard their proposals that bridal toasts should be drunk in some attractive fruit drink and communion should be drunk in grape juice.

Mrs. John Forrester Paton of Scotland urged delegates support for fruit drinks at parties and weddings and for unfermented wine at communion.

On the point of gambling, the World Congress was told that federal legislation puts the United States in an enviable position. Mrs. Emily Moffat Clow of Northern Ireland praised the United States law banning all gambling matter from the mails.

She added that in Britain, Australia and New Zealand the gambling craze appears to be in complete control of the citizens. She urged adoption of legislation similar to that of the United States.

Mrs. Nehru of India Brilliant Woman

STOCKHOLM, June 10 (Reuters)—Asked to name the most remarkable woman she had ever met, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who is on a three-day visit to Sweden, decided she was Mrs. Vijaya Nehru, India's ambassador to the United States, and sister of India's prime minister, Pandit Nehru.

The widow of the American President defined as her reasons for naming Mrs. Nehru:

1. "She always says all the things a man would say and uses all her woman's wiles to say them."

2. "She always looks lovely in her long colorful Indian robes in the United Nations."

Fashion Flashes

PLEATS—Usually of the very tiny, fine variety—mark many of the frocks prepared for smart summer wear. Pale pink silk chiffon for a shirtwaist dress that is tucked from neck to hem. The tiny shoulder yoke, the collar and a throat-to-hem fly front panel are of the plain fabric. A black bow, a plain black patent belt, and an attached slim slip of matching silk crepe are other details.

✧ ✧ ✧

STILL A STAR is the fine silk suit. White-dotted pure black silk tafefta makes a handsome suit The jacket, with rounded hipline, has a low double-breasted two-button closing. The collar, the tiny revers and the turn-back. split cuffs are all edged with black silk braid binding.

✧ ✧ ✧

A PERFECT CHOICE for a second wedding, or an informal one, might well be a dress and lumberjacket of perriwingle blue lace over crisp white taffeta. The dress has a roll collar that extends almost to the waist, and a flaring street-length skirt, making it nice for evening wear. For daytime wear there is the softly tailored lumberjacket piped and belted in sapphire blue velvet.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT'S CHECKS all the way, ever unto shoes. Houndstooth check, black and white or brown or navy and white woollen, for a neat pump with border and heel of black patent leather.

✧ ✧ ✧

GOOD TEAMWORK helps to make a smart budget wardrobe. For instance, a flared shortie in navy and white big-or-small-checked woollen becomes a smart suit when worn with a slim navy blue skirt and a crisp white blouse, since the suit made up of flaring, boxy jacket and slim skirt is one of the big season's successes.

IMAGINATION, ingenuity and charm star in summer beach wear. Doubly dear, because it is made by blind workers, is a beach bag of cotton check with a waterproof lining. The bag straightens out to form a beach mat.

SMART JUNIOR STYLING—Gay news dog-collared printed shantung (left) ready for versatile changes as you slip colored scarves through collar and around waist. Centre, youthful glamor is found in soft blue formal made with strapless boned top, large three-dimensional pockets and widest of belts and, to cover shoulders, a tippet cape copied from grandmother's day. Right, exciting modernistic print forms background for spring frock with eagle wing collar, full-blown sleeves and gleaming patent leather belt.

A PARIS JEWELER OFFERS these adornments of rubies and diamonds, platinum-mounted, as the last word in novel feminine elegance. How the clips manage to stay aboard remains the secret of the dealer who introduced the novelties in his current collection.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

We have already noted that the number of cards in your hand and your position at the table are of great importance in an early freeze. The more cards you have, the better your chance to get the pack; the fewer cards, the less chance. When you have only a few cards, however, your disadvantage is lessened if the player at your left also has a reduced hand.

When the number of cards and position at the table are fairly equal, the most important question is: How many safe discards can our side find, and how many discards can the opponents find?

For example, suppose each side has melded and that each player has eight cards in his hand. Your side has melded only three aces and three kings. The opponents have melded three kings, and three tens. At this point the discard pile becomes frozen. Which side has the advantage?

Your side is much better off. It is usually safer to discard cards that match the enemy's melds (when the pack is frozen) than cards that haven't yet been melded. For example, when a player melds three queens, he is not likely to hold two more queens in his hand. If you discard a queen to him in a frozen pack, he probably cannot pick it up.

If the other opponent has melded queens, it may not be quite so safe for you to discard a queen. The player who follows you may have held a pair of queens in his hand instead of adding them to his partner's meld.

However, even the best opponents cannot be tricky all the time. If the player at your left has cards that match his partner's meld, he will often consider it good play to put some of them down. If he doesn't put any down, there is a very good chance that he doesn't hold as many as two of any such meld.

In the situation just described, the chances are that you and your partner have a small assortment of queens, jacks, and tens that you were unwilling to discard before the pack became frozen. The opponents may have been holding some of your aces and kings for the same reason, but there are only five aces and two kings in the deck, whereas there are 15 missing queens, jacks and tens. Hence you are more likely than the enemy to have several safe discards from the very beginning.

Q—My wife and I played a game of two-hand Canasta, and she was left at the end of the hand with five deuces and two jokers. What can be done with such a hand?

✧ ✧ ✧

A—By the time you get around to asking such a question it's too late to do anything. All you can do then is deduct 100 points for the deuces and another 100 points for the two jokers. She should have made canastas and melded out before she got caught. If she had no base of four natural cards, then her early melds were unwise choices.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—We have a canasta and go out. The opponents have several melds on the table but no canasta. Does everything on the table and in their hands count against them, or just what they have in their hands?

✧ ✧ ✧

A—They get credit for everything they have on the table, but everything in their hands counts against them. In other words, they do not need a canasta to get credit for their melds.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—To make a meld of 120 points I had A-A-2 and 8-8-8-2-2. The opponents said I could use only one deuce per meld. Is this true?

✧ ✧ ✧

A—Not a word of it. Your meld was perfectly correct.

Count Pre-marriage Cost, Forget It After Ceremony

In a way marriage is a deadline that separates our lives into two distinct parts, and there are certain things that it is wise and right and expedient to do on one side of it, that it is foolish and disastrous to do on the other side of it. For example, before you marry you must count the cost of matrimony.

Dorothy Dix

There is nothing for nothing in this hard-boiled old world of ours. Among the most expensive objects in it is a wedding ring, and before purchasing it one should decide whether or not one is willing to pay the price.

Part of this price is personal liberty. When a man marries he is not free to come and go as he pleases, as a bachelor is. Nor is he free to philander, or even to indulge his personal tastes and habits. His money is no longer his own to spend upon himself, and unless he happens to be rich he cannot have the indulgences to which he has been accustomed as a single man. If his fickle fancy tires of his wife, he cannot kiss and ride away, as had been his habit when he wearied of other women.

When a woman marries she also sells herself into bondage. She is no longer free to do as she pleases. She must do as her husband pleases, if there is to be any peace in the family. If she has been a society girl, she must become a grub instead of a butterfly.

Must Forego Career

If she has been a business or professional woman, in most cases she must give up her work and swap a mahogany desk for a gas range, and toil harder than she ever did before in her life without any pay envelope at the end of the week. At night she must walk the colic instead of dancing, and in place of the flattery of many men she must listen to the fault-finding of one.

So every man and woman who are considering matrimony should do a lot of figuring over the price they will have to pay for it, and decide whether they think it is worth it. But after they are married they should never count the cost of it again.

They should just assume that husbands and wives and homes and children are like automobiles—expensive luxuries that cost you a lot of money and worry and aggravation of spirit, but that give you enough thrills and fun to pay for their upkeep. And, anyway, you couldn't live without 'em.

Likewise, before marriage men and women should wear magnifying glasses when they look at each other, but after marriage they should wear blinders.

Before marriage a man should carefully scrutinize the character and disposition of the young woman with whom he is contemplating spending the rest of his life. He should test out her amiability. He should investigate the amount of brains in her pretty little head. He should find out if she has a sense of humor. He should get a line on her point of view. He should ascertain whether she knows how to cook, and whether she shies at the sight of a kitchen or adores pots and pans. He should make sure of what line of conversation she carries, and whether she could keep him entertained for two hours at a stretch.

Same way with a girl. Before she gets married she should find out what sort of disposition the man has with whom she is contemplating tying up, and whether she will be a little ray of sunshine in the house or a wet blanket over it. She should get his ideas about whether he considers a wife as a partner who goes fifty-fifty with her husband, or as an unpaid domestic servant. She should know what his ideas are on the allowance question, and whether he proposes to be a fireside companion or run with his old crowd, and whether he thinks he can pick out winners on the racetrack and support the local tavern without getting the worst of it.

Before marriage a man and woman should have a good working diagram of each other's every fault and weakness, but on their wedding eve they should chuck it in the fire and forget all about it, and thereafter look not for blemishes in each other, but for perfections.

Should Test For Love

Finally, before marriage a man and woman should apply every known test to their own hearts to ascertain if they are really in love, but after marriage they should cease vivisecting their own emotions.

Before marriage every man should ask himself: "Will I still love this woman when she is no longer young and pretty Will her voice still have power to thrill me when I hear it every morning across the breakfast table, asking me to leave money for the milkman and not to forget the butcher's bill?"

Every girl should ask herself: "Will I still love this man when he is fat and bald-headed? Will my heart still do flipflops when I hear his footsteps coming home at night ten years from now, and will I still hang upon his words when he wants to know why I never learn to make biscuits like his mother used to make?"

But after marriage love should be taken for granted, and it is as fatal for a husband and wife to begin to count their heart throbs and analyze their feelings toward each other as it is for an individual to begin to explore his system for symptoms of disease.

There is a time for everything. And the time for doubts and misgivings and counting the cost of matrimony should come before marriage, not afterward.

The Immigrants

with prospect of abundant crop; they have considerably increased their improvements which look very neat; a few, however, are likely to give the ensuing quarter-sessions some business: Collins, Lyne and Sullivan have long been at variance, which has at last ended in a battle . . . Collins says that nothing but the law will satisfy him, consequently several poor families will have to attend at Cobourg . . ." A year later he reported from Douro: "July 21, 1829: That unfortunate man Armstrong has this morning found one of his oxen lying dead in a swamp, suspects the Sweeneys (Sullivans) having caused him to mire there, for the purpose of ascertaining this he had them brought before Justice Stewart and one of the boys has confessed that such was the case . . ."

It should not be concluded from these cases that more than a few of the Irish were having serious troubles, either with nature or among themselves. On the contrary, most lived hardworking, uneventful lives and gradually prospered by their industry; the township records in the Ontario Archives are full of testimonials to this. Denis Driscoll wrote Robinson July 9, 1928: "I am desirous of buying the east half of lot 9 in 1st con. Smith for which I am willing to pay the sum of 6s. 3d. per acre, 1/10 down and remainder in 9 equal annual payments with interest." Eleven years later when he had it paid he sold it ot Joseph Kelso with a profit of $12. Pat Tobin bought the west half of the same lot on the same terms about the same time. Apparently lot 25 in 11th conc. Otonabee was a particularly fine lot, as four Irish petitioned to buy it—James Condon, David Long, John Cleary and Wm. Cleary. The last-named won it after the following letter to Robinson, Jan. 29, 1829: "I accept of lot 25 in 11th con. Otonabee which lot I proposed for to you when I was in York and which you promised I should have. I am ready to pay the first instalment as soon as you demand it; I am sorry to tell you that Tom Condon is at present slashing trees on the lot, tho he never touched it till he understood that I had your promise of the lot . . ."

Captain Basil Hall

In July 1827 a noted English traveller, Captain Basil Hall, arrived in Peterborough with a commission from the Colonial Office to investigate the success of the Irish settlement. He sent to Horton on Sept. 27, 1827 a letter which painted such a glowing picture that Horton had copies printed for distribution; after his return to London in 1829 he expanded his report into a two-volume narrative "Travels in North America 1827-28" which contained a sketch of Peterborough made with the Camera Lucida.

Hall spent a week in the Peterborough area, interviewing emigrants either alone or with McDonner or Rev. Mr. Crowley, and conversing with local gentry. The Irish emphasized their gratitude to the Government, as one of them explained "For we have been taken from misery and want, and put into independence and happiness." The earlier settlers in Smith, said Hall: "Have had so good an effect in encouraging the newcomers, that I have no doubt that in eight or nine years more, were I to visit these districts, I should find my friends the poor Irish settlers living in the ease and comparative affluence now enjoyed by the inhabitants of Smithtown . . ." After considering the evidence, Hall concluded: "My conclusion was that the experiment had been eminently success. . . Some had cleared more land than others, or had cultivated it with greater success, owing to their having more grown children, or having a longer period on their land. But it is no exaggeration to say that they were all in a state of prosperity. . ."

Emigration Costs

Although the accounts were not settled until many years later, this is the logical point to present a few figures on the total cost of bringing 2,024 Irish paupers to Upper Canada in 1825. It was mentioned previously that parliament voted £30,000 to bring out 1,500 settlers and get them settled with rations for 12 months, but additional funds had to be obtained to cover 2,024 people for a period of 18 months. With difficulty Horton in 1827 got £10,480 more, making a total of £40,480—thus he was able to boast erroneously that they had been settled for £20 per person or £100 per family of five, less than the cost in 1823.

Some writers made the ridiculous statement that Robinson pocketed £20,000 to £30,000 of this for himself, but the facts belie this. After satisfying the exorbitant demands of the Navy, the Commissariat and the Ordnance for passage, supplies and food, he had £23,235 left to settle and feed the Irish from July 1825 to November 1826. The food alone at prevailing Cobourg prices of 5d a lb. for flour and 4d. a lb. for meat cost approximately £25,000. Construction of cabins for the settlers cost £1,000, and the cows provided cost about £1,700. In addition there were a multitude of expenses: medical care, transportation from Prescott to Scott's Plains, cost of boats, hire of oxen and carts, salaries to assistants, blankets and seed provided, construction of Government buildings at Peterborough, Robinson's personal expenses, and many others.

The total expenditures listed in the accounts of £48,485. 6s. ¼d. Of the deficit, Robinson paid from his own pocket by 1834 about £1,969, and as there is no further mention of the balance, the British Government presumably paid it off after his death. The average cost of settling each actual Irish settler, man, woman or child, in 1825 was £5. Whatever inefficiency and lack of leadership can be charged against Peter Robinson, no person in possession of the truth can question his integrity, honesty and humanity. His fitting memorial is the city and district of Peterborough.

"Ethel — weren't you wearing your new sling-backs when we went in?"

Pert Milliner Designs Hats for Ottawa

By KAY REX

OTTAWA —(CP)— "My work—it is part of me."

Pert Alberte Legeault shrugged an expressive shoulder. "I don't feel as if I'm working when I'm making hats . . ."

Alberte was born in Hull, Que., and went into the millinery business 12 years ago when she was 18. Now her styles are so popular in the capital that there is scarcely a wife of a diplomat or high government official who doesn't boast at least one hat with a "Mlle Alberte" label.

The wives of two governors-general also have worn Alberte models.

The sleek-haired young expert stlyed several for Princess Alice, wife of a former governor-general.

"I made five for Her Excellency," said Alberte. "One was a black shiny straw and there also was a close-fitting turban for travelling—draped in toast-colored jersey."

Doesn't Like Extreme Hats

Lady Alexander chooses hats with good lines and not too much trimming," said Alberte.

What to choose when shopping for hats?

Alberte warns that trimming on the left side gives a "matronly" look. Flowers and feathers on the right gives a "much younger, more dashing" appearance.

Women with round faces should avoid the complete halo hats, instead there should be at least a fold in the material at one side—to detract from the roundness.

Tiny persons should avoid towering feathers and obvious attempts to give height.

Tall persons can effectively wear cart-wheel hats—those are wide but don't add to height.

Don't Copy Others

Finally Alberte has one last piece of advice—don't copy the other woman.

She confessed that customers often come in begging her to make them a hat exactly the same as one they've seen on somebody else. That's difficult when the customer is 10 or 15 years older than the 21-year-old model who wore the hat which caught her eye.

In such cases Alberte styles the hat as closely as possible to the one desired—but with modifications.

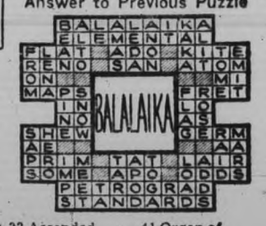
"After all I can't have them going out of here with hats which don't suit them," she said. "It isn't good business for me and they would only come back and complain."

What's Right

You disagree violently with a statement made by a public figure.

WRONG: Write a letter expressing your opinion of him, but don't sign your name.

RIGHT: Attack the ideas, if you like, but not the person who expressed them. And by all means sign your name to the letter.



"I knew it wouldn't be long before that old copycat at Canterbury . . . one."

GRISTMILL

aluminum chopping plates for patterns, but it's hard stuff to pour. Always get air bubbles or something in it," he said.

He took us upstairs to the third floor of the mill, and showed us his machinery for polishing and grinding the chopping plates.

"All run by waterpower," he said.

On the third floor were the remains of a large circular bin, into which flour was poured after milling. A paddle affair, suspended from the ceiling, mixed the various grinds together.

"They went at it backside foremost," he said. "They'd grind the grain and then mix the different runs together. You know, one farmer's wheat will make good flour, and another's won't be worth a darn. Nowadays, they put all the grain in an elevator and it gets mixed in there just by being poured in."

Upstream from the mill, Mr. Plunkett has a small cupola for melting iron. He makes his own tools for his lathe with it. "It's hard as carborundum steel," he smiled.

The dam which diverts the water into the canal, is in rough shape, although it could be repaired successfully. It lies across the river, spreading water out about 350 feet.

Before we left the old mill, we asked Mr. Plunkett to try and recall the name of the Englishman whose wife died at the wharf. He said he couldn't, but he remembers that after Gilchrist built the grist-mill in 1848, he sold it to the Burnhams.

When we left, Mr. Plukett was chipping industriously on a new chopping plate for his little chopping mills.

New BC Pulp Mill Hails Boom Era

CAMPBELL RIVER, BC (CP) Residents of this Vancouver Island town are speculating on the possibility that work may begin soon on a $40,000,000 pulp mill at nearby Duncan Bay.

Henry J. Mackin, president of the Canadian Western Timber Company, says: "We are definitely going ahead and a great many people would like to know when, but for obvious reasons I am not prepared to say at this moment when we will start."

Herbert Welch, legislature member for Comox, says Campbell River "is going to enter another boom era."

Two years ago, Canadian Western was granted the island's first forest-management licence. The estimates have brought the cost to near $40,000,000.

Under the licence, Canadian Western will work 60,000 to 75,000 acres on a sustained-yield basis, as well as salvaging timber waste from vast cut-over areas.

Says Canada Losing Propaganda Battle

OTTAWA, June 10 (CP)—Rodney Adamson (PC-York West), told the Commons Friday in a defence debate that Canada is consistently losing the battle of propaganda against Communism.

Propaganda was a potent weapon, but Canada was not using its position in international affairs to the full in this respect. She should emphasize the idea of a small nation living alongside the most powerful nation in the world at complete peace.

The world should be told how a great power could live at peace without any predatory instinct, particularly when the adjoining small nation had the sinews needed by the larger nation.

WHY THE INCREASE IN THE COST OF HAIRCUTS?

Since our last increase in 1946, our cost of equipment, laundry, taxes, rent, fuel, light and water, repair and maintenance, tonics, etc., has increased by as much as 40% and more. Thus, we are justified in increasing the price of Haircuts from 60c to 75c effective June 12, 1950.

A statement of the responsibility of the Barber Shops to their patrons:

We recognize the fact that you are entitled to every possible protection against infection and contagion while in our shops and we endeavor to discharge this responsibility by scrupulous adherence to all sanitary precautions.

We believe that you are entitled to the same courteous, careful and conscientious treatment from all barbers in our shops, whether you wish all of the services we have to offer or nothing more than a shave, and we sincerely try to carry out this principle.

We want you to feel that you are under no obligation whatsoever to tip, and that you will receive the same attention whether you tip or not.

The preparations dispensed in our shops and sold for home use are all standard merchandise of the highest quality, bearing the original manufacturer's label, undiluted and guaranteed to be free from injurious ingredients.

We consider it our professional duty to suggest and explain to our patrons such services and treatments as we think may be needed in any particular case. However, we do not mean to be offensive, overbearing or insistent, and will at all times respect the wishes of our patrons.

We regard the hair tonics for sale in our shops not as "hairgrowers" or "baldness cures" but as legitimate aids to the preservation and beautification of hair and the proper care of the scalp.

We feel that we owe the responsibilities enumerated above to every patron of our shops, regardless of the frequency of his, or her, visits, and the owner would appreciate having called to his attention any lapse on the part of any of his co-workers.

Tres Interview With Star's Subconscious

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 10 (AP) Imagine interviewing a movie star's subconscious mind.

That's the notion I toyed with this week after talking to a cautious actress who had nothing to say but glittering generalities. I took her remarks and tried to envision what she was really thinking about. This is the result:

"Hello! So nice to see you again. (Nice! Here I've got three pages of dialogue to learn and this egghead wants to ask me a lot of stupid questions.)

Some Script

"I've wanted to do this picture for a long time. It's the most exciting script I've read in years. (What script? Every time I go before the camera, they hand me 10 new pages. I haven't done piece work like this since I left the shoe factory.)

"This picture is really a change of pace for me. ('Change of pace' meaning I had to take a $10,000 cut in salary.) The woman I play is really an off-beat character. (So far off-beat that 10 other stars turned it down.)

"And what an actor this leading man is! A real trouper. (If that lens-hog doesn't stop trying to steal my scenes I'll bite his lip in the clinches.)

Rum-Bum

"I love working with this director. He has a sensitivity that is rare in Hollywood. (What that rum-bum couldn't direct traffic.)

'Yes, it's true—I'll be leaving the studio after this picture. It has been a long and successful association, but I think both of us need a change. I asked for my release. (Okay, so they didn't pick up my option.)

"No, I don't know what my next picture will be. I've been snowed under with scripts and haven't had time to read then all. Dore wants me to come over there and De Mille said he's writing a part in his circus picture for me. But first of all, I'm going to take a good rest.

"Rest is right. If that lame-brained agent doesn't start peddling me, I'll be a dead duck. Oh well, there's always television.)"

BERLIN, June 10—(Reuters)—The chief of the Leipzig fire brigade "has been asked for giving the Hitler salute by mistake" at a fire brigade festival, the West German News Agency reported today. Other officers of the fire department who objected to the firing have also been dismissed, the agency said.

BLIND BUILDER—Vernon Jarvis, 58-year-old Brantford, Ont., carpenter, blind for the last 25 years, has yet to hit his thumb although he has been working at his trade "since I was a boy." Last year he completed the first house he ever attempted and the job was so good he got another contract to build a similar one this year.

Ontario Fruit Prospects Vary

OTTAWA, June 10 (CP) — Prospects for the fruit crops in Canada this year as at mid-May vary considerably, depending on the locality and type, the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

Judging by the bloom, the outlook for the orchard fruits in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Quebec is promising. On the other hand, strawberries in the heavy producing area of the Island of Orleans, and Bellechasse county are expected to be reduced 50 per cent by winter injury.

Production in Ontario is still uncertain. The apple and peach crops are expected to be lighter than those of last year, while the condition of the other tree fruits is variable. A reduction in the strawberry crop is looked for and, while raspberry plantations in western Canada are in excellent health, red raspberries in Eastern Ontario show considerable winter killing.

$500 Bail On Toohey Will Be Returned

TORONTO, June 10 — (CP) — Bail of $500 forfeited in Kirkland Lake court Thursday will be returned to John James Toohey, Clifford R. Magone, Ontario Deputy Attorney-General, said Friday.

The bail had been posted to ensure the appearance of Toohey's son, Thomas, to answer charges of careless driving and assaulting an officer. But the son shot and wounded a Malartic, Que., salesman near North Bay, stole the man's car, and then fatally shot himself when police closed in on him Monday in a Sault Ste. Marie rooming-house.

Mr. Magone said court proceedings required issuance of a forfeiture order when the accused man did not appear in court. He said the money will be returned by order of a judge who is formally notified that the man concerned is dead.

Plan To Build More Homes For Servicemen

OTTAWA —(CP)— The housing problem for many army and air force personnel and their families will be eased somewhat this year.

The Department of National Defence has plans for the erection of 551 new dwellings at the nearby Rockcliffe air station and at Petawawa and Barriefield military camps, at an estimated cost of $5,000,000.

Construction is under way on 733 housing units started last year at these points and they will be occupied within the next few months on the basis of need and size of families.

Rockcliffe's housing shortage will be partially relieved by the completion of 200 units at the air station. An additional 300 are planned for the same station.

First Group Finished

An original group of 220 houses at Petawawa military camp was finished last winter and occupied. Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation is working on another 250 with construction well under way.

At Barriefield camp, near Kingston, 50 units have been completed and 263 more are under construction. A total of 207 more is planned with work to be started shortly.

The cost of these homes is from $9,000 to $9,500 a unit and includes water and sewer facilities as well as grading of streets and some basic landscaping.

Education is also coming in for some consideration by the defence department. About sixteen schools have been provided at the various army and air force camps and the authorities are seeing to it that qualified teachers are engaged.

May Name Units On War Graves

OTTAWA, June 10 (CP). — Defence Minister Claxton disclosed Thursday night in the Commons that unit names may be engraved into the headstones over the graves of Canada's war dead across the seas.

Pending a final decision, he had stopped the erection of further headstones in Canada's overseas military cemeteries and has officials looking into the possibility of inscribing the names of the regiments in which the fallen men served.

If it was decided to do this, unit names would go on new headstones being erected and would be inscribed on those already in place. Word is expected shortly from the War Graves Commission and an announcement will be made.

Mr. Claxton said he had looked into the question and found that when War Graves were set up in 1946 it was decided to place only the man's name, number, rank, and corps on the stone. But, knowing of the record of the many famous regiments in Canada, he knew a considerable number of unit members and next-of-kin of those who died overseas would want unit names also to be used.

Bill Giving Wide Powers Over Defence To Howe Runs Into Stiff Opposition

Drew Charges Such Production Control Robs Parliament of Rights; Situation Doesn't Warrant It—Coldwell

OTTAWA, June 12.—(CP)—Legislation to give Trade Minister Howe wide powers over defence production ran into opposition in the Commons today from the Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. parties. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, called for delay on the measure until the government had defined the emergency that called for it. M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, declared the step did not seem to be warranted by the international situation as the Commons knew it. He also urged nationalization of Canada's outright munitions industries.

Explaining the measure, the Trade Minister said Canada must strengthen herself to be able to resist an aggressor and "to overcome him if we fail to deter him."

New Defence Act

Mr. Howe spoke on a resolution preparatory to introduction of a new defence supplies act which grants the responsible minister authority to procure defence supplies, to stockpile strategic materials, to construct defence projects and to let contracts for shipbuilding and ship repairing.

The measure retains some of the mandatory powers contained in the Wartime Munitions and Supply Act of 1939 which he said was drafted to deal with wartime conditions. The new act, Mr. Howe said, would considerably curtail the mandatory powers the Minister held under the wartime legislation but "we consider that it is highly desirable to continue to vest in the Minister the procurement authority for the requirements of the armed services."

"Clearly this is no time to take any action that would hamper the defence of the country," Mr. Howe said, "for we are not free from the threat of aggression. Indeed we must devote much of our energies and our resources to deterring aggression.

"We must strengthen ourselves so we may be able to resist the

See Cruiser Adrift

BELLEVILLE, June 12 — (CP) A cabin cruiser, adrift, and apparently helpless, was sighted today in Lake Ontario about five miles off Point Petre, southern tip of the Prince Edward peninsula. It was not known whether anyone was aboard. An R.C.A.F. plane from the Trenton Station took off to investigate, but no report on the search had been received at noon.

Cruise Ship, Freighter In Collision

QUEBEC, June 12.—(CP)—A St. Lawrence River cruiser was in repair docks, a sturdy ocean-going freighter was headed for the high seas and 350 persons were a bit shaken up today after a collision between the two ships Saturday.

The collision occurred in thick fog about two miles from Tadoussac, Que., at the mouth of the Saguenay River. It happened as the Italian Registry freighter Maria Paolina G was heading out of the river for Europe and the St. Lawrence prepared to make its regular stop at Tadoussac.

About 30 cabins on a deck of the Canadian Steamship Lines cruiser SS St. Lawrence were damaged. About 25 persons were injured, none of them seriously, officials said. One crew member, Claude Ferland, 22, of Joliette, Que., suffered a broken leg and knee and was taken to hospital at La Malbaie, Que.

The St. Lawrence made its way under its own steam from Tadoussac to Quebec Sunday night. Extent of damages was not immediately available.

The passengers were brought to Quebec aboard another CSL ship the Tadoussac. Passengers had supper aboard the St. Lawrence Saturday night after the collision and most of them spent the night aboard ship while others were put up at Manoir Tadoussac.

Maurice Bernier, Quebec pianist aboard the St. Lawrence, said the impact, of the collision left the passengers "stupefied."

Another passenger, a spokesman for the Industrial Life Insurance Company which was holding a convention aboard the St. Lawrence said "for a little while we were pretty scared." The spokesman declined to be named.

Extent of damage to the Maria Paolina G was not known, but unconfirmed reports from Pointe Au Pere where it stopped Sunday night, said its bridge was damaged.

A spokesman for the Canada Steamship Lines said today that the freighter was at fault, because she was off her course.

Won't Reveal Total Number Fired—Garson

Says Screening Work Never Ends, Must Be Trustworthy

OTTAWA, June 12—(CP)—Security screenings of employees in "vulnerable" government departments and agencies is continuing all the time, Justice Minister Garson told the Commons today.

Mr. Garson gave this information as he declined to inform E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops) how many employees have been discharged or released for security reasons.

The Minister said the screening process "never ends." It was never complete at any certain date.

Mr. Fulton had asked how many had been discharged for security reasons from the government or from its boards and corporations, the positions they held and the dates of their discharge.

The minister declined to give this information in all cases except two employees of the National Research Council who had been mentioned in the 1946 Kellock-Taschereau spy report.

Keep Identities Secret

His reasons for not giving the positions and discharge dates of the others, he said, was that this would in most cases reveal their identities.

He said it would be "most unfair" to brand them as "untrustworthy" persons when the situation was that the vulnerability of their jobs decreed that the government should get the benefit of any doubt as to whether they possessed the necessary high degree of trustworthiness.

Mr. Garson said there had to be "no doubt whatever" of the loyalty of persons in certain jobs.

In some cases, this situation covered whole departments. In others, only parts of departments were involved.

The minister said the standard for retention or release of a given employee depended in some degree on the trustworthiness required for the job.

Mr. Fulton took exception to the form of the minister's reply to his question, declaring that to disclose the total number of those let out would not give away the identity of any of them.

Mr. Garson agreed to a further discussion when the estimates of his department came before the House.

Romance Week Drawing 2,000

WHITLEY BAY, Northumberland, England, June 12 (Reuters)—Two thousand lonely men and women want to take part in the "Romance Week" this northern holiday town will hold in September to make it a Reno in reverse.

People from all over Britain and even France have written asking to join in the marriage-making scheme.

It all began when John D. Kidd, former council chairman received a letter from a six-foot, five-inch bachelor asking if he could find him a wife.

When Kidd announced this to the presss he received letters from 200 women wanting to wed.

Letters came by every post, so Kidd decided to do something.

He got on to Whitley's hotels and boarding-house association who produced this scheme for the Romance Week:

1. Reduced charges.
2. Wedding presents, such as furniture and a free honeymoon for those who meet, fall in love and decide to marry in Romance Week.
3. A committee of 20 men and women to organize entertainment and get people together.

St. Laurent Asks Seaway Action Soon

Canadians Impatient U.S. Warned; Says Need Urgent

CANTON, N.Y., June 12 — (CP)—Another appeal for action on the St. Lawrence seaway and power project was delivered by Prime Minister St. Laurent at the convocation of St. Lawrence University here Sunday. The Canadian prime minister, receiving an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, said Canadians "are getting rather impatient about the delay" in starting the project which would benefit all parts of the continent.

Elaborating a similar appeal he made recently, Mr. St. Laurent said: "After all, it is 18 years since the first agreement which we were ready to carry out failed to get sufficient support in the United States Congress, and it is nine years since we made the second agreement.

"Our need in Canada is urgent, particularly for more electrical energy. If the Niagara diversion treaty can be quickly ratified by your Senate, that will help; but both countries need, and we in Canada certainly want, to get ahead with the larger scheme."

Defence Production

Mr. St. Laurent also called for co-operation in defence production and said that the devastating Manitoba floods have given new urgency to the problems of conservation and flood prevention in the middle of the continent.

Prime Minister St. Laurent remarked that he had received an honorary degree only a few days ago from St. Louis University, now he had one from St. Lawrence. "I am just a little afraid that since my name happens to be Louis St. Laurent—some pronounce it St. Lawrence—there may be a good many people who will think I must be totally lacking in modesty in allowing this to occur."

Also awarded honorary degrees were Dr. Peter J. W. Debye of Cornell University, a Nobel prize winner in science; John P. Myers, Plattsburgh, NY banker, and Mrs. Sophia Fahs, a leader in children's education.

Four Killed As Cruiser Goes Over Dam

PITTSBURGH, June 12 (AP)—Four persons died and four others were rescued Sunday after a night of horror aboard a luxurious cabin cruiser which was trapped in the raging spillway waters of an Allegheny River dam.

The battered survivors — all men—were rescued by a group of daring boatmen at dawn. Clinging desperately to the swirling boat, they had watched the others swept away one by one.

The boat had missed an 11-foot lock and had swept over the dam.

After futile rescue attempts by a blimp, a seaplane and numerous small boats, a crew of volunteers drove a 100-foot sternwheel river tug into the violent waters and saved them.

Authorities listed the lost as Mrs. William Fisher, 29; Mrs. Carol Kreig, about 30, wife of one of the rescued men; William Lahey, Jr., about 25; and Hull Wright.

Those Saved

Saved were James McHugh, 24, the owner of the 25-foot cabin cruiser; Charles Reilley, 34; Jack Kreig, 38, husband of the missing woman; and James Woffenden, 50, a lock tender who went to the rescue with Wright, another lock-tender, in an 18-foot skiff.

The cruiser was caught in the boiling eddies where the Allegheny drops 11 feet over the 300-yard-wide dam, about 15 miles northeast of Pittsburgh.

It could not escape from the maelstrom. The reverse current created by the plunging water drove the mahogany cruiser again and again into the face of the dam.

Volunteer firemen set up floodlights during the night on the riverbanks and played the beams on the doomed craft.

Police Go After Drunk Drivers

TORONTO, June 12 (CP). — Police today announced an intensified drive against drunk drivers after a weekend in which eight automobiles were taken off the road because of intoxicated motorists.

There were 36 weekend accidents in Toronto, in which 22 persons were injured. The mishaps brought 14 charges of careless driving, three of drunken driving, and one of not staying at the scene of an accident.

Traffic Inspector Vernon Page said that drunk driving appears to increase on summer weekends. Police shifts are being altered to put a maximum number of officers on the road those nights.

Sicilian Black Hand Blamed For US Crime

WASHINGTON, June 12. (AP)—Senate crime investigators were reported today to have evidence that the Sicilian Black Hand Society "is responsible for much big-time crime" in the United States.

A committee source said the Senate's special crime investigating group has turned its attention to the American operations of the society, which also is known as the Mafia.

Williams told the court that the society was engaged in nation-wide narcotics traffic "and also in making tremendous sums in gambling and hi-jacking."

He said a dominant figure in the society was Frank Costello—New York gambling figure.

Bring Prisoner Down With Shot In Leg

SUDBURY, June 12. (CP)—Refusing to halt, even after a number of warning shots had been fired over his head, Henry Lariche, 23, was brought down with a bullet in the fleshy part of his right thigh as he fled from guards at Burwash Industrial Farm Sunday.

Lariche escaped from the prison farm Saturday and was recaptured by guards 24 hours later, six miles east of the jail farm.

Burwash officials said Lariche's wound is not serious but he will be confined to hospital for several days.

Missing Girl Search Swings To Brantford

BRANTFORD, June 12—(CP)—A report that a strange girl had been found sleeping in the open on a farm south of here today swung a police search for Mabel Crumback, 19, missing Toronto area bookkeeper, to the Brantford area.

Albert McAlister, farmer at nearby Mount Pleasant, told police he aroused a girl who had been sleeping in his laneway. The girl, about five feet tall and with darky wavy hair, fled in apparent fright across a hayfield.

McAlister said his first thought was that the girl might be Miss Crumback. He immediately telephoned police.

Hears Cows

He was about 100 feet away from the girl when he spotted her, McAlister said. He had been driving cows down his farm lane about 10:30 a.m. and the noise of their trampling wakened the girl, who had been sleeping behind a big roller.

She wore a skirt and an orange sweater and carried a paper-wrapped parcel. She jumped out, ran across a hayfield, then jumped a fence and disappeared in a ditch, having donned a fawn-colored raincoat, and dashed away.

McAlister called to her, asking what was the matter. But she neither replied nor slacked her speed. She crossed to a railway line and then ran along the tracks toward Brantford.

Texas Farmhand 128 Wants To Live Longer

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., June 12 (AP)—"Pancho" Comacho, who says he is 128 years old, has a simple desire—he would like to live a few more years.

Pancho's age—and his desire—came to light when a census taker visited him at his hut on the big champion ranch near the mouth of the Rio Grande River.

"Senor, my name is Francisco Comacho, and I am 128 years old," he said in Spanish.

He said his sister died about 10 years ago—at the age of 125.

Pancho, a widower, rode his own palomino pony until a few years ago when he broke his hip in a fall. Since then he has not been able to ride.

Freedom of Lakefield Given Governor-General On Visit To Village, Grove

Between showers, Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Governor General of Canada, paid a double visit to Lakefield Saturday. His first stop came in front of Lakefield's town hall, where he presented a King's Scout certificate to Sea Scout Morley Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown of Lakefield. Second visit was at Lakefield Preparatory School, where he attended the Grove's closing ceremonies. It was the first time in the history of the Grove that a governor-general paid his visit at the closing, although the representatives of the King have twice visited other ceremonies at the school.

And it was one of the first times that the Chief Scout of Canada has presented a King's Scout certificate.

His Excellency arrived in Lakefield with clouds threatening rain, which did not come until later. He was welcomed by Reeve W. C. Grant, who told the governor-general that Lakefield was honored by his presence, "not only because of that which you represent, but also because of your personal achievements."

Freedom of Village

Reeve Grant protested the loyalty of the village to the crown and gave His Excellency the freedom of the village.

In reply, the Governor-General said he was most gratified by "these kind, warm words of welcome. As His Majesty's representative in Canada, I also appreciate your submission of loyalty."

The clouds started to break as His Excellency was introduced by Reeve Grant to the councillors of the village, Kenneth Morris, A. L. Fraser, J. A. Kingdon, and Kenneth Jakins, the latter also being Sea Scoutmaster.

Others presented to the Governor-General were Mrs. W. W. Leonard, of the Lakefield Red Cross, Mrs. R. C. McCracken, associate of the Royal Red Cross, Dr. R. H. Campbell, head of the Canadian Legion in Lakefield, Miss Frances Mackenzie, and Commander Hugh Winslow.

Inspects Legion

Following introduction of Councillors and others, he moved to inspect members of the Canadian Legion, drawn up near the flagstaff. He paused and chatted with each member of the group, asking each questions about his service with the forces.

Captured Soldier Blows Up Army HQ In Soo Exercise

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., June 12.—(CP).—A captured soldier with grenades concealed beneath his uniform, theoretically blew up the defending army's headquarters and commanding officer during week-end war manoeuvres here.

Attacking forces of the United States 5th Army's specially-trained sabotage troops managed to bomb one of the six Sault locks, put telephone and radio communications out, and kill 35 of the defending troops before they were pushed back with 50 casualties.

The big mock battle is designed to train both defence forces at the locks and attacking saboteurs. Canadian army officers are observers.

First attack came early Sunday morning and was repulsed. Later, in a night raid, the attackers reached the third lock. Heavy defensive fire, however, brought about a retreat after three hours.

Chief Umpire Col. Lloyd J. Hellman said that the biggest mistake of the defence forces was failure to search a prisoner completely. After grenades were found under a prisoner's uniform, Col. Hellman ruled that the commander of the defence forces was blown up along with his headquarters.

Late Sunday night reinforcements were being rushed in by air from Detroit and Chicago. It is expected that more than 1,000 soldiers will take part in the exercise during the week.

Find Gold Loot Out In Bush

TIMMINS, June 12—(CP)—The $75,000 in gold stolen from nearby Delnite Mine June 2 was recovered several days ago, Inspector I. R. Robbie, of the Ontario Provincial Police, announced Sunday.

He said that a safe containing three gold bars, $16,000 in stocks and $500 in Canada Savings Bonds had been found in the bush five miles southeast of Timmins but the discovery had not been announced "for strategic purposes."

For the last several days police had announced that the search for the missing gold was progressing satisfactorily. Meantime, they had maintained a watch over the safe in hopes the thieves would return to pick it up. None did.

Police made their second arrest in the robbery Saturday when they charged Morley Latham, 20, with breaking and entering.

TV Followers Hear Suicide Committed

HOUSTON, Tex., June 12 (AP)—Houston television followers heard a 50-year-old laundryman commit suicide Sunday night at a Texas League baseball game.

Stanford B. Twente shot himself to death as he sat beside telecaster Dick Gottlied in a press box at Buffalo Stadium. The shot was heard over television and throughout the stadium.

Seconds later a TV camera focused on Twente's slumped body.

Tom Maes, justice of the peace, was among those watching the game on television. He returned an inquest verdict of suicide without leaving his home.

"I saw the man on television," Maes told detective George Chap-

Margarine Production Up Since January, Butter Output Slumps

Government Creamery Butter Stocks Larger On June 1 Check-Up; Production Down Three Million Pounds

OTTAWA, June 12—(CP)—The margarine production machine in Canada is steam-rolling ahead. In the first five months of this year, says the Bureau of Statistics, manufacturers produced 42,922,000 pounds, a sharp climb from the 26,259,000 pounds manufactured in the first five months of 1949 when the butter substitute was in the early stages of production. And while margarine production is sweeping upwards, creamery butter output, ace margarine competitor, appears to be lagging.

In the 1950 five-month period, creamery butter production was estimated by the Bureau in a report issued Sunday to have dropped more than 3,000,000 pounds from last year's 81,865,000 to 78,791,000.

Of course, the peak butter production season is only beginning but the bureau notes that even in the month of May, when butter output begins rapid expansion, the output dropped from 31,987,000 a year ago to 28,616,000.

In that month, margarine kept moving upwards, with 8,019,000 pounds produced, compared with 7,190,000 in May, 1949.

Indicative Figure

Perhaps indicative, too of how the two products are getting along in the production and selling race is the inventory figure on June 1, when the bureau took its last check of stocks.

Although the support price of butter was dropped from 58 cents a pound to about 53, stocks of creamery butter held by the government and private trade appeared to be growing larger.

On June 1, stocks totalled 31,945,000 pounds, compared with 28,440,000 on May 1 and 24,203,000 pounds on June 1 last year.

On the same day margarine holdings totalled 3,091,000, a decline from the May 1 holdings of 4,092,000 pounds. There was no comparative figure available for June last year.

Western Oils Jump Into High Ground

TORONTO, June 12 (CP) — Western oils jumped ahead into new high ground on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Demand was heavy at the opening but faded as the session progressed. Prices were just holding their ground at the half-way mark. The remainder of the market moved narrowly. Volume for the first three hours was 2,536,000 shares.

Interest has been high in recent weeks in western oils and the average price level of the list has climbed to the highest peaks in 13 years.

Piccadilly, a penny issue that highlighted brisk dealings in oil in previous sessions, continued a heavy trader for a slight advance.

Industrials opened higher but showed signs of weakening in mid-session. Fractional gains and losses were about balanced.

Golds slumped quietly. A few penny prospects continued rapid-fire traders for small changes. Base metals were about even-ward pressure appeared.

Canada Sets Record In UK Buying

OTTAWA, June 12 — (CP) — Canada is chalking up post-war records in purchases of United Kingdom coal and steel and thus widening the flow of dollars into Britain.

A. E. Bryan, Canada's commercial counsellor in London, in a report to the trade department, says Canada's purchases of U.K. steel and steel products are "most encouraging". Even brighter are Canada's purchases of U.K. coal.

Mr. Bryan's report, published in the June issue of the department's foreign trade magazine, estimates that Canada bought 66,000 tons of steel and steel products from the U.K. in 1949—an increase of more than 100 per cent over the 31,000 tons purchased in 1948 and about 400 per cent over the 17,000 tons shipped to Canada in 1947.

He estimated, too, that Britain's 1949 sales of steel to Canada gave her a return of $7,000,000 and stated that Canada in 1950 already has placed contracts for more than $15,000,000 worth of British steel to be delivered this year.

Sign Of Recovery

Truly indicative of British recovery is the greater export of coal to Canada, at a time when coal figured extensively in UK bilateral trade deals with some European countries.

Mr. Bryan said that in 1949 Canada purchased 306,000 tons of British coal, an increase of about 90 per cent over the 163,000 tons imported in 1948 and more than 600 per cent greater than the 48,000 tons Canada purchased in 1947.

The coal sales to Canada jumped in value from $1,800,000 in 1948 to more than $3,400,000 in 1949, and, Mr Bryan adds, prospects look even better for 1950.

Canada led the world in the purchase of U.K. non-ferrous metals and its products, Mr. Bryan said.

Three Drown In Lake Gale

CHICAGO, June 12—(AP)—Two Montreal brothers and a young girl companion were believed to have been drowned Saturday when their boat overturned in the choppy waters of Lake Michigan.

Coastguardsmen searched the lake for the three after a dinghy, owned by the University of Chicago, capsized off the 39th Street pier.

The coastguard identified the occupants of the dinghy as Miss Toby Baker, 20, of Chicago; Peter Teuscher, 24, and his brother, Eric, 26, of Montreal. The Teuscher brothers were science students at the University of Chicago.

The weather bureau had posted small-craft warnings Saturday as winds of 25 to 35 miles an hour swept the lake.

Truman Says Reds Preparing For War

ST. LOUIS, June 12 — (AP) — President Truman blasted at Soviet Russia Saturday for talking peace while "preparing for war." It was his most devastating attack on Communist aggression since the outbreak of the cold war. Speaking from an improvised stand to thousands standing in a blazing sun, he made this blunt indictment:

"With a cynical disregard for the hopes of mankind, the leaders of the Soviet Union have talked of democracy—but have set up dictatorships.

"They have proclaimed national independence—but imposed national slavery.

"They have preached peace—but devoted their energies to fomenting aggression and preparing for war."

Four-Year-Old Boy Runs Into Side Of Car

Four-year-old Donald Riches was shaken up, but not seriously hurt when he was knocked down by a car Saturday when he ran out from behind a parked car.

William A. Taylor, 271 Princess St., driver of the car said he was passing a parked car and was starting to pull into the curb on Park St. near Braidwood Ave. when the youngster ran into the right front fender of his car.

Young Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Riches, 342 McGill St., received a bump on the head and was shaken up.

Dr. R. Scott advised that the boy be taken to hospital for an X-ray where it was found he was not seriously hurt.

Constable William G. Scott investigated.

aggressor; and overcome him if we fail to deter him."

Too Powerful

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the resolution proposed to "turn over to the Minister of Trade and Commerce the powers of Parliament itself."

It proposed to permit the Minister to carry on transactions without that restraint and control by Parliament which for years had been considered important for the protection both of the government and the people's money.

Mr. Howe said that in framing the new legislation the government had endeavored to frame legislation that would "not lessen our ability to provide for the needs of defence."

"We have aimed at retaining such powers—and no others—as will under present conditions safeguard the interests of defence in the field of procurement of supplies."

The new bill would grant the Minister power to obtain priority for defence contracts over other contracts. It would give him the power to ensure delivery of materials essential to the production of defence supplies and to the completion of defence projects.

8 In Hospital After Crashes Near Belleville

BELLEVILLE, June 12 (CP)—Eight persons are in hospital here, some in critical condition, as a result of three separate motor accidents in Belleville and district over the weekend.

Critically injured with a possible fractured skull, broken nose and face cuts, is Mrs. Herb Diamond, 47, of Belleville. Her husband, 51, has chest injuries and face cuts. Jack Orrill, Campbellcroft, has a broken back and his wife a broken shoulder blade, badly cut knee, broken nose and face cuts.

The four people were riding in an automobile which was in collision with a panel truck driven by George Maxwell, Stirling, three miles north of Belleville. Police believe Maxwell was attempting to pass another car when the collision occurred.

The accident occurred at dusk Saturday evening and was investigated by OPP constables Smith, Driscoll, Watson and Pellisere.

In another accident, Earl Napham, 21, of Belleville, suffered such serious knee injuries that his leg had to be amputated above the knee. The motorcycle he was riding crashed into the side of a stationary bus. The accident occurred late Saturday.

Shortly after dawn Sunday three people were injured at nearby Batawa when their car went out of control and crashed into a tree. In hospital with undetermined injuries are: Joseph Golobic, driver of the car, Joseph Kushnik, and Stonke Sparovez.

Trams And Buses In Canada Double Business Of 10 Years Ago

BIGWIN INN, Ont., June 12—(CP)—More than twice as many Canadians are running for street cars and buses as 10 years ago.

However, this does not mean all sunshine for the companies that carry them. They have their troubles as speakers stated today at the annual meeting of the Canadian Transit Association. Here are some of them:

Increased expenses: competition from the private motor car which may cause a decrease in passengers. Traffic congestion, caused chiefly by the motor car.

Speakers indicated that the public may be faced with further increases in fares, and advocated that something be done to keep non-essential motor traffic off the busiest thoroughfares.

Said W. H. Furlong, president, of Windsor:

"In 1939 our industry carried 632,533,152 passengers in 4,530 vehicles operated on public highways with 14,400 employees who received $18,850,000 in annual wages. In 1948 1,507,838,191 passengers were carried in 5,604 vehicles, and the 22,593 employees received $55,268,083 in annual wages. Passengers carried in 1949 totalled 1,504,849,298."

Carrying More

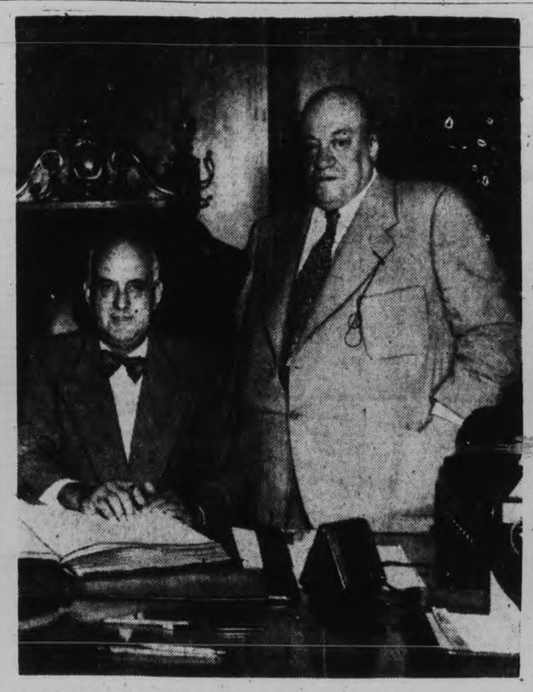
"Four years after the war the industry carried more passengers on the average than at any time during the war due to tremendous concentration of population in Canadian cities and towns, bolstered by a steady stream of new immigrants."

He anticipated even greater demand for urban transit service, adding:

"Canada now is at the stage reached by the United States 100 years ago when Americans were just discovering the wealth of their country's resources - and Canada's potential is scarcely touched."

He said traffic congestion calls for a determined policy of city planning. In the United States, and the same is becoming true in Canada, more than half the families own a car, and the private car "is trying to squeeze on to streets that were overcrowded in the horse and buggy days."

He quoted Col. Sidney H. Bingham, chairman of the New York City Board of Transportation, as saying:



"There must be stringent traffic regulations which essentially require the elimination of non-essential cars from heavily-travelled areas."

More Information

Mr. Furlong suggested that "the public should be given more information about the problems of the industry because I know of no industry which has taken a greater beating from misinformed public opinion."

Guy C. Hecker of New York, executive manager, American Transit Association, told the delegates that "more than 81 per cent of Canadian cities have a 10-cent cash-fare level, while 81 per cent of American cities have a fare of 10 cents or more."

He said that less than 44 per cent of the cities in Canada have ticket or token rates (less than seven cents).

TWICE ELECTED, without opposition—that was the record of Sir Norman Nock, former Mayor of Sydney, Australia, presented to Mayor Camillien Houde at Montreal City Hall recently. He is shown with the mayor after signing the Golden Book for distinguished visitors. He recalled how he was elected for two successive terms—1938 and 1939—by acclamation.

Husband Divorces British Woman Flier

CAMBRIDGE, England, June 12 (AP)—Red-haired Mrs. Richarda Morrow-Tait was accused Saturday by her husband of misconduct with a Cambridge University scholar who helped her fly around the world in a year and a day.

Suing for divorce, husband Norman R. Morrow-Tait named Michael Townsend, 26, as co-respondent.

"I don't intend to contest the suit. All I want is to have the custody of my two children."

The girl, Anna, now is 3. The baby, Giles, is six weeks old. Richarda says she intends to marry again but declined to name the man.

Prison Tip

SHEFFIELD, England—(CP)—Soon after Harry Collard was sentenced to seven years, he received a letter in jail stating that a lodger in his home had disappeared with one of his suits, worth £20 ($62). He told police and the lodger was caught and sentenced to three months.

Police Search For Missing Man

COBOURG, June 12 (ENS) — Lloyd (Chickie) Henderson, 36, has been missing from his home since last Sunday and a search by his parents and the police have so far been unsuccessful.

Mr. Henderson was last seen at 3.30 p.m. June 4, walking up George St. towards the railway station.

He had been in poor health and this adds to the fears felt for his welfare. His height is four feet, eight inches and he was wearing a blue suit, blue shirt, red tie and black shoes. He has black hair and a ruddy complexion.

Newsprint Head Sees No Use Testifying In U.S.

MONTREAL, June 12 (CP).—R. M. Fowler, president of the Newsprint Association of Canada, said today that under the circumstances there "would be no useful purpose to be served" in his testifying before a sub-committee of the United States House of Representatives.

His position was made known in a letter to Representative Emanuel Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee. A sub-committee on study of monopoly power has been investigating the newsprint situation and will open hearings on the subject June 19.

A copy of the letter and reply were made public by Mr. Fowler today.

Mr. Fowler drew attention to a letter he wrote February 8 inviting Mr. Celler's committee to come to Canada for a study of Canadian newsprint production.

He said the only reply was a February 25 letter in wihch "you said you would refer the invitation to the members of your committee and indicated that it might well be that the committee would acept my invitation after the adjournment of Congress."

"I have had no further word from you as to the committee's decision, although I noticed a statement of yours released to the press in April that you did not need to come to Canada to be 'wined and dined,' and that you were already getting the information you wanted.

"There have also been statements ascribed to you in the press charging that Canadian newsprint firms and Canadian provincial governments had participated in price-fixing arrangements against US publishers and that Canadian manufacturers had created 'artificial scarcities' and were 'curtailing production'—all this some weeks in advance of your newsprint hearings.

"In these circumstances, there would be no useful purpose to be served by my coming from Canada to appear before your committee—as I was glad to do for several previous Congressional inquiries in recent years."

Mr. Fowler also drew attention to a reply he made to questions directed to him by Franklin D. Schurz, chairman of the newsprint committee of the Inland Daily Press Association. He said the reply "largely covers the materials I would be able to present to your committee if I came to Washington."

Last Thursday Mr. Fowler released copies of correspondence with Mr. Schurz and an 18-page brief of newsprint conditions.

Best received by the younger people the selections were Begin the Beguine, by Cole Porter, I'll See You in My Dreams, by Jones, Dancing in the Dark, by Schwartz, and Basie Boogie by Count Basie.

To the older group the more pleasing numbers of the concert were: the hymn, Sun of My Soul, Bach's Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, the cornet solo by Assistant Bandmaster Earl Johns, Two Moods by Grundman, and the Sousa march The Stars and Stripes Forever.

Collegiate Experiment

The Board of Education at its meeting last Thursday approved a recommendation made by the Superintendent of Schools to set up a two-week supplemental and voluntary course at the end of the summer for students who fail to make the required grades in the June examinations. This is an experiment, and as far as we know, new to this province's secondary schools. During the two weeks, a teacher, or two if necessary, will be on hand at the school to coach students in mathematics; in the afternoon similar coaching will be given in science.

* * *

The Board is not anticipating any large number of failures in the June examinations. It is in a measure recognizing some responsibility for failures due to large classes and overcrowding, and is also attempting to encourage pupils who face supplemental examinations and to assist them in the two subjects of the academic curriculum most difficult to study alone without tutoring. The special classes will be open to pupils of the middle school (Grades 10 and 11), not to those who have failed matriculation courses. It is not therefore a cramming school to get pupils over Departmental hurdles.

* * *

Examination failures are hard knocks for pupils and parents; pupils having to repeat a year are an added financial burden on the Board and an additional strain on school accommodation.

St. George For Merrie Bancroft

Mr. George S. White, M.P. for Hastings-Peterborough, has taken up the sword in the defence of Bancroft. As a result, Bancroft has had not only notoriety through a Montreal weekly paper's article on the village, but has also been mention in the House of Commons itself. Mr. White, rising to the defence of the village of a thousand or more people in his constituency, told the undoubtedly hushed House that the article "Bancroft Was Tough" was "untrue, slimy and slanderous". Those are strong words, worthy even of a native of Bancroft in its hardiest days.

We have not read the article, but, really, we cannot believe that Bancroft was always a place of gentle virtue, even in the days of Senator Billa Flint, the village's chief patron in the seventies, and a staunch prohibitionist; even when it was called Bridgewater. The name Bancroft is far from suggesting mildness, though it is the name of the praiseworthy senator's daughter, Phoebe Bancroft. Bancroft has the distinction in this area of being an almost perpetual pioneer town, despite its fine present-day residents. Some of its first pioneers are still living there, and the backwoods and rocks are still at its door. Bancroft people are glad to admit these advantages, for Bancroft, as a tourist centre, thrives on them.

Pioneer towns are not polished bowers of gentility. Even Peterborough, has had a pretty colourful past, and within living memory hardy men with big boots and robust vocabularies have been known to spit on barbershop floors, to chew tobacco and shake the fist when their ire was aroused.

We have not read the article, we repeat, but presume it has to do with Bancroft's past, recent and as remote as Senator Billa Flint. We refuse to deprive Bancroft of a lusty past, or indeed to whitewash its more recent days. We ourself have heard true stories of discreditable events and conduct, coming out of the rocks and woods not far from Bancroft. And of the more distant days, cannot the lady who has operated the carding mill at Bancroft for half a century, or a senior resident like the respected Mr. W. A. Davy tell Mr. White stories which would make him blanch? But at least the redoubtable M.P. has brought Bancroft to Parliament again, so many years after the Senator first put it there.

The Amerasia Case

For a Government that has shown considerable zeal in pressing espionage charges against persons who have passed secrets on to Communists, that of the United States has acted rather strangely in the Amerasia case. One need not be endowed with an abnormally suspicious nature to conclude that some unusually powerful pressure was exerted to produce a sudden attitude of indifference and apologetic withdrawal, after painstaking federal police investigation and sudden arrest.

Amerasia was a little magazine, published intermittently in New York by a man named Philip Jaffe. It followed the Communist line closely, and in relation to Far Eastern affairs. In 1945, it printed an article which quoted passages from a secret report supposedly in the files of the Office of Strategic Services. A Government official saw the article, and the O.S.S. immediately put a special investigator on the case.

With four assistants, the investigator managed to enter the Amerasia office. There they found three hundred original drafts and copies of U.S. Government documents. All of them were intended for official scrutiny only; some were marked "Secret", still others were marked "Top Secret". Samples of the documents were taken, a report made, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation was put on the case. Members of the staff of Amerasia, its publisher, a naval reserve lieutenant, an employee of the State Department and a journalist were subsequently arrested and charged with espionage.

From then on, the case developed strangely. First, the charge of espionage was dropped and replaced by one of stealing, receiving or concealing Government documents. Then the Justice Department's prosecutor made a deal with the defence lawyer. The case was slipped into court on a Saturday morning—and court rarely sits on a Saturday. The defence argued that possession of the documents was merely an excess of journalistic zeal, and the prosecution hastened to agree. Two of the accused paid fines totalling $3,000; charges against the others were dropped—and that ended the matter, as far as the Justice Department was concerned.

It seems odd that illegal possession of three hundred Government documents, some of them "Top Secret", should have been regarded as no more than a misdemeanour to be punished by a fine. The oddity is emphasized by the current warning from J. Edgar Hoover, head of the F.B.I., that Communists are engaged in more subversive activities than ever before. And the Amerasia case also emphasizes the apparent ease with which unauthorized persons may gain access to or possession of secret documents. In addition to shrewd design, there must have been well-nigh incredible official carelessness behind the acquisition of three hundred Government documents. Such carelessness, however, is by no means peculiar to the United States; there have been instances of it in this country which would match anything the neighbouring republic could produce.

There Are Hoodlums In Ontario, Too

A few weeks ago there was a good deal of criticism in the press of Canada concerning the way in which a small evangelistic sect—not Jehovah's Witnesses—had been treated in the Quebec town of Shawinigan. Quebec did not take the criticism well; indeed, we had a letter from the Shawinigan Chamber of Commerce which was incomprehensible, so packed was it with chagrin and innuendo; several Quebec papers tried to whitewash the incident, but without success.

A Montreal paper, Le Devoir, has recently pointed out in a long article that Ontario can be intolerant too, and instances the riots which took place in a few cities where the Dean of Canterbury tried to speak on behalf of friendship with Russia. It will be remembered that the Dean was threatened with physical violence, and vegetables were thrown at him. How can Ontario point the finger at Quebec, asks Le Devoir when that kind of behaviour goes on within its own borders?

Le Devoir underestimates the finger-pointing abilities of the Ontario press. Most of the better newspapers in this province wrote strongly against the demonstrations which were made about the Dean of Canterbury, just as they wrote against the ugly incident in Shawinigan. The press of Ontario does not hold with intolerant or persecutory action in Ontario or anywhere else.

There are hoodlums in Ontario, certainly, but we are under no obligation, imposed by racial solidarity, to defend them. We want the Ontario hoodlums to be squelched, or taught better manners, or put in jail. There is no problem or matter of opinion which can be improved by rioting, persecution or hooliganism.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THE Festival of Britain, to be held next year, promises to be full of outstanding musical events. It is hoped to attract a record number of tourists from all parts of the world. Perhaps the most interesting feature of the Festival is that though it is naturally focussed on London there will be celebrations in connection with it all over the country. Many outstanding festivals such as the Three Choirs Festival and the triennial Norwich Festival are being co-ordinated into the greater plan. The year 1951 has been chosen because it is the centenary of the great Crystal Palace Exhibition of 1851, the first of the great exhibitions that have been such a feature of modern times. It was hoped that it would inaugurate a period of peace and prosperity, but, alas for the prophets it was followed soon after by the Crimean War, the American Civil War, the Franco-Prussian War and a host of minor campaigns. Let us hope that 1951 will not usher in a period of atomic conflict. But let us talk about music instead! The Arts Council of Britain has commissioned a number of new works to be written for the Festival by leading British composers: an overture or short symphonic poem by Arnold Bax, Master of the King's Musick; a march for full orchestra (a transcription for military band will also be available—bandmasters kindly note) by William Alwyn; a full-length work for large choir, soloists and orchestra by Bliss; a setting of a new poem by Cecil Day Lewis for unison voices with descant by Sir George Dyson, Principal of the Royal College of Music; a work for military band by Gordon Jacob; a concerto for piano and orchestra by Alan Rawsthorne; a Te Deum by Rubbra; a cantata for male voices chorus and brass band by the blind composer Thomas Wood (who "discovered" 'Waltzing Matida' in Australia). This is an imposing list, though there are two "voices" missing—Walton and Vaughan Williams, both of whom have in the past risen to the occasion magnificently in times of national rejoicing. Walton's "Crown Imperial" march has the authentic Elgarian ring, and Vaughan Williams' Te Deum written for the Coronation is a fine forthright and rugged work. It is certainly strange that we are apparently to hear nothing new from their pens for this occasion.

OF more permanent interest is the announcement of the forthcoming publication of a series of some thirty volumes constituting a collection of classics of British music under the general title of Musica Britannica. This series is to be issued in connection with the Festival of Britain under the auspices of the Royal Musical Association with the support of the Arts Council. The first three volumes will be the Mulliner Book, a collection of early Tudor keyboard music, edited by Mr. Denis Stevens; Shirley Masque, "Cupid and Death", with music by Matthew Locke and Christopher Gibbons (son of Orlando Gibbons), edited by Professor Dent, and Arne's music to Milton's "Comus", edited by Mr. Julian Herbage. These will be issued in 1951. It is not intended that Musica Britannica shall duplicate existing important publications such as the Purcell Society edition, the "English Madrigal School", Tudor Church Music and the like, the aim being to cover fields of British Music as yet untouched. No details are as yet available concerning the price of these volumes, but the expense is bound to be considerable, and it is fairly obvious that they are not for my shelves. They will doubtless find an honoured place in the libraries of every conservatory and musical faculty of any consequence, and will be invaluable to the student of music. It is to be hoped that it will be found possible to publish selected extracts from these volumes in sheet music form in order to reach a wider musical public.

I WOULD like to enter a plea to singers to be a little more enterprising in their choice of songs. I am afraid to say that singers are only too prone to "play for safety" and trot out the same old ballads, year in, year out. Many of these "old favourites" are fine songs that deserve a rest, or to put it less politely they have become stale and hackneyed. Many of them also are of poor musical quality, and the words of these are usually sentimental doggerel. To this I know that some will reply, "We must give the public what it wants". It is also true, though, that the public wants what it gets—in other words, if it hears something often enough it will end up by liking it. This is well understood by the managers of "song-hit" factories, and has been brought to a fine art on the radio by "song-plugging". Let us take a leaf out of the books of the magnates of Tin-Pan Alley and do a little discreet "plugging" of something more enduring than the latest mass-produced moan of an industry that seems intent on debasing public taste to unheard-of depths. In particular the treasures of English song are largely unknown. The late Tudor lutenists are rich in lovely songs that every English-speaking singer should know. Dowland's "I saw my lady weeping" and "Come again", and Campion's "Never weather-beaten sail" are fair samples of the many fine things written in this wonderful period. Later on, at the time of the Restoration, Purcell wrote an enormous number of fine lyrics, to be found mainly in his incidental music to plays. Some of these, such as "Fairest Isle" and "Hark, the echoing air" are tolerably well-known, but there are countless others, some fairly difficult, such as "Ye twice ten hundred deities", others of artless simplicity. Turning to more recent times, here is a selection of a few songs by recent British composers which are especially rewarding: "Ethiopia saluting the Colours" by Charles Wood, words by Walt Whitman; "Silent Noon" and "Songs of Travel" by Vaughan Williams; "Yarmouth Fair", a folksong arranged by E. J. Moeran; "Loughareema" by Stanford; "The Holy Boy" and "Sea Fever" by John Ireland (the latter, with words by Masefield, is more suitable for baritone or bass); "King David", a sensitive setting of de la Mare by Herbert Howells that deserves to be better known; and finally Benjamin Britten's clever settings of English folksongs. I almost forgot to mention Peter Warlock, who made such an important contribution to English song before his untimely death with masterpieces such as "Sleep"; and Frederick Delius, who wrote such lovely things as "Love's Philosophy" and "Twilight Fancies". Roger Quilter's songs are beginning to "date" just a little, but he always writes well for the voice, and his choice of lyrics is very fine.

I OWE an apology to my readers. On two recent occasions, March 13 and June 5 I have started my article with a reference to Caesar's Gaul. I have sworn by the Nine Gods (like Forsena of Clusium) to desist from classical references until the Greek Kalends.

OUR "SACRED COW"

Half Time In The Holy Year

From CECIL SPRIGGE in Rome

HOLY YEAR, now half-way through its course, has been the subject of innumerable cartoons in all sections of the Italian Press except those which take inspiration from the Vatican or are friendly to the Christian Democratic Party.

Three cartoons, two hostile and one sardonic, give the essence of the unkind things which have been said here about Holy Year. The first showed the outline of St. Peter's Cathedral changed so as to make a gigantic dollar sign. The second snowed some footsteps carved in stone with a notice "Genuine footsteps of the Holy Year Pilgrim", (suggesting that only one pilgrim had turned up).

The third cartoon summed up the real grouse of the Roman population. It showed a motor convoy of pilgrims towing a large model of Saint Peter's into Rome.

From the point of view of the Romans the pilgrims have arrived in a distressingly self-sufficient condition. Their living arrangements have been fixed for them long before they reach Rome, sometimes in selected hotels, but partly in temporary shelters specially built in the outskirts of the city. They visit the sights in their own buses, and have guides and maps in their pockets when they arrive. They have no need of any local goods or services, and the scores of redundant eating places in Rome see little or nothing of them. They seem to have brought everything with them. Not far from the Vatican, in the popular wineshops of Trastevere, they sing a song to this effect. The Pope, says the song, hasn't brought us a penny.

There is pungency, then, in this idea of pilgrims bringing even their own St. Peter's. Much less apt is the attempt to smear Holy Year with mockery about the Roman Church's need of dollars. North America's regular contributions to the international spending power of the Church's institutions are probably too large for any dollar-earning activities in connection with Holy Year to make much difference. In the first half of the year American pilgrims have been hardly perceptible amid the vast concourses of the French, Germans, and other Europeans, and the unceasing flow of diocesan and parish pilgrimages, led by their Bishops and Parish Priests — occasionally on feet — from every corner of Italy.

There was, between Christmas and Lent, some point in gibes about the fewness of pilgrims. The convergence upon Rome of tens of thousands daily began only at Easter-time. But the canonization ceremonies since Easter have drawn such huge mass pilgrimage from abroad as the 35,000 French people who attended the Whit Sunday ceremony for the newly canonized Queen Jean De Valois. Pilgrims' footsteps, far from being a rarity, have become the torment of Rome motorists.

The arrival of foreigners in Rome in recent days has been estimated at 15,000 daily, and the volume of foreign tourist traffic in Italy for the year as a whole looks like being half as much again as that of 1949. Not all of this increase can be credited to the Holy Year.

Air travel habits are continually swelling Rome's importance as a stopping off place along dozens of busy air-routes between America, Britain, the Near and Middle East, Africa, the Far East and Australasia. Cargoes of one day or short term visitors whose motives are purely secular are unloaded daily at the big hotels. A certain number of secular holiday makers have in fact been frightened away from Rome by reports of overcrowding and expensiveness incidental to Holy Year.

* * *

BROADLY speaking, the special influx for religious purposes has been added to a naturally expanding volume of ordinary tourism. A good many secular international institutions have also been selecting Italy as the most pleasant and comfortable location for gatherings which have been irreverently called "jamborees". At the largest of these, the UNESCO Assembly in Florence, Mr. Hardman, M.P. (British Parliamentary Secretary for Education) mentioned the "sweet sway of Italy" in which 900 delegates and officials were spending their May month.

It is to be feared that Holy Year has not matched all the dreams of Italians who hoped to profit (materially) by it. Apart from the Rome restaurateurs, shopkeepers, and even purveyors of sacred objects, who have found that the spending power of Italian and foreign pilgrims is sadly restricted, there were people in the farthest corners of Italy who hoped for some miraculous alleviation of poverty in 1950. At Erice, a marvellously situated, splendidly built and desperately poor little mountain town at the Western extremity of Sicily, a traveller late last year was told that Holy Year was the great hope. "Surely people will come on to Erice from Rome". (It would be physically impossible to "come on" in less than twenty-four travelling hours.)

But at the Vatican the success of Holy Year is not measured by the degree of relief that it may or may not bring to economically decaying towns desperately seeking to recoup themselves by hospitality to foreign millionaires, nor yet by the rather scanty custom brought to Rome tradesmen.

A great deal of elaborate organization has gone to making a success of Holy Year in 1950 as a religious manifestation. An Italian insurance company has issued to Italian and foreign pilgrims a type of credit which enables the expenses of the Rome journey and sojourn to be paid in twelve monthly instalments; an accident insurance policy is included. The Italian State railways have conceded a 40 per cent. reduction on pilgrim's tickets.

* * *

AN attempt has been made, in hostile circles, to argue that the Church authorities make the pilgrims pay the full fare, and pocket the difference. The answer made is that what the pilgrims pay includes the cost of various services, publications and medals. There has also been an ill-tempered argument that the net result of the pilgrimages will be an inflation in Italy. This is a matter for controversy, but the Church's economic affairs, helped by good business brains, have an appearance of growing prosperity.

For Holy Year, imposing architectural reconstructions, re-laying of roads and other civic improvements in Rome were undertaken. Half way through Holy Year many of the road works are still uncompleted, but by a prodigious effort in Holy Week when gangs of men worked day and night, the new spectacular access to St. Peter's was opened by Easter Day. On Palm Sunday, pilgrims had picked their way to the Cathedral through debris and piles of bricks. Some weeks later the new access and frontage of the main Railway Station, an enormous affair of glittering marble, was also opened, and arrivals and departures ceased to have the character of an obstacle race along emergency passages.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it.... For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works.

Verily I say unto you, There be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they see the Son of man coming in his kingdom. (Matt. 16: 24, 25, 27, 28.)

* * *

Then Peter, turning about, seeth the disciple whom Jesus loved following.... Peter seeing him saith to Jesus, Lord, and what shall this man do?

Jesus saith unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? follow thou me. Then went this saying abroad among the brethren, that that disciple should not die: yet Jesus said not unto him, He shall not die; but, if I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? (John 21: 20, 21-23.)

By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God. But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him. (Heb. 11: 5, 6.)

Latest Oleo Absurdity

(Edmonton Journal)

We had thought that all the possible arguments in the butter-vs.-margarine controversy had been used long since; but Senator Farris of British Columbia has come up with something new and different. In a debate in the senate, he claimed that long-continued use of margarine produces eye defects.

This is startling news—if correct. However Senator Farris bases his claim on rather shaky authority, a statement by the director of medical research of the Wisconsin Research Foundation. Wisconsin is the great dairy stronghold of the United States, and the State Government is famous for its bitter opposition to margarine. Any investigation carried on by a Wisconsin agency into the health qualities of the butter substitute is hardly likely to be impartial.

Whoever made the enquiry into the effects of margarine on eyesight probably had ever before his eyes the fate of a professor of the state university some years ago, who lost his job and had his book suppressed when he published a report showing that the nutritive values of "oleo" and butter were the same. It is amusing to note, too, that the Wisconsin Research Foundation has rather cleverly nedged its bets. It declares that the first generation using margarine would experience no ill effects, but that the eye troubles would start with the second or even the third generation of users—that is, anywhere from forty to sixty years in the future. By that time the learned professors won't be around to suffer any embarrassment when their dire predictions fail to come true.

As a "scientific report," the whole thing looks like a fine exercise in politics. The friends of the dairymen would be better employed boosting the sale of butter than in trying to run down margarine.

In Praise Of Politicians

(Ottawa Journal)

Comes one Dr. George W. Hartman, professor of psychology at Roosevelt College, to report (after a nation-wide survey) that the average U.S. politician has better than average intelligence and morality, and is taller, stronger, heavier, better looking and healthier than the rank and file of non-politicians.

Politicians having long been the target for public disparagement, this appraisal is revolutionary. We're not sure, though, that we don't agree with it, or with most of it. In the case of our Canadian politicians, upon whom we have had to keep an eye for more years than we care to contemplate, we have always felt that they were as good as their constitutents, and perhaps a little better; that when and where they did foolish things it was not because they themselves were foolish but in most cases because they were pressed into doing them by their supporters back home.

As for honesty, we think this can be said: That there is not in Canada today a single category of activity, a single calling or profession, with greater financial integrity than is to be found in our public life; among politicians. One must go very far back into Canadian political history to find a public man who, financially, proved unworthy of trust.

U.S. Reds Driven Underground Plagued By Great Difficulties

(Editor's Note: The following article on the Communist Party of the United States was written by an Associated Press staffer George Cornell after he examined records, interviewed Communists, former Communists and government officials.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP).—The Communist Party of the United States today finds itself plagued by declining membership, disillusionment, and uncertain leadership.

In its retreat before investigations, prosecutions and laws, the party has moved farther and farther underground. It has tightened its security, and closed the lips of its followers.

Three years ago, the party claimed more than 100,000 members. Today, J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of investigation, puts the total at 55,000. An official party report on membership this spring admitted 1950 registration had dropped 17 per cent below last year.

The party is moving underground. Its camouflage has been getting thicker ever since the war's end. Units were sub-divided—to cut the range of any one member's knowledge of others. Identities are more carefully guarded. Membership cards were ordered torn up.

FBI "Members"

The FBI has a substantial number of agents in the party. The party knows it, and has appealed to members not to become "paralyzed by fear" because of it.

The party's powerful national review, or discipline commission, is digging into members' backgrounds, hunting clues of disloyalty.

From his sickroom at his New York apartment, white-haired William Z. Foster, 69, former mule skinner and seaman, still nominally runs party affairs. But his bad heart doesnt let him do much.

His chief lieutenants are tied down, too.

Communist general - secreary Eugene Dennis is in jail for contempt of Congress. He and 10 co-leaders face prison terms for plotting to advocate forcible overthrow of the government. Foster was indicted with them, too, but was not tried because of his health.

Lose Plea

Last month the 11 convicted leaders lost a plea for court permission to travel about the country to conduct party meetings and raise funds while their appeal is pending.

In an effort to fill the gap in its leadership, the party has set up a special three-man "secretariat." Its members—Gus Hall, John Williamson and Henry Winston—are among the convicted national committeemen and face five-year terms.

Financially, the party has its back to the wall.

The meagre sums provided by party dues amount to much. These dues are based on income. An unemployed party member pays only 10 cents a month. If a member earns $50 a week, his monthly dues are $1.

The nine-month conspiracy trial cost the party $500,000. Some government lawyers feel that the reason the party didn't keep the trial going longer was that defence funds ran out.

The party is said to have liquidated some of its long-standing assets, although it still has holdings in bookshops, summer camps and other enterprises.

These resources, usually veiled by front ownerships with interlocking control, are reported to have at one time included interests in restaurants, night clubs, tool shops, stationary stores and other investments.

It also has been charged that the party has a "secret fund" supplied by Moscow and dispensed by a high American "Communist financial clique." The charge has never been substantiated.

The party's basic aims are:

1. To promote Communism in the United States.
2. To support the Soviet Union as the leader of world Communism.

The U.S. government charges the party seeks to establish Communism here through violent revolution. The party claims it seeks only peaceful change.

Few of the rank-and-file Communists exhibit the cold cynicism attributed to the party's Russian counterparts. They seem to believe with a deadly, single-minded earnestness that they are serving humanity.

Work Hard

Party members work hard. In between business hours, they serve on committees, organize demonstrations, walk picket lines, lead discussions, take an active role in their unions and other organizations.

Part of their duty is to join societies, clubs, civic leagues, benevolent organizations, religious bodies and art groups—and then do what they can to uphold the party program.

The party's strength cannot be fully measured by its electoral position.

Says FBI Chief Hoover: "We no longer measure the importance of revolutionary organizations by size."

If the conviction of the Communist leaders is upheld, the party faces these alternatives:

1. Name new leaders, and risk new government prosecutions.
2. Dissolve as a public entity, and go completely underground, there to battle it out with government agents in the hide-and-seek netherworld of secret manoeuvres.
3. Modify its views and objective, and then convince the government it does not advocate violent revolution.

Scientifically Clean Streets Down To Pores, Restore Lustre

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK, June 12 —(AP)—The well-groomed city street this year is wearing sidewalks scientifically cleaned "right down to the pores."

This is the word from Louis Schwartz, who has put the scrubbing of sidewalks on a mechanized basis in New York City and is being invited to do the same in other parts of the United States.

Schwartz heads a young firm called Sidewalk Sanitation Service, which has "restored the natural lustre" of sidewalks for various neatness-conscious hotels and stores along Fifth and Park Avenues.

"The trouble with people who cleaned sidewalks before was that they didn't have the equipment to get down to the pores," says Schwartz. "Also, they swept the stuff into the gutter and then a wind would blow it back. We leave nothing in the gutter."

Follow Three Steps

The Schwartz operation involves three steps.

After an investigation, Sidewalk Sanitation men go out with steam hoses blowing a chemical compound and "completely remove" all gum, stains and debris.

The durability of stains vary. Something with an oil base, such as perfume, if dropped on a sidewalk, will leave a stain for months. A gum stain, if left alone, will last half a year. A whisky stain is good for more than a week.

Step two, like step one, is carried out after midnight, when there is a minimum of pedestrian traffic. In this process, Schwartz workers assault sidewalks with two-ton, three-wheeled mechanical brooms which spray, wash and scrub all at once. This is done several nights a week.

The third step involves a "daytime patrol service" in which Schwartz' men, attired neatly in blue and white uniforms, work over sidewalks with hand-operated machines which look like overgrown carpet sweepers.

Air Force Navigator

Schwartz, 33, was a wartime air force navigator.

One night, returning home late, he rode down Fifth Avenue and noticed porters cleaning sidewalks with hand brooms.

"I was amazed," he recalls, "that in this day and age of atomic energy and electronics and air conditioning and indirect lighting that such crude methods were still being used on sidewalks."

He now has 12 regular employees, two large machines and 10 small sweepers. All told the service now handles more than $75,000 worth of sidewalk cleaning business a year.

See Great Movement In Practical Christianity

By ADELAIDE KERR

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—The world now is experiencing the greatest world movement toward practical Christianity in history, says Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, one of the leading ministers in the United States and author of inspirational books.

This, he believes, accounts for the way religious and inspirational books have shot to the top of the best seller lists in the last few years.

"The chief characteristic of the world movement is the practical application of the principles of Jesus Christ to personal living," says Dr. Peale.

"People are finally waking up to the fact that He was the greatest expert in human nature who ever lived. They are seeking to solve their own problems. And modern ministers have learned to state spiritual techniques in plain talks, which give them ideas they can understand and use. Look at the churches today and see what throngs are there.

Not Temporary

"This is no temporary vogue. This is a real, long-term, upswing of spiritual values. And it will carry up with it morals and manners. People will become more ethical, more decent, more moral, more gentlemanly and more ladylike."

Dr. Peale is known to thousands through his books "The Art of Living" and "You Can Win." He recently addressed the American Booksellers Association on the great growth in popularity of religious and inspirational books.

"People are turning to them because of the fears, tensions and frustrations produced by modern life," he said in an interview. "The things that are going on in the world, the noise, confusion, fast tempo of life and lack of leisure have put people in a dither. The human system rebels after a time. So they hunt peace.

Gripped by Fear

"A lot of people are gripped by fear. I can scarcely step out of my door without people asking me how to overcome tension and fear. Some are just dimly afraid something is going to happen. But most people have a lot to do with it. They project their own fears on to their children.

"But one of the main reasons for disturbance is this: many people who were reared according to strict religious principles, decided they were out of date for this day and age, dropped them overboard and started out on the creed 'the sky's the limit'. But they did not get along as well as they thought they would on that system and the things they did gave them guilt neuroses. So this sent them back to reading in quest for peace."

God Preserver Of Man Lesson Sermon Subject

"God the Preserver of Man" was the suject of the Lesson Sermon which was read in churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, including First Church in Peterborough on Sunday.

The Golden Text was "Withhold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O Lord: let thy loving-kindness and thy truth continually preserve me." (Psalm 40:11)

Selections from the Bible included the following from Isaiah 26: 3. "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee."

Oshawa Gains Ball Win On One-Hitter

A Saturday home game in Riverside Park for the Peterborough intermediates seems to be a jinx. Two weeks ago Gord Sutton for the Whitby Merchants threw one-hitter and on Saturday night Bill McTavish dished up one-hit pitching for the Oshawa Transporters for a 9-1 win. Jake Wade's double down the first baseline in the fourth inning was the only bingle. It drove in George (Red) Sullivan who had reached second with the help of two Oshawa infield errors.

Besides striking out 12 batters McTavish assisted on three other putouts. In the first, second, third and fifth innings McTavish struck out two while in the sixth he had three.

Dorris Starts

Bill Dorris, a lefthander, started on the mound for Peterborough but was met early. Oshawa's first batter, H. Joskoski, reached first on an error, O'Connor doubled, McAlister had a fielder's choice which cut off H. Joskoski, and Joskoski singled to left to send in two runs. At the top of the second Brabin and Coggins started off by singling. H. Joskoski sent them home with a single through short. O'Connor walked and McAllister singled to centre to drive in the fifth and sixth Oshawa runs. He later scored on an error, a pass ball and a throw-in.

George (Red) Sullivan was sent to rescue Dorris with one out in the second. He pitched steady ball for the rest of the game, whiffing seven batters, three ni in the last inning. His only trouble was forced upon him in the first inning. When one was out, Brabin reached second on two errors by the infield. Coggins then dropped a hit into centre scoring Brabin and reaching third on the play. McTavish drove a ball to short which was errored scoring in the ninth run.

This win was the Transporters' fourth against a loss and a tie. Peterborough has won two, tied one, and lost four. Brabin and Coggins each had two for four for Oshawa while O'Connor, McAllister and Maeson each had one for three. Wade had one for two for Peterborough.

Lineups:

Oshawa — H. Joskoski cf, O'Connor 2b McAllister rf, J. Joskoski 3b, Maeson 1b, McArthur c, Brabin lf, Coggins ss, McTavish p.

Peterborough—Casey 2b, Pagett ss, Sullivan 3b and p, Fitzgerald rf, Wade 1b, Legrow lf, McGrath c, Floyd cf, Dorris p, Conway 3b.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

The National Hockey League's Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens found out Sunday that a baseball can be almost as slippery and tough to hold as the puck they chase around during the winter season.

The two clubs went out of character, galloped and slid around Toronto Maple Leaf Stadium in a nine-inning game. After 3½ hours of play, 36 runs and as many hits and 11 errors (Montreal had seven) Leafs took the honors by a thumping 27-9 score.

It gave 12,886 shirt sleeved fans who paid $12,379 into Manitoba's Flood Relief Fund a chance to cheer their beloved Leafs and boo — all good-naturedly, of course—the Montreal villains, particularly Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, Ken Reardon, Butch Bouchard, Billy Reay and others.

The fans loved every minute of it, particularly when Canadiens' big Bill Durnan who is some shucks of a ball player, struck out twice; Richard jawed at the third base umpire on two close decisions. The height of their jubilance came in the ninth inning when Reardon, who played an always-trying right field, went down swinging on the deliveries of his old hockey rival, Cal Gardner.

It was sweet revenge because it was Reardon who came up with a ninth-inning clutch double in Montreal three weeks ago that gave Canadiens a 13-12 victory over Toronto. That game produced $6,210 for the Rimouski, Que., fire victims' fund.

Members of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union agreed on Saturday at Montreal to seek a "bigger voice" in the affairs of Canadian football.

They took the stand that the senior league in Eastern Canada and the Western Canada Conference should carry the balance of voting power in decisions of the Canadian Rugby Union.

The Interprovincial, or Big Four, also agreed to stage two pre-season benefit games. The games, with all four clubs in action, will be played a mid-week night in Toronto and Ottawa.

Proceeds from the Toronto game will go to funds for aid of victims of the Winnipeg floods and the Rimouski and Cabano, Que., fire disasters.

Proceeds from the Ottawa game will go to the family of the late Ross Trimble, a one-time football great who died last year.

The "balance of power" proposal was advanced by Eric Cradock, the league's new president, and Joe Ryan, director of Montreal Alouettes. It received backing by all clubs.

William Goetz' Your Host, a 2-5 favorite, atoned somewhat Saturday for his poor showing in the Kentucky Derby when he displayed plenty of courage in winning the $25,000-added Kent Stakes at Delaware Park.

The California speedster was under a hard drive to withstand Mrs. Walter M. Jefford's Post Card by a trifle less than a length. Rokeby Stable's County Delight was third, five lengths away.

Your Host paid $2.80, $2.80 and $2.50 and was timed in 1:43.

Cricketers Get Neat Win Over Parkdale

By C. H. IRESON

Saturday at the Oval, the Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club defeated Toronto Parkdale "A" by five wickets in a district council match, the scoring being Parkdale 33, P-W 38 for five wickets. It was close with both teams strong on the attack and in the field, and the visitors were short two men.

Parkdale batted first against F. Booth and B. Roberts and wickets fell regularly for small scores. After 15 overs had been bowled, Dyer and Rollwagon took over the attack and the latter had great success in getting four wickets for no runs, the innings closing at 33. Local fielding was good, especially a fine catch by Roberts near the leg boundary.

The locals went to bat but found runs hard to get. It was 31 for five wickets when T. Titshall drove to the boundary for four to win the match. Top scorer was F. Booth with 13 not out. It was the second victory for this team in the council. They go to Toronto next weekend to play the Toronto "B" club at Armour Heights. On July 1, the P-W team plays Carleton County, holders of the R. C. Matthews Trophy in the county championship. Carleton County is comprised of Ottawa Valley players. Following is the scoring summary for Saturday:

Parkdale A—Batting: T. Thom 4, J. Gough 5, A. Bromley 5, T. Corbin 5, C. Groombridge 2, I McNicol 9, A. Stamard not out 1, R. Bromley 1, J. Warne 0, Extras 2. Total 33

Fall of Wickets, 1 for 9, 2 for 10, 3 for 17, 4 for 20, 5 for 31, 6 for 31, 7 for 33, 8 for 33.

Bowling, F. Boote 1 wicket for 17 runs, B. Roberts 3 for 7, F. Dyer 0 for 7, R. Rollwagen 4 for 0.

Peterborough Whitakers: Batting to Wright 3, B. Roberts 9, E. Cotton 6, F. Booth 13 not out, R. Rollwagen 0, A. Harris 0, R. Titshall 5 not out, T. Scott, B. Titshall and F. Dyer did not bat. Extras 2. Total 38 for 5 wickets.

Fall of Wickets: 1 for 5, 2 for 13, 3 for 27, 4 for 25, 5 for 31.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The main attractions at the club this week are the ladies' open tournament for the Duffus Trophy on Wednesday afternoon and evening; and the visit, on Saturday evening, of about 50 bowlers—men and women—from the Hillcrest club, Toronto.

Regarding the ladies' tournament, we hear the committee is expecting a record entry. Our own club is going to be well represented, and if the outside clubs come along fairly well, it is qnite possible the committee's dream will come true.

Now about next Saturday night. With the large entry from Toronto is bound to be a big night and the committee is asking for the local players to give their names to R. Hendry or Geo. Soulby by Thursday night. This will give the boys a chance to have the draw all ready for 7.00 o'clock Saturday night. Your co-operation means a lot to the success of the evening.

There was a good crowd out for the Saturday mixed tournament. The wining skips were V. Hill, P. Bartley and J. Adams.

The winners of Friday night' tournament were R. Knox, C. Lawrence, R. Braw and W. James.

A Soccer Change

The local U. E. soccer game scheduled for Wednesday evening, has been transferred to Tuesday evening at 6.30 owing to the Old Country team game in Toronto Wednesday night when many local fans intend being present to witness two outstanding teams.

It has been suggested that the local association enter a team in the junior soccer cup series—all players under 24 years of age—and think the following would be an excellent eleven to represent the city: J. Hutchinson, goal, (UE); E. Downer (UE) and D. Downer (Petes), full-backs; R. Payne (O'Hallorans, L. Payne (O'Hallorans), and M. Buchan (O'Hallorans), half backs; M. Martin (O'Hallorans), D. Buchan (O'Hallorans), H. Payne, (Petes), N. Lane and E. Lane, forwards. Subs, E. Woodcock, goalie (Petes), K. Downer, Don Downer and W. Downer, reserves.

Cobourg Victors

COBOURG, June 12 (ENS) — Cobourg Orphans Saturday defeated Peterborough UEW by the score of 4-2 in an intermediate softball exhibition game here. Cobourg was outhit by the senior "B" team but were superior in the field. The visitors also had six errors to Cobourg's three. The return game will be played this week in Peterborough. Following is the line score:

UEW	020	000	000	2	7	6
Cobourg	000	011	02x	4	3	3

Batteries—Guilfoyle, Hall and Walton; Ball, Platt and Bevan.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

While the Petes' lacrossers at the moment do not appear to need any help, we'll lay a dozen doughnuts to a dime that they could make good use of two players presently not in the lineup. It happens that players get injured in a long, tough schedule—or someone is absent for a death in the family or some such. We'd like to see Ron Horton and Lou Vitarelli reconsider their decisions on retirement. They're rather young to retire from a favorite sport and both could get in shape rapidly. Ron and Lou are valuable performers in the rugged gutted-stick game and they could help the oncoming Petes plenty ere schedule's end.

St. Catharines' young OLA senior squad continued its winning ways o'er the week-end with a 22-16 decision against the strong Mimico Mounties. Owen Sound rolled to a 17-5 win over Weston, as Petes beat Torontos here Friday 22-7. This item was in Bunny Morganson's Tely column Saturday: "Piper Bain was in no mood for nonsense at Peterborough as he teamed up with Al Jeffries to referee as Peterborough trimmed Torontos 22-7 before 2,000. Bain handed out most of the 14 penalties, including a match misconduct early to Jack Howse. He had drawn a slashing penalty but heaped abuse on the big fellow, who promptly chucked him out for the duration. He gave a misconduct later to Frank King for arguing."

Men's, Girls' & Juniors

Girls' softball at the Bowl tonight: CGE vs. Westclox, and Ashby's vs. Woollens. There tomorrow, the men go with East City vs. UEW, and Mutuals vs. Orphans. An open drill for junior softball prospects (the boys' variety) at seven tonight in the Oval. Percy Harrison and Johnny Russelle looking after things in this area. By the way, George Domer and Percy Harrison kicked in most of the mazuma necessary to start Orphans off in the men's loop, and we understand Johnny Russelle helped financially, also. It is the league-sponsored club and gradually building up to be a serious contender. Just give Orphans a little more time under management of Harold Dormer.

It is interesting to discover that the Intercounty Baseball League in Western Ontario is considered an outlaw circuit by the Big Ten. It is the most powerful college conference in the States, embracing University of Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, and so on. This announcement puts a hefty crimp in plans of a number of Intercounty teams for importing USA college ball players for the summer. Kitchener is probably hardest hit, with London and other centres affected. College ballsters won't jeopardize future plans in baseball, football, etc., to play in an "outlaw" league. It's the salary limit (often exceeded) of $3,500 a month per club which bothered the amateur college conference.

Again Those Rains Came

No senior ball game at Riverside on Saturday. Once again, it rained hard in the morning to force postponement of the Viaduct Major League contest between Toronto Dovers and the Petes. Second Saturday in a row that has happened. Toronto teams have to be notified early if it's raining so 'twas too late to re-arrange the game when it cleared up nicely in the afternoon. However, the seats and grounds were pretty wet, so not too many fans would have attended, in all probability. It's tough on the Petes, who pay out good money for frequent trips to Toronto but are missing out on home gates. They've had but one good home crowd to date. They're in Oshawa on Friday and at home the next day.

* * * * * *

Bill McTavish had too much on the ball for the intermediate Petes here Saturday eve, and Oshawa rolled to a 9-1 decision in the Lakeshore Loop number. He whiffed an even dozen in the seven-inning one-hit twilight tilt. Bill Dorris ran into second-inning trouble on the home slab, and Red Sullivan finished up in steady style, fanning seven. Red had got on base through an error in the fourth and Jake Wade's double scored him for the only hit and run on the Petes' side. Oshawa has now won four and lost one, whilst the Petes have taken two and tied another in seven frays. They play Colborne here on Wednesday night and go to Lindsay on Friday. Colborne beat Cobourg 5-2 as Bowmanville tied Port Hope 7-7 in other jousts.

Man Let Movies Be Gold Rush

VANCOUVER, June 12—(CP)—It took gunfire in 1898 to make John Schuberg's theatre—Vancouver's first—successful.

But things improved after that, the 84-year-old said here recently when he was honored by the Canadian Pioneers' Association as the oldest motion picture exhibitor in the country.

"Most people in Vancouver in 1898 were trying to figure out how to get up to the Klondike for the gold rush," he said. "When I got a chance to buy an Edison kinetograph for $250 in Seattle, I decided moving pictures would take the place of the gold rush for me."

He said his first "show" was "only one film. It consisted of battle scenes from the Spanish-American war."

Needed Ballyhoo—

Business wasn't forthcoming until "I decided it needed some ballyhoo. I got behind the screen with a couple of guns and some tin to make thunder sounds."

Mr. Schuberg said, what with the realistic scenes amid so much noise, "we had trouble emptying the place for the next show." He put the same film on pretty well throughout British Columbia and then opened the Edison electric theatre in 1904.

That grew to association with three theatres but "there's not much to tell from that time on."

The ceremony here was to have been on his retirement but Mr. Schuberg "confessed" he actually retired in 1941.

"I haven't got around to announcing it until now," he said.

UE Squad Slips A Reverse To O'Hallorans

UE soccer team eliminated O'Halloran eleven, Saturday afternoon, 6-0 in the local series of the Ontario Cup proper in King Edward Park before a fair attendance of spectators. Duffus scored three goals to be outstanding, while Fred Attard gave a brilliant effort. Best for the losers were M. Buchan, R. A. McArthur and H. Latham.

Right from the kick-off, O'Halloran's failed to hold the fast-moving UE forwards. Duffus registered first. On the next visit Steel scored from an oblique angle. The losers repeatedly broke through the opposition defence to find the UE half back line nullifying every effort within the shooting area. On one occasion Buchan, H. Foster and Latham outplayed the winners' defence to go right in on goal but Hutchinson fell on the ball to save.

On resuming, O'Halloran's took up the ball inside the UE goal area to bring out the centre-half. Foster, Jr., showed ability in that position as he closed-checked and intercepted the ball at the logical moment to clear on many visits. A series of goals came in quick succession as the opposition forwards wilted against the Craig, Foster and McGann department. They fed the attacking forwards with perfect scoring opportunities with Duffus tallying for number three. On a smart individual effort Attard made it four to be followed by Duffus and Downer making the count 6-0.

O'Halloran's — A. O'Halloran, goal; L. Payne and E. S. Smith, full backs; R. Payne, M. Buchan and H. Latham half backs; H. Foster, D. Gray, M. Martin, Malin Pollock and R. A. McArthur, forwards. Sub., D. Buchan.

UE—J. Hutchinson, goal; E. Downer and S. Murduff, full backs; J. Craig, T. Foster, Jr., and S. McGann, half backs; R. Strong, E. Duffus, G. Foster, F. Attard and G. Downer, forwards. Sub., J. Chamberlain.

Referee, T. Foster. Linesmen, J. Adams and D. Grant.

Curiosity

WINNIPEG (CP).—Residents were warned not to remove plugs from catch basins before the river level dropped. "Some of them will be in for a rude surprise if they do," said Ald. C. E. Simonite. "One fellow removed the brace, and the plug hit him in the face."

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press.

Batting—Vic Wertz, Tigers: homered with two on in the top of the 14th to give the Tigers a 9-6 triumph over Boston in the second game of a doubleheader. The Tigers also won the opener 6-2.

Pitching—Vic Raschi, Yankees: yielded only three hits in pitching the Yankees to a 1-0 victory over Stubby Overmire and St. Louis Browns in the first game of a doubleheader. The Yankees also won the second game 4-2.

Westclox Girls Take Tilt Over Woollens

Westclox walloped Woollens 18-6 at the Bowl on Saturday night in a replay of a postponed girls' softball fixture. The losers' errors hurt, but Westclox played their usual hustling and steady ball at bat and in the field. Some of the young Woollens (notably C. Ferguson) play more like seniors than juniors and the team should do well in junior PWSU playdowns. L. Derry was replaced on the losers' mound by S. Harris in the 7th. M. Selkirk for Westclox had 11 strikeouts.

C. Ferguson and M. Laing looked best defensively for Woollens as J. Hardy and J. McIntyre stood out for the Clockers. M. Hawthorne was hurt and exchanged position with B. Anderson early in the game. M. Hawthorne led her side at bat with four blows, and B. Anderson hit a homer. C. Ferguson was in great form to belt out three homers and a single in four tries for the losers.

The teams:

Westclox: A. Anderson, cf; B. Morrow, ss; J. Vass, 3b; M. Hawthorne, c, 2b; B. Anderson, 2b, c; J. Hardy, rf; J. McIntyre, 1b; A. Portelance, lf; M. Selkirk, p.

Woollens: J. McIlwaine, lf; B. McInroy, 2b; J. Walling, cf; M. Laing, 1b; C. Ferguson, ss; I. Derry, p; S. Harris, p; J. Lawson, c; S. Dafoe, rf; R. Naylor, 3b.

Bisons Crushed In Twin Bill By Springfield

By The Associated Press

Springfield Indians, newest entry in the International League, is the circuit's latest hope to overhaul the pace-setting Rochester Red Wings.

Stan Hack's Cubs took a doubleheader from Buffalo Bisons 6-2 and 4-3, Sunday, and moved into second place, two games behind the Wings.

Montreal Royals tumbled out of second into third place, 2½ games behind the pace by dropping two games to Jersey City Giants 14-12 in 11 innings and 5-3.

Rochester, meanwhile, swept a bargain bill from Syracuse Chiefs 7-2 and 10-8 while Toronto and Baltimore split a fourth twin bill with the Orioles taking the opener 8-7 in 1 1rounds and the Leafs the nightcap 9-3.

Bill Moisan restricted the Bisons to six hits in bagging his third victory for Springfield in the opener.

Al Porto, veteran lefthander, scattered seven hits in the finale while his mates collected eight including a double and two singles by Carm Mauro.

Get Nod

Chet Laabs homered in the 14th inning with one on to give Jersey City the nod over Montreal in their first game. Neal Watlington and Sal Yvars also homered for the Giants and Walt Fiala and George Schmees for Montreal.

Rookie lefthander George Heller, making his first start, limited the Royals to five hits including a homer by Toby Atwell in outpitching rookie Tom Lasorda in the windup.

Tom Poholsky recorded his sixth victory against a lone setback for Rochester in the opener at Syracuse. Poholsky scattered eight hits in beating veteran Bud Byerly.

Johnny Wittig went all the way for Rochester in the second game although he was touched for 10 hits including a three-run homer by Ed Shokes.

Pinch-hitter Bob Young's single in the 11th inning scored pinch-runner Ver Taylor with Baltimore's winning run against Toronto in their first game.

Steve Ridzik coasted to his third victory without a loss in the second game, scattering seven Baltimore hits. Mickey Rutner homered with the bases loaded in the first inning to decide the issue.

Bad Luck Dogs Red Sox Bow Twice To Detroit

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sport Writer

"The Red Sox won't win the pennant this year," the man said. "They fold up against the strong clubs."

The man was a Boston baseball writer. The remark was made right after Boston had buried the poor St. Louis Browns a record shattering 29-4 count last Thursday.

"Why don't they do that against New York or Detroit?" he asked. "Know why? They wilt under pressure."

There is no denying the Red Sox had miserable luck against the first division clubs this season. In 23 games against the Yankees, Tigers and Cleveland Indians, the Sox have won nine and lost 14. That's a cellarlike .394 percentage.

Red Rolfe's Tigers heaped insult upon injury when the league-leaders used two lefthanders who pitched nine innings apiece.

Just Can't Click

Southpaw Hal Newhouser scattered 10 hits to beat Boston 6-2 in the opener. Lefty Ted Gray allowed only four hits in nine innings of relief ball, to gain credit for the 9-6 triumph in the second game. A three-run homer by Vic Wertz snapped a 6-6 tie in the 14th inning.

The Yanks kept pace with Detroit by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader from the Browns 1-0 and 4-2.

St. Louis' soaring Cardinals widened their first-place margin in the National League to two games over Brooklyn by crushing New York Giants twice 6-1 and 5-2. The best the Dodgers could do was divide a pair with the Reds in Cincinnati. The Brooks won the opener 5-4 but the Reds came back to win the nightcap 8-5.

Philadelphia's third-place Phillies remained a half game behind Brooklyn, splitting a pair with the Pirates in Pittsburgh. The Phils came from behind with five runs against rookie Vern Law to win the first game 7-6 but the Pirates took the second 5-4 on Ralph Kiner's 13th home run of the season.

Tied For Fourth

Chicago Cubs tied Boston for fourth place, defeating the Braves twice in Chicago 5-4 10 innings and 2-1. The White Sox, Chicago's American League entry, also won two games, whipping the Senators in Washington 8-3 and 5-4.

Cleveland and the Athletics divided a doubleheader in Philadelphia. Three run in the 10th enabled the Indians to win the first game, 6-3. A seven-run seventh inning won the second for Philadelphia, 9-6.

Vic Raschi and Fred Sanford turned in fine pitching performances for the Yankees. Raschi yielded only three hits in hurling his seventh triumph.

Sanford registered his fourth triumph in four hits.

Bob Lemon pitched his seventh triumph for Cleveland. Tenth-inning homers by Al Rosen and Jim Hegan were the winning blows. It was Rosen's 15.

End Winnings

The double triumph by the White Sox ended a seven-game victory string of the Senators against Chicago. Ray Scarborough was clipped for 11 hits but staggered through for his fifth win in the nightcap.

Lefties Howie Pollet and Alpha Brazle pitched the Cards to their 10th straight win over the Giants.

Don Newcombe, with the help of Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella, gained his sixth triumph for Brooklyn in the opener against the Reds. Robinson got three hits and scored twice. Campanella clouted a two-run homer. A sixth-run Cincinnati seventh against Dan Bankhead helped Ewell Blackwell gain his fourth victory in the nightcap.

Hank Sauer's long fly scored Bob Ramazotti from third with the winning run for Chicago against Boston in the opener.

Home, Sweet Home

MONTREAL —(CP)— Oscar the canary has decided that his cage is safer and more comfortable than the world outside. He disappeared for a week recently and his owners never expected to see him again. He finally turned up, however, without a clue to his adventures, walked wearily into his cage, took a bath and settled down to a long sleep.

Germany's Max Schmeling gained the world's heavyweight title 20 years ago today on a foul called against Jack Sharkey in the fourth round of their title bout in New York. Sharkey regained the title from Schmeling two years later.

Middleground Takes Belmont

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Middleground had the edge today over Hill Prince for the three-year-old championship, but there will be a lot more races coming up before the Texas comet makes it stick.

The King Ranch colt's great victory in the Belmont Stakes Saturday, where Hill Prince finished a disappointing seventh, still has the horse people trying to figure out what gives.

Middleground had won the Kentucky Derby, then ran second to Chris Chenery's Hill Prince in the Preakness. The crowd made the Hill Prince a 17-20 favorite in the Belmont, then watched in amazement as Middleground romped to the wire for a one-length victory over George Widener's Lights Up.

Hill Prince got away from Eddie Arcaro in the Belmont and the jockey couldn't ride him to instructions Casey Hayes, Hill Prince's trainer said. Hill Prince found a hole on the first turn, and shot through to take the lead with more than a mile to go.

Hill Prince led to the top of the stretch, where he tired with a quarter mile to go. His clocking for the first 1¼ miles was a scorching 2:02 1-5. Middleground's time for the 1½ miles was 2:28 3-5.

Hogan Stages Great Golf Comeback Win

ARD MORE, Pa., June 12 (AP) —The whole golf world knew it today — the boss is back.

He's back with two sound legs and a determination that marks him as one of the great masters of all time.

The climax chapter in the Ben Hogan saga was written Sunday down the fairways and across the tricky greens of Merion's historic east course.

"He's the greatest of them all," acknowledged Lloyd Mangrum, a tough old pro himself, after being beaten in the 18-hole triple playoff for the 50th United States open championship.

Mangrum is a hard, nerveless character on the gold course but he must have blanched at the steady stream of pars and birdies flung at him and George Fazzio in the extra round.

Moves Bhiskly

Hogan, moving briskly on legs once battered in collision with a 10-ton bus, fashioned a methodical one under par 69 to win easily.

Mangrum shot 73, counting an unfortunate two-stroke penalty for blowing a bug off his ball, and Fazzio registered 75.

Hogan thus picked up the strings of a championship skein interrupted by the auto accident Feb. 2, 1949, on a highway near Van Horn, Tex. It was feared he might never walk again.

The big incident of the match occurred on the 16th. While it didn't, on the surface, affect the outcome it added a bizarre touch to the exciting playoff.

Mangrum said he saw a little bug crawling on his ball. So he picked it up and blew it off. Then he sank the putt—a 20-footer—for his par four. He was one stroke back of Hogan at the time.

An alert official, remembering the rules, penalized him two strokes. That gave him a six. The rule says you can't pick or clean your ball.

SOCCER AIDS WINNIPEG

Four thousand fans Sunday saw the touring English Football Association players split into two sides for a soccer match at Winnipeg in aid of the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. The Blues defeated the Whites 7-6.

Freedom

By this time the sun had almost come out, and standing by the flagstaff was a 10-year-old lad, Bobby Brattain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Brattain. He was supporting a large Union Jack. He said he wasn't representing onyone—"I'm just holding the flag," he smiled. His Excellency stopped to talk with the boy for a moment.

Passing before the Lakefield cenotaph, on which he later laid a wreath, the Governor-General went to the double rank of Scouts drawn up at the west side of the lawn.

Presented With Badge

Sea Scout Morley Brown took several paces forward, and was presented with the King's Scout badge and certificate.

"It is a very great pleasure to give you this badge," said His Excellency. "I've been told of your good work, and would like to compliment you on winning this badge and certificate."

Heads bowed under a darkening sky as the representative of the King laid a wreath on the cenotaph; saluted and stepped back.

The Governor-General and his party then were driven to the Grove, where they were welcomed by Headmaster Winder Smith. The viceregal party had to dodge raindrops as a heavy rain broke on their arrival. They hurried into the school for a private luncheon, protected by umbrellas.

Following luncheon, the Governor-General moved to the parade ground, north of the school, where he inspected the school's cadets. The rain had stopped before cadets fell in for inspection and the march past, and the sun shone brightly as His Excellency and the Viscountess made their way through the garden to the parade grounds.

Praises Style

Of the inspection, he later said "They've got a style about them. That is a thing that is very rare in a boys' cadet corps. I have seen a number of cadet corps since I came to Canada. Some of them have been good, others very good, but I have no hesitation in pronouncing this corps 'very good'."

The cadets, dressed in naval uniform, moved smoothly on the grounds in what seemed an errorless inspection. The Governor-General, in his address to the boys later, said that both dressing and drill was excellent.

Chapel service was held after inspection, presided over by the Rev. Walter Gilling, of St. Luke's Anglican Church, Peterborough, and the Rev. C. W. Sowby, principal of Upper Canada College.

Mr. Gilling, who gave the sermon, told the graduating group to remember the words of St Paul—"We are members one of another." He said he believed this was the best advice he could give them, and that it would aid them in helping to build up Christian fellowship, and in their life after school.

Present Prizes

Following chapel service, which was broadcast to guests on the headmaster's lawn, came the head's address, and the presentation of prizes by Their Excellencies.

Mr. Smith, in the headmaster's address, told the boys he had received a number of letters from old boys who had fought under the Viscount in Africa and Italy. He said they were all very pleased the Governor-General had been able to be present at the 71st closing ceremonies of the Grove.

"If you keep your school motto mens sana in corpore sano—before you at all times,' Mr. Smith told the graduating group, "you cannot help but do well."

After the board chairman's address, by W. M. Pierce, the Viscountess presented the academic prizes, and the prizes for sports. Most unusual prize was that given to the winner of the annual turtle race, which was won by a turtle named "Put-Put," owned and managed by Bruce MacNaughton.

Glad He Made It

Speaking to the boys, the Governor-General told them he had been invited to closing ceremonies twice before, but could not come. "I'm certainly glad we have been able [illegible]," he said, thought some of them very tiresome."

Speaking of his days as a boy in Ireland, His Excellency said "we didn't have phonographs and radios, and motor cars, such as you have today. Our house was lit by candles and lamps." Then he added in an undertone, "and it's still the same, thank God."

Make Own Fun

"The fun of life does not depend on organized amusement," he said. He told the boys that frequently, they would have to make their own fun, and "when you are bored, blame yourself."

"You must take some chances," he said. "Even your turtles here don't go far unless them stick their necks out."

After the presentation of prizes, Their Excellencies went to the saluting base at the lake front, where they watched the boys go through boat drill, etc., under the instruction of Chief Petty Officer Tom Lee.

Police Chase Three Men, Shot Is Fired

Frantic phone call from excited manager of the Parkway Lunch at the corner of Park and McDonnel Sts. sent four policemen in two cruiser cars racing after three men who had been in the restaurant with a revolver.

Traffic Officer Claire McGillen and Constable Jack Morrow were the first to arrive. The restaurant manager met them at the door and told them the three had gone east on McDonnel St.

The officers sped up the street in their cruiser followed by the second cruiser with Constable Grant Gillespie at the wheel and Constable Donald Jones beside him.

A short distance along the street they sighted the three and the first cruiser pulled in front of them and Constable McGillen jumped out with his gun drawn and told the three to put their hands up.

Discarded In Grass

One of the men reached into his trouser pocket and threw a revolver into some grass on the north side of the street.

One of them turned and bolted along McDonnel St. Constable McGillen fired a shot in the air to try to stop the runaway, but he kept going. Constable Morrow gave chase on foot and Constable Gillespie jumped into his cruiser and went after the escaping man.

Constable Morrow finally caught him on the CNR tracks east of Rubidge St., but not before he too had fired a shot in the air trying to get the man stopped.

In the meantime Constable Donald Jones kept the other two covered with his revolver while Constable McGillen searched them.

Revolver Found

The revolver was found in the long grass and it turned out to be a very realistic looking cap gun.

Williams Burns, 69 Maple St., said he had bought the gun for his young brother. With him was Joseph Byrans, 513 Howden Ave.

The young man who had run was Weldon Finn, 407 Dobbin St. The constables knew Finn, but because it was dark on McDonnel St. hadn't recognized him.

The manager told police the three had come in and sat down at the counter of his restaurant. Burns had the gun sticking out of his side pants pocket.

While they sat there, Finn said to Burns, "Let one go and start some excitement."

That was enough for the manager, he phoned the police and the three young men took off.

Tent Caterpillars Devastate Kawarthas, Muskoka Again Last In Three-Year Cycle?

"Although the tent caterpillar situation in the Kawarthas and northern part of the Trent system is bad, it would appear that the pests have reached the top of their three-year cycle in this area," said district forester A. B. Wheatley of Lindsay headquarters today. Referring to the situation in the Muskoka resort area around Port Carling where property owners are hiring private aircraft to spray the area with insecticide, Mr. Wheatley feels that they are defeating their purpose by killing the parasite which automatically comes along every three years to kill off the caterpillar hordes. He thinks it best to let them to run their course and eliminate the plague for about a ten-year period to come.

Resort and cottage owners are battling with the situation around Stony Lake, Burleigh and along a westerly strip beyond Buckhorn. Mrs. Clarwin Cherry of Wantassa Inn, McCracken's Landing, says that they have stripped everything on their hotel property, and have been at work for the past two weeks. She notes they are not so prevalent at the present time, but reports they have done considerable temporary damage to the foliage on the east shore of the lake.

At Viamede on the north shore of the same lake, Mrs.W. Ianson, proprietress of Viamede Hotel reports the same condition in her area. They have managed to save oak and maple shade trees in front of their hotel by wrapping the trunks with sticky flypaper. Workmen did not get around to spraying buildings with DDT.

"Our sleeping cabins are a crawling mass and I hope they disappear quickly," Mrs. Ianson said. She has already accommodated several American guests and reports that they find the condition very depressing. She would not venture to say whether or not guests who experienced the caterpillar invasion would fail to come back to her place another year.

Pigeon Lake areas and the Bobcaygeon district are also quite heavily infested.

3 To Hospital After Crash Of Car, Truck

Three men are in hospital after a car-truck collision Sunday on Highway 7, slightly more than a mile west of Norwood. None is believed seriously injured.

The east bound panel truck occupied by six men—five from Toronto and one from Havelock—ran into the rear of a stalled car, swerved off the highway, overturned and came to rest upright on its wheels.

Clifford Parker, 25, Havelock, is in Civic Hospital with a fractured jaw.

The two others—Arthur Beck, 32, and John Gougeon, 20, both of Toronto—are in St. Joseph's. Beck has an injured left shoulder and Gougeon an injured hip.

Neil Gougeon, Nick Jackew and Howard McCaul, the other occupants of the truck, escaped injury.

Stalled Car

Maurice O'Brien, Armstrong Dr., was sitting in the car which had stalled on the highway. A curve in the highway and a slight grade at that point are believed to have prevented the truck driver from seeing the car until too late.

The back of the car was smashed in and damage was estimated at about $150. The truck received about $300 damage to its left side.

Provincial Constable Harold Armstrong of the Peterborough detachment took John Gougeon to hospital and a passing driver the other two injured men.

W. Hugh Kenner Receives PhD From Yale

William Hugh Kenner, son of the late Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, and Mrs. Kenner, is today receiving his PhD from Yale in absentia.

Mr. Kenner, who was head boy at PCVS in 1941, holds BA and MA degrees from University of Toronto, and has had one book—a criticism of G. K Chesterton—published. A second book, on poet Ezra Pound, will be published some time this year by Faber and Faber, London.

News arrived today that Mr. Kenner has been awarded the John Addison Porter prize for the best scholarly essay—his thesis on Ezra Pound. The prize is for $500.

One of 19 Canadians

He is one of 19 Canadian students who make up the second largest group being graduated from Yale today with 2,500 other candidates.

Mr. Kenner has spent two years on his degree. Although this may seem an unusually short time, he says it is because he was allowed one year for his MA, taken at Toronto in 1946.

His thesis is a critical essay on Irish author James Joyce, and runs about 740 pages.

Next move for Mr. Kenner is to teach English literature at the University of Santa Barbara, a small, liberalized college affiliated with the University of California.

After graduting from PCVS in 1941, he went to University of Toronto, where he took his BA in 1945 and his MA in 1946. While taking his MA, he was editor of the daily student paper, the Varsity. In 1945, he was editor of Torontonensis, U of T yearbook.

For two years after graduating from Toronto, he taught as an assistant professor of English at Assumption College, Windsor, an affiliate of the University of Western Ontario.

Dr. Kenner is married to Mary, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Waite, Stewart St. They have two daughters, Cathy Anne, and Julie.

Lack Of Dollars Sterling Area Causes Layoff

Lack of Canadian dollars in the sterling area means a cut of eight hours in the work week for seven women employees of A. Wander Ltd.

The seven women in the packing room have had their week cut from five days (40 hours) to four days (32 hours). This reduction was effective today.

In making this announcement Horace Steggles, general manager, said the difficulty was in the export trade.

"It's a matter of the people in the sterling area not having enough Canadian dollars to buy our products," he said.

The cut in the work week would continue indefinitely, he added, but no further cuts in that or any of the other departments is contemplated at present.

City Clerk Outram was back in his office today after attending in Montreal last week the convention of the Municipal Finance Officers Association of Canada and the United States. Plenty Of Ice Awaits Heat

The iceman is not lying awake these night imagining ways of fashioning a shortage and boosting the price of his product to the housewife.

That's an inference from a comment by Hugh Davis of Sanitary Ice Supply.

"There's no shortage and no increase in price," he said.

Chill weather at the week-end wasn't up the ice man's alley, but demand livened with that 85 degrees in the shade last week. It melted a lot of ice in the best insulated boxes.

Sanitary Ice is turning out 15 tons a day, and has arranged for larger deliveries from Toronto this summer, if the weather really turns torrid.

"We've got lots of ice on hand, and we have ordered new equipment that will be installed in the fall to step up our capacity to 60 tons a day."

Tourist Operators Query Differences In Hydro Rates

Some members of the Rice Lake Tourist Association are agitated over the discrepancy in hydro rates to tourist resort operators. They are unable to account for different rates charged various members of their association. After a short discussion at the last monthly meeting held in the Hiawatha Hall, Hiawatha, they decided to table the matter until the next meeting.

Charles Weir, Lindsay, biologist from the Department of Lands and Forests, told the gathering of some 40 members that the Department was not intending to restock Rice Lake with pickerel. Despite extensive fishing in the lake the pickerel seem able to be replaced by natural means.

Restocking with muskies [illegible] bass [illegible] however. Mr. Weir explained that these two species spawn in shallow waters and much of the spawn is destroyed [illegible] level in the catches, [illegible] also some ridiculing of the creel census cards; but it is the only way the department has of checking on the fish population of lakes and rivers.

Co-operation of resort operators and fishermen will react to the benefit of both, Mr. Weir said.

Resort owners should not just rely on fishing as the sole lure to tourists, he said. Other facilities, such as camp games, should be available.

Welder Beaten By Two Thugs

Nephi Sherwood, 42, who is returning to his home in Montreal today after working two weeks at the CGE here, was beaten up by two men in Toronto on Friday night, but the thugs did not get the $500 they were after.

Sherwood went to Toronto on Friday for the day, after finishing his employment as a welder at the CGE. In his pocket was $600, which he had with him because he had just sold his car. He spent $100 during the day and with $500 in his wallet, went into a hotel.

While drinking in the hotel, Sherwood got talking with two men who suggested that he go out for a walk with them. Guessing the men's motive, Sherwood agreed, but left the two men for a few minutes, to book a room in the hotel and deposit his money with the manageress for safe keeping.

Then he went out with the men and they took him to a dark alley and beat him up. They took his wallet from his pocket, but by that time there was no money in it.

Shortly afterwards somebody discovered Sherwood in the alley and carried him into the hotel. When he came round he hired a taxi to drive [illegible] Peterbo[illegible]. But while on the journey, he felt unwell and so called at Oshawa General Hospital, where he remained until Sunday.

Housewife Describes Grim Return To Once-Flooded Winnipeg Home

(Editor's Note: Mrs. Henry Heber of Winnipeg's Point Douglas district, was one of 100,000 evacuees from the Red River flood zone. Her home was flooded. A week ago she brought her family back to Winnipeg and started the clean-up job. Now, in a series of four Canadian Press stories—this is the first—she tells what housewives all through the Red River Valley face.)

By ELLY HEBER.

WINNIPEG, June 12 (CP) — The taxi stopped in the muddy street and there I was—home.

From the front it did not look too bad. I hadn't seen it for three weeks, and I knew the water was six feet deep in the street at one time.

The front gate was washed away, half the driveway gate was twisted and ripped from its hinges. Mud and rubble filled the front yard.

But it wasn't as bad as some I'd seen on the way down—not nearly.

At the back it was much worse. Lumber, linoleum, scrap tin, mud, chicken feathers, somebody's walk and just everything imaginable was dumped there.

I was just sick.

I was almost afraid to go through the back porch and look at the rooms.

Not Much Worse

My first thought was: My God, what a mess! My next was: How much worse it could have been!

The floors were thick with slimy mud, so slippery you could not walk. About 10 inches up the wall the white and yellow wallboard was crusted with black stuff. Above that the walls were still wet for a couple of feet wit soaking up the flood water.

The smell was terrible. I could hardly stand it and the thought of ever being able to live here seemed like a nightmare.

But most of the furniture, propped up on chairs and planks, was all right. The floors were buckled and heaved, but not nearly as bad as if they had been hardwood. Soft wood takes more water than hardwood.

Our big cooking range was such a mess that we threw it out when my husband came from work.

In the bedroom the big bed sagged with the weight of the water in the mattress. All the woodwork and veneer around the bottom peeled off at a touch.

By this time I began to think that Henry and I might be able to salvage something.

He opened all the windows to air out the stench.

Scrape Out Muck

That afternoon, June 5 (may I never forget it) we rolled up all the rotted linoleum—muck and all—and threw it into the back yard. We took a shovel and stable broom and scraped the thickest of the silt out to the back, then got a hose (our water was back on though we didn't have any lights) and just let the whole place have it for an hour or so.

We scrubbed and scraped until 10 o'clock at night and then went back to Isaac Brock School, where we and the four kids were staying after we came back from Wapella, Sask.

That bedroom of ours—it's only 8 by 12 feet—took two solid hours scrubbing the next day.

By that time we were beginning to see daylight and to realize how lucky we were compared with other people, as our house has a high foundation. Some of the low places had as much as three feet of water over the floors.

RUBBLE TROUBLE—Water higher than the backyard fence floated this collection of junk into Mrs. Henry Heber's Winnipeg backyard during the Red River flood. Son Walter, 13, started the task of making the place liveable again after coming back from a Saskatchewan farm to which he evacuated. Note the line which marks the water's peak, just about even with the porch railing.

Alexander Sorry He Didn't Get Chance At Southern Europe Thrust

LONDON, June 12.—(CP). — Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, who commanded Allied armies in Italy, speculates in a lengthy dispatch published Sunday on what might have happened during the final phases of the Second World War if the Allies had hit middle Europe powerfully from the south.

In a report on the campaign, submitted to the War Office in April, 1947, Canada's Governor-General reveals he urged making a swift power drive through Italy, and even considered landing forces in Yugoslavia. The report was issued Sunday in the London Gazette.

The project could not be carried out because of decisions on a higher level to land troops in southern France in the operation known as Anvil. This was carried out in the late summer of 1944. Allied forces in the Mediterranean had to be diverted to France, and the effort there took ships, aircraft and supplies which Viscount Alexander hoped he might have used in Italy.

"It is interesting to speculate what would have happened if I had been allowed to carry out this plan (for a northward thrust from Italy) and had appeared with two strong armies on the southern frontier of Germany and the Danube basin in the autumn of 1944," he writes.

Considerable Effect

"The effects would probably have been considerable, not only militarily but politically. My plan was, however, fated to be stillborn.

"The demands of Anvil had grown: The troops to be withdrawn (from Italy) included not only the whole French corps and three U. S. divisions but also a considerable number of American corps and army troops. I was informed that our air strength would also be reduced, probably by 70 per cent... My forces would be much reduced, and unbalanced in infantry, but I came to the conclusion that an advance into northeastern Italy would still be possible, though at a reduced tempo, and must be attempted."

In another part of his report, the Governor-General, who was Gen. Sir Harold Alexander at the time of these events writes:

Disastrous Effect

"Whatever value the invasion of southern France may have had as a contribution to operations in northeastern Europe its effect in the Italian campaign was disastrous. The Allied armies in full pursuit of a beaten enemy were called off from the chase, Kesselring (Field Marshal Kesselring), German commander, was given a breathing space to reorganize his scattered forces and I was left with insufficient strength to break through the barriers of the Apennines.

"I express no opinion on the correctness of the decision, but I was, to say the least, disappointed that our victory was not to be exploited as it deserved."

The 1st Canadian Corps fought in Italy as part of the British Eighth Army during the campaigns which Viscount Alexander discusses.

Whereas the decision to invade southern France was a disappointment to Viscount Alexander, he ultimately reconciled himself to the change in strategy. He carried on in Italy with inferior forces, observing:

"Our successes were never won by force or numbers, never by a simple marshalling of overwhelming resources, but always by strategems, secret concentrations and surprise moves."

Tries Cassino

The wartime commander in Italy also reveals that he made the decision to batter the stoutly-defended monastery city of Cassino into submission with a powerful artillery and air atttack. The German failures to wipe out the Allied bridgehead of Anzio gave him opportunity to concentrate attention on Cassino.

"The total weight of high explosive showered on Cassino was over 1,100 tons of bombs and nearly 2,000 rounds of artillery fire," he reports. "But when the New Zealanders advanced into the town they found the enemy still resisting. This was an extraordinary feat and much to the credit of the 1st (German) parachute division."

Viscount Alexander contends that Italy quit the war because her leaders wanted to back the winning side and not because of any internal unrest or popular demand among her people.

The Italian capitulation under Marshal Badoglio came in September, 1943, after Allied forces had completed the conquest of Sicily and had landed on the Italian mainland.

The dispatch says the capitulation was attributable to the fact that the Italian Government decided, "as Italian statesmen had decided in the past, that the time had come to 'spring to the aid of the victorious.'"

Stresses Indo-China Policy Should Be Deeds, Not Words

By HUGH LAMING

DALAT, Viet, Nam, French Indo-China, June 12 (Rueters)—Emperor Bao Dai's "Palace of Meditation," once a royal hunting lodge for tiger shoots, today has become "hard-work hall."

The palace, 45 minutes by air and 10 hours' drive by armed convoy from sultry Saigon, is in effect a severely-designed villa, furnished with simple comfort.

It is superbly situated, overlooking the forest-clad mountain and jungle-covered ravines which cut Dalat off from the terrorism and political strife in the rice fields and cities of the plain, 5,000 feet below and 150 miles away.

Since the state of Viet Nam was created early in 1949, with Bao Dai as emperor, it has been torn by dissesion between supporters of the French-backed administration and followers of the communist Viet Minh group.

Deeds Count

When Bao Dai recently received the new prime minister, Tran Van Hûh, and his cabinet at Dalat, he welcomed them in a 237-word speech in which he stressed that the policy of the new government should be deeds not words.

The prime minister took the hint. In less than 300 words, he outlined his policy, echoing the emperor's determination to fight Viet Minh communism.

This change, in striking contrast to the verbose but timid exhortations of his predecessors in office, is regarded as reflecting the increased confidence felt here as a result of the assurance last month of Anglo-American military and economic aid.

Reports in usually well-informed diplomatic and military circles here indicate that it is hoped that this assistance will include:

Economic aid of $50,000,000 to the three kingdoms of Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos, in the proportion of 5-3-2, to be expended chiefly on transport, building plant and agricultural machinery.

Military equipment worth $100,000,000 to be allocated to France and the three kingdoms and administered by a joint committee.

As France bears the burden of Indo-China's defence against aggression and the internal revolt of the Viet Miph, it is said, French forces will get the bulk of direct military aid, Viet Nam having the major share of the remainder.

Military aid is expected to include, as a first instalment during 1950-51, 150 US light tanks, 50 British light tanks, field, mountain and anti-aircraft guns, and other equipment.

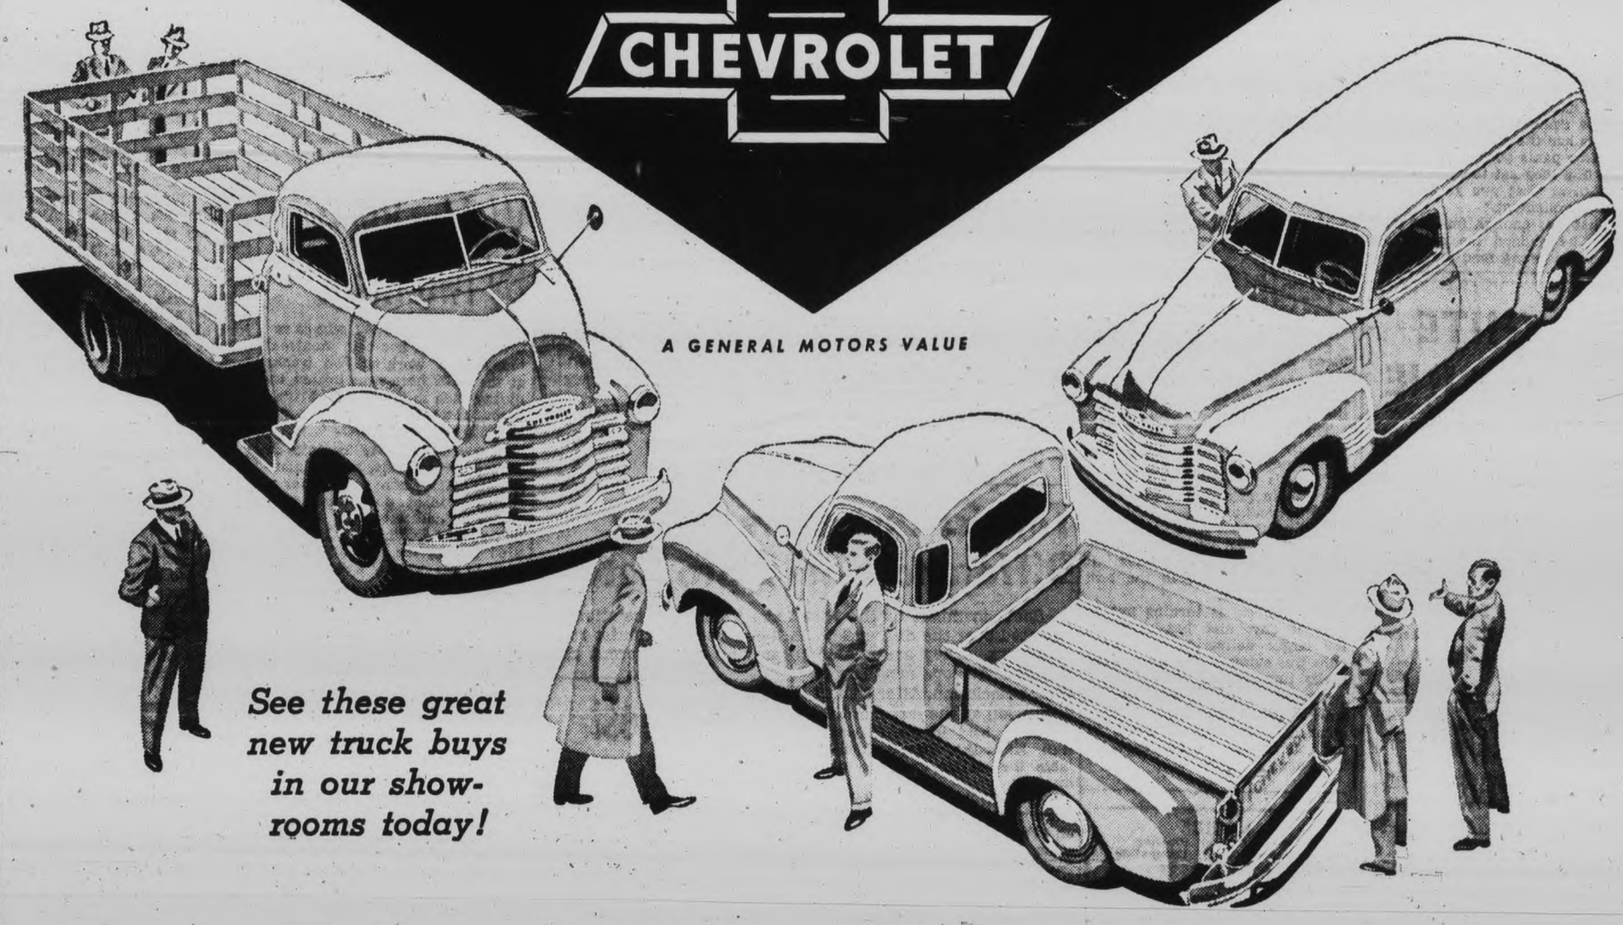
How far French defence of Indo-China would be integrated with a general plan for the whole of southeast Asia is not known, but the recent interchange of visits between Gen. Harding, commanding British forces in southeast Asia, Gen. Carpentier, French Commander - in - Chief and senior American staff officers suggests a combined plan.

Plane Crashes During Landing

HAMILTON, June 12 (CP) — George Isaac Reine, 43-year-old pilot from Weyburn, Sask., and his girl passenger, 19-year-old Jean Pental of Hamilton, were killed Sunday when their light plane crashed on landing.

The two were returning from a flight to Centralia, and were about 100 yards from the corner of the airport when a stiff gust of wind caught the machine and crashed it into a clumb of trees. The motor of the single-engined plane was thrown 30 feet.

Glen White, chief instructor for Peninsula Airways Company which owned the plane, said Reine had about 100 hours flying time. Miss Pental had been interested in flying for about two years but had never flown solo.



The girl was a native of Brantford, but lived and worked here. Reine had lived here for the past seven years. His body will be sent to Weyburn for burial.

Trucks Collide One Dead, Two Injured

CORNWALL, June 12.—(CP)—A collision between an automotive transport truck, loaded with new vehicles, and a loaded tractor trailer Sunday resulted in the death of one Kingston man and injury to two others.

Dead is Keith Abrams, 27, a truck passenger whose neck was broken. He died in an ambulance en route to hospital.

Injured are:

James Gates of Kingston, the truck driver, who suffered a possible shoulder fracture and shock.

Roy McLean, also of Kingston, a truck passenger, who suffered a badly cut forehead and possible skull fracture.

Romeo Boisclair of Cornwall, driver of the whey tractor trailer, escaped with a severe shaking up.

Police say the eastbound automotive transport collided with the left front of the railer. The impact loosened two automobiles and a truck which the transport was carrying. One car crushed the transport cab, pinning in the victims.

Inspector James Blackadder of the Cornwall township police, said a quantity of beer was taken from the wrecked cab. He said beer also was found in one of the vehicles the transport was carrying.

Further police investigation is being made.

22 Fatalities Reported In Weekend Mishaps

By The Canadian Press.

A plane crash killing two persons at Hamilton was among the 12 weekend accidents reported in Ontario, a list compiled today by The Canadian Press showed that in all of eastern Canada there were 22 fatalities and that Quebec —with 10—was the only other of the five eastern provinces to report fatal mishaps.

Traffic accidents were responsible for six of the deaths in Ontario.

George Isaac Reine, 43, formerly of Weyburn, Sask., and Miss Jean Pental, 19, formerly of Brantford, were killed when their light plane was caught by a strong gust of wind and dashed into trees as it came down for a landing at Hamilton Airport.

Dan Gallagher was killed when a car overturned at New Liskeard and Fred Wingfield, 50, was killed by a car at Toronto. Mrs. Bernice Chevalier, 22, and Arthur J. O'Sullivan, 30, were killed and the woman's husband, Herman Chevalier, injured when a car plunged into a ditch in North Tilbury township. At Leamington Ferro Ghetti was fatally injured in collision between a car and truck.

The sixth traffic victim was Keith Abrams, 27, of Kingston, killed when a truck collided with a tractor-trailer at Cornwall.

Five-year-old Larry Evoy was drowned Sunday at Pointe Au Baril, near Parry Sound. The body of a woman about 70 years of age was recovered from the Don River at Toronto, while the body of James Dwyer, 74-year-old trapper missing for several weeks, was found in a small lake near Sudbury.

At Cornwall, Leo Murphy, 38, died Sunday from injuries received when crushed in a paper drier at the Howard Smith Paper Mill there.

The Quebec fatalities was topped by a collision at Montreal that took three lives. Jean-Louis Bissonette, 17, Robert Turgeon, 21, and Raymond Denis, 19, were fatally injured when their car collided with another and then smashed into a tree.

Jail Fake Policemen

VANCOUVER, June 12 (CP)—Two Ontario youths who wanted to be policemen will be sentenced Thursday on impersonation charges after a masquerade involving fake badges and toy revolvers. Saturday 18-year-old Frank Guthenburg of Toronto and David Dalem of Alexandria, Ont., pleaded guilty. A dime-store detective's badge and glib talk enabled the youths, who moved here recently, to "chase criminals" with the help of real officers.

Ex-Superintendent Dies

Claude Jarman Gets First Grownup Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 12 (AP) The most famous student of Montgomery Bell Academy, Nashville, Tenn., is back in Hollywood for his first grown-up role.

He is Claude Jarman, Jr., who once played the wisful deer-lover in 'The Yearling'. The reason he is playing a grown-up role is obvious: he now is a towering six feet, two inches.

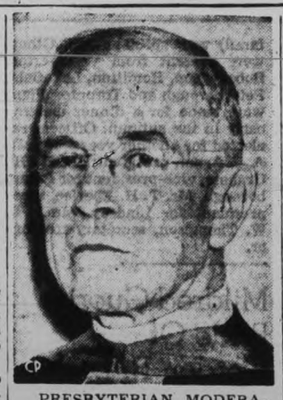
The blonde southerner is still on the sunny side of 16 years, but in John Ford's "Rio Bravo" he'll play a young man of 18.

"This is the best role Claude has had since 'The Yearling' his father remarked at lunch.

Gleeful Boy

"Except 'Intruder in the Dust,'" corrected young Claude. He was obviously enthusiastic about the role.

"Gee, I get an arrow in my shoulder, get horse-whipped and everything," he said with glee. Everything, that is, except romantic interests. He is still too young to make that convincing. The romance dept. will feature John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara.



Claude recently cut himself adrift from the home lot, MGM and is free-lancing.

He wasn't the only child actor to leave MGM lot, five years ago there were 19 in the studio school; today there are two — Dean Stockwell and Gary Gray.

"Children are just too expensive for the studios," explained Claude's father. "When they are working, school teachers, welfare workers and other special help have to be hired. And the kids can only work four hours a day. That makes it hard on the shooting schedule."

Capsule Review

"Duchess of Idaho" (MGM) follows the same old formula of throwing a lot of glittering elements together and hoping that something good will result. The recipe: Esther Williams' swimming, Van Johnson as a band leader, John Lund's farce, Sun Valley locations and specialities by Lena Horne, Eleanor Powell and Connie Haines. The result, however fancy it looks, is still hash. Best feature: Paula Raymond, a bright new face with great promise.

Elected President

KINGSTON, June 12 (CP)—Dr. C. A. Curtis, professor of economics at Queen's University and Mayor of the City of Kingston, was elected president of the Canadian Political Science Association Saturday at final meeting of the association's three-day session.

Find Trapper's Body After 7 Mos.

HAVELOCK, June 12 (ENS)—The body of Randall Hubble, 30-year-old trapper missing since November, has been found, according to a letter received by his uncle, Harry Hubble, Havelock, from his brother Bert Hubble of Wabowden, Manitoba.

The body of the trapper was found on May 28, but no other particulars were given in the letter.

Randall Hubble spent last summer at Churchill, going to Wabowden in September and going out to his camp with his dogs. He had 165 miles of trap line and often used a seaplane to cover his route. He had made three trips back to his home. When he left Wabowden on October 8, he told his parents that he might not return until December 1.

When he did not return by that date, his father hired a plane and flew to his camp where he found the trapper's dogs dead.

There was no trace of Hubble. His rifle, shotgun and canoe were also missing. Mr. Hubble thinks that the last time his son was at the camp would be about October 10, as he had taken four loaves of bread with him and three of them were left. He had written two words on the door of the camp but his father could not get any meaning out of them.

An extensive search was made for him at that time, his father making six trips by 'plane, but owing to the cold weather and the depth of snow, the search was abandoned until Spring.

A 'plane brought the body to the Pas where the funeral, which was under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, was held on May 31. The service was in the United Church and burial was in Lakeside cemetery.

Surviving besides his parents is a sister, Mrs. Henry Boyle in the U.S.A.

Mrs. O. Parcels, Mrs. Walter Davis of Havelock and Miss Lily Hubble of South Lake are aunts. Harry Hubble of Havelock and Charles Hubble of South Lake are uncles.

St. Laurent Asks Party Give Women Voice

OTTAWA, June 12 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent urged the Liberal party Saturday night to give women a greater voice in both party and public affairs.

"I would like to have at least one woman on our side of the House and in our caucus," said Mr. St. Laurent in a speech before a joint banquet meeting which included conventions here this week of the National Liberal Federation's Advisory Council and the National Federation of Liberal Women.

He said he was "disappointed when Miss Ruth Radford failed to win the recent by-election for Toronto Broadview which was won by the Progressive Conservatives. Presence of a woman in the all-male Liberal caucus "would be a good thing for the other 190 of us."

"I can do no more than appeal to provincial organizations and constituency organizations to do their utmost to give a larger place to women in their organizations, and to our women themselves to assume the place which is rightfully theirs.

The feminine members in the party did not expect recognition merely because they were women.

"All our Liberal women ask is that they shall not be kept in the background merely because they happen to be women."

Thanks Children For War Gifts To British Hospital

An opportunity to personally thank Americans who sent aid in the black days of the war has come to at least one Britisher, Miss Helen Critchley of Blackburn, Lancashire, who was a week-end guest here, told her fellow Soroptimists of the great pleasure this afforded her.

When attending the American Federation convention at New York in 1938, Miss Critchley became acquainted with Brooklyn Soroptimists, and through this connection Brooklyn school children later sent parcels of food and toys for the children's wing of Blackburn general hospital where she was matron. Miss Critchley recalled one Christmas when these parcels were the only sign of cheer, and last week in Brooklyn she visited each of the school classrooms and told pupils just how much their efforts had helped.

Miss Critchley's friend and travelling companion, Miss Ann Haworth, is to join the Blackburn Soroptimist Club this fall under sponsorship of Brooklyn Club, an unique arrangement planned to illustrate the friendship bond.

Peterborough, the sister club of Blackburn, has sent numerous parcels and gifts and each mem-

DOROTHY DIX

Sharing Home May Destroy Marriage in First Years

DEAR MISS DIX: My daughter is soon to be married and her father and I want her to start out alone in her own home. Her fiancee is at the present time assisting financially in his home. In his home, there are his mother, father, and younger brother. His mother feels that he ought to continue to contribute to the home and live with her after they are married. My daughter does not have to live there. Her father has told her he will assist them so that they can have their own place and that would enable the young man to still continue to help his people. Do you think that this young couple should start their married life with the groom's people?

Dorothy Dix

A WORRIED MOTHER.

ANSWER: I think that the greatest mistake that any young couple can possibly make is to go to live with either the bride's or the bridegroom's parents when they get married. It is simply jeopardizing their whole future lives. Years and years after marriage, when they have adjusted themselves to each other and acquired the art of living together, they might risk it—although it is always fraught with danger—but it is a hazard that should never be taken at the beginning of marriage.

Disappointments Inevitable

No matter how much the newlyweds love each other, no matter what fine and noble characters they are, the early days of marriage are bound to be full of disappointments and disillusion. They are going to find out that each has many faults and peculiarities that they never dreamed were concealed about their persons. Selfishness is bound to clash against selfishness. Habits conflict with habits. Both are bound to chafe at the restriction of liberties they never valued until they lost them. And they should be off alone when they make these discoveries and fight their inevitable battle for supremacy. There should be nobody sitting on the sidelines cheering them on and bidding them to stick up for their rights.

A young couple should live alone when they are first married because being by themselves draws them closer together. It makes them dependent upon each other for society and brings about a comradeship that they never have if they are living in a house full of other people. And most of all, for the young couple to go off alone saves those ghastly family quarrels that embitter so many lives. For the way to keep friends with your in-laws is not to live together. No house was ever built big enough for two families.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What is to be done when a mother is so wrapped up in her daughter that she cannot bear for the girl to be out of her sight? I am 30 years old and my mother has never left me alone one moment since I was born if she could help it. She wants me right at her heels all of the time and gets furious if I go out alone. She will not go out to any place because she does no want to leave me at home alone. I am only allowed ot have one date a week, and that provided I get home by 11 o'clock. Then I have to spend the following two hours listening to my mother tell how lonely she was without me and how selfish I am to leave her alone. I have never had any normal girlhood. Is there anyining I can do about it?

A SUPPRESSED DAUGHTER.

ANSWER: There is no reason why your whole life should be sacrificed to a neurotic woman's mother complex. The only possible way in which you can save yourself is to leave home. Get a jib in another city, even if you have to do housework. Do anything that will take you away from home, away from your mother's crushing monopoly of you, and that will give you a chance to meet new people and make fresh social contacts.

It is a strange thing that mothers so seldom realize that the worst thing that they can possibly do to a child is to monopolize it and to give it too much of their society. I never hear a mother boast that she is her daughter's best friend and chum or that she is her boy's pal without shuddering, for well I know how bored the poor girl and boy are with Mother; how they long to be rid of her; what a skeleton she is at all their feasts. Mothers should have enough sense to know that the best way to hold their children's love is not to make too great demands upon it.

As for a woman not giving her daughter of 30 any personal liberty and not permitting her to have dates and requiring her to be in at 11 o'clock, that is rank tyranny and the girl is silly to submit to it. It is time for her to stage a rebellion and demand personal freedom.

DEAR MISS DIX: In a controversy between husband and wife, wife contends that if you are in love you cannot see physical defects in the one you love. The husband contends that if you love you see the defects, but it does not affect your love. Which is right? THE McD.'s.

ANSWER: The husband. Loving does not affect one's eyesight or intelligence. It does not make you see a tall, romantic-looking chap in your short, tubby little husband, or behold your wife as Miss America if she happens to be fat and red-headed and snub-nosed. But it does not keep you from loving them.

The only people who have the faculty of seeing just what they wish to see in another are mothers.

Holds BC Indians Of Chinese Origin

VANCOUVER —(CP)— A Vancouver woman's fascination for skulls may prove the theory that British Columbia Indians originated in the heart of China.

Mrs. E. C. Von Engel-Baiersdorf assistant curator of the Vancouver museum, is a sculptor who recreates heads from ancient skulls. Her researches have led to substantiation of the Chinese-Indian theory.

Mrs. Baiersdorf lived six months on the Anahim Indian Reserve, at Henceville, BC, taking head measurements, handprints and samples of hair.

The measurements match Chinese measurements, prints have the whorls of Chinese fingerprints, instead of the combination whorls and arches of the whites have, and the hair is the straight variety known to Chinese, instead of the wavy hair of whites or kinky hair of negroes.

Mother-in-law Housing Factor

WHITLEY BAY, Northumberland, England —(CP)— Whitley Bay local council has decided that living with mother-in-law for two years shall constitute a hardship.

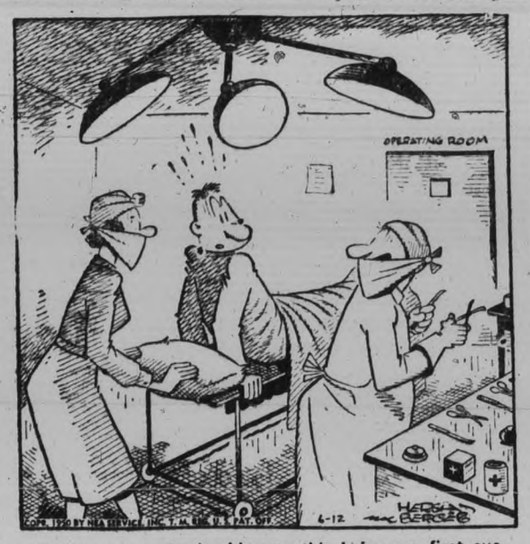
Under the scheme couples having mothers living with them for two years will earn a point towards a house. If mum has been living with them for four years they will get two points.

"Mothers-in-law," said J. D. Kidd, council chairman, "make any family's life hell, however good their intentions."

What's Right

In a social gathering if a woman's name is mentioned and you know some fact about her that might prejudice some of those present against her.

WRONG: Mention the fact, for the satisfaction of being able to contribute something the others may not know.



RIGHT: Keep the fact to yourself.

Plans Wedding Reception With 80 Guests Attending

By MARY MOORE

This wedding reception menu is totally different from any I have given you this year and I am describing it because one of our readers whom I met, asked me to describe it in the column, for she knew I was to be a guest the following Saturday.

I am so glad it was well managed for it does make good reading for prospective bride's mothers.

When the eighty guests arrived at the club where the reception was held, the bride's party was photographed in a private apartment, and guests milled around and greeted long-lost friends.

The fun proper started when the receiving line formed.

The bride's mother, a dear and long-time friend of mine, was first in line and like the good leader she is introduced every guest without a hitch to the bridegroom's father and mother, when it was necessary.

The bride was lovely, cool and composed and smiling, offered to let her young girl friends be kissed once by the groom. They made great fun of this. The young men, of course, once they had kissed the bride, a habit easily acquired, kissed the bridesmaids too!

The father of the bride, an extra special favorite of our family, brought them up short at the end of the receiving line by sticking his ruddy face out and saying "Kiss it if you dare."

We all signed the guest book presided over by the minister. This gracious gentleman had made the religious service especially dear to me with the personal warmth he injected into the ceremony—for the bride and groom are workers in his Sunday School.

The tables were set with quite adequate cold supper—that could be called salad plates, but they were ample enough to take the place of suppers and because it was a sit-down meal, the gentlemen were all happy.

Reception Supper Menu

Tomato Juice
Cold Salad plates (see below)
Rolls and Butter
Celery Curls
Ice Cream Variegated Cookies
Wedding Cake
Coffee Orange Punch

The plates were pretty. Each one contained three lettuce cups and these were filled with chicken salad, potato salad, and a little pile of daintily shredded carrots. These, and the dishes of celery curls, tomato juice, and variegated cookies made the long table so pretty, only the bride's table had flowers.

The bride's table was banked with mauve sweet peas and some yellow daisies with yellow centres, the botanical name of which I could not learn. The three-tiered wedding cake was the centre of interest among all this beauty.

When the first course was finished plates were cleared and ice cream served.

At this stage the minister asked for our attention while the bride cut the cake, in pretty confusion.

Soon the largest cake had been cut into strips and these were passed to us before our ice cream was finished.

Then coffee was served.

After this had been cleared a glass of delicious orange punch was given to everyone to drink the toasts and this interesting scene was "emceed" by the minister with masterful co-opration from the 21-year-old groom.

He was a charming young man who remembered to thank four of his parents, old and new, and to eulogize the bride "just right."

The father of the bride could do no wrong for us, but his toast was a joy.

After a few more toasts the bride retired to a private apartment and changed to her navy suit with flamingo pink organdie head-hugging hat, and same shade of sheer nylon gloves.

She was a dream, as in her most winsome manner, instead of throwing her bouquet, she gave it to her 83-year-old paternal grandmother, whose smiling eye held one tear. Was she remembering?

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Would you mind printing in your column recipes that you use for peanut butter cookies? Also recipe for that fast cake you make by putting flour and sugar and shortening into bowl first, and beating a certain number of strokes. It also can be made on electric beater I think. You soften the shortening first. Thank you—but no hurry.

OH MIN

ANSWER: This is the recipe I make indouble quantities—and even then I seldom have enough left on the second day to pass for afternoon tea if one of the neighbors drops in.

Peanut Butter Cookies

One-quarter cup shortening, ½ cup each brown sugar, white sugar, peanut butter or peanut crush, 1 egg, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt. Cream the sugar and shortening togethen, then add peanut butter and mix well. Add the slightly beaten egg and then all of the dry ingredients (these do not require sifting). Roll into balls in moistened palms and place on buttered cookie sheet. Press rather flat with fork dipped in flour and bake at 375 deg. for about 10 minutes. If desired one half peanut may be pressed in centre of each cookie.

The cake you refer to used to be called flapped cake but it has a new glamour title now—

Starlight Cake

Into a mixing bown measure 2 cups sifted flour, 1 2-3 cups sugar, ½ cup very soft shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, and 2-3 cup milk. Beat with spoon or electric beater for 2 minutes or 200 strokes, scraping down bowl frequently. Add 3½ teaspoons baking powder and quickly stir it in, then add 4 egg whites and an additional 1-3 cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla and beat 2 minutes or 200 strokes. Put in 2 9-inch layer cake tins, buttered and floured. Bake at 360 deg. Fahr. about 30 minutes. The batter is thin, but do not worry—it turns out beautifully.

Broiled ground beef cakes (4 oz. 300 cal.)
Asparagus with lemon juice and salt (8 stalks 32 cal.).
Grated carrot and cabbage salad (with 1 teaspoon mayonnaise, 6 oz. 25 cal.)
One pint fresh strawberries (unsweetened) (24 hulled 72 cal.)
Clear coffee (0 cal.)

High-Calorie Dinner

One-Burner Dinner

Cheese-stuffed celery stalks
Boiled spareribs with sauer kraut
Boiled new potatoes in jackets
Lemon sherbet (homemade if you have an electric refrigerator)
Cocoanut macaroons Coffee

Directions

I have changed my routine at afternoon tea time—you do remember that I am a reducer too don't you? Instead of taking 2 cups of tea with whole milk, I take an 8-ounce glass tomato juice and 1 rye crisp wafer. This fills me just enough to keep me from nibbling while I am getting dinner ready and adds only 50 cal. Instead of the 100 or 150 I would get from eating an orange or a thin slice whole wheat bread with butter. Try it, reducers.

Lemon Sherbet

One and one quarter cups sugar, 3 cups milk, ¾ cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons gelatine, 1 tablespoon cold water. Add sugar to the milk which should be warmed, and stir until dissolved, then slowly add the lemon juice, grated rind and salt. Soak the gelatine in the 1 tablespoon cold water for 5 minutes, then place over hot water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add this to first mixture. Pour into freezing tray with control at coldest position, and freeze until mushy. Stir until smooth. Freeze now until firm. If desired it may be beaten a third time before serving to insure a very smooth texture.

Press Delegates Go To Ottawa

MONTREAL, June 12 (CP)—Imperial Press Conference delegates will leave here late today for Ottawa after spending a quiet week-end.

Their three-day stay here was the second round of their conference in several Canadian centres. The first was in Quebec where most overseas delegates landed last week.

The 80 delegates, 64 from Commonwealth countries and the rest from Canada will be received at city hall here during the afternoon and will be guests of the Newsprint Association of Canada at a luncheon. They also will pay a brief visit to the Montreal Men's Press Club in the evening before boarding a train for Ottawa.

Delegates Sunday attended a garden party at the suburban Dorval home of J. W. McConnell, publisher of the Montreal Daily Star and associate newspapers, and then were taken for a cruise down the St. Lawrence River.

Shortly after their arrival Saturday, the newspaper heads sat down at a banquet here.

John Bassett, president of the Gazette Printing Company, Ltd., of Montreal, warned the meeting that whenever liberty is to be ended, the freedom of the press is the first to be curbed and then taken away from free people.

Sea Cadets Take First Cruise

The call "Ship Ahoy" rang up and down the Trent canal Saturday as Peterborough sea cadets of the R.C.S.C. Howe made their first cruise of the season.

In two cutters, powered by outboard motors, and a whaler under sail the sea cadets left the Lift Lock Saturday afternoon at 2.30 on a cruise to Clear lake. Arriving at the chosen camp site at 6.30 the boys prepared their night's camp. They returned to Peterborough Sunday by bus.

The boats were left at Clear lake, where there is more space for the training periods. The two cutters will be brought back to Peterborough in a few weeks; the whaler will be left there for the summer.

The cruise was conducted by Lt. Stewart Gardiner, second in command of the ship, and Sub-Lt. Bill Kerr and Sub-Lt. Garry Stevenson.

Lt. William Thomas, commander of the ship, said today that there would probably be several more cruises before the end of the summer.

Assessors Study Hydro Exemption

Development of a higher professional status of assessors was advocated by Eric Hardy, director of the Bureau of Municipal Research, at the convention of the Association of Assessing Officers of Ontario in Windsor last week. Assessment Commissioner Norman A. Wilkes attended.

Mr. Hardy suggested the association should ally itself with a university to set up a course of special study and training. Older men in assessment work should be permitted to carry on and do their job until retirement, but at that time young men with qualifications should be employed for assessment vacancies.

Max R. Sloan of the Department of Municipal Affairs discused the new assessment manual which is to be issued shortly by the department.

The conference reject a resolution to increase from the present 25% to 75% the business assessment of properties selling spirits, including hotels, restaurants, taverns, etc.

The assessing officers approved a resolution which in effect would allow assessment and taxation of utilities commission property with certain specified limits.

The point of this resolution was that exemptions granted Hydro power commissions meant that property owners were now contributing an amount of taxes which could be borne by the commissions, and thereby subsidizing non-property owners and the businesses by providing them with cheaper light and power. The conference voted to refer this resolution to the Associaiton of Mayors and Reeves for its approval.

Four Congregations Unite To Mark 25th Anniversary

The United Church of Canada has vindicated the Protestant belief in individual judgment, the Rev. E. M. House, Bloor Street Church, Toronto, Sunday night told a mass congregation of four United Church congregations.

On Sunday there were two mass services—one at George Street United and the other at Knox United—to mark the 25th anniversary of the founding of the United Church. Congregations from Trinity, St. Andrew's, Mark St., and George St. were present at George St.

A choir of some 90 voices was conducted by Harry Northrop with Charles Allen at the organ.

Mr. Howse recalled that some theologians had maintained that the Protestant belief in "individual judgment" meant that Protestantism carried within it the seeds of its own destruction.

Most Dramatic Proof

According to this view the Protestant body would have endless divisions and new sects would spring up as each new group adhered to "individual judgment." And the Protestants would become less and less a spiritual community.

"The United Church of Canada is the most dramatic proof since the Reformation that this thesis cannot be maintained," said Mr. Howse. He described the United Church as a reformation within the Reformation.

"It is in the vanguard of a movement for the strengthening of the Protestant church."

It was too soon for final judgment as the United Church is only 25 years old, he continued, but who could have predicted the course of Christendom 25 years after Martin Luther nailed his theses to the door of the Wittenberg Cathedral.

7,000 Preaching Places

Today the United Church has some 2,000,000 members—nearly 400,000 more than when it began in 1925. "Our church is preaching the gospel in about 7,000 places in Canada," said Mr. Howse, and we are growing at a rate equalled by no other Protestant church in Canada."

"The Church of Jesus Christ has good title deeds to Canada," he said. At the dawn of Canadian history in 1534 Jacques Cartier had planted a huge cross on the Gaspe shore. It was a symbol of the part the Christian Church would have in the subsequent history of the Dominion.

The history of the movement which led up to church union in 1925 is concurrent with four important developments in the life of this country, he said.

There was the immigration of Protestant stock from Europe early in the 19th century. At that time there was a union of several Protestant groups.

"Next came responsible government in 1840. The demand for political autonomy corresponded with a demand for autonomy in the churches."

In the period immediately following the grant of responsible government there were 10 unions between Methodists and Presbyterians.

"The third tide was Confederation. It set all problems and enterprises on a national scale and the churches living at that time could not fail but be affected," he said.

Within 10 years after Confederation all Methodists and Presbyterians joined to form single churches, he related, but rivalry between the two—particularly during the settlement of the west—continued.

At the turn of the century there came mass immigration and in 1925 some 3100 churches entered the new United Church. But it was consummating a union that already existed in fact if not in theory.

"The development of the United Church is intertwined with the destiny of Canada," stated Mr. Howse.

Two Explosions At Non-Strikers'

MORRISTOWN, Tenn., June 12 (AP). — Deafening dynamite blasts went off in the darkness early Sunday at the homes of two non-striking American Enka Corporation rayon workers.

Sheriff Robert Medlin said eight persons were asleep in the home of Murry Bible when somebody tossed the explosive in a ditch by the front yard. Window panes were shattered and the mail-box flattened, but nobody was hurt.

The second blast was in Hugh Bloomer's front yard near Bean Station, about 30 miles from the Bible residence. Here again there were no injuries.

The new outcropping of violence came as a strike of the Textile Workers Union (CIO) against the plant entered its 11th week. Medlin said the explosions were the third and fourth aimed at the non-strikers since the union walked out to back up demands for extra pay and other benefits amounting to 23 cents an hour.

New Communion Set Dedicated

HAVELOCK, June 12 (ENS) — The Rev. Alvin Cooper, secretary of the Board of Christian Education of the United Church of Canada, was guest speaker at the morning service on Sunday in Havelock United Church when a new communion set was dedicated.

Mrs. Thomas Percival of George St. United Church, Peterborough, was the guest soloist, singing a hymn at the communion service. The choir selections included a girls' anthem by Brenda Lucas, Betty Post, Elva Gerow, Eleanor Scott, Beulah Chase, Edith Thompson and Marie Vanderburgh; a solo, "Bless This House" by R. Dooley.

The congregations of Norwood, Hastings and Havelock, united for the evening service at Norwood, when the speakers were the Rev. B. S. Morwood, Rev. M. J. Aiken and Mr. R. F. Downey of Peterborough. A massed choir from the three churches led the service of song under the direction of Charles Carter of Havelock, with Mrs. J. H. Caskey as organist and Mrs. Baker at the piano.

At Rush Point Church on Sunday evening, the service was conducted by the student Minister Mr. Morley Hodder. The Rev Nathaniel Cole of Hastings was guest speaker.

Realize Brotherhood of Man As Children of One God

One increasing purpose of the United Church of Canada is to realize the brotherhood of man as the children of one God, the Rev. Alvin J. Cooper, associate secretary to the Board of Christian Education, said Sunday night in Knox church.

Mr. Cooper was the guest speaker at the mass meeting of the United churches in the southern section of the city, Knox, St. James and Grace, and the rural churches to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the formation of the United Church of Canada. His topic was "The Church, Past Present and Future."

Although one-fifth of the citizens of Canada claim to be members of the United Church, actually there are no members of the United Church but all are members of a Christian church universal, he said.

What Church Means

The significance of the anniversary he said, is not altogether what has happened to the church as a whole but what it means to the individual. In Calgary, said Mr. Cooper, in one United Church the Presbyterians and the Methodists for years after the union sat on separate sides of the church.

The first opportunity for the church to show strength was during the depression. The churches, he explained, became distributing agents of Ontario clothing and food for the people of the western provinces. Today at conferences, he said, the church still deals with the realities of life as well as the spiritual.

During the past month, he said, there has been a similar experience in the flood area of Winnipeg. There the Protestants, Hebrews and Catholics rallied as one with a common responsibility and danger.

The past 10 years, he said, has been a period of difficult times for the church. The civilized people of the world, he added, used their intelligence to kill one another failing to realize that Russian and German children are God's children too.

At the present said Mr. Cooper the church is expanding quickly. Recently in Toronto, he said, two large organizations have been organized with possibilities of others.

"The United Church is predominantly a church run by lay people," said Mr. Cooper. Ninety-nine percent of the membership are lay people of which 50,000 are volunteer Sunday School teachers.

Never has there been a day when there has been such a shortage of leadership, he said. A nation can only go as far as the integrity of its leaders.

Cause of World Confusion

The confusion in the world today Mr. Cooper linked with the relationships between men. The people of the world, he said, are suffering more from mental illness than physical. He added that people cannot be healthy unless they are spiritually healthy. In some way, he said, people must learn that this is God's world and that they are God's children.

Choirs of Knox and St. James churches combined for the celebration under the direction of William R. Potter at the organ and Mrs. Charles Renaud. An organ-piano prelude was presented by Mrs. Renaud and Mr. Porter.

Assisting in the service were: the Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox church; the Rev. Fred Craik of St. James church; the Rev. H. F. Malcolm of Hiawatha; and Fred Barnard of the Laymen's Association of the Peterborough Presbytery.

Rain Helping To Quell Flames

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 12 — (CP)—Rain helped weary Newfoundland firefighters during the week-end but today they kept a watch on outbreaks that threatened two settlements.

Showers Sunday night and a light rain today held in check a blaze that crept within four miles of Grand Falls, home of the Anglo - Newfoundland Development Company, paper-making operators.

Another wall of flame was halted less than three miles from the northeast port of Lewisporte, where 2,000,000 gallons of gasoline for the nearby Gander Airport are stored.

Fire hose was strung along the main streets of Grand Falls. Volunteers also built a water reserve at Windsor, across the Canadian National Railways line from Grand Falls.

The Canadian National Steamships coast vessel Springdale, standing by to evacuate Lewisporte's 1,500 persons if necessary, Saturday night resumed her regular Notre Dame Bay run.

Strangers In The Sky

CAMPBELLFORD, June 12. —(ENS).—Strange things have been happening recently in the skies at Campbellford and the residents are gradually developing into a race of star-gazers.

A group of people gathered on Sunday night to watch an unidentified object in the sky, and after it had been visible for two hours, there were many conjectures, but no one could claim to know what the object really was.

Unlike the mysterious "thing" seen at Campbellford on March 27, this one did not go through the same series of acrobats. It was in a different part of the sky and moved only a little, changing from white to green, to red and then back to white.

General Raps London Reporter

TOKYO, June 12 (AP)—Frank Hawley, Tokyo correspondent for The Times of London, said today he has been advised he is considered "persona non grata" (an unacceptable person) by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

There was no move to restrict Hawley's privileges and no request for him to leave Japan.

Hawley, ranking British diplomat, who is also Times correspondent here, said he was told headquarters considers his reports on Japan and the occupation "subjective and not objective."

Hawley said Maj.-Gen. E. M Almond, MacArthur's chief of staff, told him June 8 a careful study of his dispatches by headquarters proved his opposition to Communism. So it was difficult for headquarters therefore to understand why he should "criticize MacArthur's administration."

The Times correspondent said Almond told him "no accredited correspondent should publish any news likely to interfere with MacArthur's objectives. Those who do so might be considered security risks."

Ex-Moderator Dr. Stewart Dies

MONTREAL, June 12 (CP) — Dr. A. C. Stewart, 74, of Midland a former Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada died Thursday with a cerebral hemorrhage while preparing to attend the current 76th general assembly of the church.

Dr. F. Scott Mackenzie, newly-elected Moderator, expressed regret at church services today over the loss of Dr. Stewart and extended sympathy to the family.

Dr. Stewart had been minister of Knox Church since 1937. Prior to that he had been at Grafton, at Mornington, in Stratford Presbytery, at Acton and at Chalmers Church, Toronto.

Dr. Stewart, who was elected Moderator in 1944, was stricken in hospital Sunday.

His body is being returned to Midland for funeral services and will rest in state in Knox Church from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday. Interment will be at Acton, following a graveside service there at 7:30 Wednesday evening

Dr. Stewart leaves his wife, the former Margaret Campbell McDonald; two daughters, Mrs. E. M. Moles, Toronto, and Grace, at home, and one son, William McDonald Stewart, Pembroke.

SD & G Veterans Kingston Rally

More than 500 members of the wartime Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders attended the third annual reunion in Kingston over the week-end. Seventy-five members of the local Association of the S.D. and G's formed the Peterborough contingent, some arriving in Kingston Friday and others Saturday morning by car and bus.

Following the registration Saturday morning the Highlanders held an informal get-together in the afternoon and a banquet in the armouries in the evening. The chairman of the reunion and master of ceremonies for the dinner was Major Allan MacNabb of Kingston, formerly of Peterborough. Speakers were: Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne of Toronto, Brigadier D. G. Cunningham of Kingston, Lt.-Col. A. M. Irvine of Cornwall, officer commanding the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders at Cornwall, and the various presidents of the associations at Brockville, Peterborough, Cornwall and Kingston.

Sunday morning the Highlanders paraded to the 21st Battalion War Memorial where a wreath was placed. The march past there was taken by Brig. Cunningham. Names of the fallen of the S.D. and G's were read by Major J. A. Forman of Kingston and the service was conducted by Capt. Joseph Cardy of Kingston.

The reunion was the first occasion that the SDG's have been back to Kingston since 1940 as a unit.

Fainting Girls

MILLBROOK, June 12 (ENS) —When there has been only one other case of a girl fainting all through the year it seemed odd that no fewer than four high school girls fainted at school on Friday morning. Perhaps it was the sudden heat wave, or else reaction to the last day of regular classes.

There were songs by Francis DeCarrol and Aldyth Arthur. A mother and daughter team consisting of Mrs. George Nicholls and Anne, played a piano duet and the boy trio of the Campbellford Citizen's Band —James Baker, Elmer Kelly and Bob Nicholls entertained on their cornets. Willie The Whip Brings Laborites From Hospital Beds To Vote

LONDON, June 12 —(AP)— A taxi drew up in front of parliament one night a few weeks ago, and a man jumped out. He tripped and fell, with one leg doubled up under him.

Although abviously in pain, he insisted on being helped into the House of Commons to take part in a critical vote. Then he went to a hospital to have his broken leg set.

A few nights later two ambulances rolled into the Commons yard and their occupants were carried into the chamber on stretchers to ballot on a controversial measure.

All three were Labor members of parliament. Their devotion to duty symbolized the work of a man relatively unknown outside of British official circles—"Willie the Whip."

"Willie" is Rt. Hon. William Whiteley, 68, parliamentary secretary to the treasury—a job that carries with it the sometimes onerous duties of chief government whip.

Important Cog

This silver-topped, ruddy-faced former coal miner is one of the most important cogs in the delicately-balanced machinery of the Labor government. It is his job to see that the government doesn't fall through negligence.

Whiteley is, in effect, the part-time master of the Labor MP's. He can—and often does—direct their daily lives when parliament is in session.

Whiteley draws his power from the fact that Labor holds an elected majority of only six seats in the 625-member House. That means whenever an important piece of legislation comes before Commons, the government leaders can feel the hot breaths of the opposition Conservatives on their necks.

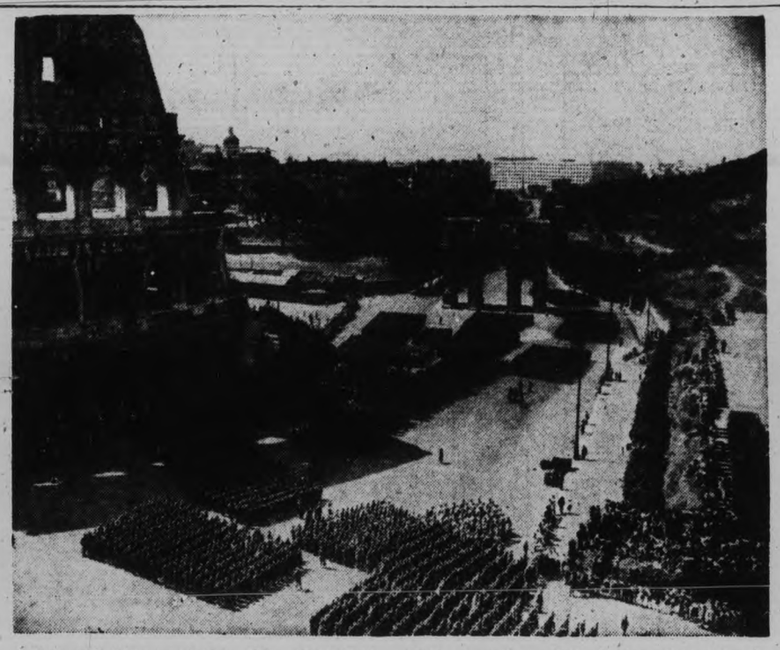
If the government should be defeated on an issue it regards as critical, Prime Minister Attlee, following custom, probably would ask the King to dissolve parliament. That would force a new national election.

Most political observers in Britain agree that an early election is inevitable but the government hopes to set the balloting for a time of its own choosing.

So "Willie" keeps his whip poised. Any Labor member who ignores it does so at the peril of his good party standing.

Actually, there is no such title as "Whip" in British law. It derives from the printed schedule listing the day's business in Comons.

Whenever important legislation is pending and a record vote seems likely, Whiteley has the printer underline the measure three times. That is known as a three-line whip—an imperative summons for a member who is absent when the vote is called faces a dressing-down from the chief—and possibly even expulsion from the party.



Whiteley is a member of parliament for Blaydon, Durham, near the Scottish border. He draws £3,000 ($9,300) a year extra as chief government whip.

TORONTO, June 12.—(CP).—Nelson Forward, 17, Sunday was charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency after police said they had found he had been living for the past week with a homeless 14-year-old girl on a boat moored on the lake front in East Toronto. The girl told police she had been without a home since her mother was sentenced to jail for false pretences.

4,000,000 Unemployed Threat To Italian Democracy

ROME, June 12—(AP)—Italy's struggling young democracy is seriously threatened by continued unemployment or under-employment of nearly 4,000,000 Italian workers.

This was the recent public warning of James D. Zellerbach, chief of the United States economic co-operation administration mission in Italy.

To help remove this danger to democracy, Zellerbach says, Italy needs a good old-fashioned price war to wake up business and create more jobs.

ECA officials are critical of what they term the Italian business man's psychology of high profits and low volume of production.

Need Competition

They see real price competition as the only way to cut Italy's costs, boost its purchasing power and raise lagging living standards, the lowest in western Europe.

The ECA mission in Italy is frankly worried over high unemployment despite the general recovery of Italian economy. Some 1,800,000 workers have no jobs and another 2,000,000 are employed only seasonally or part-time.

Zellerbach terms unemployment "one of the greatest dangers to a free society in Italy." He admits, however, that there is no easy formula for solving it.

Makes Proposals

In recent talks with Italy's business and government leaders, Zellerbach asked support for a program of democratic capitalism to help overcome the country's chronic unemployment. He proposed:

1. A vigorous government-ECA program to stimulate emigration and help relieve the surplus in Italy's labor market.
2. Creation of 3,800,000 new full-time jobs through expanded production and lower prices.
3. Breaking up of monopoly arrangements in markets and prices to stimulate real price competition.
4. A powerful Italian bid to capture export trade through lower prices and better selling campaigns.
5. Overhauling of Italy's complicated and obsolete tax system to encourage business initiative and lower costs.

ECA economists estimate that if Italy's 3,800,000 jobless or part-time workers could be given work at average wages, equal to about $48 a month, it would boost the value of Italy's home market by around 10 per cent of nearly $1,000,000,000 yearly.

Development of this new consumer's market, says Zellerbach, would automatically solve Italy's chronic unemployment problem.

OTTAWA TO PAY MILLION TO JAPANESE

Crack Down On Britain For Markets

Gardiner Prepared To Get Tough With Some Officials

OTTAWA, June 13—(CP)—Agricultural Minister Gardiner said Monday night in the Commons he is prepared to talk tough to some people in Britain in an effort to open markets for more Canadian products.

It was time, he said, that Canada stopped talking "nicely" to some people in Britain when she tried to obtain British markets for Canadian food products. It was time for "more direct" talk by Canada.

This would not apply to all people of Britain, but to "one or two" persons with whom he had trade deals in London. About a year ago Mr. Gardiner told the Commons that there were some officials in Britain who were not anxious to import any food products from Canada except wheat.

The question of trade with Britain was raised by Opposition members who urged the government to "suggest" to the United Kingdom that, in view of Canada's generous help to her during the war years, she reopen her market to Canadian apples.

"I might as well be perfectly candid," said Mr. Gardiner. "I have done every nice thing I know of to try and persuade those who come here to talk about buying food, but I have not succeeded.

Too Nice

"Others have gone over there and attempted to be even nicer than I was in the last stages of the discussions, and they have not succeeded. I think it is about time we stopped talking nicely to some people over in Britain.

"That does not apply to very many people, just one or two; but until they are spoken to directly I do not think we should look for very much success in the marketing of some of those products in that country...."

In the agriculture debate, E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamlops) and H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay

1,300 Claim BC Property Sold Cheaply

Justice Bird's Report Tabled In House After 3-Year Study

OTTAWA, June 13—(CP)—Justice Minister Garson announced today the government will pay $1,222,829 to some 1,300 Canadians of Japanese origin as the result of a Commission study of claims that their British Columbia properties, seized in wartime, were sold too cheaply.

He tabled in the Commons the report of Mr. Justice H. I. Bird of the British Columbia Court of Appeal and praised the Judge for his "monumental" work during a period of two years and four months.

Mr. Garson said the money to cover the claims will be sought from parliament in the form of a supplementary estimate.

Mr. Garson said the Commissioner, appointed in July, 1947, dealt in all with 1,434 claims involving not only homes and farms but businesses, cars, trucks and other possessions.

The background is the war scare that developed around the time of Pearl Harbor and led the government, as a security step, to disperse the Japanese-Canadians east of the Rockies. Thousands of them now have been permanently settled outside B.C.

The minister said Mr. Justice Bird also dealt with 16 separate cases on which he made individual reports. These were not being tabled until they had been considered by the Federal Treasury Board.

They represented claims for $150,000.

Wreck Delays Train

TORONTO, June 13 (CP) —A freight derailment June 11 one mile east of Long Lac, Ont, on the Canadian National Railways main line resulted in an 11-hour delay in transcontinental traffic, C.N.R. officials said today. The track, blocked after several freight cars were derailed, was cleared at 7.40 a.m. EST Monday after a delay of more than 12 hours.

Labor Party Rejects European Union

LONDON, June 13 — (AP) — The Labor party today called for Britain to keep out of further programs for European political and economic union until united-minded continental countries adopt broad socialism.

The strong policy statement, which rejected the Schuman plan for pooling European coal and steel, came as Prime Minister Attlee prepared to explain to the House of Commons later today why his government is staying out of the six-power talks on the plan June 20.

Though not an official government declaration, the party statement was seen as an answer to critics that Britain is impeding the progress of European recovery by a "go-slow" attitude toward European unity proposals.

The statement, issued by the party's national executive committee, made plain that Labor leaders fear mergers with Europe may jeopardize their program of full employment and mounting production through government planning.

Comes First

It also emphasized that to the Labor party, European unity is not "an overriding end in itself," that national sovereignty and Britain's obligations to her globe-girdling Commonwealth of dollar-supplying colonies and dominions must come first.

The party made clear its belief that effective operation of joint international planning required Socialism in the countries participating. Such planning "means nothing" unless all industries "fit their investment program into a European plan."

"Nothing less than public ownership can insure this fully," the party statement asserted.

The committee report also declared:

1—That Europe's people do not want a controlling international authority above their individual governments (as the Schuman plan would set up for coal and steel).

2—Formation of a "complete union, political or economic," in Europe is neither possible nor desirable. Sudden elimination of internal trade barriers would "in the short term cause serious dislocation, unemployment and loss of production."

3—The organization for European economic co-operation —the European planning group for Marshall Plan aid— "has so far signally failed to make real progress in co-ordinating the operation of Europe's basic industries."

4—"Socialists would welcome a European Economic union which was based on international planning for full employment, social justice and stability. But international planning can only operate on the basis of national planning. And many European governments have not yet shown either the will or the ability to plan their own economies."

Hope For 45 On Plane Ends After Ditching In Sea; Only Six Survivors Found

French Aircraft Crashes In Persian Gulf After Asking For Landing Instructions; Fishing Boats Recover Six Unidentified Dead

PARIS, June 13—(AP)—Air France said today "it is feared that all hope is lost" for all but six of the 51 passengers and crew of a C-54 plane that ditched into the sea near Bahrein in the Persian Gulf Monday night. Survivors include four men passengers, a radio operator and the Chief Pilot Jean Fladek who was seriously injured when the plane came down into the sea three miles off the runway at Bahrein Island after it had already been given landing instructions.

The bodies of four men and two women—all still unidentified—were recovered by fishing boats.

Still missing are 39 persons, including one infant.

Asks Instructions

The plane was making a hop from Karachi, Pakistan, to Cairo, and had been scheduled to make a landing at Bahrein. The pilot radioed the airport for landing instructions 10 minutes before its scheduled arrival. After that nothing more was heard from the plane.

Jean Sladek, one of the company's veteran pilots, was in command of the ship. It was flying from Saigon to Paris.

Air France said it was still hoped other survivors would be found.

An official at Air France said the plane's passenger list had not been received in Paris yet, but he believed all aboard were of French nationality except one displaced person without a passport.

Experienced Crew

The company said Sladek had loggtd 19,50 hours of flying time. In addition to the pilot, the eight-member crew included a radio pilot, two radio operators, two mechanics, a hostess and a steward.

The company said first news of the crash was received from Calcutta. Those already saved have been taken to Bahrein, the company announcement said.

An official at Air France said the Paris office had received no advisory cables that any government officials or well-known personalities were aboard.

Mystery Girl Search Being Pressed

BRANTFORD, June 13 (CP)—Police today pressed a search for a "mystery girl" hiding in the swamp-blotched Mount Pleasant area five miles south of here.

There was some possibility she was Mabel Crumback, 19, missing since early May 28 from her home in York Township, a Toronto suburb.

Police stressed, however, that descriptions given by two persons who spotted the terrified young woman Monday do not tally with official police descriptions of the Crumback girl.

Seen By Farmers

First to see her was farmer Albert McAlister. He was driving cattle to pasture Monday. Their noise awakened the girl, and she fled.

Another farmer, Howard Kellam, said he saw the girl soon after. She was running down a path toward some dense bushland. He, too, was convinced she was the Crumback girl.

Police used an airplane, saddle horses and cruiser cars in the search. Boy Scouts from Brantford were organized to comb the area in which the girl still is believed hiding.

Two sets of footprints, the ashes of a dead fire, a flattened burlap bag at the edge of a thicket and crushed patches in a wheatfield all were believed clues to her presence.

Canada Pledges $850,000 To Help Backward Areas

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 12—(CP)—Canada told a Russian-boycotted technical assistance conference that she is ready to give $850,000 to the United Nations program to aid backward areas. The United States pledged $10,000,000 to $12,500,000 and Britain $2,100,000. Contributions of other countries are expected to be announced later in the three-day sessions.

John Holmes, acting head of the Dominion's delegation, announced Canada's contribution.

The pledges were made after Yugoslavia had tried unsuccessfully to get the world-wide conference to send a belated invitation to Communist China.

With Russia and eight other Cominform members boycotting the meeting, Yugoslavia was the only Communist country attending. The meeting rejected the Yugoslav proposal 26 to 9, with 13 countries abstaining.

Technical Assistance

Holmes told the conference that the money contributed should be "devoted primarily to technical assistance which will contribute to increasing food supplies, improving health and social standards, efficient administration and developing essential natural resources, rather than to grandiose projects which will wither away."

The Canadian contribution would be made in Canadian dollars. It is subject to the approval of Parliament.

"We think . . . that what may be our most useful contribution is the sharing of the experience which we have gained in taming our own vast territories," Holmes said.

Hint Violence In Indian Death

LONDON, Ont., June 13 (CP) —Possibility of violence in an Indian drinking party on the banks of the Thames River here Monday night is being investigated by police following the finding of the body of a young Indian in the river.

The man was identified by a brother-in-law, William Sickles, of Vanessa, near Delhi, as Leman Summers, about 25. Last the brother-in-law had heard of him, he said, Summers was working on a farm near St. Thomas.

Coroner Dr. A. R. Routledge said Summers had a fractured skull and possibly other injuries. He also had a bad gash in his head, but there was no water in his lungs.

Residents of the area told police they saw at least four men drinking on the top of the 20-foot high abutment a short time earlier. Police found a six-pint case of beer, empty, and an empty bottle of wine at the scene. All but one beer bottle had been smashed on the concrete apron at the foot of the abutment, which is just two feet from the water's edge.

Trio Surrenders At Gunpoint To Police

TORONTO, June 13 (CP) — Three housebreaking suspects left a trail of jewelry, furs, swim suits and sports clothes in a North Toronto street chase today before surrendering at gunpoint to police early today.

Captured after police had fired six shots were John Rarlin Rice, 27; James Rispoli, 33, and Sam Rispoli, 28. The loot was reported stolen from the home of Mike Trela, manufacturer's agent. A fourth suspect escaped.

Get Best Flour If Pay For It

OTTAWA, June 13— (CP). — A government spokesman said today that Canada could supply Ceylon "the best flour in the world" if she was willing to pay for it.

He was commenting on an announcement at Colombo, Ceylon, today that Ceylon has stopped all further purchases of Canadian flour until Canadian suppliers could guarantee "good quality" flour.

Emphasizing that the government, itself, had not been involved in the deal by which Ceylon purchased flour from Canadian millers, the spokesman said he "understood the order was for flour from low-grade Canadian wheat."

"It is manifestly unfair to compare flour milled from low-grade Canadian wheat with top quality Australian wheat," said the spokesman. "Wheat and flour are like any other commodities—you get what you pay for. Top-grade Canadian wheat makes the best flour in the world."

Overturned 'Criuser' Turns Out Driftwood

PICTON, June 13 (CP) — An overturned cabin cruiser reported adrift five miles off-shore in Lake Ontario Monday turned out to be a piece of rotting driftwood Provincial Police said today.

A search began early Monday for possible survivors after a lake freighter reported an overturned boat off Point Petre near here. Three aircraft from Trenton RCAF station made a search. One pilot reported seeing survivors in the water but closer inspection showed the report was incorrect.

Today Provincial Police towed the derelict ashore. They said it was the roof of a cabin cruiser.

West German Republic Balances Trade First Time

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 13.—(AP).— The West German Republic has balanced its trade with Western Europe for the first time since the war, American officials announced Monday night.

The Germans are selling Western Europe about $100,000,000 worth of goods a month and importing about the same amount from this area. Just six months ago the Germans had a $50,000,000 deficit with Western Europe.

Robert M. Hanes, chief of the ECA special mission to Germany, said:

"This is a most encouraging trend and one which we hope will continue. The dire predictions about trade liberalization which were made at the beginning of the year have not materialized. We must still wait and see what happens in the future."

U.S. high commission officials said that West Germany's acceptance of the European Recovery Program's free trade policies played a big part in balancing German-West European trade.

Western Europe has eased trade barriers to West German goods in order to maintain the high level of sales to the Germans, these officials said.

They saw this as another factor: Western Germany normally sold more to the rest of Europe than it bought. Now trade between the two areas is returning to the pre-war pattern with the Germans recapturing their European markets.

Ducks Hammer, Bottle To Make His Arrest

TORONTO, June 13 — (CP) — Constable Robert Stirling ducked blows from a hammer, side-stepped swipes from a broken milk bottle and fought off hampering action by an irate wife early today to make an arrest.

Charged with assault as a result of the fracas is Harry Scott. His wife, Pearl, is charged with obstruction.

Constable Stirling was attracted to a downtown rooming house by loud noises. When he entered to investigate he was attacked by a man swinging a hammer.

The constable grabbed the hammer but the man seized a broken milk bottle and resumed the attack. Constable Stirling picked up a chair to defend himself. The man's wife held the policeman's arms and pushed him toward the milk bottle. Finally the constable gained control and marched the pair off to the police station.

Car Overturns Passenger Killed

OWEN SOUND, June 13 (CP) — Jack Bell, 28, of Tiverton and Sudbury was killed Monday night when the car in which he was a passenger went out of control and overturned on the highway two miles south of Port Elgin. Port Elgin is 25 miles west of Owen Sound.

Bell's brother-in-law, John Albert Speller of London, Ont., said by police to have been driving the car, escaped with a severe shaking up and shoulder abrasions.

An eye-witness, Mrs. Will Williams, of RR 4, Port Elgin, said that the car passed her own northbound car a moment before overturning, with "billows of black smoke" pouring from its rear. She next saw the car lying across the highway in front of her, almost completely demolished.

Bell's head was crushed between the highway surface and the edge of the car's door frame.

UAW Exonerates Vice-President

DETROIT, June 13 (AP) — The executive board of the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) today exonerated union vice-president Richard T. Gosser of all accusations brought by an insurgent group in the UAW's big Toledo Local 12.

The board, after a five-day investigation held the accusations were "reckless and irresponsible, based on rumors, gossip and hearsay and unsubstantiated by supporting evidence."

Gosser, long a power in Toledo union affairs, had been accused of "dictatorship" in Local 12 and mishandling of union funds.

The board's report contended that Gosser's insistence on an area-wide pension plan in Toledo touched off an "employer-organized and employer-financed campaign against the UAW and its leadership."

It further claimed that "members of a minority political caucus opposed to vice-president Gosser joined the employers in their attack."

Order Inquiry In Police Raid

TORONTO, June 13 (CP)—An Ontario Provincial Police Inspector has been ordered to investigate charges that three officers entered a Pefferlaw, Ont., house early Sunday, wrecked the furniture, pushed the occupants around and threatened to burn the house down.

These charges came from Mary Godfrey, who also claimed the policemen involved were "half crazy with drink."

Meanwhile, at Beaverton, Ont., 60 miles north of here, police of the detachment which made the raid denied the charges "without reservation." They said it was the second raid within a week on the home, that Miss Godfrey would be charged in connection with both raids for illegal possession of liquor.

Reds Break Up Parliament Leader Suspended 30 Days

BONN, Germany, June 13 (AP) —Max Reimann, West Germany's top Communist, was suspended for 30 days from the West German parliament today after a noisy Communist outburst broke up a session of the parliament's lower house (Bundestac).

Fighting broke out on the floor of the Bundestac when the parliamentary guards attempted to remove the shouting Reimann.

Communist and anti-Communits members of parliament kicked at each other and swung a few wild blows with their fists.

No one was injured in the brief melee which began after the session had been adjourned.

The tumult began when all parties except the Communists denounced the Communist-dominated East German government for signing a pact with Poland last week accepting the new East German border as permanent.

When he was unable to quiet the Communists who wanted to debate the declaration, President Erich Koehler recessed the session.

A few minutes later he reconvened the meeting to announce that Reimann would be barred from parliamentary sessions for a period of 30 days.

Reimann still refused to leave. His party colleagues surrounded him when guards attempted to remove him.

Anti-Communist deputies then went to the aid of the guards, kicking and swinging their fists. No solid blows were struck, however, and the fight was quickly broken up.

NEW DELHI, India, June 13 — (AP)—The first breach in the Kashmir cease-fire truce in 18 months was reported here today.

The newspaper Statesman in a dispatch from Jammu, in the southwest corner of the northern Indian state for which India and Pakistan are disputing, said at least 21 soldiers were killed in a four-hour gun battle between Pakistani troops and Kashmir state troops under Indian command.

The newspaper said the shooting apparently was caused by the Pakistanis crossing the Kashmir border in search of timber.

Bill Company For Forest Fire

TORONTO, June 13 (CP) — Officials of the Ontario Lands Department are preparing to bill the J. N. Pitt Construction Company of Toronto for costs of putting out a forest fire in the Sudbury area.

In a Sudbury court decision on Monday, the company was fined $200 and costs for setting a fire May 18 which exceeded the terms and conditions of its burning permit. It also was held liable for costs of putting out the blaze estimated at $5,000.

T. E. Mackey, chief of the forest protection branch, said today that accounts in connection with the fire are being tabulated at Sudbury. When assembled, they will be sent here and a bill rendered.

Under provisions of the forest protection act the government has power to collect fire fighting costs if the origin of the fire can be traced to a company or operator.

New Income Tax Policy Cuts Double Take Between Canada And U.S.

Thousands Crossing Border To Work Will Find Laws Eased; 2 Governments Plan Reciprocal Action

OTTAWA, June 13—(CP)—A new Canada-United States taxation agreement cuts holes in a "double-take" income tax policy that long has proven a burden to thousands of Canadians working in the United States and Americans working in Canada. The new agreement, announced here Monday, expands exemptions allowable to workers moving across the border and thus lops off the income tax "takes" by both governments under the so-called "double taxation" system.

The system provides that a Canadian working in the U.S. not only must pay income tax to his own government back home but also income tax to the U.S. government. The same ruling applies to Americans working in Canada.

Under the new agreement, a Canadian going to the United States to work for a Canadian company for less than 183 days a year, will have to pay no taxes to the United States government. The same applies to an American employed in Canada. Previously there was an exemption of $5,000.

Exemption Increased

A Canadian going to the US to work for an American concern gets his exemption increased from $1,500 to $5,000 and the period in which this exemption can be applied is increased from 90 to 183 days.

Most of the concessions granted by one country are reciprocated by the other, but one that isn't concerns tax on capital gains. Canada has no tax on such gains but the US formerly levied a 15 per cent tax on Canadian gains in the US. The US has agreed to modify its stand, withdrawing the tax on all corporations shares when more than 50 per cent of these shares are held by Canadians.

There are special concessions for those engaged in producing and distributing artistic works, with the exception of those working in the distribution of motion pictures. Both countries have agreed to withdraw the 15 per cent tax on income gained from the distribution of copyrights on artistic works. The Canadian 10 per cent tax on the US circulation in Canada this type of artistic endeavor, however, still stands.

Police Reinforce Patrols, Protect Milk

PITTSBURGH, June 13 (AP)—State Police, acting on orders from Governor James H. Duff, put reinforced patrols on the road today to protect milk truck movements in a seven-county dairy strike area with a population of some 7,000,000.

Milk was available only to emergency users like hospitals and families with formula-fed babies.

Caught in the middle were the farmers who unable to stop the cops from producing, were busy feeding surplus milk to hogs and dumping the rest.

Governor Duff acted quickly Monday after reports of dumping of truckloads of milk by armed picket bands in the five-day walkout which has shut down the 68-member firms of the greater Pittsburgh Milk Dealers' Association. Only a handful of independent dealers continued operations.

Can Organize Posse

At Greensburg, Pa., 30 miles from Pittsburgh, Sheriff Howard Bud Thomas had court authority to organize a posse to prevent any violence.

The court granted a preliminary injunction to prevent striking milk workers from adjoining counties from interfering with non-strikers in Westmoreland County.

The 3,250 members of the AFL Dairy Workers walked out Friday in a demand for a wage increase. In addition to the 40-hour week for inside workers they want the daily guarantee for salesman drivers raised from $10 to $13.50. The dealers have offered $11. They claim drivers now earn $300 or more a month.

The strike has even produced milkleggers. Three Pittsburgh men drew $25 fines for attempting to sell bootlegmilk for 35 cents a quart—16 cents more than the price fixed by State law. The trio agreed to turn 140 cases of milk over to some worthy institution.

Note Profit-Taking In Western Oils

TORONTO, June 13.—(CP)—Profit-taking appeared in western oils as the session progressed on the Toronto stock exchange today following a strong upsurge into new high price territory Monday. The remainder of the board opened slightly lower but pushed into the plus column at the half-way mark.

Volume for the first three hours was 1,915,000 shares.

Heavy buying Monday lifted the western oil list to the highest average price level since the boom days of Turner Valley in 1937. Today's losses ranged up to 20 cents and appeared in market leaders. A handful of issues continued in demand.

A mild upward push in a handful of leading industrial stocks pushed the index of representative stocks to a new high. Steels, foods and textiles firmed. Utilities and liquors ended lower.

Golds bounced up from opening easiness. A few leading junior producers chalked up penny advances.

Base meals firmed following news Monday of an increase in the price of zinc. Anacon Lead and Ascot, features of previous markets, continued active. Osisko slumped in brisk dealings.

West), both from apple-producing areas of British Columbia, urged that efforts be made to reopen the United Kingdom market to Canadian apples.

They applied their remarks to Ontario and Nova Scotia apples as well as the British Columbia product.

Market There

Mr. Fulton said it was not a question of there being no market in Britain. Trade figures showed that the United Kingdom was buying apples from Australia New Zealand, Italy and other countries outside the dollar area.

Mr. Herridge supported Mr. Fulton's suggestion that if a fresh share of the British market is not found, the government should establish some floor or a support price for apples so the producers would know what the future held.

Mr. Gardiner said Britain had refused to buy Canadian apples, but Canadian producers themselves had done a good job in finding markets. They had sold their product in 32 of the 48 American states, despite a bumper American crop and had sent what they could not sell to the United Kingdom as a gift.

Farmers Lose 425 Million On Wheat Pact

OTTAWA, June 13 (CP). — Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, charged Monday that the four-year Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement was "the worst agreement ever entered into," and had lost western wheat farmers $425,000,000, which Canada should make good.

He told the Senate that the international wheat agreement to which Canada is a party is another gamble, and predicted there probably would be a world glut of wheat. He suggested parliament should vote the $425,000,000 he said farmers lost on the British agreement and pay the money to farmers if there was trouble getting rid of Canada's wheat during the next few years.

Senator Haig was speaking on second reading of a government bill to continue the life of the wheat board as a marketing agency for the next three years. The debate was adjourned by Senator T. A. Crerar (L-Manitoba).

Great Loss

Senator Haig charged that, while the wheat board was selling wheat to Britain at $1.55 a bushel in 1946 and 1947, it was getting an average of $2.43 and $2.88 elsewhere. In 1948 and 1949, when the British price was $2 a bushel, the wheat board was getting an average of $2.23. That meant that over $425,000,000 was lost which would have gone to the western farmers if the wheat had been sold on the world market.

Some said western farmers had been in favor of the agreement. They should read the western farm journals, which showed farers were sick to death of the whole story.

Game Warden Spots Fisher; Court Fines $20

Magistrate W. R. Philp decided in police court today that not only could Herman Taylor, Burleigh Falls, be seen from the road fishing, but actually was seen by Game Warden Robert H. Trotter April 30 and fined Taylor $20 and $5 costs.

Taylor was charged with fishing for pickerel during the closed season in waters where there were bass, lake trout and muskies.

Game Overseer Trotter said he was driving with Game Warden Ray Simpson on the road beside Burleigh Falls and noticed Taylor standing on the short of a small bay just below the falls. He said he saw Taylor pulling a line in hand over hand in a way that is sometimes used in gaffing.

Lookouts

He said he turned around in the car and drove up near where the fishing was going on. He said a Peterborough youth and a young boy were standing as lookouts on a rock. He said the boy went down to where he had seen Taylor fishing.

Taylor came up to the top of the bank and Game Warden Trotter accused him of fishing, but Taylor denied it. Officer Trotter said, "I saw you fishing and there's no use denying it."

He reported Taylor then said, "Okay, I've been fishing."

The Game Wardens found a rod and reel with a plug on the line lying about three feet out from shore in about two feet of water. Taylor and the four others with him all denied ownership of the rod.

Taylor denied he had admitted he was fishing to the game warden.

"I wouldn't be crazy enough to admit to a game warden I was fishing when he didn't catch me," Taylor said.

Alibi

He said he was showing the others how to pull a transformer up to the top of a pole. In nay case, he said, it would be impossible for anyone to see him and his friends from the road because of a ridge along the shore.

He also said it would be impossible for Trotter to see a line from the road, a distance he estimated was 150 yards.

Officer Trotter at first said the distance was about 50 feet, but later said it might have been a little farther than that, but was nowhere near 150 yards.

The game warden also said it was possible to see the whole north shore of the bay in which Taylor was fishing.

Don Turner of Burleigh Falls corroborated Taylor's evidence. He also said the water at that point was very swift and it was not possible to catch pickerel there. He said there were people fishing farther down from them.

Three Earlier Charges

Turner admitted he had been convicted of three charges involving breaking into Officer Trotter's car, damaging it and stealing a parka from it. He also admitted being convicted of having two deer in his possession on the Peterborough Crown Game Preserve.

"You have no love for Mr. Trotter," Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw suggested.

Turner said he had no special love for Game Warden Trotter or Taylor either for that matter. In any case there were "no hard feelings" over his tangles with the game warden.

John Jacobs, also from Burleigh Falls, corroborated Taylor's and Turner's evidence.

Taylor protested he didn't fish illegally. He said "I'm a guide. I know you can't kill fish in the spring and expect to have fish in the summer."

Council Studies Service Station Hours Bylaw

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13 — (ENS). — Considerable discussion followed regarding the passing of a bylaw regulating the hours of service stations in the community. A petition from members of the retail dealers was read. The subject is a difficult one to handle, as was shown by a test case against the Joy Oil Company in Toronto recently. N. A. MacColl, town solicitor, said that as he saw the thing the case was thrown out due to the fact that the Toronto police force, and not the Council itself, attempted to enforce the bylaw. The Council itself must look after these matters, as it cannot delegate its authority in a case of this kind.

The Garage Operators' Association would lead Council to believe that the bylaw they have prepared at their own expense is foolproof, but after the reading of the bylaw, Councillor Doug. Maybee stated that if the bylaw was so foolproof, and if as stated by the association, Council had to pass it, whether it wished to or not, why some of the larger oil companies did not force the Toronto City Council to pass such legislation before their case against Joy Oil?

According to the statutes, Council must pass the legislation within 30 days, if the bill is properly sealed and executed, and providing it is signed by at least three-quarters of the people occupying the business establishments and retail outlets for gasoline concerned.

It was decided to have the clerk contact the Garage Operators' Association and ascertain what action could or should be taken in the event there were any infractions to be dealt with, should the Council decide to pass the bill.

GRADUATED FRIDAY from the University of Toronto was Barney Loftus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Loftus, Benson Ave. Mr. Loftus played junior baseball in Peterborough, and plans this fall to attend Osgoode Hall.

Counties Council Approves Payments

COBOURG, June 13.—(ENS)—The finance committee at last week's session of Counties Council approved payment of the following between-sessions accounts:

Administration of justice, $4,349.89; maintenance of indigent patients, $9,334.70; registry offices, $679.29; counties' roads, $90,036.59; counties' home, $14,882.01; counties' goal, $6,963.74; child welfare, $13,863.80; municipal government, $11,236.20.

Grants were paid to counties' hospitals in the amount of $1,500 each, plus $1,500 building grant to Trenton Memorial Hospital. A grant of $4,000 was made to the family court committee.

Among the grants were also $5,000 to the Children's Aid Society building fund and $2,500 to the agricultural societies in the counties. The committee turned down the requests for grants made by the Bowmanville Boy Scouts' Association, Canadian March of Dimes campaign and the St. John Ambulance. No action was taken in regard to the proposal that a pension plan for counties' employees be set up.

Suspended Sentence For Impeding Motorist

COBOURG, June 13—(ENS)—Albert Richards, 26, of Millbrook, was allowed on suspended sentence when he pleaded guilty Monday to impeding the peaceful progress of passengers on a county road on June 4. Richards was arrested by provincial police near Millbrook after police were told that he had stopped a car driven by Claude Millard of Peterborough and that the accused was in possession of a .22 rifle at the time. The charge of pointing a rifle at a person or persons unknown which was at first laid against Richards, was withdrawn and the other charge substituted. Richards was also bonded in the amount of $100 to keep the peace for one year.

Provincial Constable Don Nicol of Cobourg testified that the police were informed that Richards was carrying a gun on the road near Millbrook and that he hailed a lift from a car driven by Claude Millard of Peterborough. There was some discussion as to whether the gun had been loaded and Millard decided to drive on without giving Richards a lift. Police were also told that a similar incident occurred in connection with Jack Wilson of Toronto but as Mr. Wilson could not be located, that phase of the investigation was dropped.

Constable Nicol said that Richards was apparently under the influence of liquor at the time.

Don Jail Prisoner Not Wanted Slayer

TORONTO, June 13 — (CP) — Police said Monday night that Paul Samborsk, 26, held at Don Jail on charges of assault, is not the man wanted for questioning about the slaying last year of John Samborski, 54-year-old St. Catharines cobbler.

Because of the prisoner's age and the similarity in names, Provincial Police Inspector Alex McLeod, who investigated to determine whether Samborsk was the cobbler's son, a 27-year-old man who usually uses the name William Adams.

"He definitely is not the man we are looking for," said McLeod.

Organized Racket

TORONTO, June 13—(CP). — The Toronto Labor Council (CCL-CIO) heard charges Monday night that community chests are growing into a huge organized "racket." The Council authorized its Legislative Committee to investigate the possibility of setting up a central organization through which union members could contribute to charities and other worthy causes.

Explosion On Sub

LONDON, June 13—(Reuters)—An explosion in a battery compartment of the 1,000-ton British submarine Trenchant today slightly injured four members of the crew, the Admiralty announced. The Admiralty added that the Trenchant, on exercises when the explosion occurred, was making for Londonderry under her own power.

Fire Insurance Rates May Be Brought Down

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13 — (ENS)—The Canadian Insurance Underwriters have informed the Town Council they will send an engineer to Campbellford to inspect the town facilities and properties with a view to reducing existing fire insurance rates generally in the town.

This was in reply to a request made by the town to have the rates reviewed, because of the modern fire fighting equipment the town has on hand, and also in view of the extremely low fire losses the town has sustained in the past few years.

A letter from Commissioner Wm. H. Stringer of the Ontario Provincial Police was also read at the meeting Monday, praising the work of Chief Constable George H. Hardy of Campbellford in connection with the George Stollery assault and robbery case, and asking council to convey the thanks of the OPP to the Chief Constable for the excellent co-operation he has given the force.

A delegation of property owners addressed council asking for a cement sidewalk to be laid on the west side of Maple St. The chairman of the committee responsible was asked to investigate this and to report back. It was moved that the building inspector be authorized to issue a building permit to Jack R. Douglas to improve and extend the building he now operates as a garage and service station.

July 4 Street Dance

The Kinsmen Cub was granted permission to close off a portion of Bridge St. on the evening of July 4 for a street dance and carnival.

The old question of the parking meters again came up and Mayor J. E. Ayrhart said he thought that the question should go before the people, and that they could vote the meters in or out. He said he did not think it was fair for council to carry out the wishes of any one group.

The present contract with the Mi-Co. Meter Company expires in August.

Dep. Reeve Mason said the town was in dire need of a new push cart for the street cleaning department. The old one was worn out and should be relegated to the scrap heap. He proposed the purchase of a new modern vehicle with rubber tired wheels, ball bearings and a quickly removable garbage container. Council thought this was a good idea and was prepared to spend the approximate $80. required to purchase the outfit Mr. Mason suggested.

Chairman In Charge

Council decided to leave the matter of hiring and dismissing employees under the jurisdiction of the Road and Bridge Committee to the chairman. A new road foreman will be hired and a more economical distribution of available men will be made under the chairman, Oscar Mason. Mr. Mason says there are a number of men to the town who are quite willing to work, if work can be found for them, otherwise these men will have to go on relief. It is hoped to be able to use a number of these men on work about the town.

The matter of the purchase of a new truck was discussed and it was the general opinion of the council members that an expenditure now would save money in the long run. It was decided that a new vehicle should be purchased, as the purchase of a new unit would be subsidised, to the amount of about 50 per cent. Much time was at present wasted in moving equipment from job to job in the town. If the town owned its own truck, it would be able to look after its own snow plowing and maintainance work on roads and may other jobs. Dep. Reeve Mason was instructed to inquire into the price of such a vehicle and to report back at the next regular meeting.

Councillor Maybee presented a bylaw providing for the regulation of conduct of the general public at the scene of fires. It also covers items already incorporated in the Highway Act governing the operating of autos travelling to and from fires.

An amendment to the Hawkers and Peddlers bylaw was made.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED—Back in 1892, Mrs. Joseph Lamoureux, now 83, went to St. Johns, Que., from Sherbrooke, to work in the telephone exchange as an operator. Then there were 100 phones and she knew all the subscribers. Recently Mrs. Lamoureux, formerly Caroline Elizabeth Temple, dropped in the present exchange to recall familiar scenes. Here she is shown at the long distance switchboard in the dial exchange which now serves 6,300 subscribers.

18,000 Take Census

TORONTO, June 13—(CP). — For the 1951 census, the Dominion Government will turn loose 18,000 census-takers, equipped with special marking cards capable of electronic sorting, Dominion Statistician Herbert Marshall told the Canadian Public Health Association Monday. He contrasted this with the first Canadian census, taken in 1666, when the population of New France was found to be 1,352, excluding Indians.

Recalls Seeing RedCoatSoldiers

CAMPBELLFORD, June 13 — (ENS)—George W. Keith, acting principal of the Campbellford High School, was guest speaker at the Monday meeting of the Rotary Club. Mr. Keith spoke of a few episodes in Canadian history and described some of the outstanding personalities in the history of the country.

Mr. Keith first paid tribute to the Hon. George Drew, who was in reality a historian. His articles in U.S. magazines on Canada's part in the first Great War were classics.

Mr. Keith recalled the red-coated soldiers, which he saw as a child, marching off to quell the Reil Rebellion.

He told some stories of the building of the C.P.R. and recalled some of the famous names connected with this tremendous undertaking, such as Donald Smith, Stephens, Angus, and the English engineer, Sanford Flemming.

Mr. Keith was personally acquainted with Sir Oliver Mowat, one of the great men in Canadian history, and the father of much of the country's municipal law. He championed the rights of Ontario in the boundary disputes with the Dominion and the province of Manitoba. Though a political opponent of Sir John A. MacDonald, Mowat delivered the eulogy when the monument to Sir John A. was unveiled in Toronto.

Sir John A. MacDonald was one of Canada's greatest men. He had the energy, perseverence and imagination to lead in the C.P.R.'s building and in the greatest move in Canadian history—Confederation.

Mr. Keith told Sir Wilfred Laurier, describing him as one of the best orators Canada has yet produced. Mr. Keith went to university with Mackenzie King and the speaker described him as one of the most succesful of all prime ministers. Sir Arthur Meighen was one of the finest personalities of all.

Rotarian Carl Maier introduced the speaker and president Charles Calver thanked him on behalf of the club.

Mayor Mews added that if the money is not granted, the city may raise a short term loan with increased taxation.

Watershed Survey

HALIFAX — (CP).—An aerial survey of this city's watershed is nearing completion as a cost of some $7,000. To eliminate all possible sources of water contamination, steps are being taken to purchase all privately-owned property in the area. City Council has voted $100,000 for the project.

INTERFERENCE APPROVED

I don't like to interfere, but when I found that my youngest daughter-in-law didn't know that blueing is the only safe way to keep clothes white, I felt I just had to say something. 'Reckitt's Blue prevents clothes turning yellow', I told her. 'Just a swish or two in the final rinse and your wash will be sparkling white.' Blue is necessary to obtain true white. Planned Saving paid off for the Browns

The neighbors remember how sick young Donny was a few months ago, and how worried the Browns were. But they never guessed what a serious drain his illness had been on the family purse.

Wisely, the Browns had made it a rule to put something into their savings account, week by week, almost from the day they were married. So when they consulted their bank manager, their credit was good. With the help of a small bank loan, they were able to pay all their bills promptly. Now Donny is healthy again—and so is their bank account.

The Governor-General On Boredom

The best speech that we have heard in some time was delivered by the Governor-General last Saturday when he addressed the boys of Lakefield Preparatory School. His Excellency spoke about boredom—a subject upon which, in his official capacity, he must be accounted an expert, for no man in Canada has to attend so many functions and listen to so many speeches. And indeed he is an expert upon boredom, for not only does he know what it is, in all its variety; he also knows how it may be avoided.

* * *

If you are bored, says Lord Alexander, it is nobody's fault but your own. The germ of boredom is within. There is something interesting to be observed under virtually every situation in which you may find yourself. The interest of the situation may not be obvious, but it is there; it is your job to find it.

* * *

To illustrate his meaning, Viscount Alexander described the circumstances of his own boyhood. He and his brothers lived in the country in Ireland; wherever they went they had to go with a horse and trap—not a rapid or extensive mode of travel. They had no radio and no movies; there was no electricity in their home. There were few visitors. But were they bored? Certainly not! They had all the wonders of nature and of rural life to divert them; they had wooded country to camp in and streams to fish in; they had a farm. In these circumstances Viscount Alexander and his brothers found inexhaustible amusement; they made their own fun. They did not learn what boredom was until they grew up and met people who thought that there was something rather distinguished in being bored.

* * *

We agree with His Excellency that far greater distinction lies in never being bored. The people who suffer from boredom are people who have become dependent upon purchased pleasures and upon other people; they have never taken time to cultivate their own society and to find interest in themselves. The man who finds himself good company can never be bored; and paradoxically, he is unlikely to bore others.

Caterpillar Plague Again

The Kawarthas and Muskoka are again crawling with caterpillars, their horrid tent-like nests in trees and shrubs are everywhere, and the foliage is being eaten, leaving the woods shorn and sad. The infestation in this district is almost as bad as last year's. There is little that can be done now to lessen the blight. In view of the desolation caused, and with the experience of the hairy caterpillars dropping down on head and neck from trees overhead, we cannot be contented with the attitude of wait until the month is out and the pestilence gone. The infestation was expected by the experts. Could nothing have been done? Certainly the blight is no tourist attraction.

We can answer our own question in part, but it is not a satisfying answer. Local people can remember less recent years of blight; for instance, in 1912 the plague of caterpillars was so severe that some of the trees never recovered.

For decades forestry experts have been trying to do something. Burning the nests is effective, but cannot be done widely. There is a D.D.T. spray which will kill the tent caterpillars, and this year as last resort owners have been spraying their affected property. The trouble is that the sprays do not reach every caterpillar, nor are all parts of an affected district sprayed. So some of the caterpillars live. But the spray does kill a parasite which kills, over a three-year period, the caterpillars. This year is the end of the three-year caterpillar cycle, experts say. Therefore, if the parasites are not killed off, next season they will wage such effective war on the caterpillars that we shall be free of them for a decade. Forestry authorities advise against spraying now, fearing that the spray will kill the parasites on whom they are depending for reprieve next season.

Let us hope that the prediction of relief from the blight will come true. Can we not also hope that before the next decade of caterpillars is due, some control methods will have been devised? It is decidedly unpleasant, and unbecoming to these resort areas, to have periodically to endure a three-year siege of caterpillars in the month of June while we wait for predatory parasites to develop their destructive powers. There is this consolation now: by July when the main host of tourists will have arrived the caterpillars will have departed.

The Things Township Councils Do

At the last meeting of the municipal council of the township of Manvers a gentleman waited on the council to present his version of an accident which happened to him and his car on a road within the council's jurisdiction. He seems to have had a good reception, for the Council passed the following motion:

"THAT in the opinion of this Council this accident, which occurred on the 12th day of May, 1950, on the road between Lots 16 and 17, Concession 12, Township of Manvers, was caused by negligence of this Municipality on account of the fact that the stones should have been removed at the time the Road was repaired."

Without judicial sifting of evidence, without a case being presented in court, without legal opinion, or police evidence, the benevolent Council admits negligence. The man involved in the accident must have gone away happy, certain of being able to collect damages.

Such a wonderfully charitable disposition the Council has toward a fellow-resident of the township! It does not cost the Township a red cent, except the annual insurance premiums. Was negligence so readily admitted before insurance companies covered township liabilities? Whatever the legal value of the councillors' gesture, it was open-handed of them to move a resolution expressing their official collective guilt.

The Summer Theatre Returns

Within a fortnight the Peterborough Summer Theatre will have begun its second season. Last year this venture proved itself popular with Peterborough people and with our summer visitors; the likelihood is that it will be even more popular this year. During the winter, when it looked for a time as though local circumstances would prevent the return of the Summer Theatre, the protest from the public was immediate and firm in its tone. It is clear that Peterborough people want good entertainment of the type which only the living theatre can give.

The popularity of the theatre was attributable to the quality of the presentations, more than to anything else. A season of good plays was given by an excellent company, with a professional standard of scene design and presentation. Many theatrical ventures in Canada have failed because they have tried to cheat the public; they have given poor value for the price of admission. Canadian audiences are not stupid or lacking in taste. They respond enthusiastically to good work in the theatre, and they condemn whatever is shoddy. The Summer Theatre gave value for money, and brought new life to a season of the year which is sometimes a little dull. That is why the Peterborough Summer Theatre was the most successful venture of its kind in the country in 1949. That is why it is able to return, sure of its welcome.

There is another factor in its popularity which must be mentioned, also. Canadians are becoming more and more conscious of the theatre, and they want a theatrical life which has its roots in this country. The summer company is composed of Canadians, and they have shown what a high level of theatrical work can be done here. Canadian pride in Canadian artistic work is nourished by such ventures. And Peterborough is proud to have nourished the best summer theatre in Canada.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Kingston Whig-Standard, having admitted that women carry their years more lightly than men, then meanly adds that now and again they drop a few.

The Governor General has revealed that Canadian scientists are concentrating on guided missiles. For inspiring terror in the enemy, however, there is nothing to compare with the kind of missiles you throw with your eyes shut.

It takes an average Canadian industrial worker six minutes to earn the price of a pound of sugar: it takes a Russian worker two hours. If we were a Russian worker, we would give up sugar, thereby spiting the decadent democracies.

America Fears New Dust Bowl

From
NORA BELOFF
In Washington

THE dust-bowl catastrophe of the "dirty thirties", in which the top soil of forty million acres of American farmland was blown clean away, is today more than a nightmarish memory of the past. It is also a real and present picture of dangers ahead.

❖ ❖ ❖

THOSE who lived in the vast prairie-lands of the American South-West during the bleak years between 1933 and 1938 still speak with horror of the dust and drought, when every morsel of food tasted of grit and when you could not see across the road on May Day at noon. They will never forget the helpless misery of destitute and evicted farmers, nor the "Last Man's Club" which the die-hards formed in Amarillo, Texas, pledged to see their troubles through to the end.

❖ ❖ ❖

TODAY, news reaching Washington from the area which was once the scene of this disaster has created new disquiet. After a fabulously fortunate cycle of weather during the war years, the drought is back. A harvest survey published at the beginning of this month (June) anticipates a fifty per cent. decline in the crops in the five states concerned: New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and Texas.

❖ ❖ ❖

EXPERTS to whom I have spoken in Washington claim that the dust storms are still only localized, and that the disaster has not yet assumed a national scale; but the operative word is "yet". Two areas on the fringes of the region are already reduced to something very near dust-bowl status; the cotton plantations round Lubbock, Texas, and the wheat belt in Eastern Colorado. The trouble started with a dry year in 1947; since then each year has got worse. Last time, the dust bowl took five consecutive bad years to reach full maturity.

❖ ❖ ❖

THERE is no fatalism about the oncoming threat; educated Americans know it could be prevented by science and common sense. A soil conservation officer here told me that if he and his colleagues had directed cultivation, the entire region could be farmed safely, surely and for as long as the farmlands of Britain.

❖ ❖ ❖

EACH farm, he said, needs to be contoured, and terraced to keep in water, organic matter must be left in the soil to solidify it against the winds, trees and bushes must be planted to protect the countryside from storms. Crops should be rotated, as they have been for centuries in England to protect the soil from exhaustion. The Government itself has shown the way in a million acres bought in the dustbowl region since the 'thirties; in a minority of cases private farmers have followed this example.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE chief culprits are believed to be "suit-case" farmers, who spend only twelve or fifteen weeks the year round on their land; two weeks to plough in June, two weeks to plant in August, the rest in autumn for the combine harvest. These men are disinclined to worry about anything except quick selling for the highly lucrative support prices which the U.S. Government guarantees for basic crops. They own no farm houses and reside during the brief working periods at the local hotels. In storms and gales they are not available to participate in emergency measures, nor will they experiment with alternative crops, livestock or meadows; the only type of agriculture which interests them is the highly mechanized single crop.

❖ ❖ ❖

MOST dangerous of all is the extension of cotton crops; the cotton is sown in summer, harvested in November, but the storms blow up between January and May; at this crucial period there is nothing to protect the fallow soil from complete erosion. The gentleman-farmer and his suit-case are elsewhere; his lands are barren and unprotected.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE remedy depends on the voluntary co-operation of individuals primarily concerned with quick cash receipts. Already many of them have earned three or four times the price of the land they bought since the end of the war; but easy money is easily spent. As crops decline, loans and mortgages are once again beginning to pile up in local banks.

❖ ❖ ❖

EVERYTHING now depends on the race between inclement weather and soil conservation; unless methods of farming are totally reformed in the immediate future, renewed catastrophe, not only in the old dust-bowl itself, but in some additional three million acres ploughed within the last ten years, has become inevitable.

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

Spire-Top Furniture

(Manchester Guardian)

A plug of tobacco found in the ball below the cross on the top of Lichfield Cathedral's central spire is not to be replaced with the other objects (records of the previous repairers' names and so forth) when the ball is re-imposed with the new cross later this month.

A cavity under the capstone of a spire, or the ball under the cross or weathercock was, of course, a favourite repository in medieval times for saints' relics, intended to protect tall spires from lightning. When the Salisbury weathercock was examined in the last century some fragments of textiles were found; and there is an interesting reference to the custom from the year 1315, when a new cross was set on the spire of Old St. Paul's. There was then a great and solemn procession with Gilbert de Segrave, Bishop of London, officiating, and relics of the saints were placed in the ball in order that the omnipotent God and the glorious merits of his saints, whose relics are contained within the pommel of the cross, might deign to protect it from danger of storms.

This spire rose to a height of 520 feet—that is, 116 feet higher than Salisbury's, which is England's tallest. In spite of the protecting relics it was destroyed by lightning a full century before the burning of the cathedral in 1666.

MORE SOAP!

The Real Danger To Liberty

(THE OTTAWA JOURNAL)

APROPOS Lord Robert Cecil's motion in the Lords deploring "the growing power of the Cabinet" the London Economist offers this accute comment:

"The remedy for this sort of thing does not lie in clipping the wings of the Cabinet, nor, as Lord Cecil suggested, in reforming the House of Lords. It lies in changing the assumption that has grown up in the past generation that the administrative convenience of the governmental machine must be assumed, ipso facto and without further argument, to be more important than any individual rights and desires. It lies in abolishing the belief that 'the gentlemen in Whitehall really do know best'."

Judging from our own observations of what has come in Canada, we incline to agree strongly that the Economist is right. More and more the public has come to believe that cabinet ministers and their advisers are invested with wisdom denied to others. It is a sort of "superman" cult which assumes that if a man is a member of a cabinet, or an adviser to a cabinet, he must be, regardless of how he arrived at such a position, an exceptionally wise man, all but omniscient in action, and that it ill behooves the rest of us, no matter how much our liberties or convenience be invaded, to complain or criticize. When this assumption is fed by a constant stream of propaganda, belief that certain ministers are indispensable, and that criticism in the press or in Parliament is irrelevant and but a "waste of time", takes on the dimensions of dogma. As a consequence, and all but inevitably, cabinet ministers begin to believe that they are in fact indispensable, that it is their mission to direct the rest of us, that they are the masters of the state and not its servants.

This thought, apart altogether from the nonsense it makes of our whole democratic theory, is fundamentally silly. Our cabinet ministers are sometimes able men and mostly well-meaning men, but there is no proof at all, and never has been proof, that they aren't as fallible as the rest of us, just as apt to be wrong. Wrong they certainly have been in recent years, and about all sorts of things. They were wrong in their assumptions of what would happen in Europe with the war's end. They were wrong about our post-war trade. They were wrong about our dollar. They were wrong about a number of other issues too long to be listed.

Yet not until the public comes to realize this, comes to understand that there are no supermen and no indispensable ministers, will a stop be put to the growth of cabinet power, or to the growth of totalitarian techniques. The decline in the prestige of Parliament, or in the power of Parliament, is but reflection of decline in informed, healthy and truly democratic opinion.

The Lesser Vices

Five hundred leading citizens of Delhi who have joined a new organization called the Anuvrati Sangh, the object of which is the "moral regeneration" of India, recently took a pledge to abstain from dealing in the black market, adulterating food, gambling, travelling in train and buses without tickets, obtaining false ration-cards, taking bribes and committing suicide. This leaves them free to concentrate on chain-smoking and monopolizing the paper at breakfast.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God . . . Fear ye not, neither be afraid: have not I told thee from that time, and have declared it? Ye are even my witnesses. Is there a God beside me? yea, there is no God; I know not any. They that make a graven image are all of them vanity; and their delectable things shall not profit . . .

Thus saith the Lord, they redeemer, and he that formed thee from the womb, I am the Lord that maketh all things; that stretcheth forth the heavens alone; that spreadeth abroad the earth by myself; that frustrateth the tokens of the liars, and maketh diviners mad; that turneth wise men backward, and maketh their knowledge foolish. (Isa. 44: 6, 8, 9, 24, 25.)

Vanity of vanities, saith the Preacher, vanity of vanities; all is vanity . . . For in much wisdom is much grief: and he that increaseth knowledge increased sorrow. (Eccl. 1: 2, 18.)

❖ ❖ ❖

Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world? (I Cor. 1: 20.)

❖ ❖ ❖

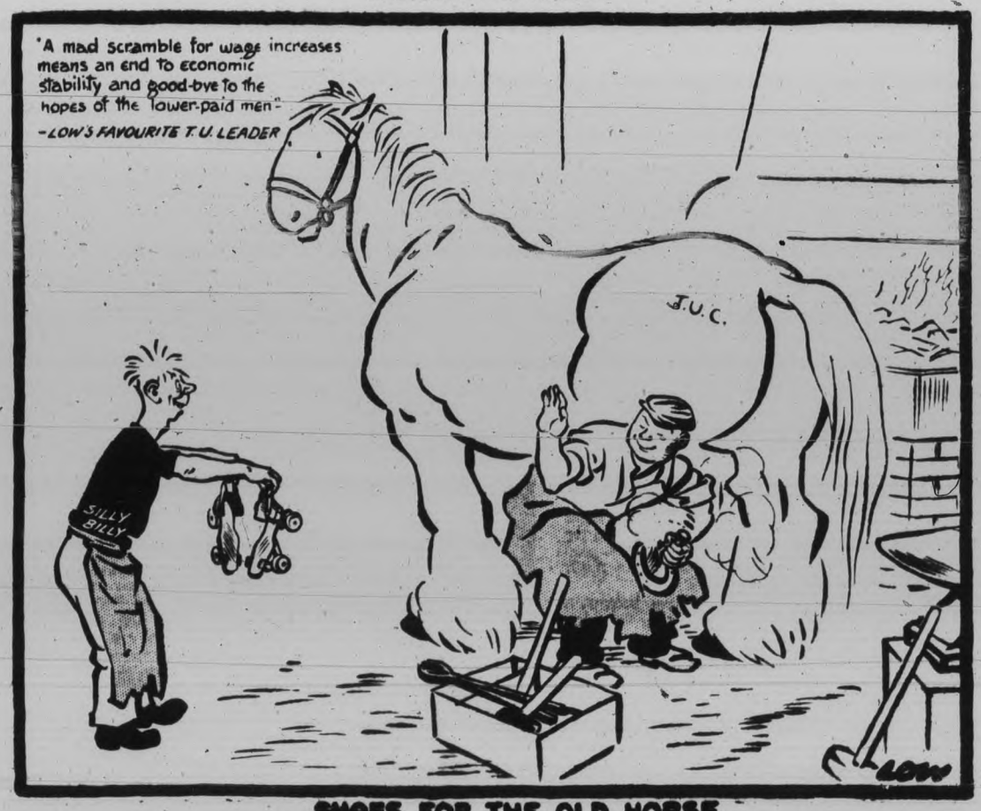
Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ. (Col. 2: 8.)

A Navy of Admirals?

(Vancouver News-Herald)

Presence of six Canadian admirals, two retired and four active, at graduation ceremonies at Royal Roads, must have made many Canadians sit up.

This is a small country, as far as population is concerned. Our navy, excellent as far as it goes, is small also. It's so small our admirals never go to sea. We haven't any flagships. Our admirals hold shore jobs, or are retired far earlier in life than most men, so that commanders and commodores may in turn be advanced in rank and retire as admirals. We seem to be fast headed for a navy of admirals.



The question naturally arises — does the Canadian Navy need so many admirals? Surely the naval establishment at Esquimalt, say—an establishment small in men and ships—could function quite adequately with a commander or commodore in charge.

U.S. Lags In Jets

(Washington Post)

The recent flight of a Canadian jet airliner from Toronto to New York in less than an hour emphasizes the sad position of this country with repsect to jet transports. To date there is not a single jet-powered prototype for civil use, and the military has shown no disposition to pioneer jet craft which might be adapted for airline traffic. Meanwhile, both Britain and Canada have experimented extensively with jet transports and have proved their practicability beyond doubt.

Can't Find Official To Serve Injunction

TORONTO, June 13—(CP)—An injunction restraining the Seafarers' Union (AFL) from picketing vessels of the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Navigation Company Monday was extended for one week by Mr. Justice W. F. Schroeder. The injunction was returnable Monday, but the court has been unable to locate a union official upon whom papers must be served.

The union had threatened to prevent stevedores from loading or unloading the company's ships and to tie them up in all ports from the St. Lawrence to the lakehead, in its dispute with the company over the latter's alleged refusal to sign a bargaining agreement; the company claims it has already an agreement with the rival Canadian Seamen's Union.

The injunction, granted earlier this month, was filed against Harold C. Banks and Frank Hall of the SIU. His Lordship was told Monday that officials have been unable to effect service of a summons on Mr. Banks for trial of the case.

Appeal Court Reserves Action

TORONTO, June 13 (CP)—Ontario Appeal Court Monday reserved judgment on 45-year-old Charles Brown's appeal for reversal of an Assize Court jury decision which convicted him of alienating the affections of a young married nurse.

Brown, a Whitby contractor, was ordered to pay $4,000 to Fitzroy Welstead, who accused him of being the father of Mrs. Welstead's 15-month-old daughter. At his trial, Brown denied being intimate with Mrs. Welstead, whom he often drove to work at the Whitby hospital.

Brown's counsel argued Monday that there was no "moral evidence" of adultery.

"An admission of guilt by the woman is sufficient," said Mr. Justice F. D. Hogg.

To the lawyer's statement that doctors had testified Welstead was not the father of the baby, Mr. Justice W. T. Henderson said: "I do not see how a doctor's opinion of a blood count would be accepted as proof of the father of the child."

Windsor Man Faces Charge Of Wounding

WINDSOR, June 13 — (CP) — John Shortt, 44, of Windsor, faced a charge of wounding as hospital authorities said Monday night the condition of 32-year-old Owen Thompson, also of Windsor, was improving.

Thompson is "fairly good" but still suffering from shock after being shot in the left side by a .38 calibre pistol.

Shortt was picked up a short distance from the scene of what police call a "mystery shooting." They are still looking for John Dobson, who rented a midtown apartment with Thompson two weeks ago, the one in which Thompson was found shot.

Police Launch Intensive Search

OTTAWA, June 13.—(CP). — Police have launched an intensive search for a convict who escaped late Monday from Burritt's Rapids industrial farm, some 40 miles south of here.

The escaped prisoner was identified as George Brown, 25, of Toronto, who had been serving a year's sentence on conviction of stealing a car at Perth, about 60 miles southwest of Ottawa.

Sgt. W. A. Neil of the farm's police staff, said the escape occurred about 5.40 p.m. EDT.

He said Brown had been employed on the garbage detail in the farm's kitchen. There were 17 other prisoners employed in the kitchen.

Brown apparently slipped out of the kitchen and was not missed until a check was made later.

Police described Brown as being of medium height, with dark hair and brown eyes and a scar over the right ear. At the time of the escape he was wearing prison garb, made up of a blue shirt and blue denim trousers.

Whipper Decides To Play Rugby For Eskimos

TORONTO, June 13 (CP) — Whipper Billy Watson, dispenser of soft drinks (he makes the stuff) and the people's choice in pro wrestling (he's always the good guy in the ring), is looking forward—with just a little trepidation—to his debut as a paid football player. He can't afford to get hurt.

The Whipper, Toronto born and a former junior football player here, confirmed Saturday's story out of Edmonton that he has signed to play with the Eskimos of the Western Canada Interprovincial Football Union. But it's just for the Eskimo home games—his rasslin' commitments won't allow him to travel with the club.

The 235-pound husky, a good-looking moustached fellow, has piled up an impressive mat record since he took up the game in 1936. And, of course, his bankroll swelled with his popularity.

Space on the gridiron, with 25 other guys cluttering up the field won't allow him to use such tactics against a ball-carrier, but he thinks he can make a "hole or plug one."

"I've signed a Canadian Rugby Union form, but I haven't talked terms with Stuke (Annis Stukus, Eskimo coach) yet," he said in an interview Monday on his return from Winnipeg where he headlined a Manitoba Flood Relief Fund show last Friday. "I've got some wrestling dates out west in the fall and I'll probably play five or 10 minutes a game."

Norwood Softball

NORWOOD, June 13 (ENS)—The "A" and "B" softball squads here tangled at the fair grounds Monday and saw a fair tussle with the "A" team victorious by a 13-7 count. The losers tallied two in the first, three in the fourth and one each in the fifth and seventh. Teams:

"B": Clements, c; Garden, p; McMillan, 1b; Andrews, 2b; McNab, 3b; Webb, ss; Lobb, rf; Aldred, cf; Scott, lf.

Faith In Agreement

HOLLYWOOD, June 13—(AP)—Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Producers Association, believes that any agreement will be reached for renewal of the British-American film pact which expires tomorrow. Johnston, just back from London, said Monday a settlement may be reached during a one-month carryover period from the old agreement, which permits American producers to take a percentage of their profits out of the country.

Blind Bowlers Boosting Competition

HALIFAX, June 13.—(CP).—A blind Haligonian who established a bowling league for the sightless two years ago, is not content with the competition of local members. He hopes to arrange a tournament with teams in Sydney, N.S. and Saint John, N.B., to be conducted along the lines of chess by mail.

Ronald Hill, assistant superintendent of the Halifax branch, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, started the league, which now has a membership of 48.

The proposed tournament will see the teams play on home alleys. They will telegraph their scores to the other teams.

Good Scoring

In spite of their handicap, many of the bowlers have scored more than 70 and Mr. Hill ran up a 79 late in the season.

The blind bowlers are given little instruction. They are told to use the ball rack as a guide in lining up their shots and are informed which pins are knocked down.

"Too often the sighted person is too anxious to help," Mr. Hill said. "They consider the blind almost helpless and so take away much of the pleasure found in self-education."

The Halifax Lions Club pays half the cost of operating the league.

Rays Edge Woollens

Raybestos edged Woollens 6-5 in fastball last night, scoring three in the ninth for the verdict. They had pushed one over in the fourth and two more in the seventh of a nifty number. Woollens piled up an early lead with two in the first inning, one on the third and two more in the fourth, but were held in check from there on. Teams:

Woollens: Weichorek, c; Borland, rf; Anderson, ss; Lenard, 1b; Schell, 2b; Nokes, cf; Clarke, lf; McMillan, 3b; Coughlin, p.

Rays: Crampton, 2b; S. Maudsley, 1b; Simpson, cf; Crary, 3b; Pryde, ss; Giles, lf; L. Maudsley, c; O'Toole, rf; Maio, p; Murphy.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Babe Didrickson Zaharias slapped out a 5-and-4 victory over London's Jacqueline Gordon at Gullane, Scotland, three years ago today to become the first American-born player to win the British women's golfing crown. The Babe's win cleaned out the British trophy chest, all titles for which outsiders are eligible being taken this year by players from the United States. The win was Mrs. Zaharias' 16th straight tournament triumph.

Canoe Co. Victors

Canoe Co. turned back the Quakers 6-2 in a well-played fastball fixture last night at Brinton Field. For the winners, Robertson and Killingbeck were the big guns with the willow, as Lomax of the losers hammered out a triple and double. Both Quigley and Montgomery pitched effectively.

Mulling over major and minor lacrosse items of the week. The senior "A" Petes are away to Mimico tomorrow and at home to Weston on Friday. They're just a breath out of second slot now. Lou Vitarelli's OLA juniors go to Mimico tonight, have a seven p.m. drill Thursday and entertain Toronto Maitlands here at 8.30 Saturday night. They're grouped with Fergus, Owen Sound, Toronto, Mimico, Weston, St. Catharines and Brampton in a single schedule. A midget and juvenile workout at seven tonight in Miller Bowl under Jim Kinna. Bantams go there tomorrow at 6.30 with Barney Dundas in charge. Jerry Fitzgerald can't get daytime drills for the minors lined up until school is out.

Big league players and scribes are quite suspicious of the baseball used this season. Many figure it's corked up to be livelier than ever before. And extra-base hits by the dozen splattering the scenery would indicate some grounds for suspicion. We've remarked on the hefty number of homers, triples and doubles seen this semester in the Viaduct Major League—though, alas, the Petes don't always produce 'em with ducks on the pond—and feel that there's more rabbit than horsehide to the ball being used. Pretty soon, the infielders will have to wear shin guards for protection.

Russelle Pack On Top

In the men's softball circuit over Bowlward, Mutuals lead the parade with six wins in as many starts. UEW are next with four nods and two negatives, while East City have won two of six, and Orphans have yet to hit the victory column, though coming close often. The East Citizens play UE tonight at seven, followed by Mutuals against the Orphans. That first fray should be keen and anything might happen in the nightcap. With warmer weather, the crowds are increasing, it being a fine park in which to pass a few interesting hours on a warmish evening. Thursday's twin bill has East City vs. Orphans, and Mutuals vs. UE.

Girl softballers here are making plans already for their part in the centennial sports week in Peterborough during August. We haven't the dope clearly yet, but expect the managers to choose an all-star team from the local league to play an outside lasses' squad. Probably each pilot will select two or three of his better players to make up the all-star outfit. Anyway, it should be quite a week in athletics here with outstanding attractions each night. Games at the Bowl on the morrow are: Marines vs. Woollens, and Westclox vs. Ashby's, an attractive double-header for the colleens' customers. Friday has Ashby's vs. Westclox in one, but our schedule is balled up on the other game, and we don't know which teams go on first.

Girls In Fine Form

'Twas a tasty dish to set before a king, provided kings are followers of the girls—strictly in a fan sense, that is. We refer to the twin bill in girls' softball at the Bowl last gloaming. The surprising young Woollens defeated Ashby's good team 10-3 in scrap that was run off in just 45 minutes. And the shorthanded Electrics made the classy Clockers hustle in 50 minutes of fine ball to gain a 4-1 victory. Bill Flint's umpirical staff is keeping the action rolling rapidly in the lasses' loop, and the games are getting better as the schedule progresses. No weak sisters there now, and it ought to be plenty keen before playoff time.

In baseball, the local intermediates take on Colborne at 6.30 tomorrow night in Riverside, and go to Lindsay on Friday. The senior Petes are in Oshawa on Friday eve for a Viaduct League fixture, and then have the import-studded Motor Citizens here Saturday aft. The strengthened Oshawa squad is coming along well now after a slow start. Broke even with Aces on Saturday, winning one and dropping another, while New Toronto were taking Staffords in a game which saw Bobo Kitchen pull the ancient hidden ball trick to nip a Staffs' rally. New Toronto are out in front, with Aces second, the Petes in third spot, as Staffords have a half game lead over Oshawa, and Dovers occupy the cellar.

Woollens Gain 10-3 Win Over Ashby's

Woollens upset the dope at the Bowl last night when they trumped Ashby's 10-3 in a nifty 45-minute softball tilt. It was excellent ball by both teams with Woollens earning the decision on an early batch of runs. The hitting and fielding were quite even over the distance, and S. Harris pitched good ball, though D. McFadden was effective after the first few frames for the losers. Woollens gained a 6-0 edge in the first three innings and that proved good enough.

C. Ferguson and R. McInroy stood out defensively for the up-and-coming Woollens, while E. McFadden and J. Dunk were best in the field for the Ashby lasses. C. Ferguson hit a homer and two singles in five tries, with J. Lawson of Woollens having three singles in four. E. McFadden led the losers at bat with three singles in five plate appearances.

The teams:

Ashby's: E. McFadden, 3b; J. Reynolds, c; D. Calian, cf; H. Stewart, cf; L. Jordan, ss; E. Simmons, rf; M. Freeman, 1b; J. Dunk, ss; G. Dracup, lf; D.McFadden, p.

Woollens: J. McIlwain, lf; R. McInroy, 2b; J. Walling, cf; M. Laing, 1b; C. Ferguson, ss; S. Harris, p; J. Lawson, c; J. Black, rf; V. Dunk, rf; R. Naylor, 3b.

Tigers Trounce Crescents 11-7

HAMILTON, June 13 (CP) — Hamilton Tigers defeated Owen Sound Crescents 11-7 in a Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association match Monday night, and the game ended in a free-for-all including fans, officials and players as the league-leading Owen Sounders suffered their first defeat of the season.

Owen Sound leads the eight-team loop with five wins and one loss. Brampton and St. Catharines are tied for second with four wins, no losses.

Play was rough and with just a minute left in the game fireworks broke loose when Harry Kazarian of Owen Sound got into a fist-swinging display with Tony Capula of Hamilton. Trainer Lefty Jordan of Hamilton got in a few licks and a lady spectator slapped Doug Gillespie of Owen Sound.

For Hamilton, Scott scored three goals and McDonald and Shortridge each had two. Grainger, Love, Hogan and Capula got the others. Gillespie scored twice for Owen Sound, with singles for Foote, Campbell, Kazarian, Mason and Slater.

School Standing

Prince of Wales finished on top as the senior Public School Softball League schedule ended, being a point ahead of Queen Mary. The semi-final draw has Prince of Wales playing Central, while Queen Mary meets the winners of Confederation and King George, the survivors then clashing in finals. Following is the standing:

	W	L	T	Pt
Prince of Wales	5	1	0	10
Queen Mary	4	1	1	9
Central	3	2	1	7
Confederation	3	3	0	6
King George	3	3	0	6
King Edward	1	5	0	2
Queen Alexandra	1	5	0	2

Queen Mary Wins

Queen Mary juniors beat Grove to finish their school softball schedule in first place. They scored three runs each in the second and third frames, six in the fourth and two more in the sixth. Grove shoved over two each in the second and third, four next time up and one in the fifth of a lively contest. Teams:

Queen Mary: Mann, Staves, Brown, Haig, Stewart, Wilson, White, Jobbitt, Brisbois, Milne.

Grove: Woods, Copping, Hargreaves, Heard, Lindsey, Hotston, Griffin, Casey, Patterson, Duncan, Gardner.

Umpire: Mr. Currie.

McBride Leads Way

Stan McBride had a low gross in the first flight of the ball sweep held at Peterborough Golf Club for the second week in a row with a score of 80. Joe Watson took low net with an 82-13—69. Second flight went to Dootch Vitarelli, a visitor from Kawartha, with an 87 low gross, as Ed Dixon had low net with 88-17—71. Pup Curtin and Barney Pearson had low gross and net in the third flight, with Curtin carding a 96 as Pearson had 103-32—71.

Light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim would be interested in a title bout with Ray Robinson; the ambitious welterweight champion, but for more than the $25,000 guarantee offered Monday.

Maxim's manager, Jack Kearns, admitted at Chicago he had received the offer from Ted Brenner, former match-maker for the International Boxing Club's St. Nicholas Arena.

"The ante would have to be quite a bit more than $25,000 for a title bout," said Kearns. "Besides, we'd have to get clearance from Jack Solomons of England under whose promotion we won the title."

Kearns also said there was a date problem since Maxim has a September booking "practically all set" to meet Lee Savold in London for the British version of the heavyweight crown.

Philadelphia Athletics still are for sale for the right price—but not this season.

The club management made that definite Monday in a statement as James P. Clark, trucking executive and president of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, again asserted that a syndicate headed by him is preparing a definite offer.

"As we have stated before, we will listen to any bona fide offers when they are presented," the management statement said. "But even if we should receive an attractive offer, one worthy of consideration, it would take months to straighten out the details in connection with such a transaction."

At Belfast, Northern Ireland, Bob MacFarlane, of London, Ont., Monday night took second place in the 40-yard event at the Royal Ulster Constabulary athletic meet, coming in behind Hugo Maiocco, of the United States.

The American broke the Irish 440-yard record with his victory in 47.8 seconds, seven-tenths of a second better than the previous mark, set last year by Dave Bolan of the United States.

The controversial Sunday night National League baseball game scheduled for July 16 between St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers was called off Monday by President Fred M. Saigh, of the Cardinals.

Saigh said his action was based "entirely" on a ruling by League President Ford Frick and Louis Caroll, league counsel, that the game would be a violation of league regulations.

The Ottawa Footbal Club has issued an invitation to the New York Giants to stage an exhibition football match at Ottawa with the Ottawa Rough Riders Aug 12.

In a letter sent to the team Monday, the Big Four Riders offered to play the first half of the game under American rules and the second half under Canadian.

Connie Mack, observing his golden anniversary in major-league baseball, will be an "honorary manager" and toss out the first ball at the All-Star game in Chicago's Comiskey Park July 11.

Will Harridge, president of the American League, Monday disclosed that the venerable leader of the Philadelphia A's will be guest of honor at the 17th All-Star classic.

Westclox Take Close One Over Electrics

Westclox yanked out a 4-1 win over CGE in a senior girls' softball fixture at the Bowl last night. It was the best tilt seen so far this season, both sides hustling it through in 50 minutes. CGE were shy four regulars — three writing exams and one being injured—but they gave the classy Clockers a real battle. Mary Hodgson pitched fine ball till she was hurt in the eighth and lost most of her control. M. Downer was also in swell form with seven hits and seven strikeouts. M. Hodson fanned six, and both twirlers received excellent support.

J. Vass and B. Morrow stood out in the field for the winners, with M. Batley and T. DeCarlo best for Electrics. B Morrow and J. Vass also led Westclox at bat with three safe blows each, one of the latter's being a double. M. Batley topped CGE at the plate with two safeties in four trips. The fielding was sparkling on both sides and the fans enjoyed this tussle.

The teams:

CGE—M. Batley, cf; T. DeCarlo, ss; D. Jackson, 2b; J. Finnie, 3b; N. Shearer, lf; B. McMahon, 1b; M. Perrin, rf; J. Hart, c; M. Hodgson, p.

Springfield Nips Toronto Leafs

By The Associated Press.

Springfield Cubs, for the first time this season, will have a shot at first place in the International League tonight.

Stan Hack's crew, 1½ games behind Rochester, tangle with Toronto Maple Leafs in a twilight-night doubleheader at Toronto. Rochester, meanwhile, go against a more formidable Jersey City team.

Two Springfield victories coupled with a Rochester loss would boost the Cubs into the top rung by four percentage points. Toronto, incidentally, has dropped 15 of its last 20 games.

The Cubs dealt the sagging Leafs their 29th setback of the season last night, carving out a 3-2 victory. A two-run homer by the Cubs' Carmen Mauro in the first inning was the big blow.

Warren Hacker rationed six hits in coasting to his seventh victory against one loss.

The Wings dropped an exhibition tilt to the Boston Braves 2-1 in Rochester.

Butch Woyt and George Byam clubbed home runs to lead Baltimore to a 7-3 victory over Buffalo.

A two-run rally in the ninth inning gave Syracuse a 5-3 edge on Montreal. Eddie Shokes' single and doubles by Frank Drews and Claude Coroitt scored the deciding tallies.

Yankees Seek Pitcher Deal Before Trading Deadline

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Seriously disturbed by Detroit's solid strength, New York Yankees remain hopeful of making a major deal before the Thursday midnight deadline.

The defending world champions learned new respect for Red Rolfe's Tigers when they bounced back from two Yankee Stadium defeats to bop New York in the finale and then sweep three straight at Boston.

Many of the Yankees now regard the Tigers as "the team to beat" instead of the Red Sox Boston lost plenty of prestige by dropping four in a row after rolling up that 29-4 record score on St. Louis last week.

The Yankee pitching situation is desperate. Don Johnson, sidelined by a skin ailment, remained in New York when the club headed west. That left Casey Stengel with seven pitchers, including Joe Page and Duane Pillette, just recalled from Kansas City. Page, troubled by a sinus condition, has pitched only one inning since June 3.

Go All Out

After the disastrous Detroit series, Boston Red Sox too can be expected to go all out for that additional starting pitcher.

A look at the June records emphasizes Detroit's sizzling pace Although they still trail the Yankees by half a game in the won and lost columns, they're out front by .002 in percentage points.

Since they left Briggs Stadium, the Tigers won 10 and lost two It is well known that Detroit is a superior road team. Now they dig in at home for 16 games, starting with three against Philadelphia A's.

Boston, winning only six of 11 at Fenway Park against the west, ventures into the badlands where they have failed so miserably in the past. First stop for the Sox is Cleveland.

The Yanks break in easy with three at Chicago and four at St. Louis before riding into Cleveland and Detroit on their 13-game jaunt.

Battle To Tie

LINDSAY, June 13 — Blasting four pitchers for a total of 22 hits, Lindsay Walkwoods and the Cambray Cardianls battled to an 11-all tie in a loosely played Tri-County League game here Monday night. Cambray came from behind to take the lead twice and Lindsay knotted the final count on a bad throw in the seventh. John Burn of Walkwoods paced the hitters with three singles.

New Tennis Champion

CLEVELAND, June 13 (AP) — Francisco Segura, a little fellow who wore out and whipped the two best big men in the game, is the new United States professional tennis champion. The five-foot-six, 140-pound star from Ecuador is the first South American to win the pro net crown. He won it by defeating Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., Monday night in the finals.

Says Canadians Need Better Dental Care

TORONTO, June 13 (CP) — Only one out of four North Americans is receiving adequate dental care, Prof. C. H. M. Williams of the University of Toronto's dental faculty said Monday.

Speaking at the annual convention of the Canadian Public Health Convention, Prof. Williams said public health authorities must launch an educational program to prevent tooth defects.

At a combined luncheon meeting of the Canadian and Ontario Public Health Associations, meeting here simultaneously, Ontario Welfare Minister William Goodfellow said improvement in public health services has put an increasing load on governmental welfare facilities.

He said the improvement in life expectancy resulting from improved medical services means higher welfare costs in the form of pensions and security payments. This also results in higher administrative costs.

Earlier, the Provincial Association heard Dr. Gordon P. Jackson, Medical Health Officer of Toronto, say high living costs are undermining the morals and mental and physical health of a large part of the population.

Causing Concern

In his presidential address, Dr. Jackson said the community in Canada is "showing signs of disintegration at a pace that causes the thinkers of the day considerable concern."

Dr. Duff Wilson of Kitchener told the Provincial Association that Ontario is "lagging behind" in its approach to the problems of venereal diseases.

"There is an apparent decrease in the incidence of venereal diseases but some part at least of this reduction may be due to the fact that the cases are not being reported. Victims are going to general practitioners, who can treat them successfully because of the introduction of penicillin.

The Provincial Department of Health provides only arsenic and bismuth preparations for the public health clinics. In consequence, few patients come to the clinics."

If public health officers had penicillin, more patients would take treatment. Through them, contacts could be traced.

Dies After Operation

LONDON, June 13 — (AP) — Agnes Smedley, 56-year-old American author and newspaper woman, died May 6, two days after an operation for stomach ulcers, it was learned Monday night. Harold H. Velde, a Republican member of the United States House of Representatives, said in Peoria, Ill., earlier Monday that he believes Miss Smedley was liquidated in order to prevent her testifying about Soviet espionage before the Un-American Activities Committee. He advised the British government to investigate the circumstances of her death.

Mountain Climber Dies

VANCOUVER, June 13 (CP)— The Dean of Canada's mountain climbers, Don Munday, died Monday in hospital at the age of 60. He started climbing more than 40 years ago and is credited with invaluable survey work. Born in Portage La Prairie, Man., he had climbed more peaks than any other person in the country.

Immigrant Settlements Spring Up Around Negev

By LARRY ALLEN

BEERSHEBA, Israel, June 13 (AP). — Immigrants' settlements are springing up like mushrooms down here in Southern Israel where the Negev begins.

The Negev, a vast, desert wilderness, stretches about 200 miles south of here to the Gulf of Akaba. In this pie-slice wedge of land between Jordan's mountains of Moab and Egypt's Sinai Desert, young Jewish pioneers are establishing villages which some day may blossom into thriving towns or cities.

Here, around Beersheba, much of the land is suitable for farming. Through Beersheba pass the great irrigation pipelines carrying water from the Yarkon or Jordan Rivers southward for Jews settled along the Gulf of Akaba.

Thousands of immigrants have moved into Beersheba area since the Jewish state was proclaimed May 15, 1948.

One-Storey Homes

Little one-storey, wooden homes — some of them so small they remind one of a telephone booth — seem to arise almost overnight.

Interspersed among the new Jewish settlements are tribes of the nomadic Bedouin Arabs. They aren't so nomadic anymore. They pitch their tents near sweet-water wells and do some farming.

The Bedouins, numbering 12,000 in the Beersheba area, put 4,000 tons of barley and other products into the Israeli market in 1949.

The Bedouins get along fine with the Jews. They have equal rights under law. They administer their own courts for nearly all cases except murder.

There were just a handful of Jews in Beersheba 18 months ago. Since that time, its population has increased five-fold.

There now are 6,000 Jews in Beersheba, far more than the Arab population under the British mandatory government.

This is only a beginning. The Israeli government and the municipality of Beersheba predict there'll be 50,000 people in the "City of Beersheba" by 1960.

Truck Takes Fire

WINCHESTER, June 13 (CP) —A half-ton truck loaded with steel scaffolding was destroyed Monday when it burst into flames on Highway 31, two miles north of here. The driver, Stewart Sullivan of Ottawa, escaped injury. The truck was en route to Cardinal when the right rear tire blew out and caught fire.

Breaking Down Of Barriers Important Step

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Whatever country you visit today you see the same fundamental facts which you may see from Halifax, Montreal, Winnipeg, or elsewhere at home.

These are that the world is in a state of speeded-up social evolution and that it is in the course of breaking down national barriers—except, as yet, the great barrier between east and west.

The old world—the pre-1914 world which it was attempted to re-establish during the wars — is virtually gone. We are in the course of building a new one on its foundations, but it will take a long time and in the meantime there will be continuing alarms and crises.

So much has been broken down so many forces set at large, that it is a wonder we are not in a state of chaos.

Hold Things Together

Fortunately we had learned just enough of statesmanship to hold things together in a state of change, and successive crises have been met by beforehand planning.

In case we take too much credit, we have been virtually kicked into action.

We have been and are being forced into proving that the western way of life offers more to the masses of people of the world than does the Russian way. Millions of people outside of those under Communist rule, still need to be convinced of this. Millions of people who have had little, see small gain or loss either way.

Our margin of safety is narrow and will continue to be narrow until our case is proven.

Unbelievable Moves

Encouraging and almost unbelievable in the light of 25 years ago are such developments as the European Recovery Program, the Atlantic Pact, and various steps which are rapidly advancing to bring the whole western world into co-operation.

They promise, given continued statesmanship, the welding together of one great community of common thinking in North America and Western Europe.

It cannot be too much to say that the problem of extending world understanding is a responsibility for each individual.

One recalls how, during the war, we would each have shared our last crust as we looked at pictures of starving peoples in Europe, if there had been some way to share it. There still are millions of starving and lost peoples and it is doubtful whether we care much. That doesn't add up to either understanding or peace.

Moscow Can't Control Prayer

MONTREAL, June 13 (CP) — Moscow can "demand no visa of the power of prayer," Rt. Hon. Ernest Brown, former British cabinet minister, Monday told the annual assembly of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec here.

Mr. Brown was Health Minister in the British wartime coalition government and in 1945 was chairman of the European Council of the United Nations' Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Neither the iron curtain nor any other curtain can shut the people away from the power of prayer and Christian faith, he said, and there is a great need for those within the church "to understand our obligation to the man outside."

Mr. Brown is on a tour of Canada and the United States and has been speaking to Baptist meetings and conventions across both countries.

The ministers elected the Rev. Albert Eikenaar of Cornwall, president of the conference.

Delivering the presidential address at sessions of the assembly the Rev. P. P. W. Ziemann of Hamilton, said the work of the Baptist church is advancing steadily.

Sunny Weather Eases Flood At Rainy Lake

By JOHN DAUPHINEE

FORT FRANCES, June 13. — (CP).—Sunny weather lapped up water through the Rainy lake watershed Monday, and a federal engineer forecast the next two days may see an end of the lake's 34-year record rise.

Lac La Croix, eastward in the watershed, has dropped a foot or more. Lake Namakan immediately east of Rainy lake, has dropped a tenth. A dam at Calm lake, north and east, is being gradually shut.

"The next two days should tell the story," said R. F. Smallian, an engineer with long experience in Fort Frances. "Rainy lake won't drop rapidly, but it seems to be levelling off and the drop farther east should be reflected here within a couple of days.

Monday the lake was within less than one inch of the all-time high set in 1916. The indication was the 1916 mark will be passed—but barely.

Damage Not Estimated

Damage from this year's record water through the 14,500 square-mile Rainy lake watershed cannot be estimated with precision.

George Smith, president of the Rainy Lake Commercial Fishermen's Association, has set the figure at $1,000,000, including drop of $175,000 in production by the fishing industry and heavy expense to the Canadian National Railways.

However, Chamber of Commerce officers in Fort Frances expressed belief $1,000,000 is too high. They said the Canadian section of the watershed—about one-third of the total—is thinly populated in the summer.

More Power for All Ontario

On the occasion of the opening by the Honourable Mr. Leslie M. Frost, Prime Minister of Ontario, of the first of three new generating stations to come into operation in June, the Commission wishes to thank all those who have contributed to speeding to completion the 1950 portion of its huge expansion program, which will provide all Ontario with over 1,600,000 additional horsepower.

To the men of labour; to the suppliers for their willing response to the heavy demands made upon their manufacturing facilities; to local Municipal Systems and consumers for their valuable contribution in conserving electricity and thus making more power available for production purposes—to all we extend a most sincere "Thank you".

June 1950 is an important month for Ontario Hydro. The three new generating stations will provide all Ontario with an additional 216,500 horsepower immediately, and with a total of 616,500 new horsepower by the end of 1950, or early in 1951.

On June 14th, the Tunnel Generating Station, near Thessalon, will swing into production to supply 56,500 horsepower to help expand the development of Ontario's vast mineral and forest resources. The Commission extends sincere thanks to the engineers, officers and men of Rayner Construction Limited for the efficiency and skill with which this difficult operation was pushed forward to production in less than three years.

On June 21, the new Pine Portage Generating Station on the Nipigon River will commence supplying 80,000 horsepower to the Lakehead Area, and on June 28, the giant new Des Joachims Generating Station will contribute the first instalment of 480,000 horsepower to meet the unprecedented power requirements of both Southern and Northern Ontario.

We are justifiably proud of the part that Hydro plays in safeguarding the continued prosperity of this province, and particularly of the achievement of the Commission's personnel in bringing our plans to fruition ahead of schedule in the face of extreme shortages, both in manpower and materials.

Council Studies Parking When Charlotte Lot Gone Finds Areas For Only 100

"When the parking area on Charlotte St. is gone even a ten-car lot will be important" was the comment of City Clerk Outram in a parking and traffic discussion at the meeting of the finance committee Monday night. Reporting for a special committee composed of himself, Aldermen Young and Gillespie, Ald. Doug. Miller mentioned three available lots of combined accommodation for 100 cars. It was verbal review of enquiries that have turned up three prospective parking places.

Ald. Miller apparently felt that space for 100 cars was so inadequate for the city's increasing parking needs that it was only an approach to the effectual solution of the problem.

The special committee is meeting again and will have a further report for the council next Monday night.

Mr. Outram remarked that in Montreal last week he met a man who has a summer home at Paudash Lake. Reference to Peterborough prompted the expression from this man that traffic congestion and lack of parking areas here caused him to drive through Peterborough and buy in Lakefiled things he needed.

"This man was originally from this area," Mr. Outram said. "He said Peterborough had a traffic problem on its hands. He considered traffic congestion here about as difficult as in any place of his motoring experience."

Lowering Fence And Costs As Park Hurdle

Aldermen seemed to be weakening Monday night on the parks committee proposal to set up a steel fence in Confederation Square.

A hedging on sentiment and reluctance about the barrier to PCVS students was an overtone in the condition expressed by Ald. T. D. Miller: "providing it doesn't cost more than $1,000."

Height of the fence is trimmed in plans from five feet to four. The bottom of it will be six inches off the ground, and Ald. Young estimates that the outlay should be under $1,000.

Manifestly, Ald. Young was giving point and permanence to the strictures of Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, in his fence-foiling of the student body of the collegiate.

What Mr. Butcher is trying to do is to force people, student and otherwise, to walk on the concrete strip that extends diagonally from McDonnel St. to the YMCA corner.

"Put a fence up and it will be a dare to the young people to jump over it," Ald. Doug Miller said.

"Not if you plant a hedge along it,' Ald Young answered.

Electrify It

"Why not put up an electric fence as they do in the farm pastures?" Ald. J. F. Gillespie suggested.

Inclination was to make light of the steel fence, that is to be painted green and obscured as much as possible.

Ald. Young quoted Mr. Butcher to the effect that if he went at resodding the path that has been worn across the turf that replacement would cost around $1,000.

Ald. Gillespie's recommendation the other night was that if the people wear a path across the park that indicates the course the concrete strip should take.

FINDS LARGE MOTH

A cecropia moth, with a 6¼-inch wingspan, was found Monday night by Patrick McGrath, RR 2, Peterborough. He told the Examiner he found the insect beating against a screen across one of the windows of his house. The moth is generally brown, and has greyish wing edges, with four "eyes" on the wings. Two large feathery feelers project from the head.

OILY RAGS BURN

Some oily rags placed in a can in a dustbin were the cause of a small fire that broke out about 11 p.m. Monday at Grant and Loucks electrical appliance store, 418 George St. Damage consisted of some charred wood around the metal dustbin and a door that had to be forced to gain entry.

ELECT FILM DELEGATES

Two delegates to the Peterborough Film Council were elected at Monday night's meeting of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL). They were George O'Brien, Local 524 IUE, and Edmund S. Humphries, Local 434 UPWA. Dave Hatherly, Local 599 IUE (CGE officerworkers) is the alternate delegate.

ERROR MADE

A contribution of $25 to the Flood Relief Fund, credited to the Young People's Group of Murray St. Baptist Church, should have been credited to the Young Married Couples' Group of the same church.

LABOR DAY COMMITTEE

A special committee has been elected by the Peterborough and District Labor Council to make arrangements for the council's Labor celebrations. On the committee are William Whibbs, Local 524 IUE; Lorne Bebee, Local 293 UPWA; Alfred Barber, president of the labor council and delegate from Local 210 UPWA; Edmund S. Humphries, Local 434 UPWA; Donald Rosenburgh, Local 170, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees; Dave Hatherly and Orville Martin, Local 599 IUE; Mrs. Joseph G. AT LIBRARY CONVENTION

William Graff, librarian at the Public Library, is attending this week the annual conference of the Canadian Library Association in Montreal. During the past year he was chairman of the audio-visual section.

LIGHT OBSCURED

Several citizens have told the Examiner that the traffic light at Aylmer and McDonnel streets is obscured when a driver is travelling north on Aylmer St. One said he could not see the light until he was a few feet away, because of overhanging branches. One Sunday, this citizen said, a New York car went through a red light at this intersection.

ATTENDS COURSE

James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, is attending the Canadian Institute for Board and Chamber secretaries this week. The course is sponsored by the Canadian Chamber for the members in Eastern Canada. Mr. Fraser is taking an advanced course this year as well as lecturing daily to other groups on the subject of membership.

IT'S A MATTER OF LOCATION

Many people when they see the Fire Department's ladder truck and a couple of pumpers roll down the street think a big fire has broken out. If not, why all the heavy equipment. It all depends on the zone, explains Fire Chief George Smith. Any fire in the rectangle bounded on the east by the Otonabee, west by Aylmer St., north by McDonnel St., and south by Dalhousie St. requires two pumpers, the aerial ladder and the chief's car. Often a curious crowd, attracted by this impressive array of firefighting apparatus, is disappointed when it turns out to be nothing more than a trash-can blaze. Small outbreaks Monday noon at the Armstrong Garage, Hunter St., and the Grant and Loucks store, George St., Monday night, are cases in point.

GROCER UNION TALKS

Negotiations on a union contract between National Grocers and 15 employees organized into the Wholesale, Retail and Department Store Workers (CCL) will continue June 19. Preliminary talks were on June 8. The union has been certified as the legal bargaining agent for the 15 employees. Union officials claim all have joined the bargaining unit.

Local Reservists To Encamp With 10,000 At 2 Centres

Army reserve units from Peterborough and district will train this summer at two of the province's largest camps—Petawawa and Picton. An estimated 10,000 reservists from Eastern Canada will attend the camps. Peterborough units attending are the 50th heavy anti-aircraft regiment, (RCA), and the 37th heavy anti-aircraft workshop (RCEME). The 50th will attend camp at Picton from July 2-8 and the 37th at Petawawa from July 2-8.

Largest of the two camps will be at Petawawa, which has been prepared to train more than 8,000 men, representing 170 units. Training periods there will last from June 25 to August 10. Picton trainees will be about 2,500 members of anti-aircraft regiments and they will train in seven groups from June 24 to August 12.

Reservists other than those in anti-aircraft regiments will train at Petawawa. These units include the armored corps, engineers, field, medium, and anti-tank artillery units.

Seven Training Wings

Seven training wings at Petawawa will provide instruction in armored, artillery, engineer, signals, infantry, and general training subjects. Promotion, qualification, and trade training examinations will be held during the camp.

District units, except the 50th anti-aircraft, will train at Petawawa during the periods shown in brackets below: Cobourg 33rd Medium Regiment (June 25 to July 1), Port Hope Midland Regiment (July 16 to July 22), Lindsay 4th Field Regiment, RCA (July 23 to July 29)

Board Of Health To Turner House

Permission to the Board of Health to move into the Turner residence at the southwest corner of Water and McDonnel streets was recommended to the council by its finance committee Monday night. East of the Public Library, it is part of the property bought by the city in the block that is to be site of the new city hall.

Transfer of the health department will be only temporary until its permanent quarters are available in the city hall.

Eventual use of the Turner building may be for the children's section of the Public Library. Its removal from the upper floor of the library would provide for larger auditorium space.

Tentative Plan

This is only a tentative proposal. Several years ago the house was discussed as a possible place for teenagers. For the present, the Board of Health will be provided with the enlarged space and facilities it needs. The department quarters over the Utilities office on Simcoe street are crowded. Ald. J. A. Dewart, a member of the Board, said Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, and his staff were working at disadvantage which had been pressing upon them for years.

Alterations of the Turner building will be chiefly in improvement of its lighting. Ald. Doug Miller said the Board should absorb the cost of moving.

"I think we have enough in the Board's budget to take care of that cost," Ald. Dewart said.

Find Accessories Taken From Truck

Theft of a heater, defroster and defroster fan from a truck owned by Duffus Motors was reported to police Monday.

Bob Juby of Duffus Motors said the truck, one of their second-hand vehicles, had been parked on a lot behind the garage two weeks. He said it had been locked all that time, but there were no marks on the doors to indicate they had been forced open.

Judge To Study De Laval Employee Firing

Judge F. F. P. Birnie of Walkerton will conduct an inquiry here Wednesday in a labor dispute over the dismissal of a De Laval employee.

A machine shop worker, Jack Mackness was dismissed about six weeks ago. The United Electrical Workers who are trying to organize the production workers at De Laval claim it was for union activities.

After an appeal to the OLRB Judge Birnie was decided on to near the case. It will begin Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the County Courthouse.

At present the UE is the bargaining agent for the CGE production workers, Peterborough Lock Co., Raybestos and Ontario Marble workers.

Council Establishes Depreciation Fund

City council put $10,000 in the budget this year for a reserve account for depreciation of board of works equipment.

Legislation gives full warrant to this action, and stipulates that the bank credit must not be used for any purpose other than the specific expenditure.

Mayor Swanston said at the finance committee last night that if a grader wears out the council has no replacement fund available. By setting aside a certain amount each year a reserve could be accumulated for the purchase of such new machinery.

"But you cannot take that money and transfer it to the general account some time when the tax rate is being decided," he said.

Grade 13 Pupils On Final Exams

The Departmental examinations started Monday at PCVS and St. Peter's High School with alegebra and English composition. Today the chemistry and English literature papers were written and German language follows Wednesday. Trigonometry and botany come Thursday, French on Friday.

Monday the students write physics and history, Tuesday Latin composition and literature and Wednesday geometry and zoology. This will end the examination grind for most.

After next Wednesday students specializing in subjects not regularly on the school course will write. These examinations include Spanish, Greek, Italian, problems, music, accountancy practice, secretarial practice and mathematic of investment.

Fraser Queries Gardiner About Worms

OTTAWA, June 13 — (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner suggested Monday night in the Commons that anyone attempting to combat army worms ("tent caterpillars") obtain instructions on the best way to go about it.

He said grease on tarpaper placed around the bottom of trees was one way of combatting the pest. Certain sprays also were effective. To his knowledge he did not know of any case where the worms killed trees. They stripped trees, but the leaves grew back.

He was replying to G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West), who said the worms were doing gerat damage in his area.

Mr. Gardiner told C. W. Hodgson (PC-Victoria Ont.) that agriculture department representatives now are in Victoria and Haliburton counties studying ways of combating an infestation of the worms.

Breakers-in Go For Two Pops

A couple of bottles of pop apparently satisfied the thieves who broke into Montgomery Brothers butcher shop on Queen St. Monday night. This was the same shop where the till was robber of $224 last week and the safe damaged.

Constable Stewart Fife reported that while on patrol he found the glass had been broken at the bottom left hand corner of the entrance door window just above the night lock. He said he could reach in and unlock the door.

He contacted Frank Montgomery co-owner of the business who reported that a man who lived across the street from the butcher shop had phoned him earlier in the evening.

He had told Mr. Montgomery he had seen two boys about 10 years of age hanging around the store and had chased them away. He did not know whether the boys had done any damage.

After inspecting the inside of the store, Mr. Montgomery said he thought no one had gone into the store. As far as he could tell nothing was disturbed. But this morning, it was found two bottles of pop were missing.

Two Cars Crash

Two cars crashed at Rogers and Douro streets Monday night doing considerable damage to both cars. Driver of one car, Martin S. Byrne, Port Hope, was travelling north on Rogers St. The other driver Bernard Watters, 560 Chamberlain St., was going west on Douro St. Constable Stewart Fife, who investigated, reported Watters had been drinking.

Boy Fishing For Fountain

Ald. Herbert Young reported progress on the restoring, of the old Victoria Park fountain, an improvement that was advocated last year by Fred M. DelaFosse.

Joseph K. Riedel of Peterborough Art Pottery at the north end of the city has undertaken to make a pattern or mould of the figure of a boy fishing, as expressing and typifying the dominant motif of Peterborough interests, to hear some of the outdoor vocal individuals tell it.

At any rate in this pervasive atmosphere, the council has fallen in with the idea of the fishing fellow rather than a cupid or naiad or some other mythical and classical effigy.

Mr. Riedel has shown his wish to co-operate with the council by cutting the cost of the mould to $200. From it an aluminum casting will be made for the fountain. That will add $50, Ald. Young said.

Ross Dobbin of Utilities Commission is thinking up some embellishments of water and light, and one of these days the fountain will be flowing again at a slightly lower crossway in the park as it used to years ago on Friday evenings of the Rupert Gliddon band concerts.

District Labor Council Asks For Action By Council On New Fire Sub-Station

By DAVE WHITE

If the south end doesn't get a fire department sub station it won't be the fault of organized labor in Peterborough. At Monday night's meeting of the newly-formed Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) a resolution passed unanimously urging "the City Council give serious consideration to the question of the erection of a fire sub station in the southern section of the city."

William Whibbs, Local 524, IUE, charged that after considering the matter some time ago the City Council had dropped it" for some future council to deal with.

"No adequate reason has been given for shelving this very important question," said Mr. Whibbs.

The problem of fire protection south of Lansdowne St. and Highway 7 came up some time ago at the Independent Allied Labor Council. Some correspondence was passed between the City Council and the ALC, but the delegates to the labor body were never satisfied with the replies.

Now the matter has come up again at the new CCL-affiliated labor council. Many of the delegates who originally urged a fire sub-station in the ALC are returning to the attack after switching their labor council allegiance.

Presentation of Charter

The main business of the night was presentation of the CCL labor council charter by Henry Rhodes, CCL regional director for Ontario. A spectator of the night's proceedings, Mr. Rhodes said he was delighted to see the interest shown by the delegates in municipal affairs.

The resolution was introduced by the municipal committee, one of the two committees formed at the May meeting of the Peterborough and District Labor Council.

Fire equipment is too centralized and too heavy for the majority of fires that break out in Peterborough, said Edmund S. Humphries, Local 434 UPWA.

"Future appliances purchased by the city should be light ones" he said. "The present ones are unwieldy and are not primarily for a residential district. The aerial ladder is of little use; there aren't enough buildings on which it could be used."

Two Men For Each Vehicle

Counting the Fire Chief's car he said there are now six appliances with a normal complement of 14 men on duty at a time. This means an average of about two men for each appliance. The city has grown considerably, he said, and there is need for expansion of the Fire Department.

"We need not one sub-station but about four," said Mr. Humphries emphatically.

Neil P. McNulty, Local 524, IUE, said that recently he saw the fire trucks trying to get to the south end through the noon traffic at CGE.

"It was quite a mess," he observed.

"I was told it takes a truck 20 minutes to go from the Fire Hall to King George St.," said Lorne Bebee, Local 293 UPWA. He added that he didn't think this could be done.

Walter Dinesen, Local 599 IUE (office workers), stated "I agree with having speedy, light equipment."

"We don't want this issue to die," said Dave Hatherly, also of Local 599 IUE. He was in favor of immediately forwarding the municipal committee's resolution to the city council and then preparing a brief if the matter required further urging.

Both Lock Parties Hold Meeting; Union Hires Hall

Chances for some agreement between the Peterborough Lock Co. and their 170 striking employees took a turn for the better today with the announcement both parties were to meet at 3 p.m. today.

Both the United Electrical Workers union, bargaining agent for the strikers, and the company agreed to talk over the situation today in the Empress Hotel. In subsequent events there is a difference of opinion.

In anticipation of an open meeting—with all the strikers present to hear company and union views on the dispute — R. J. Leonard, Local 527 president, said the union was hiring the Legion Hall for 3 p.m. Wednesday.

"Not so," was the reply of Bob Maybee, managing director of Peterborough Lock.

The company officials will attend such a meeting only if the union agrees to tell the strikers to return to work. That is the present stand, he said.

Mr. Maybee added that today's negotiations might clear up some of these differences.

Mr. Leonard told the Examiner that E. H. Howson, president of Peterborough Lock, in a telephone conversation earlier today, had accepted the idea of having an open meeting with all the employees Wednesday. However he had first insisted on a preliminary discussion today between the negotiating committee and the company, Mr. Leonard said.

United Church Of Havelock Marks Silver Jubilee Of Church Union

HAVELOCK, June 13—(ENS)—A profusion of flowers decorated the auditorium of Havelock United Church for the silver jubilee celebration of Friday evening sponsored by the Women's Association. Representatives were present from the Trent River church and the churches of the Belmont Lakes area mission, Rush Point, South lake and Victoria, with their student minister, Morley Hodder, B.A. of Newfoundland, a student of the Montreal Theological college.

A large three-tiered birthday cake, topped with a church and 25 white candles, was on display during the program, on a table in front of the altar railing. It was made by Mrs. C. H. Roberts and iced by Mrs. James Wilde.

The Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh officated as chairman.

Two groups of two vocal numbers each, were sung by the Trinity Choral group of Peterborough, under the direction of Mrs. Bruce Gordon.

Mrs. Kenneth Kemp, formerly Barbara Fennell, who sang in the choir and Mrs. Thomas Percival (Edith Roberts) of George St. United Church, Peterborough, who was a soloist, are natives of Havelock and former members of the local church.

Mrs. C. J. Gall who attended the inaugural service of the United Church of Canada at the Mutual St. Arena, in Toronto, June 10, 1925, gave an outline of that service concluding with the prayer offered by the Rev. George Pidgeon on that occasion. Other items were: a vocal duet by Mrs. S. Southward and Mr. Fred Bennett; a quartet by the Misses Marie Vanderburgh, Helen Robinson, Brenda Lucas and Elva Gerow; two piano duets by Barbara and Donald Pollock, a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Robson of Trent River. A chorus by the junior members of the Mission Band under the leadership of Mrs. Vanderburgh, with Mrs. Russell Williams at the piano; a vocal duet by Mrs. S. Southward and Mrs. F. Chase; a mouth organ solo by Mrs. William Smith with piano accompaniment by Mrs. R. J. McCutcheon; a vocal duet by Mrs. Y. Pikelis and Charles Carter; a vocal solo by Mrs. R. Dooley; a trumpet and organ duet by Mr. Clayton Revoir, of Trent River, and Miss Beulah Chase; a reading by Mrs. F. R. Vanderburgh.

Sketches History

An historical sketch of the Havelock Church from 1925 to 1950, compiled by Mrs. W. M. Platt was presented by the Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh.

Although the United Church of Canada did not come into being until June 10, 1925, the Havelock Church was operating as a United Church from May 1 of that year. This decision was reached at a meeting of the Trustee Board of the Methodist Church and was owing to the fact that their church year closed on April 30 when arrangements were made for the next year's work. All the memberships were transferred to the United Church on May 1 and carried their official standing in the new church.

On the first Sunday following the consummation of union, which was during the pastorate of the Rev. E. O. Seymour, three persons from among the number from the Presbyterian Church, who joined the ranks of the new church were made members of session. They were: Mrs. Annie Anderson, G. W. Chiles and Ernest Spencer.

Missionary Work

In reviewing the missionary work of the church for the quarter of a century, it was found that more than $14,000 had been subscribed to the missionary and maintenance fund from the charges. Havelock's share of this amount was $10,596 and included donations from the Women's Association, the Young People's Union, the Sunday School, Young Women's Association; and $265 from Rush Point dating from 1941.

In addition, donations had been made to the Upper Canada Bible Society, the Ontario Temperance Federation, the Russian Relief Fund and to the dried out area in Southern Saskatchewan in 1931. The Women's Missionary Society, though small in numbers, has also accomplished a great deal. Its subscriptions to missions were $6,350. Numerous bales of clothing and quilts were forwarded to missions at home and abroad. In 1949 a donation of $200 was received from Mrs. Gerald Buchanan towards a new ward in the Dhar Hospital, Central India.

The Mission Band contributions amounted to more than $800 for the 25 years. The Evening Auxiliary, the youngest missionary organization in th echurch, organized in February, 1944, have an allocation of $75 a year, and have made contributions to the Save-the-Children, the Protection of Children of Europe Fund as well as forwarding clothing for various fields.

List Of Ministers

)The ministers serving the Havelock charge since union have been the Revs. E. D. Seymour, 1925-1926; W. R. Archer, 1926-1931; S. A. Kemp, 1931-1938; A. McLauchlin, 1938-1941; J. W. Wilkinson, 1941-1947; F. R. Vanderburgh, minister since 1947.

Following the historical review a pink carnation was presented to each oficer present who was in office in 1925. The names were read by Mrs. Vanderburgh and Mrs. Chase made the presentation. Those honored in this way were: Mrs. C. H. Roberts, Mrs. G. W. Chiles, Mrs. R. Campney, Mrs. T. Easterbrook, Mrs. C. Spencer, Mrs. L. Colquhoun, Mrs. H. Williams (the only remaining charter member of the church), Mrs. A. Anderson, and Mrs. George Vanderburgh (Trent River). There were four who were not present—Mrs. J. Freeman, Mrs. J. Cochrane, Mrs. A. McColl, and Mrs. J. Laing.

Carnations were presented to persons of 70 and over. Mrs. G. B. Sanders, C. H. Roberts, Miss M. Seeney, Mrs. Martha Whitney, Mrs. C. J. Gall, Mrs. E. Fennell, Mrs. N. Wannamaker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ruttan. Visitors receiving carnations were: Mrs. Bruce Gordon, Mrs. K. Kemp, Mrs. T. Percival, and Mrs. Fred Bennett.

Carnations were also sent to the sick and shut-ins.

A vocal solo, "When I Take My Vacation in Heaven," was sung by Mrs. Bennett following the presentation of the flowers.

Light 25 Candles

A candle lighting cermony followed, when the 25 candles on the silver jubilee cake were lit by present-day officers and representatives from the congregations in the area. A tall white taper was lit by John Ruttan of Trent to supply the flame for the ceremony. This candle was sympolic of Christ's love. On the east side of it was a lighted miniature of Havelock Church, 4 x 3 feet, complete with belfry and bell which was made 15 years ago by W. M. Platt for the 10th anniversary of church union.

Those taking part in the candle lighting ceremony were: Trent River, Mrs. T. Brown; Rush Point, Earl Pollock; Victoria, Mrs. Arnold Dafoe; South Lake, Clarence Pollock. Havelock: Women's Association, Mrs. Fred Chase; Women's Missionary Society, Mrs. G. W. Chiles; Evening Auxiliary, Mrs. Austin Wilde; Sunday School, Bruce Melville; Young People's Union, Earl Agnew; Senior Choir, Mrs. R. Campney; Junior People's Choir, W. M. Platt; Junior Choir, Gail Sanderson; Mission Band, Marla Whitney.

The cake cutting ceremony was performed by Mrs. Charles Roberts and Mrs. George Van Volkenburg, who were presidents of the Women's Association at Havelock and Trent River respectively in 1925.

Refreshments were served in the Sunday School auditorium where short speeches were made by Fred Rogers, Morley Hodder, John Ruttan, Earl Pollock and Mrs. Chase.

Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. R. Campney (organ), Mrs. F. R. Vanderburgh, Mrs. W. M. Platt, Mrs. R. J. McCutcheon, Mrs Russell Williams (piano) and Harry Anderson (violin).

Receiving were Mrs. F. Chase and Mrs. G. W. Chiles, presidents of the WA and WMS respectively. Registrars were Mrs. C. Spencer and Mrs. R. Brown.

Mrs. F. R. Vanderburgh, Mrs. R. J. McCutcheon and Mrs. W. M. Platt formed the program committee.

Getting House Back Into Shape After A Month Of Flooding

By ELLY HEBER

WINNIPEG, JUNE 13. (CP) — I'd never have believed so much could happen in one month.

Only a month ago we fled for our lives and figured we'd never get back.

We were asleep on Saturday, May 6, when someone banged on the door and said: "Get ready to move; the dikes have broken."

Only a couple of block when the big Point Douglas dike, we'd been worried. Everything we have in the world is in this house. And Luther, the 11-year-old, has a bad heart and shouldn't be rushed around.

But we moved — and fast.

We'd already packed most of our small stuff up to the attic and propped the furniture up, so we bundled what we could into bags.

Climb Along Fence.

Henry went to the basement and saw how fast the water was coming up. He made me get out. I had to climb along the fence to make it to the road.

We went to a hotel the first day, but it was so expensive there. We moved to the Stella Mission. They were wonderful to us — scared and confused as we were.

Before we left for Wappella we visited the house in a boat. There was six feet of water in the streets and it looked as though it would never go away. I didn't think we'd ever be back.

All the time the kids and I were at Wappella I worried about the house. I still dream of it sometimes — all that ugly water washing through it, eating at the walls and the floor, ruining my stove and bed.

When we finally left to come back I was scared of what I'd find.

Reasonably Chipper

But there we were after a few days of the kind of work I never want to do again, beginning to feel reasonably chipper about the future.

We'd got most of the basic cleaning done. The walls looked pretty good, though the assessors said the water has soaked up for several feet in the boards and the studs.

The floors looked pretty good, but were twisting more and more as they dried out. We're lucky we can get around and move furniture over them.

The basement wasn't bad, but we still must shovel about three inches of slime out of it.

The furniture was still all piled in two rooms, and will be for a day or so. I guess we'll get by with the bare floors for a while.

The work doesn't sound so much, I guess, but it's more tiring than you can imagine. Something like trying to clean a wall in a nightmare, where you rub and rub and nothing comes off. After a while you get frantic, but there's no use hurrying.

It just takes patience.

400 Rotarians Attend Conference Near Huntsville

The Peterborough Rotary Club received a report of last week's district conference at Bigwig Inn near Huntsville from the club's secretary, Peter LaBranche, at Monday's meeting.

He said 400 Rotarians, many with their wives, attended the conference at Bigwin Inn as an experiment. The convention was a huge success, Mr. La Branche said.

He said the conference heard many outstanding speakers. One was R. S. Hoskin, general secretary of the YMCA. Mr. Hoskin reported that the results of a recent survey among young people between the ages of 19 and 26, showed they were most worried about World War III.

The first vice-president of Rotary International, Conrad Bonnevie of Syendsen, Norway, also spoke and reported on conditions which he had seen behind the iron curtain. He said the ordinary people of these countries and principally Russia were even more oppressed than the newspapers of the world reported.

One of the features of the conference which appealed to Mr. La Branche were the representatives of new clubs in Quebec. He said they added a very welcome note of internationalism.

Mr. La Branche was introduced and thanked by the club's president, Harley I. Keefer.

Women Workers Have Best Morale

BIRMINGHAM, England, June 13 (CP)—Long-range investigations in a group of Midland industrial plants have shown that the morale of women workers may be higher than that of men.

This was the conclusion reached by Dr. W. Baldamus and Miss Hidle Behrend, Birmingham University research experts, who surveyed factories employing more than 10,000 workers.

They found that among men, Monday is the least popular working day. Yet, owing to cumulative fatigue, absenteeism should be greatest at the end of the week. Monday absenteeism, they suggest, is an indication of low morale.

The investigators also discovered that Monday absenteeism was greatest among people who dislike their job. Long-service workers were less inclined to stay away at the beginning of the week than newcomers. So were women.

The report offered this explanation: "Women do not mind so much going back to the factory on Monday, since the week-end does not bring them true leisure. It involves work as hard as in the factory, especially for the married woman who has to face an additional burden of housework."

Style "Big Names" Planning Mass Production

PARIS, June 13.—(AP).—The high fashions of Paris, "Big-Name" labels and all, are going on the assembly line.

Five of the top fashion houses, where royal ladies and millionaires' wives rub shoulders to pay four figure sums for gowns, have struck a deal to put their frocks into mass production. The result will be dresses with famous labels on the shoulders of shopgirls and waitresses for about $30 a copy.

The five big name of the fashion world who are going into the mass production are Jean Desses, Hollywood favorite Jacques Fath, and designers Paquin, Robert Piquet and Carven.

The scheme, due to be in operation next month, was devised by Jean Gaumont-Lanvin and Marcel Dhorme, makers of sportswear and light summer resort frocks.

Under the plan, each of the given designers will contribute seven models, including two suits, two sports coats, two simple dresses and a raincoat or topcoat.

The 35 models then will be adapted to mass production by a factory near Paris.

A major store in each large city in France, outside of Paris, will be stocked with the 35 models, and the designers will be paid royalties for each number sold bearing their label.

All five designers also will sell their own models in their "boutiques" (shops) maintained in conjunction with their Paris fashion salons.

Jean Desses, one of the five, explained today that "if the idea catches on in France, it will spread to other countries of Europe, and eventually to the United States."

The dresses will be produced to sell for from 10,000 to 12,000 francs (about $30 to $35) each. That's about a third the cost of the cheapest number now available with a big name designer's label.

DOROTHY DIX

Vacation from Mate Aids Strengthen Relationship

DEAR MISS DIX—I am trying to find out whether I really love my husband or not. After several months of marriage we are beginning to find fault with each other and get into arguments about trifles. I feel as if I should get away from him for one month out of every year in order to fully appreciate him. My mother and his think that I am crazy to feel that way, but I do. So what's to be done about it? Is there such a thing as needing a change from the one you love?

Dorothy Dix

JUNE.

ANSWER — Certainly there is such a thing as needing a change from those we love, and if not only husbands and wives but the different members of a family took vacations from each other every now and then, it would do more than any other thing to promote happiness and take the curse off domestic life.

For, no matter how fond we are of people, we get fed up on them if we have a steady diet of them, day after day, year after year. They bore us to tears because we know everything they are going to say before they say it. All of their little peculiarities get on our nerves until we feel that we will scream at the way they rattle a newspaper or drink their coffee or break an egg.

Need Rest From Children

Even mothers should take vacations from their children, for their own sake and for the children's sake. When a woman loses interest in her housekeeping and slaps any sort of old meal on the table, and when she begins to nag at the children and say "don't" to everything they do, it simply means that she is surfeited with domesticity, and she needs a change and to get away from her family. Let her go off for two weeks and she comes back full of pep and new recipes for good dishes, and she thinks the children angels instead of brats, and her home seems the dearest place on earth to her instead of the prison it was before she went away.

As for husbands and wives, it is absolutely necessary that they should separate sometimes if they are to continue to live together in peace to their golden wedding day. The best preventive in the world of divorce is a railroad or steamship ticket, and if more husbands and wives had enough intelligence to take it when indicated it would save many a home from being broken up.

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband and I have been married six months and are quite happy except for one thing. My husband has two younger brothers, both grown who make our home theirs. They come and go whenever they please, and especially at mealtime. They even come when we are not at home and sit by the fire and play the radio. I don't think this is right, as my husband makes a very small salary. I tried to freeze them out by being very cool, but it made my husband mad and he said I was selfish and should be ashamed, but I feel I married him, not them. What should I do?

MRS. W. H.

ANSWER—Feeding two extra men does put a strain upon your budget when you have to count every penny. So I think it is nothing but fair that you should tell the brothers that you cannot afford company, and that if they want to come to your house they must compensate you in some way, either by paying for their meal or by bringing the food.

There is no doubt that grafting relatives who find it cheaper to drop in for a meal on anybody who happens to be kin to them, rather than go to a hotel or restaurant, are one of the great pests of life and one that is difficult to deal with. But they will eat you out of house and home if you give them the run of their teeth, and so you have to deal with them firmly.

But barring the food proposition, I think your attitude toward your husband's brothers is wrong. Evidently you want to monopolize him and cut him off from his family, and a wife does that at her peril.

Because a man gets married he does not automatically cease loving his own family or enjoying being with them, and he resents it very much when his wife cold-shoulders them out of the house. It humiliates him, for it shows that he is not the head of his house if he dares not invite his family to see him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX—Before our baby came we had enough money to get along but this expense was so great that our bank account has dwindled. We are continually worried about money matters and our nerves are so on edge that we quarrel over everything. The only solution of the problem I can see would be for me to get a job. That would help my husband and relieve the tension we live under, but what about the baby? Will it be fair to leave her in the care of a maid?

WORRIED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—I do not think that any mother should leave her children to the care of servants if she can possibly take care of them herself, but in a case of necessity, such as yours seems to be, it may be the best thing to do. As long as she is a tiny baby you can leave her far better than you can later on. Then, when she is beginning to understand and to learn, she will need your influence and training, your hand to fashion her character, but while she is still in the cradle all she needs is physical care, which any reliable, intelligent woman can give her.

Spanish Duchess "Martyr" For Cause of Monarchists

By HENRY BUCKLEY

MADRID —(Reuters)— One of the most persistent "martyrs" in the cause of Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne, is the 34-year-old Duchess of Valencia, a grandee of Spain.

Her efforts to overthrow General Franco and help Don Juan back to the throne have already led to fines amounting to $20,000 and some eight months in prison.

She has just been released from the Ventas women's jail in Madrid after serving 47 days of a sentence passed on her for having organized monarchist propaganda against the regime.

The case against her still stands, however. She has been released only at the request of her doctor so that she may receive medical treatment.

Her sympathizers think it ridiculous that she should be fined and jailed for trying to bring back a king to a nation which, constitutionally is a kingdom. But the Francoites retort that she is trying to overthrow the regime.

Don Juan is reported on one occasion to have murmured when news of latest escapade reached him at his home at Estroil: "Ah, if I only had ten more supporters like Luisa—her name is Marie Luisa Narvaez—how different things would be."

While Spain's monarchists admire the courage displayed by the Duchess not all of them approve of her aims.

There are various groups even within the ranks of those who want Don Juan to return to the throne. The Duchess belongs to a faction which would like to see General Franco overthrown and believes it to be desirable that this should be achieved as soon as possible.

No Time for Change

Other factions think that with Russia on the rampage and Europe generally in a state of chronic economic and political confusion, this is no moment to launch out on an adventurous change of regime in Spain.

One Spanish aristocrat belonging to this faction told me: "After all, I am alive only because I happened to be away from Spain when the Civil War broke out. My brother, who was in Madrid, was taken out and shot. I lost everything I had as all my possessions were in the Republican zone and if Franco had not won I should be penniless in some foreign land. I want to see a monarchy in Spain and admire Don Juan. But the restoration must be in agreement with Franco and without any disturbance of the peace and order which Spain needs."

Another Opinion

Another aristocrat, asked for his opinion, disagreed with this view. He said: "How can we convince Britain and America of our sincere democracy if we are not prepared to overthrow and remove the present regime and also to collaborate with all left-wing forces, except the communists?"

The former group appears to be more numerous. But the "martyr" Duchess makes no secret of her desire to set the wheels in motion. According to monarchist sources, she also contributes generously to the cause, a fact which in itself, apparently, is notable.

She is married to another Spanish aristocrat, Viscount Aliatar, representative in Madrid of one of Spain's leading shipping companies, whom she met when both were refugees in the Turkish legation of Madrid during the Civil War, but the couple are separated.

Vancouver Cabby Crochets as Hobby

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 13— You can't get Mary Holliday, 27, away from cars.

She started when she was 10 and received a special licence when she was 14. It wasn't long before she was driving a cab in Vancouver. For her holidays, she hires a car and ventures outside the city.

Recently Mary, figuring she needed to get in some more driving, took part in a 10,000-mile marathon to test a new car. For 14 days she and two other drivers circled a speedway to run up a year's average driving on the car.

Mary weighs 98 pounds. She can take a motor apart and reassemble it and she changes her own tires.

The cabbie also makes all her own clothes and when she isn't sewing — or driving — she crochets.

Tartans and Purses Attract Royal Visitors at Trade Fair

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON, June 13 (CP). — A black and white shepherd tartan dolly bag attracted the Queen during her visit to the British Industries Fair.

"You can't carry that," said the King with a laugh.

As a result of the Queen's interest, a similar bag will be made in Royal Stewart for Her Majesty.

A number of handbags were ordered by the royal visitors during their tour. Another choice of the Queen was in black antelope and, as a gift for Princess Margaret, she chose a stitched brown calf.

Attractive pastel-shaded bags attracted both Queen Mary and the Duchess of Gloucester.

A pale blue leather ornamented with a diagonal row of small leather-covered buttons was Queen Mary's choice. The Duchess favored a deeper blue decorated on one side with a leather bow.

A new line in travel bags caught the interest of all the royal visitors and a sample was ordered by the Queen, the Queen Mother, the Duchess and the Princess Royal.

The bag consists of an outer canvas envelope to be carried under the arm, into which fits a travel bag with wide gussets.

Capacious Bag

The bag is made of canvas reinforced with leather and fastened by strong press studs. With a base measuring 26 inches, it is the perfect answer to those who go on holiday and return with more than they took.

The many tartan exhibits were of interest to the Queen.

There are tartan goods of every description from textiles and furnishing to fancy goods, travel goods, footwear, picnic and toilet necessities.

Of striking interest is the first English-designed tartan to be acceptable to Scots.

There is no ruling against any Scot producing, or having produced, a new tartan, and this latest tartan, designed in London's Chelsea, is called the Galloway tartan.

Secretly woven in Southwestern Scotland, it takes its colors from the rain soft browns and greens of that area. It has the soft blue of the hilltops in the gloaming, the purple of a heather-blaze in August, and the brown, white and yellow of the bracken moors.

6—In Memoriams

BACON—In loving memory of John Bacon, who passed away June 12, 1941:
There is a link death cannot sever,
Love and remembrance live forever.
—Ever remembered by his wife Nellie, daughter Lily (Mrs. R. Neale), Mabel (Mrs. F. N. Biddle) and son Arthur.

FAULKNER—In loving memory of our dear son and brother "Bill" who was drowned June 13, 1948.
Time speeds on, two years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright.
And took from us a shining light.
Please God, forgive a silent tear,
A silent wish that our Bill was here.
There are others, yes, we know,
But he was ours and we loved him so.
The wound's so deep it will not heal,
Only those who have lost know how we feel.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by mother, father, sisters and brothers.

KILLINGBECK — In loving memory of W. A. Killingbeck, who died 16 years ago today;
You're not forgotten, father, dear,
Nor ever shall be;
As long as life and memory last
I shall remember thee.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

McCAULEY—In loving memory of William McCauley, who passed away June 13, 1948.
And while he lies in peaceful sleep,
His memory we will always keep.
—Ever remembered by wife and daughter.

McDOUGALL—In loving memory of James McDougall.
One year today my brother was called
To his eternal rest;
Gone where the angels sing so sweet,
And taken when God knew best.
We miss him here so very much,
His presence oft seems night
But we all hope in Heaven to meet
Where no one says good-bye.
—Ever remembered by brother Russell, family and friends.

SMITH—In loving memory of Lewis W. Smith, who died in Detroit June 15, 1940:
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
—Ever remembered by the family.

Record Machine Tested In Court

COBOURG, June 13 (ENS) — Court spectators were surprised when they walked into the police court on Monday. To the right of Magistrate R. B. Baxter a compact box, about the size of a portable typewriter case was on the desk and on his left, near the witness stand, was a small bulb-shaped microphone.

It was the first appearance of an electric recorder in Cobourg police court. The machine operated on a metallic coated paper tape and was placed into operation by means of a foot switch operated by the magistrate. A slowly-revolving dial was numbered to correspond with a list of the witnesses so that it could be reversed when desired to play back the testimony of any particular witness.

After court, the magistrate flicked a switch and the evidence which had been recorded came out of the loudspeaker.

Costing in excess of $300 the recording machine, if purchased, would be bought by the counties of Northumberland and Durham.

The recorder, if purchased, might mean that the court reporter's services could be dispensed with.

COLOMBO, Ceylon, June 13—(Reuters)—Food Commissioner K. Veteran Standing Trial For Slaying

NAPANEE, June 13.—(CP).—The murder trial of James Fosbraey, 29-year-old veteran of the Royal Air Force, continued today before a Supreme Court jury under Chief Justice J. C. McRuer. Fosbraey is accused in the knife slaying of his pretty wife June, in south Napanee last Nov. 29.

Frasbraey married the Napanee girl while stationed here during the war. After serving overseas he had lived and worked in Napanee, but went back to England last October. He returned about Nov. 23, but was apparently estranged from his wife, and lived at the home of Hughes Jaynes.

The court Monday heard testimony that Fosbraey was still in love with his wife, that he had purchased a hunting knife two days before she was slain, and that on the day before her death he had vainly attempted reconciliation through the local corps of the Salvation Army, with which his wife was connected.

Jaynes testified that Fosbraey told him he couldn't live without her."

Lieut. P .E. Gardner of the Salvation Army testifned that Mrs. Fosbraey came to his house at 6.20 p.m. Nov. 28, and while she was there Fosbraey came to the front door. He told Fosbraey that in his opinion there was no chance of a reconciliation.

"I was of the opinion that our house had been under surveillance for some time," said the Salvation Army officer. "He stayed at the door and his wife was inside. He left after about five minutes, and she left 15 minutes later."

A few hours later the girl was found dead of knife wounds.

Two witnesses, Leo Blute and Mildred Robinson, testified they saw Fosbraey crossing a bridge over the Napanee River shortly before the stabbing occurred.

Laverne O'Connor, clerk in a local hardware store, said he sold a knife similar to the alleged death weapon two nights before the stabbing.

Says Security Not Journalism Involved In Row

TOKYO, June 13 (AP)—Maj.-Gen. E. M. Almond, chief of staff to Gen. MacArthur, said today "security" and not journalism was involved in headquarters criticism of a London Times correspondent, Frank Hawley.

Hawley informed other correspondents he was told MacArthur's headquarters considered him "persona non grata" (unacceptable).

Under existing regulations any foreign correspondent may be banned from Japan by MacArthur for violation of security. But only the U.S. defence secretary can oust American correspondents for cause.

Hawley has not been ordered out of Japan nor has his filing privilege been denied.

In a statement released through the public information office of MacArthur's headquarters, Almond denied "as completely misleading and misrepresentative" statements which Hawley attributed to him when Hawley discussed the case with other correspondents.

Almond was quoted by the public information officer, Col. M. P. Echols, as saying "the conference with Mr. Hawley was not based upon criticism by him of the occupation but was directed entirely at the inaccuracy of statements contained in his dispatch of a nature tending to aid, support and encourage subversive elements among the Japanese. The question involved was one of security not journalism."

Hawley issued a statement later saying "the statements which I, personally, attributed to Maj.-Gen. Almond are true in every particular."

He said also that during the June 8 interview there was no suggestion that the contents were confidential.

Otherwise Hawley refused to comment on Almond's statement today.

Non-Discrimination Law Gets Reaction

TORONTO, June 13 — (CP) — Toronto's new non-discrimination by-law met with mixed reactions Monday.

Two letters to city council were read at Monday's meeting. One protested passage of the by-law; the other supported it.

The by-law makes it illegal for operators of certain city-licensed businesses to discriminate among customers on the basis of race, color or creed.

A letter from Toronto conference branch, Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, voiced the society's unanimous approval of the by-law.

The Grand Orange Lodge of British America, in a letter signed by Grand Master R. Hardy Small, said council had "invaded our liberties."

Plan Best Convention

LOS ANGELES, June 13—(AP) — Imperial potentate Harold Lloyd anticipates "the biggest and best convention in history" when the National Shrine Convention opens here Monday. Housing will be a major problem for the 20,000 shriners and their families. Hotels expect to be jammed to the rafters. The Santa Fe Railway is completing arrangements for housing around 2,600 Shriners in Pullman cars on sidings in the railroad yard.

Court Decision Keeps Mother From Youngster

OTTAWA, June 13 — (CP). — A 10-year-old boy, subject of a long court custody battle between his parents, will remain with his father for an indefinite period, despite a Supreme Court of Canada judgment which ruled that he must be placed in the case of his mother.

Just two days before Mrs. Evelyn McKee of Kitchener was to have regained custody of her son Terry, Mr. Justice I. C. Rand on Monday "froze" implementation of the judgment until the case could be heard before the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council.

The case may be heard next fall, or at a later date. Until then, Terry will remain with his father, Mark T. McKee, who pleaded for the "stay of proceedings" until he could appeal the case which has been through both United States and Canadian courts over a period of years.

The decision to grant Mr. McKee's request was given in Chambers Monday, just a week after the court ordered Mr. McKee to deliver his son to the mother at the office of the Registrar of the Supreme Court of Ontario, Toronto, June 14.

Millbrook Ladies Mark Auxiliary's 60th Anniversary

MILLBROOK, June 13—(ENS)—The Women's Auxiliary of St. Thomas Anglican church celebrated its 60th anniversary on Thursday in the same parish hall in which the society had been organized in 1890. The other missionary organizations of Millbrook and of Bailiebor and Ida had been invited to join in the anniversary service.

Mrs. Britton Osler, president of the diocesan branch in Toronto, was the special speaker. She looked back over the past 60 years to what had been accomplished in missionary work, and then looked ahead to what might still be accomplished in the next 60 years. Mrs. Osler was introduced by Mrs. W. E. Massey-Cooke, the vice-president.

The first Anglican W. A. in Canada was organized 64 years ago, and the one in Millbrook was formed four years later.

One of the highlights of the meeting was a letter from Miss Alice Turner, now of Victoria, B.C., the only surviving member of the original executive. This was read by Mrs. H. A. Turner, her sister-in-law. Miss Alice Turner, who will be 94 in October, is the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Henry Turner, sister of Dr. H. A. Turner of Millbrook and of William A. Turner of Victoria B. C., who is at present visiting in Millbrook. She received her early education in the local schools. In 1875 she graduated from Bishop Strachan School, Toronto. She played the organ in St. Thomas church, taught in the Sunday school and was very much interested in missionary work.

Asked In Toronto

In 1889, when Miss Turner was visiting in Toronto, she was approached by Mrs. Willoughly Cummings of Toronto, who thought such a large parish as Cavan should have a branch of the W. A. When she returned home Miss Turner talked it over with the rector, the Rev. William Allen, who later became Archdeacon Allen, Miss Turner's letter told of the forming of the new society of 40 members in 1890 and gave the following list of the original executive.

President, Mrs. Archibald Wood; First vice president, Mrs. James Fitzgerald. Second vice president, Mrs. Thomas Medd; secretary, Miss Alice Turner, treasurer, Mrs. George Needler.

Miss Alice Turner was secretary of St. Thomas W. A. from 1890—1897, when she moved with her father and sister, Miss Isobel Turner, to conduct the Blackfoot Indian Missionary hospital in Alberta. Later the family moved to Victoria, B.C., where Miss Alice Turner was instrumental in organizing the first Anglican W. A. in British Columbia. She held all the various offices in the executive in turn and finally, was diocesan president for a number of years.

Follow Christ's Message

In the message she sent to the 60th anniversary of St. Thomas W. A. Miss Turner urged the members not to let Christ's own command take second place when He said "Go ye into all the world".

Miss McNamara, the present secretary, read a list of the names of members who had died since Miss Turner's time, and a moment of silence was observed in their memory.

Mrs. Laurence Winslow sang as a solo one of the favourite hymns of Miss Alice Turner. A duet was sung by Mrs. G. A. Spicer and Mrs. James Larmer. Miss M. Collins, church organist, was a the piano. Afternoon tea was served by the members of St. Thomas W. A.

T. A. MILBURN, a former student of PCVS, who graduated with first class honours in Mathematics and Physics at University of Toronto on Friday. He is accepting a position in the Actuarial Department of the Imperial Life Assurance Co. in Toronto.

After adjournment lunch was served by Mrs. M. Kerr, Mrs. M McEvoy, and Mrs. W. J. Crowley.

Home No Place For Glamor Actress Says

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 13 (AP).—It's so nice to have a man around the house, agrees Linda Darnell, but that doesn't go for glamor.

"I agree with Ingrid Bergman," said Linda: "A star has a right to a life of her own."

Miss Darnell was speaking about glamor in the home. She's against it.

"There is enough illusion in life without trying to deceive yourself," she expounded. "Glamor is fine for the screen; that's the place for it. But it doesn't have to be carried home. Why should we live on false pretenses?"

"Besides," she added, "it takes too much time and work to look glamorous all the time. Just look—it takes four women to keep me glamorized for this picture ('Two Flags West'). I couldn't do this at home. I wear slacks all the time at home."

Something New

A different way of breaking into the movies is being attempted by Anne Marie Vaell, 22-year-old writing hopeful of Los Angeles.

For the last six weeks, Miss Vaell has been running a series of advertisements in The Los Angeles Times. The ads have contained reminiscences of her own life and outlines for two proposed screen plays, "Road to Broadway" and "Dress Rehearsal." Cost of the ads "several thousand dollars."

Miss Vaell, who financed the project with an inheritance, says "It is expensive, but this is the only way I could find to get the stories before the right people."

I asked her if she had any nibbles from the studios since the ads started running?

She shook her head sadly.

Capsult Review

"Winchester '73" (U-I) is not to be confused with "Colt .45." Also about a famed frontier gun, "Winchester" offers a rambling but interesting story. It tells how a prized rifle goes from the hands of Jimmy Stewart to an outlaw to an Indian trader to an Indian chief to an outlaw and finally back to Stewart. Also thrown in are a brotherly feud, a dance-hall girl (Shelley Winters), and cavalry and an Indian massacre. The performers, who include Dan Duryea and Stephen McNally, make it an entertaining frontier saga.

Soviet Union Has Set Aside 19 Billion Dollars For Defence This Year

Finance Minister Declares Sum Represents Decline In Military Spending
Charges Western World With Aggression

MOSCOW, June 14—(AP)—The Soviet Union has set aside the equivalent of $19,850,000,000—figure based on the official value of the ruble for defence this year. Finance Minister Arseny G. Zverev announced the sum—18.5 per cent of the 1950 budget— to the Supreme Soviet (parliament) at a joint meeting of its two Houses Tuesday night. Prime Minister Stalin and many members of the Foreign Diplomatic Corps were present.

(President Truman asked Congress for $13,028,000,000, for United States defence in the fiscal year beginning July 1. His total budget was $42,439,000,000. Defence represents a 30.6 per cent slice of the U.S. budget. It does not include about $5,000,000,000 government expenses growing out of past wars.

(Britain's defence budget, announced in April, is £780,000,000 or $2,184,000,000 in U.S. funds. Canada's over-all total for defence this year is estimated at about $485,000,000 in Canadian funds.

(There is no easy standard to compare what U. S. and Russian governments consider defence items.

Reports Decline

Zverev said the Russian figure represents a decline in military expenditures under the pre-war year of 1940.

Zverev also disclosed a drop in expected total revenues, first since the war, which he ascribed to wide price reductions. He revealed that the Russian financial surplus will be sharply cut.

With American Ambassador Alen G. Kirk and British minister John Nicholl in the audience, He charged their countries with aggression and said the U. S. is spending, directly and indirectly, $32,000,000,000 in the coming budget year for war. Zverev said the sum is more than 70 per cent of the total U. S. budget.

Zverev announced that the 18.5 per cent total for defence contrasted with more than 32.6 per cent in 1940 and 24 per cent in 1946.

He said the reductions reflected the incessant concern of the Soviet Union for peace.

(Zverev said last yeaar that the defence budget estimate was 19 per cent of the total but apparently he did not mention that last night.

(Last year's Soviet budget called for an equivalent of $1,000,000 less than this year's defence total, however).

See Crippling Shortage In 7 Years

Commons Approves Treaty With U.S. On Niagara Project

OTTAWA, June 14—(CP)—A clamor for an early start on the St. Lawrence seaway project welled up on all sides of the Commons today. One Progressive Conservative member said only that project can prevent a power shortage that would deal Canada's economy a crippling blow in the next seven years.

Rodney Adamson (PC—York West) keynoted a general sense of urgency about the long-delayed power and navigation project as the House studied and approved a treaty with the United States involving another power development, one for the diversion of Niagara River waters.

Both Canada's industrial expansion and the military security of the entire North American continent are being placed in jeopardy, Mr. Adamson declared, by the ability of a small U. S. Senate majority to frustrate the "overwhelming pressure" for the St. Lawrence project.

Go It Alone

He advocated that the government tell Washington that if the project as a whole is not launched within a certain deadline Canada will authorize Ontario and New York State to proceed with the power development phase alone.

External Affairs Minister Pearson touched off the discussion in moving for ratification of a 50-year treaty that will permit the permanent regulation of the diversion of Niagara waters and allow a substantial increase in power production on the Niagara

Harry Cavers (L-Lincoln), a resident of the Niagara area, welcomed the Niagara development and assured sceptical members that the Falls' beauty will not be injured but will be enhanced.

Mr. Adamson said that despite all the power projects now in construction or operation in Ontario central Canada will face a power shortage by 1957. The only answer was an early start on the St. Lawrence. The alternative was a resort to use of coal-generated power that would cost three times as much as water power.

Mr. Pearson gave assurance that the Niagara treaty in no way replaces the St. Lawrence project.

Replaces Old Treaty

This treaty, signed at Washington Feb. 27 last, replaces one signed 41 years ago and a temporary wartime arrangement for increase in power output in Ontario and New York State.

It provides:

1. Increase in the amount of Niagara river water for power production by fixing a minimum flow required for scenic Niagara Falls. Amounts in addition to the minimum—which fluctuates between 50,000 and 100,000 cubic feet a second—will be divided equally between Ontario and New York State.

2. Basis for construction of bigger power plants at Queenston.

Private and public power plants in the area now have a capacity of about 1,100,000 horsepower. The new construction will increase capacity by another 500,000 horsepower.

Shut Off Milk Supply To Seven Counties

U.S. State Police Patrol Highway, Keep Picket Violence Down

PITTSBURGH, June 14 (AP)—The milk supply of seven western Pennsylvania counties still was shut off today as the strike of AFL Dairy Workers went into its sixth day with no break in sight.

Negotiators will try again today to iron out the differences that cut off milk supplies to some 2,300,000 persons since Friday.

Chief stumbling block still is what issues, if any, will be submitted to arbitration.

State Police are patrolling all highways to prevent violence from strike pickets, on orders from Governor James Duff.

The troopers' vigilance cut violence to a minimum Tuesday.

Pickets halted a truck of the Pike Dairy Company, Uniontown, and dumped 500 quarts of milk.

Pickets Arrested

The pickets were arrested as result of earlier violence and lodged in jail in Greensburg, Pa.

In Pittsburgh, windows of two dairy stores were smashed. One of the stores had been selling milk and ice cream brought in from Ohio.

The union wants a 40-hour week with 48 hours pay. They also want the daily guarantee raised from $10 to $13.50. The dealers offered $11 and arbitration of all differences. They claim the drivers now average $300 or more a month.

Emergency milk deliveries, available for babies' formulas, hospitals and invalids, have reached approximately 13,000. Applications for aid for infants and the sick continued to pile up.

A similar strike by the same union has shut off the milk supply in the United States capital. Milk drivers in Washington, D.C., walked out three days ago.

Reds Plotting Revolt In Africa

Charge Communists Organized Among The Natives

CAPETOWN, June 14 — (Reuters)—South Africa was told today by Justice Minister Charles Swart that "a secret organization among the natives, led by Communists," is preparing a coup on a date yet to be selected.

Moving second reading of the government's suppression of Communicim Bill, he told the House of Assembly that members of the organization have been trained and placed in the most important departments of public life.

On a given date, when "a secret sign" will be given, one man has been ordered to poison water supplies. Another will cut off power and light at power stations. Others are ready to murder persons they want "out of the way."

Swart said he had a list, obtained from Communist party offices, which was only one indication of Communist determination to gain control of the trade unions.

Unions Involved

Trade unions which had Communist members included those representing municipal employees, teachers, iron and steel workers, laundry, railway and harbor workers, commercial travellers and newspaper men.

"We in South Africa are sitting on a volcano," he said.

The bill provides penalties up to 10 years' imprisonment, removal from any office, confiscation of property, and banning from any area of the union.

Swart said the bill provided that before any person could be sent to prison or fined, the crown must establish its case against him through normal legal practice.

To combat "underground activity," the bill laid down that the property of any person found guilty of using it for promoting Communism could be confiscated by the courts.

Two Constables In Stratford Tried For Theft

STRATFORD, June 14 (CP)—Two Stratford police constables were charged today with theft but their trial was postponed until another magistrate not so closely associated with them is brought in.

Constable Raymond Hartung and Albert Maslen were charged with stealing 18 pairs of men's socks from the J. H. Gordon store here last Monday.

The charges followed a closed meeting of the Stratford Police Commission Tuesday at which the two constables were suspended until their cases are heard.

When the two men appeared in court today Magistrate A. F. Cook asked them not to plead. He said that because of his associations with both men he did not want to hear the cases. He remanded them to June 22.

Expect Debate On Espionage

OTTAWA, June 14—(CP)—The government served notice on the parties in opposition today that it is ready and willing for a major debate on Canada's counter-espionage activities.

It gave notice that the most spy-conscious session of parliament in years is shortly going to be asked to study proposed changes in the country's espionage legislation.

Justice Minister Garson confirmed that he will introduce at this session amendments to the Official Secrets Act, basis of the 1946 prosecutions in the Communist espionage probe.

Beef Prices Reached Peak

TORONTO, June 14 (CP) — Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario said today he believes the beef wholesale price in Canada has reached its peak at approximately 29½ cents a pound live weight for top quality steers—but he thinks it will remain at about the present level for some time.

"I can't see the price of beef going higher than it is right now," he told an interviewer. Neither can I see it going any lower.

"I know a farmer who sold beef to a United States buyer at 30 cents a pound live weight, the highest price ever recorded in Canada as far as I know."

City-Wide Dragnet For Man In Murder

MONTREAL, June 14—(CP)—City police today organized a city- dragnet for a young man in connection with the strangulation-slaying of a 37-year-old woman in a downtown hotel room Tuesday.

Police said the hunted man, whom they described as a "sadist," was about 27 years old and registered at the hotel under the name of Sweeney. They said the victim's name was Helen Bomwer, of Montreal.

Captain Romeo Longpre, of the Homicide Squad, said the slaying was "definitely a case of murder."

The woman's naked body was found sprawled across a bed by a chambermaid Tuesday.

Does Work At 104

GUELPH, June 14 (CP)—Mrs. Rebecca Broom, 104, does all her own housework and says she figures she's still good for another 10 years. Until a year ago, she worked full-time as a cleaner in an office building. Now, when she isn't busy with looking after her own house, she sews or shops. On nice days, she goes for a walk through the city's business section.

Loggers Decide If Union Shop Worth Big Strike

VANCOUVER, June 14 (CP)—The union policy committee guiding 32,000 British Columbia coastal loggers meet today to decide if union shop principles are worth a $1,000,000-a-day strike.

Deadline for halting a scheduled strike in the province's first place industry, worth $360,000,000 a year, is midnight tonight.

More than 160 coastal operators represented by Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., Tuesday night made their "final offer." A union shop, paramount demand of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) wasn't included. A 17 cents an hour wage increase was another demand.

The operators in a new offer Tuesday night proposed a wage boost of 12½ cents an hour, greater union security and a five-day, 40-hour work week.

Same Form

Employers proposed basically the same form of maintenance of membership presently contained in labor agreements existing in British Columbia's pulp and paper industry.

This means that all woodworkers now members of the IWA, who become members after the signing of a new contract, must retain that membership as a condition of employment.

A conciliation board's unanimous decision recommended this provision, but operators now agree to notify new employees that they are expected to join the union.

The conciliation board award, refused by the IWA, offered a wage hike of nine cents an hour. Current basic rate in the industry is $1.08.

The award, accepted by operators, offered cookhouse and bunkhouse employees an increase of 5 ½cents an hour. Under Tuesday night's proposal they would receive the same boost as their fellow workers.

Time and a half for Saturday and Sunday work also will be paid if the union accepts the offer.

Harvard Pigeons Smart Birds Play Piano, Table Tennis

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 14—(AP)—Smart birds these Harvard educated pigeons.

They're able to play a tune on a piano, play table tennis, tell time, push pushbuttons and understand changing colors — like traffic lights.

The piano players can rattle off such simple tunes as "Over the Fence is Out, Boys," and "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

B. F. Skinner, professor of psychology at Harvard, has drawn these conclusions after a series of experiments.

The tests are designed to determine whether a child can be trained more effectively by encouraging good behavior or punishing bad actions.

How do you do it with pigeons.

The professor explains that pigeons are ideal subjects because they have a reaction time comparable to humans.

They are paid off with food if their responses to various tests bring the desired results.

Dr. Skinner gets the piano players to drum up a tune by rewarding them if they peck the keys on a seven key board in certain sequences.

The modified table tennis — without nets—is played on a two-feet-square table.

One pigeon, using his beak, tries to bat the ball past his opponent. Rallies sometimes run to three or four shots—though most are "aces." Each successful shot brings a reward of food.

Other birds have learned to peck signs labelled "yellow," "green," "blue," and "red"—always picking the proper sign when a light on the same color is flashed on. That also brings a reward of grain.

The time tellers do it this way. If an apparatus customarily pays off 10 seconds after the signal, they learn to kill that time by doing something else. But on the dot they're back at the feed box.

Mystery Cloud Blankets Pacific

HONOLULU, June 14 (AP) — A vast cloud of mysterious origin blanketed 1,200,000 square miles of the Pacific. United States weather bureau meteorologist R. H. Simpson said Tuesday it might last a day or a week.

At Wake Island 2,000 miles west of Hawaii, the cloud rose to 16,000 feet. At Hawaii, near the eastern limit, it had a 7,000-foot ceiling.

What caused it? Maybe wind-blown African desert sands, said Simpson. Or an explosive eruption down around New Guinea. Or—an atomic explosion.

"A concentration of ions in the air could result in such a condition," Simpson explained.

Ottawa Plans To Continue Bacon Subsidy

OTTAWA, June 14 — (CP) — The government plans to continue beyond June 30 a subsidy of 3½ cents a pound on bacon required to fill a 60,000,000-pound contract with the United Kingdom.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons shortly after a Cabinet meeting Tuesday that the government had decided to continue the subsidy beyond the previously-announced termination date of June 30.

"All other regulations with regard to the handling of pork products will go along in the same manner as they are going along now," he said. This was interpreted as meaning there will be no early removal of the ban on the export of pork products to United States.

He did not say how long payment of the subsidy will continue, but indicated it will be at least until the UK contract requirements are filled.

So far, largely as a result of high domestic prices and heavy domestic consumption, the government has obtained only about 13,000,000 of the 60,000,000 pounds of bacon required for Britain.

The government buys the bacon at 32½ cents a pound and sells it to the United Kingdom at 29 cents. The loss of 3½ cents a pound is charged to the government's revolving $200,000,000 price-support program.

Asks Clarification

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, asked Mr. Gardiner to clarify his statement on Monday that it was about time Canada stopped "talking nicely" to "one or two people" in Britain about food markets and to speak to them 'directly."

Mr. Gardiner replied that the best way to maintain cordial relationships between Canada and the United Kingdom was for the UK to "take our food in the same free way during peacetime as they did during wartime."

That, he said, was what he had meant when he told the Chamber "that we should speak to them bluntly."

"I think it is the duty of Canada to produce all the food for Great Britain she can, and I think it is equally the duty of Great Britain to buy all the food she can from us rather than to go elsewhere for it.

"If they do that and we keep up our production end, I think we are both going to be better off even if it does take some dollars that they otherwise would pile up."

Ask Ottawa Forbid Shorts On Streets

OTTAWA, June 14 — (CP) — Protests against the wearing of shorts by women and men on city streets have been lodged with Ottawa's Board of Control by four Roman Catholic organizations.

The groups asked the board Tuesday night for a bylaw forbidding the public wearing such apparel in any city area with the exception of bathing beaches. The board deferred action.

"If you start trying to legislate what people should wear you are in for a thin time," said Controller C. E. Pickering. "For my part they can wear what they like."

Believe Legal Tax Dodge Worked By U.S. Shippers

SEATTLE, June 14—(AP)—A legal tax dodge that may save United States shippers millions of dollars was reported here Tuesday. It's a method of avoiding the three-per-cent Federal freight tax by paying freight bills in Canada — with sanction of the Federal Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Railroad officials here said the plan is already in operation.

The Seattle Times said the situation grew out of the practice of Americans purchasing railway tickets in Canada to avoid the 15-per-cent transportation tax levied by the Federal Government. Even though tickets are used exclusively in the United States, the 15-per-cent tax is thus avoided.

The Times said a Seattle traffic expert, not named, got the ruling from the Internal Revenue Bureau. The ruling is that if shippers send their own representatives to Canada, or if they have a bona fide representative in Canada, the freight bills can be paid minus the tax. The federal bureau is reported to have turned down proposals to pay such bills by mail, or through Canadian banks.

Not Extensive

At Ottawa, a financial expert said Tuesday night that Canada long has been aware of the United States shipping tax dodge, but said he doubted "very much" whether it was being carried out on an extensive basis in Canada.

He said the amount involved was too small and the payment machinery too cumbersome to encourage widespread use of the dodge.

In any event, this method of paying American freight bills in Canada did not add anything to Canada's revenues, the expert said.

The dodge was a mere paper transaction involving United States currency by non-residents of Canada. Canada's foreign exchange regulations do not touch that category of transaction.

Lace-Trimmed Hankie Latest Clue To Search

BRANTFORD, Ont., June 14—(CP)—Latest clue in a search for "the "mystery girl" believed hiding near Mount Pleasant, five miles south of here, is a lace-trimmed handkerchief.

Police found it last night in a search of a bush area where a dog was heard barking frantically early Tuesday morning.

Investigators, clinging to a faint hope that the frightened girl may be Mabel Crumback, a 19-year-old bookkeeper missing since May 28 from her home in York township, a Toronto suburb, said they are checking whether Miss Crumback had such a handkerchief.

$7,500 Voted To Keep Nursery

TORONTO, June 14 —(CP)—Twenty mothers who have to work to support young families appeared before Board of Control today and appealed for action to keep an east-end day nursery open.

The board, taking action on a matter which has been the centre of a controversy here for weeks, voted $7,500 for alterations to the nursery which will permit it to meet fire prevention standards and thus remain open.

The nursery, which has been in operation on River Street for 58 years, cares for some 68 children. The board's decision permits the nursery to remain in operation while the policy of more permanent buildings is drawn up.

Several other privately-operated nurseries may be closed within a month unless help is forthcoming.

The city indicated it might take some action to delay closing of the other nurseries, and the province declared that it is prepared to contribute to establishment of day nursery accommodation.

Welfare Minister Goodfellow said the province is prepared to contribute 50 per cent of the cost of two new nursery centres recommended by Toronto's civic welfare committee.

Americans Losing Cash On UK Weather

LONDON, June 14 (Reuters)—Surprise dollars for Britain are flowing to Lloyd's, the famous insurance house, and they're earned on an outside bet — the fickle weather of England.

American tourists who know by experience or hearsay that the English climate is not to be trusted, are insuring against the rain. For $8 they can get cover against the risk of more-than-average rainfall in any given week. But the current long, fine spell has meant more dollars for Britain.

An insurance official said: "American people are very insurance-minded, and like to take a gamble. We have no requests of this nature from Englishmen. Their only weather precaution is an umbrella."

Aldred Says CBC Offices Need More Efficient Staff

OTTAWA, June 14—(CP)—Joel Aldred, former CBC announcer, said today before the Commons committee on radio broadcasting, that the CBC could save money in its Toronto offices by paying higher salaries and obtaining a more efficient staff.

The 29-year-old announcer who was dismissed by the CBC about a year ago, said that in the Toronto offices there is a staff turnover of about 25 per cent. This was too high and was wasteful.

Mr. Aldred, appearing before the committee at his own request, said that in 1947 and 1948 he was on the executive of the CBC staff council in Toronto. At that time there was a staff turnover of about 30 per cent in the administrative branch and of from 20 to 25 per cent in the staff of the main news room. He could not speak for CBC offices outside of Toronto.

The turnover was largely due to the low wage rates. The rates were lower in in outside industry.

Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC—MacLeod) wanted to know how the CBC could save money by paying higher salaries. Mr. Aldred said that savings could be effected by reducing staff.

In the program clearing office there now were five girls employed. He believed that if the CBC paid three girls a salary of $40 a week they could do the work of five. But that 40 per cent. reduction in staff could not apply right across the board through the Toronto offices, where he estimated there are between 300 and 315 employees.

Canada Reduces Trading Deficit

OTTAWA, June 14—(CP) — Canada knocked down her trading deficit with the United States a bit during April, the Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday. Expanded exports and decreased imports accounted for the improvement.

For the second successive month, this country showed a small debit balance in trade with the United Kingdom

In trade with all countries there was an adverse balance in April for the fourth successive year.

Imports from the U.S. in April declined to $162,200,000 from $177,300,000 a year earlier, while domestic exports to the U.S. increased to $137,800,000 from $110,700,000. Foreign exports remained unchanged at $1,500,000.

As a result of April transactions, the debit balance for the month fell to $22,900,000 from $65,100,000 in April last year.

For the four months ended April 30, the cumulative adverse balance fell to $60,900,000 compared with $197,900,00 a year ago.

State Police Break Up Student Beach Party

MUSKEGON, Mich., June 14 — (AP)—State police joined with Sheriff's officers in breaking up a noisy Lake Michigan beach party of high school students Tuesday night.

Reports of nude bathing and drinking among a crowd of about 150 girls and boys brought officers to the scene. There were no arrests.

Deputy Sheriff Russell Owen said he saw one unclad girl.

Soviet Using Intimidation Acheson Says

War Not Inevitable, Other Ways To Solve Problems

DALLAS, Tex., June 13 — (AP)—War is not inevitable, State Secretary Dean Acheson says. "It is our responsibility to find ways of solving our problems without resort to war and to exhaust every possibility in that effort," he said in a major United States foreign policy review at Southern Methodist University here Tuesday night. "This is what we intend to do."

Acheson charged that Russia is using its armed might and Communist plotting in other countries as a "poised bludgeon to intimidate the weak."

How to meet the challenge of Soviet pressure? Well, there are several ways we could go about meeting these problems," he said.

"One way would be to pull down the blinds and sit in the parlor with a loaded shotgun, waiting. I think, however, that most of us have learned that isolationism is not a realistic course of action. It does not work and it is not cheap.

Appeasement Out

"The policy of appeasement of Soviet ambitions, which might conceivably be another course of action open to us. . . would encourage Soviet aggression. It would lead to a final struggle for survival in which both our moral position and our military position would have been seriously weakened.

"There is a third course of action which might be considered in earlier times and by another type of government and people than ours. That is, we should drop some atomic bombs on the Soviet Union. This course is sometimes called by the euphemistic phrase of 'preventive war.' All responsible men must agree that such a course is unthinkable for us.

"Fortunately, there is a fourth way of dealing with these problems, and that is to work on them in co-operation with other nations, and by means of peaceful negotiation to resolve our differences. This has been and is our policy."

"The fundamental obstacle to success in negotiation with the Soviet Union about our common problems is the expectation, which Soviet leaders hold, of the collapse of the non-Soviet world, and their desire to enlarge the sphere of their control."

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

ASBESTOS GUARDS NEW PIPE LINE

From the foot of the Rockies to the head of the Lakes, Alberta oil will flow through 1,150 miles of underground pipe wrapped in ASBESTOS. This major project is now under way. As fast as the pipe is welded a huge machine applies these strong asbestos felts over a covering of enamel and glass wrap.

Johns - Manville Asbestos Pipe-Line Felts will protect the major portion of this line, as they do over 50,000 miles of oil and gas pipe line throughout the world. Made from a mineral base, these J-M Asbestos Felts provide a tough, rot-proof shield against earth load, soil stress and acid or alkali types of soils.

Protecting Canada's huge oil pipe line, is yet another outstanding example of Johns-Manville Asbestos at work!

blem as between Canada and Great Britain that was more important than the maintenance of good relationships between the two areas.

Last year, it would have taken only $30,000,000 for Britain to have satisfied all the demands of Canadian agriculture as to the sale of food. If that amount had been proferred, under the plan of co-operation in solving British as well as Canadian problems, "I venture to say that they would not have had to use half of it."

"When this problem is such a small one, I think all this talk about it being caused by the fact there is some dollar-sterling problem just is not the case at all," Mr. Gardiner said.

"If we could get that into the minds of one or two people, probably we could settle the question as far as Great Britain and Canada are concerned."

Mr. Drew said Canadians could not look without some concern at published statements that some of the foods which Canada had been supplying to Britain "now are being bought from countries behind the iron curtain." There may be some explanation.

He said there was no doubt that the people of Britain wanted to trade with the people of Canada.

Spoon Feeding For Farmers Said Dangerous

OTTAWA, June 14 — (CP) — Julien Ferguson (PC, Simcoe North) roused the ire of a couple of farmer-members of the Commons Tuesday when he said that farmers could be given too much government assistance and could become accustomed to being "spoon fed and cradle rocked."

In his opinion farmers should do more to help themselves. They should do more to help with the marketing of their products and they should do their share to bring down taxes and the cost of living.

Robert Fair (SC, Battle River), a farmer, said Mr. Ferguson apparently was not aware that producers of cheese, milk and butter were paying out large amounts to advertise their products. Mr. Ferguson also was apparently not aware of the great part played by farmers during the war.

J. O. Gour (L, Russell), a merchant, said every dollar spent to help the farmer was the best money ever spent. Voice shaking with anger, he said he could not sit quietly while farmers were criticized. The Canadian people should all eat good butter.

Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre) interjected that Mr. Gour should tell the farmers to eat butter instead of margarine.

Keep Themselves

Mr. Ferguson said he did not suggest that there be any cut in government assistance to the farmers. He wanted the government to issue an additional pamphlet outlining ways in which farmers could help themselves.

He had been urging in his own constituency to do more advertising to sell their products. Simcoe North produced the "best" apples in Canada and he had been encouraging farmers to sell them in smaller containers instead of in hampers.

A large number of farmers sold and marketed their products intelligently, but there was a large number who would not "get on the band wagon."

Northern Power Plant Opened

THESSALON, June 14—(CP) —The turbulent Mississagi river, long the servant of the fur trader and the lumberman and the sport-man, today forged a new link with Northern Ontario industry.

At the towering Tunnel Gorge, 15 miles north-east of Thessalon and 44 miles east of Sault Ste Marie, Premier Frost of Ontario pressed a button which harnessed the swirling waters to generators which will send 56,500 horsepower of electricity surging through power lines which serve the nickel mines at Sudbury and gold mines in north-eastern Ontario.

The ceremony, scheduled for 1 p.m., was the first of three in Ontario this month. Next Wednesday, Premier Frost will officiate at the opening of the Pine Portage plant on the Nipigon river in north-western Ontario. A week later he will open the gigantic Des Joachims development on the Ottawa river, some 38 miles from Pembroke.

Ruling On Gas Bylaw Appealed By Toronto

TORONTO, June 14 — (CP) — A bylaw regulating Sunday operation of service stations was defended by the City of Toronto before the Ontario Supreme Court yesterday.

Counsel for the city, Palmer Kent, contended there was no delegation of city council's authority under the bylaw which gave the chief constable direction of a rotary system under which 20 per cent of Toronto gasoline stations could remain open each Sunday.

The city is appealing a ruling by Magistrate Walter W. McKeown who dismissed charges against Joy Oil Company for remaining open Sundays and ignoring the bylaw. Magistrate McKeown ruled the bylaw invalid because it delegated city council powers to the chief constable and an advisory committee.

Mr. Kent argued that none of Toronto's stations is compelled to take part in the plan.

Hearing of the appeal was not completed and will be continued in non-jury court June 23.

Prices Irregular On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, June 14 — (CP) — Prices moved irregularly in comparatively dull dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials boomed ahead strongly in early trading but lost much of the advantage in a mid-session burst of profit-taking. Volume for the first three hours was 1,791,000 shares.

In industrials a few utilities and refining oils were higher. Foods and papers tended lower.

Western oils, features in previous sessions this week, were sluggish under pressure of profit-taking. Gains and losses slowly balanced after the list opened on a continuation of previous climbs into new high price ground.

Base metals pushed slowly upwards. A few key stocks like Consolidated Smelters brightened at the half-way mark. Anacon Lead and Ascot Corp., were lower as traders took profits following recent advances.

Golds continued declining into new low ground. Leading junior and senior producers have been under steady pressure in recent weeks and have dropped to the lowest acreage price levels in a year.

3. Arrangements for preserving the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls and Rapids. This work includes plans for filling in the bare spots in the crestline of Niagara's Horseshoe Falls on the Canadian side.

Mr. Pearson said the 1909 treaty now being replaced entitled Canada to divert 36,000 cubic feet a second from the Niagara and the U.S. 20,000. This was stepped up during the war to 49,000 for Canada and 32,500 for the U.S. In addition Canada was allowed another 5,000 through drainage into the Great Lakes.

Equalize Diversion

While Canada gets the larger amount of the water diverted, he said, Canadian exports of power to the United States will tend to equalize the diversion.

Growing demands for power had made the new increases and the new treaty necessary. There had been a heavy post-war demand.

The treaty provided an appropriate division of the wasters as between scenic and power purposes.

When new power facilities are constructed on the United States side of the river, said Mr. Pearson, current Canadian licences for the export of power to the U.S. will not be renewed, except in emergency cases.

Have More Power

It was expected that both countries would have the use of more power than before. In addition, the treaty would permit the building of permanent power installations of the latest design and construction.

The treaty was of primary interest to Ontario and its hydro officials helped in its preparation. Any financial commitments involved will be met by that province. For example, Ontario will construct and pay for remedial works to ensure the beauty of the Falls. The Dominion will consult with the province as to the nature and design of the remedial works.

The government hoped that the treaty would be ratified by the United States Congress in the near future so work could start on additional power projects as soon as possible.

Before the debate opened, George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, pointed to the importance of the treaty and suggested that House committees be adjourned so members could be in the chamber for the discussion.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said the government had no objection to that proposal, but the committee chairmen themselves told the chamber they felt, that with witnesses waiting to be heard, they should be allowed to continue their deliberations.

Gordon Graydon (PC—Peel) endorsed the treaty and he thought it should "go forward from this parliament" that there was a unanimous desire for an early start on the St. Lawrence seaway and power development project.

"Cyclone" Taylor Retires From Post

VANCOUVER, June 14 (CP)—Frederick W. (Cyclone) Taylor, now 65 and often hailed as the greatest hockey player Canada ever produced, will retire from his federal immigration post here next week.

The last time Taylor retired was 28 years ago when he left the Vancouver Millionaires and professional hockey after a spectacular career—a career Lester Patrick, former manager of the New York Rangers, says has never been matched.

This time Taylor retires as district superintendent for British Columbia and Yukon for the Canadian immigration service, a post he has held since 1931.

Help Fight Disease

TORONTO, June 14 (CP) — More than $200,000 to combat disease has been raised in Ontario during the last three years by Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, William Knox of Toronto told the Independent Order of Odd Fellows convention Tuesday.

Flood Fund Climbs

WINNIPEG, June 14 (CP) — Manitoba's Flood Relief Fund on Tuesday night moved another $100,000 closer to its $10,000,000 objective. The national total now stands at $4,600,000.

Redecorate Office

MILLBROOK, June 14—(ENS) —The office of Cavan township council is to be redecorated and the reeve has appointed Councillor McKnight and the clerk to make the necessary arrangements.

MP's Disagree On Policy For Immigration

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP) — Members expressed diversified views in the Commons Tuesday on the type of immigration policy Canada should adopt.

David Croll (L-Toronto Spadina), said there was no reason why Canada should not accept 250,000 immigrants a year. Australia was accepting 200,000 yearly, but Canada was bringing in only 95,000.

Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L-Portneuf) said he is and always has been opposed to mass immigration. He doubted if Canada could accept more than 95,000 immigrants a year without upsetting the ethnical and religious make-up of the Canadian nation as it exists.

C. W. Hodgson (PC-Victoria, Ont.), said he was in favor of selective immigration, but opposed to the mass dumping of displaced persons in Canada. Only about 25 per cent of the displaced persons would make good Canadian citizens. He doubted if the remaining 75 per cent would ever make good citizens.

Getting Nowhere

Leading off the debate on the 1950-51 estimates of the citizenship and immigration department, Mr. Croll said that for the last 30 years the government's immigration policy "has got us nowhere."

He had hoped that with establishment of the new immigration department last year there would have been a change in policy. But Immigration Minister Harris had simply reiterated the old policy of the government, which was "not a policy but a pious hope."

Search Continues For Missing Man

COBOURG, June 14 (ENS) — Chief W. J. Carey Tuesday asked Toronto radio stations to broadcast the description of Lloyd "Chickie" Henderson, who has been missing from his home since June 4. He was last seen on George St. on the afternoon June 4.

Police have exhausted every lead given to them and are hoping that someone may identify him from his description. He is ruddy-faced, dark haired, dark eyes, four feet eight inches, with long arms and is 36 years of age. At the time he disappeared he was wearing a blue suit, black shoes, blue shirt and red tie.

Shelve Bylaw To Pay For Ice

COBOURG, June 14 (ENS) — Council has shelved temporarily the proposed bylaw which was to authorize a debenture issue to raise $32,000 to cover the balance owing on the artificial ice plant at the new recreational centre. A canvass held some months ago to raise the money was not successful and rather than hold any more campaigns for that purpose, it was decided to pass a debenture bylaw.

Two weeks ago, when the bylaw came up for approval, Mayor Jack Burnet objected to the wording and it was sent back. When the bylaw was again presented this week to council, Councillor Rhena Stephens said that $32,000 would never cover the indebtedness. Deputy Reeve George Galbraith agreed and the bylaw was laid over for two weeks.

Councillor Stephens asked if a new truck for the town had been purchased after calling tenders. Councillor James McKinnon said the chairman of the streets committee, Councillor Jack Erskine, had made enquiries at the local garages for prices of the various makes, but he did not believe tenders had been advertised. As Councillor Erskine is away sick, the question was tabled until the next meeting.

Council passed a by-law which provided for the collecting of the sewer rental tax, by which the water consumers will be billed by the utilities office and the collection will be made by the tax collector. This is to finance part of the cost of building the new sewage disposal plant.

Mrs. R. Darrah Funeral Held In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, June 14 — (ENS)—Pallbearers at the funeral of Mrs. Robert Darrah of Campbellford on Monday were John Bennett, James Brady, Sam Diamond, Joe Fisher, George Parker, and Herbert Tinney. The flower bearers were Doug. Maybee, Garnet Grills, Thomas Sanders, Ray Tinney and Albert Parker.

The funeral was conducted on Monday afternoon from Bennetts funeral parlors, Frank St., by the Rev. G. Whitehorne of English Line United Church. Burial was in English Line Cemetery.

Purchaser Complains Lot Not Full Size

COBOURG, June 14 (ENS) — Purchaser of a lot from the town which was listed in a tax sale in 1948, William McDonnell has told the town council that the lot was nine and a half feet short of what it was supposed to be. Mr. McDonnell said that he didn't get a deed to his property until 1950 and that the error in the length of the lot was discovered when he put a surveyor to work on it.

The lot in question is on the corner of King and Sinclair Sts. Town clerk Jack Ewart said the town solicitor advised that the council was not at fault for the error and that enquiry should be made of the owner of the adjoining lot. The matter was left for further investigation.

Try Psychiatry

TRENTON, N.J., June 14.—(AP).—Governor Alfred Driscoll Monday signed a bill requiring psychoatric treatment, instead of a jail term, for convicted sex offenders in New Jersey found to be suffering from mental disorders. The new law provides that the offender may be released from treatment whenever a special State Review Board judges that "such a person is capable of making an acceptable social adjustment in the community."

Will Co-Operate

GENEVA, Switzerland, June 14 (AP)—The United States told the economic commission for Europe Tuesday it is willing to co-operate "in further consultations" on the offer of the Soviet Union to make large-scale sales of grain to Western Europe. Robert E. Asher, U.S. delegate to the E.C.E., said the United States "welcomed the recently expressed Soviet interest in East-West grain trade."

Who Pays Us Back $1,222,829?

Japanese living on the Canadian West Coast in 1941-42 were badly short-changed, a Royal Commission has found. Mr. Justice Bird of British Columbia, the Commissioner, was appointed to study claims that Japanese of Canadian origin who had their properties seized were entitled to reparation. He has decided that the properties were sold far too cheaply and that the Government should in good conscience reimburse 1,300 of these Canadian Japanese to the total of $1,222,829.

* * *

We have no quarrel with the Government's decision to make up in part for the seizure of property. Fright after Pearl Harbour and a spot of British Columbia's distrait patriotism amounting almost to vindictiveness led to pretty crabbed treatment of these Canadian citizens. What we want to know is this: Who is going to pay back the Canadian taxpayers for this $1,222,629 of their money?

* * *

Presumably Mr. Justice Bird made his evaluations of the seized properties on 1941-42 price levels. Therefore somebody, or quite a few somebodies, got a lot of Japanese property in B.C. far too cheaply—$1,222,829 too cheaply. Who were the bad administrators in charge of selling Japanese property; who let it go at such a sacrifice? Who were the lucky buyers? Why should the Canadian taxpayer of today have to give out $1,222,829 of their money to pay for the mistakes of administrators or the chiselling of buyers in 1942 who dealt in Japanese-Canadian houses, farms, cars, trucks, boats and other properties? Some people made handsome profits out of the transactions. Why not make them provide the $1,222,829?

* * *

It may be that the Government (and the Commissioner) are intent on making amends for the bad treatment and the loss of revenues and appreciations on the properties which the Japanese-Canadians suffered, and at today's prices. If so, the Government should clarify its position. This easy-going, retrospective open-handedness does not sit very well with Canadian taxpayers, who have to foot the bill.

Wake To Asia

Asia is the largest continent. Asia contains most of the people in the world. Asia is a huge area of undeveloped resources, both human and material. Asia is no longer a remote outpost for missionaries, exotic or profitable trade, or a gray blob on the earth's surface of no immediate consequence to western civilization. In the last twenty-five years Asia has moved strategically and perhaps dangerously into the orbit of the west, because there is now no such thing as a remote continent or country. Northern centres of Communist Russia are a few hours flying time from Canada. Communist China is a few hours away from American territory. Asia's capital, Moscow, is closer to London than Vancouver is to Toronto. Canada almost touches north-east Russia, its northern frontier is the same ocean as Russia's. India is distant in space from us, but not in time. It is foolhardy for Canadians to look only to Europe! They must look westward to Asia, with informed and concerned eyes. If the twentieth century belongs to Canada, who is to say that the twenty-first century will not belong to China or India—or, more probably, to Russia?

There is not much time to acquire a serviceable knowledge of an Asia, which is no longer slow-moving. Never in history have vast changes been wrought over so huge a field in so short a time as on that continent in the last decade. Our Bip Pares maps today outline the rapidity and vastness of those changes. Ten years ago, as the first sketch shows, nearly the whole of Southern Asia was a European Empire. Five years ago (Map 2) a large part of the area had become a Japanese Empire. Today Southern Asia forms a new grouping of independent nations (Map 3), whose independence is already being threatened by a third Empire, Russia, working southward through China.

It is a vast and troubled scene. At long last the United States is turning its eyes and some of its forces toward it, and the British Commonwealth is actively concerned. The Commonwealth conference last month at Sydney was an earnest of that anxiety and an attempt to do something to preserve the new independence of the southern Asiatic nations, as well as to remove some of the conditions on which Communism flourishes like fungi in decayed soil. The restoration of law and order in Indonesia, Burma and the like is a first condition of the co-operative economic development sought at Sydney.

Touched by Asiatic developments in the same way but not to the same degree as the United States, and with its Commonwealth ties and interests, Canada should be more concerned with Asia's problems and events. A pre-condition to an aroused Canadian sense of Asia is a wider and deeper knowledge of that continent. Dollar spending may stimulate Canadian interest: this country promised U.N. at Lake Success Monday to contribute $850,000 to help backward areas —which term encompasses parts of Asia.

No Holy War Against Communism

Pastor Martin Niemoeller, who achieved wide notoriety as an opponent of Hitler, is apparently in some trouble in Germany because he has said that he does not believe that a war against communism is necessary to "save the Christian church and Christianity". His comments have been interpreted as pro-Communist by some German newspapers. Niemoeller is also reported to have said that "it is un-Christian to conduct a war for the maintenance of the Christian church, because the church does not need to be saved", and also that "the church is not afraid of Bolshevism as it was not afraid of Nazism".

We feel that Pastor Niemoeller is wise. The least decisive wars in history have been the so-called "holy" wars. Once a war has been begun it loses all holiness, and becomes a bloody struggle for power, like every other war. No strong faith has ever been uprooted by war, and certainly neither Communism nor Christianity will be uprooted by war or conquest.

There are people who feel that because Communism is violently opposed to the Christian church, and because it persecutes ministers of that body whenever they oppose it, the Christian world should go to war against the Communist countries. But has the cause of Christianity ever, at any time in history, been advanced by a punitive and crusading war? Going to war in Christ's name has never been a satisfactory way of advancing Christ's cause, nor are we likely to make Christians of Communists by demanding that they choose between conversion or the atom bomb.

Sensible Tax Adjustments

It is usually a pleasure to do business with the United States as a country. There is common-sense, even cordial, willingness to co-operate on mutual problems. One that has plagued many Canadians and Americans has been the double income tax. A Canadian working in the United States for less than half a year is considered a Canadian and his total income is taxed by Canada. On the other hand, for the few months he has been earning American dollars, the United States government takes a toll of his earnings. A similar double jump was made on an American resident in Canada less than half the year. There have been other examples of double taxation, for instance, the tax imposed on Canadian writers' royalties on their books sold in the United States. The first bite was made in the U.S.A.; the writer got what was left, and found that it was again taxable, this time by the Canadian government.

The new agreement announced on Monday does away with much of this double tax. A Canadian engineer going across the border for a month or two in an American subsidiary of his firm will not be required to pay American income tax as well as Canadian on these earnings. A Canadian writer will no longer have to pay the fifteen per cent American tax on his royalties: these will be taxed in Canada only. The arrangements are reciprocal. Such friendly agreements between the two countries are an example of the easy way nations can get along with each other if they want to.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Every speech contains some food for thought — even though it may be boloney.

A Hollywood designer is said to "push the waistline down to the hips, and send the neckline plunging after it". Producing the charming new pear-shaped figure.

From The Critic's Notebook

THE COCKTAIL PARTY by T. S. Eliot (Faber and Faber).

A NEW play by T. S. Eliot is as much a literary event as a theatrical one. His development as a poet and a critic has been the subject of more analysis and speculation in the last twenty years than that of any other writer with the possible exception of Joyce. His new play, The Cocktail Party, is, by the very nature of its subject, bound to stir up exactly the same kind of controversy that has been raging around Mr. Eliot with varying degrees of violence for years. Probably the only group who will not be surprised by it are those who have followed Mr. Eliot's theological development to the somewhat supramundane and mystical position he now occupies.

Certainly The Cocktail Party is going to come as a shock to those who are accustomed to reading Mr. Eliot's poetry line by line,—with often a good many rereadings before the difficulties of his style and his thought become clear. This play is poetic drama of a high order. If it never reaches the grandeur of some of the passages in Murder in The Cathedral it is possibly due to the fact that none of the people in the play is a protagonist of the same stature as Thomas, Archbishop of Canterbury. There are some fine poetic passages as the heart of the play is reached, but the first act, with its choppy lines, its rags and tags of conversation, witty and sophisticated as they may be, is a disappointment poetically. It is brilliant writing but it strikes the reader as rather obviously contrived to convince a possibly sceptical audience that poetic plays are not so difficult after all, and that, if this kind of talk is poetry, then we are all poets However, by the middle of the second act when the central theme of the play is being developed in the conversation between Reilly and Celia, Mr. Eliot has lured us so skilfully into his particular poetic web that we only gradually become aware of how complex and subtle these lines are. And here, of course, the reader has a distinct advantage over the play-goer; he can at least back up when either the theme or the versification becomes too involved. For this is a play of ideas, and if there are few passages which stick in the memory because of their sheer poetic beauty, the idea is sufficiently tantalizing to hold an audience or the reader to the end.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE play concerns the search for salvation of Edward and Lavinia Chamberlayne and Celia Coplestone, Edward's mistress. The play opens with the cocktail party which provides the title and the focal point for a gathering of some of the intimate friends of the Chamberlaynes. Edward is in the embarrassing position of having to invent an excuse for the absence of Lavinia who has left him that day, too late to call the party off. He finds a sympathetic listener to this domestic dilemma in an unidentified guest. Later the two Chamberlaynes consult Sir Henry Harcout-Reilly who turns out to have been the stranger at the party. Reilly, who is a doctor of a very unusual type, combining the probing mind of the analyst with the sympathetic insight of the priest, persuades the Chamberlaynes that they must stick together because they have so much in common;

"The same isolation.
A man who finds himself incapable of loving,
And a woman who finds that no man can love her."

In Celia Coplestone, who "suffers from a sense of sin" and an awareness of her own loneliness, Reilly sees the potentialities of the saint and in some of the finest and most moving passages of the play points out to her the nature and the difficulties of the choice she must make if she is to find her ultimate salvation. The story of where Celia's search for perfection leads her is the dramatic climax of the third act. To those who share Mr. Eliot's religious convictions and whose own faith is strong, Celia's fate will seem perfectly justifiable, "triumphant" as Reilly puts it. To those others who, like Lavinia and Edward, think such a sacrifice a waste and who are groping their own way to salvation, the climax will come as a shock and a disappointment.

THIS is a provocative play. It has all the deft treatment of character that Mr. Eliot can command at his best. It says a good deal for his delineations that the minor characters of the first scene with their gossipy cocktail party chatter can develop into a sort of antiphonal chorus for Reilly without straining the credulity of the reader. Such disappointment as there is in character development is in Reilly himself who is a rather ambiguous figure.

The play is interesting if for nothing else than the daring of its author in putting the most difficult problem of life, the soul's salvation, into a cocktail party setting. Murder in the Cathedral was a deeply religious play, but by the very nature of its subject this was to be expected. Mr. Eliot has now progressed from the cathedral to the drawing-room. In The Cocktail Party he has presented a theme of universal significance in a simple and unexpected setting. In so doing he has created an exciting play which displays his deep insight into the hearts and minds of men as well as his own sincere religious convictions.

ABDICATION, or ALL IS TRUE, by H. T. Lowe-Porter (McClelland & Stewart).

IT is impossible to make any valid literary judgement upon Mrs. Lowe-Porter's play, for it is a curiosity, the appeal of which is by no means purely literary. It is a dramatized version of the events surrounding the abdication of Edward VIII, set in the time of Queen Elizabeth, and written in an imitation of the style of Shakespeare's history plays. It has been presented in Dublin with a considerable degree of success; it has not, understandably, been played in England. Any Canadian Little Theatre group which wants to create a sensation can do so by presenting it here.

Is it a good play ? It would be impossible to tell without seeing it on the stage. Is it a good imitation of Shakespeare? Well—it may be said that it is as good as most works in that melancholy genre. The fact is that it is quite impossible to judge the play objectively, because it deals with one of the most exciting stories of our time, and one on which virtually everybody has an opinion.

❖ ❖ ❖

MRS. Lowe-Porter loads the dice heavily in favour of the young King and the Foreign Lady whom he is determined to marry. There is no hint that the King might have been looking for a chance to slip out of an irksome responsibility; no suggestion that the Foreign Lady had been involved in anything which might prove embarrassing to the King's church. Their love is on the high romantic level, and those who oppose it are spoilsports. It is a curious experience to read this play at a time when the Duke of Windsor's account of the same story is being given to the public in weekly instalments; of the two, the Duke is the better writer, but one cannot feel that either he or Mrs. Lowe-Porter have said the final word on the subject.

"Abdication", then, is a literary and dramatic oddity, and as such it is well worth reading. The book is illustrated with pictures from the Dublin production, which appears to have been very handsome. R.D.

LOOKING FOR HONEY WITHOUT HORNETS?

Letter To The Editor

WHY UNIVERSAL PENSIONS?

Sir: A recent news item carrying the information that hydro rates to farm consumers would be raised merits some comment, particularly the remarks of Chairman Saunders, who was quoted as saying that it was the duty of the commission to deliver power at cost, and because costs had gone up, rates must do likewise

It seems to me that it is pertinent to ask: How are these costs arrived at? He spoke of labour costs having gone up. Why? While at the moment the writer is a dirt farmer, in my younger days I was a carpenter and builder. We had to be on the job at 7 o'clock, no matter if it were ten miles distant, and work out our full day of ten hours, with nine hours on Saturday. Now the hydro outfit which serves this area loads up at 8 o'clock in Cobourg and it is around 9 o'clock before they are distributed to the various jobs.

Then instead of a full day's work, they load up and away to town in time to be there by five o'clock. And on top of that, they do not work. It is simply killing time. We farmers who observe these things know something about digging holes for posts and our own hydro service poles, and it would make one weep to behold the length of time it requires one of these hydro men to dig ordinary holes.

I was told of one local citizen who accosted a hydro workman down in a hole and to the salute, "Hello, what are you doing down there?" he replied, "Just as little as I can." When we watch them trimming trees along the line and similar tasks, it makes us hot under the collar, and now we are the ones who will be required to pay for this imposition.

I can imagine some of the sob sisters exclaiming at the hours we used to work and calling it slavery. Well it may sound like boasting, but by applying ourselves to the job at hand we arrived at a place where we can see these things from the employer viewpoint. We won't be looking forward to an old age pension. While these seven or eight hour five-day week men will be banking on it, we who are ambitious enough to try and succeed, or should I have said dupes enough, will have to pay the major share of their pension. This same argument carries all down the line in the labour field. During the years I spent as a builder, bricklayers would lay around a thousand bricks a day. I understand they are held down to around 350 per day. How long will Mr. John Public stand for these tactics?

And speaking of pensions prompts these further comments. Pensions are, or should be, for the destitute or the unfortunate. But for any red-blooded man who has had health and strength in this fair land of opportunity, it should be entirely unnecessary. The constant pressure to place the pension scheme on a universal basis is slowly, but surely, bleeding out of the human race all the ambition, the pioneer spirit, the will to succeed, the will to deny oneself, passing luxuries during the days of highest earning powers in order to provide the maximum of comfort in our declining years. In its place it is breeding a race of the come-easy, go-easy type who largely count on feeding at the public trough.

Sign Of Spring

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

As soon as the tourist season opens, a strange passion for digging up their main streets seems to seize many of our cities, towns and villages. While this is a necessary nuisance to motorists at any time, it is particularly annoying to tourists, and we wonder if the improvements could not be made earlier in the Spring or later in the Fall, instead of the middle of Summer when traffic is heaviest.

Just For A Rip

(Hamilton Spectator)

We have long had a profound yearning to get hold of a package we can merely rip open, just like the good old days.

Even—if necessary—to have the contents fall where they may.

We admire the ingenuity and care that has gone into the miniature red guiding strips and punch holes, and delicately inscribed instructions that tell us where to start and how to go about it, but we feel we are not alone in ending in frustration and a rip that usually creates chaos. Modern packaging, like a lot of super-efficient gadgeting, is bent on chastising the tyro. If it goes much further it looks as if some kind of a course for impatient openers will be essential. Even the squirting grapefruit was never so vengeful as these products of technical know-how.

In time it is probable that even envelopes will have instructions (under the stamp) of what to pull gently to get at the letter. But before that happens could not there be some kind of package that stated bluntly—"Rip as you like, but rip!"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus went forth, and saw a great multitude, and was moved with compassion toward them, and he healed their sick. And when it was evening, his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the time is now past; send the multitude away, that they may go into the villages, and buy themselves victuals.

But Jesus said unto them, They need not depart: give ye them to eat. And they say unto him, We have here but five loaves, and two fishes. He said, Bring them hither to me. And he commanded the multitude to sit down on the grass, and took the five loaves, and the two fishes, and looking up to heaven, he blessed, and brake, and gave the loaves to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

And they did all eat, and were filled: and they took up of the fragments that remained twelve baskets full. (Matt. 14: 14-20.)

❖ ❖ ❖

And when even was now come, his disciples went down unto the sea, and entered into a ship, and went over the sea toward Capernaum. And it was now dark, and Jesus was not come to them. And the sea arose by reason of a great wind that blew.

So when they had rowed about five and twenty or thirty furlongs, they see Jesus walking on the sea, and drawing nigh unto the ship: and they were afraid. But he saith unto them, It is I; be not afraid. Then they willingly received him into the ship: and immediately the ship was at the land whither they went. (John 6: 16-21.)

Toronto's University Avenue

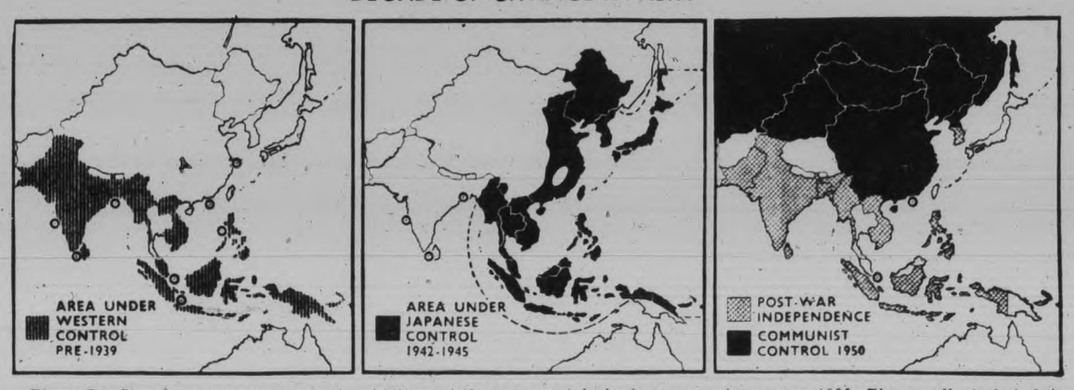
(Ottawa Journal)

Toronto's citizens have become both impatient and indignant about the state of one of their principal streets, University Avenue. Time that they did. For this street, which could be a most noble one, is today in a condition of neglect and dilapidation which would not be tolerated by any "hick" town between Main and California; its boulevards a mass of weeds, its natural dignity and stateliness disfigured by unsightly poles, the whole of its landscape an offence to the eye.

A group of citizens, incensed (as well they might be) has suggested to the Board of Control that (as their expense) a highly-reputed Canadian-born landscape architect be brought from New York to suggest a beautification plan. The idea may be a good one, but in the meantime (as any shocked Ottawa visitor to Toronto could tell them) a few ordinary lawn mowers, plus a bit of water sprinkling, could do wonders.

It is not good to have visitors from abroad see one of our two greatest cities with what should be a noble street in a state of decay—possibly suggesting to many of them that this whole country is on the verge of decay, or is without as much as an innuendo of beauty.

Memorial To Gandhi In London



(Indian Information Service)

Europe will have its first memorial to Mahatma Gandhi when the new Indian Students' Union and hostel building rise in Fitzroy Street in London in the area marked for the university residential halls. The memorial will take the form of an assembly hall with a seating capacity for 400.

The foundation stone of the Union hall was laid by Mr. V. K. Krishna Menon, High Commissioner for India on May 5. The new hostel, he said, would be an international centre where Indian students would meet students from Britain and other countries.

On the marble slab in the hall are inscribed these words of Mahatma Gandhi: "I do not want my house to be walled on all sides nor my windows to be shut. I want the culture of all lands to blow about my house as freely as possible but I refuse to be blown off my feet by any of them."

UEW Captures A 5-3 Win Over East City

UEW men softballers yanked out a 5-3 verdict over East City at the Bowl last night before a slim crowd. A light drizzle of rain kept the fans away, but the first fray of the twin bill was a neat one. UE were the home team but didn't realize it, so they batted first. They bunched blows in the eighth for four runs and that did it. The fielding was snappy generally, despite a few boots aside and the hurling good. Gordon threw six-hit ball and Woods was nearly as effective in a tilt that went just an hour and five minutes.

Byrnes and Mackness each had two for four at bat for UE as Pagett got two in five. Byrnes and White hit triples and McCarthy got a two-bagger. For East City, no one got more than one safe blow, Spencer leading with one in three times, and Red Sullivan clouted a homer. Both centre fielders looked good on several running catches.

Lacrosse Rained Out

Wounded Vet To Attempt Channel Swim

DENNIS PORT, Mass., June 14 (AP)—A 44-year-old wounded war veteran who swam his way back to health may be the "Cinderella man" of the 1950 English Channel sweepstakes.

George (Scotty) Fraser, a stocky Glasgow native, sails tomorrow from New York with little money but lots of courage.

The little swimmer is lured by more than the prospect of fame and fortune. He wants to show disabled veterans the restorative powers of swimming.

He owes his own rehabilitation in large part to swimming. He came to this Cape Cod town in 1946 to rest and recuperate from scars of war, both mental and physical.

As a merchant marine officer he spent long months under enemy attack and suffered a severe leg wound when Nazi planes blasted his North Atlantic convoy in 1944.

Swimming returned him to tip-top health. Now he works as an aircraft welder.

Great Confidence

"I feel confident that I can make the channel," he said today, "if I get an even break in the weather. I'd like to help disabled fellows to overcome their disabilities through swimming and this will give me my chance to show what it can do for them."

He has just about all the requirements for success except sufficient money. Of finances, he says:

"I have a one-way ticket on the Queen Elizabeth, plus $150. That amount certainly won't fill the bill. I need at least $1,100 more, but I'm not worried about that now."

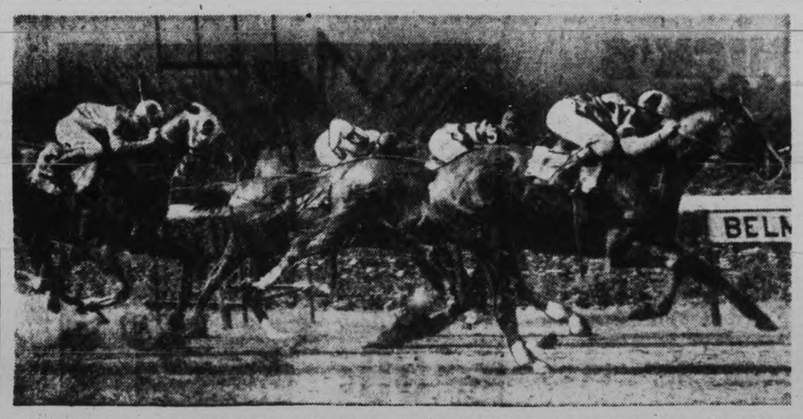
Scotty is not going over just for the boat ride and he can point as a recent swimming exhibition to back up that statement.

June 8, he negotiated the treacherous tides and current of Nantucket Sound in a nine-mile swim between West Chop on Martha's Vineyard Island to Falmouth on the mainland. Only one person did it before. Two men were drowned trying to make it in 1923.

Spectators Will See Regatta From Train

MARIETTA, O., June 14 (CP) —One of the world's largest passenger trains—42 cars and two diesel engines—will carry spectators along the Ohio River Saturday for the United States Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regatta.

Some 5,600 passengers will watch rowing crews and 13 colleges from the observation train, believed to be unique in the history of water sports.



The train will be composed of gondola-type freight cars. In each car will be built-in wooden bleachers five tiers deep and seating 140 persons. The train was assembled by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Tickets for seats at $5 each were sold out weeks ago. A ticket will entitle the rider to see the Freshman, Jayvee and Varsity races.

Must Have Release

HAMILTON, June 14 (CP) — All former professional baseball players wishing to play amateur ball in Toronto must have an unconditional release or letter of voluntary retirement from the National Association of Baseball Leagues, it was decided Tuesday night. The ruling was made at the regular monthly meeting of the Ontario Baseball Association subcommittee.

UEW Soccerites Clean Up On Cup Series

Peterborough UE soccer team gained the right as the city representatives in the Ontario Cup when they defeated the Petes 4-3 in a gruelling contest before a fair attendance of spectators at King Edward Park Wednesday evening. Best for the losers were: Buchanan and Kinnia, Vancouver boys, and J. Hennessey; for the winners, R. Strong and G. Foster. The winners won four out of four games.

Within a minute, Woodcock, Petes' goalie, threw himself the full length of the goal to divert the ball round the post for an unsuccessful flag kick. Then Buchanan and Kinnia converged upon the UE citadel to enact the same performance. After 10 minutes of play, G. Downer broke away to rattle the ball in below the cross-bar. Quickly this was evened up when Lane scored on a pass by Cribbiss. Petes replied with an aggressive campaign to take the UE by surprise when D. Downer from 20 yards out rattled the cross-bar with Kinna putting the Petes ahead 2-1 at the interval.

Right from the kick-off, Petes rattled in another goal in a quick movement as E. Lane placed a perfect ball into the centre of goal where W. Downer, Petes, found the rigging with a low grounder.

At the 30 minute mark UE half back line dominated the play as Duffus, beating three men in a row, shot from 30 yards out and the ball went into the rigging under the crossbar. Then G. Foster, at outside right, sent a lightning shot into the corner of the goal-post that Woodcock saved at the corner of the upright but it hit the inside af the net to count. With five minutes to go and both teams on an even basis, the break went in favour of UE when G. Downer from a corner-kick let G. Foster trap the ball at the side of the upright to take the game by a 4-3 count.

Petes—E. Woodcock, goal; A. Downer and Art Downer, full backs; K. Downer, D. Downer and N. Lane, half backs; H. Payne, W. Cribbiss, J. Kinna, R. Buchanan and E. Lane, forwards. Subs.: W Downer, J. Hennessey, J. Parks.

UE—J. Hutchinson, goal; E. Downer and S. Murduff, full backs; J. Craig, T. Foster and S. McGann, half-backs; R. Strong, H. Steel, G. Foster, E. Duffus and G. Downer, forwards. Subs.: A. Boyd, F. Attard, J. Chamberlain.

Referee, T. Foster, Sr. Linesmen, J. Chambers and H. Foster.

Confeds Gain Win

Confederation went into a top place intermediate school softball tie with King Edward by beating the King George crew 15-7 in a loop fixture. Ghesney pitched good ball, though walking four in the abbreviated tilt. The winners got two runs in the first, three each in the second and fifth, with seven counting in the fourth. King George shoved over two each in the third and fifth with three scoring in the fourth. Teams:

Confederation: Goldie, Floyd, Druery, Brown, Parnell, Jones, Rose, Chesney, Briggs.

King George—Baptie, Barker, Clark, English, Ellis, Dorrington, Hale, Rogers, Hayden.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

News that Whipper Bill Watson—prominent pro heavyweight wrestler—has signed to play football for Edmonton Eskimos this fall is rather intriguing. Quite frequently a star gridder turns to the grapple game, but rarely has a matman turned to the grid sport. Of course, the Whip will only play in home Edmonton games, and then just 10 or 15 minutes at a tilt, as a defensive guard. For which he will be paid handsomely, no doubt. Meantime, he will continue regular mat shows out west during the autumn. Despite his 235 pounds and his good condition, we doubt if he'll set the world on fire in football, having been away from it so long.

* * * * * *

Phil Lawson, astute manager of the Whip, wouldn't let the big guy play football once he became prominent in mat circles. But Phil is dead now and Watson is making his own decisions. He has appeared frequently on grapple cards in the Brock Arena, and is always a crowd-pleaser. Gives all he has and doesn't spoil it by ham acting. Quite a capable gent at the game, too, packing in the crowds wherever he performs, be it Peterborough, Toronto, Montreal, St. Louis or elsewhere. No doubt, his name will aid the Stukus gates out west, too, when autumn rolls around, and we wish him luck at this rugged sport.

An Item Of Interest

Another item which didn't get undue publicity—also being a bit unseasonable—came from the CAHA annual meeting. It was to the effect that senior "A" hockey winners in the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario and Western Canada, would no longer playoff for the Allan Cup. They'll go for another one, possibly the Governor-General's Trophy. You see, they are rated more or less as minor pro and most certainly are. Chaps like Jake Wade and Bob Greenlaw, who labored lustily last winter in a Maritime senior circuit, didn't go there for the fun of it. They were paid well as a full-time job. That's generally true in senior "A" hockey.

* * * * * *

The interesting fact to us is that senior "B" clubs next winter will likely get into the hunt for the Allan Cup. It brings the matter closer to home when one remembers that our Legionnaires won the provincial senior "B" title in 1949 and were finalists last spring. With bolstering, they might well take it again and go on the prowl for the Allan Cup. The Petes, too, with a lot of building, could be serious contenders — and we know both clubs have hefty plans for strengthening ere next winter. Senior "B" players make some mazuma out of hockey, but it's certainly no full-time job. This Allan Cup news no doubt will cause Legion and Petes to redouble their rebuilding efforts from here on in.

Next Of Kin Present

A corporal's guard and the next of kin braved a light drizzle at the Bowl last night to see two men's softball tilts. First one was a nifty, with UEW yanking out a 5-3 win o'er the East Citizens. Good pitching on both sides, pretty fair fielding and lots of hustle. Second one was late starting—several of the Orphans failing to show—and Mutuals massaged the cabbage to take a 19-11 victory. Pitching was poor on both sides, the fielding not too bad, but the hitting plenty powerful by both winners and losers. An open tussle, well-handled by the umps. We turned our head once to watch a runner, and a terrific throw-in from deep left went over the screen to conk us on the noggin. But it apparently didn't hurt the ball any, as they kept using it.

Bill Flint explains the setup for the Girls' Softball League in staging a special game during centennial sports week. Each team manager submits his suggestion of a local all-star squad, but cannot name players from his own outfit. Executive and the scorer also draft up a suggested team. When all returns are in, the executive has the final say in screening the material and listing the all-star lineup, which will play some club from out of town. Girls' games tonight are: Marines vs. Woollens, and Westclox vs. Ashby's. On Friday, the Ashby and Westclox lasses go in a double-header, this being arranged on account of the Clockers being away two weeks on holidays early in July.

Mutuals Take A Victory Over Orphans

Mutuals continued their winning ways at the Bowl last night at the expense of Orphans by a 19-11 score. It was a wide-open tilt in a drizzle before few fans, with the shorthanded Orphans—missing several regulars—coming fairly close in the late innings. The pitching was weak on both sides with a total of 19 walks handed out and 10 wild pitches in a rather draggy fray. The fielding was fairly good and there was plenty of hitting, including five home runs and two triples.

Bigford was wild and ran into trouble in the eighth, Hunter taking over, while Sanderson was clouted out in the third, Ritchie finishing up. Crowe led the winners at bat with four for six, as Turner topped the losers with four in five tries. Homers were hit by Dalton, Foster, Bigford, Riches and Greenlaw. Harrison and Turner thumped out triples, and doubles were conked by Giardino, Dalton and Riches. Mutuals had two double plays, and Byers looked good at third for the losers.

Only nine base hits to go for Joe DiMaggio to join the exclusive 2,000-hit club.

Although the Yankee clipper is hitting a dull .247, he's almost a cinch to go over the top during New York's current western tour.

When Joe makes the grade, he'll be in high society. The only active major-leaguers in the 2,000-hit club are Luke Appling, of the White Sox, with 2,733, and Wally Moses, of Philadelphia A's, with 2,060. There are none in the National League.

DiMaggio, now 35, is the youngest of the bunch. Appling is 41, according to the record books. Since Red Corriden replaced Jack Onslow as manager, Luke has confined himself largely to coaching duties. Moses is 39.

Any day now the Yanks expect DiMaggio to break out with a rash of hits and slide into his accustomed place in the upper strata. They figure the 44 hits he has contributed thus far are all gravy. Last year he didn't play at all until June 28, when he made his sensational comeback at Fenway Park. Then he wound up at .346, high enough to win the batting title if he had been at bat enough times.

Dates of Canada's first round Davis Cup competition with Australia have been advanced by one week, J. M. McAvity, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, announced Tuesday at montreal.

Previously scheduled for July 20-22, the matches will be staged at Montreal's Mount Royal Tennis Club July 14-16.

A United Kingdom hockey authority arrived at Ottawa Tuesday and assured reporters that he was not there to "line up players."

J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne, long associated with the British Ice Hockey Association and a council member of the International Ice Hockey Federation, said the British Hockey Association is developing its own stars.

"In England and Scotland we have 150 Canadians, but the British Ice Hockey Association now has 2,00 players all told," he said.

Mr. Ahearne attended the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association last week at Banff Springs as an observer.

At Hershey, Pa., Ben Hogan, newly-crowned national open golf champion, signed up Tuesday for his 10th year as playing professional for the Hershey Country Club.

Hogan, who succeeded Henry Picard as Hershey pro in 1940, won his second national open title Sunday at Ardmore, Pa., in a triple playoff with Lloyd Mangrum and George Fazio.

John B. Sollenberger, president and general manager of Hershey Estates, which includes the Country Club, declined to disclose Hogan's salary, reputed to be $7,000 a year.

Herman (Pete) Peterson, 53, general manager of the St. Paul Hockey Club and treasurer of the United States Hockey League, died at St. Paul, Minn., Tuesday. He had been in poor health for 18 months and had been confined to the hospital since the end of the last hockey season.

Evers Stars For Detroit Edges Philadelphia

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Walter (Hoot) Evers finally has got out of the shadow of Dick Wakefield.

For nine long years the blond-haired slugger has had to play second fiddle to Wakefield, the $52,000 bonus baby.

The pair started in Winston-Salem, N.C., in 1941. Evers batted only .231 to Wakefield's .300. The pair moved up to Beaumont, Tex., in '42. Evers raised his batting mark to .322 but once again he was overshadowed by Wakefield's .345.

Evers spent the next three years in the service while Wakefield was establishing himself as a star with the Tigers. He returned in '46 and hit .266. But Wakefield still topped him with a .268 mark.

This season with Wakefield's shadow no longer hovering over him Evers finally established himself as a top drawer star. He's been hitting and fielding like never before.

Has Winning Homer

Tuesday night he hammered a 10th-inning home run to give the Detroit Tigers a 6-5 triumph over Philadelphia Athletics. It was his ninth of the campaign. He also walloped a triple and single to run his hitting streak through in 18 consecutive games. He also added 10 points to his batting average to place him at the top in both leagues with a .379 figure.

Evers' bat boosted the league leading Tigers to a half game edge over New York Yankees who bowed to the White Sox in Chicago 6-5.

Catcher Phil Masi's ninth inning single off Joe Page scored Chico Carrasquel with the winning run for the White Sox. Bob Cain, who earlier had blanked the Yanks 15-0, pitched seven-hit ball for his third triumph.

Boston's Red Sox whipped the Cleveland Indians 8-1 to remain 5½ games behind the Tigers. St. Louis Browns walloped Washington Senators twice 8-3 and 6-1 to move into seventh place.

St. Louis Cardinals increased their National League lead to three full games whipping the third-place Phils in Philadelphia 6-3 while the runner-up Dodgers were losing to Chicago Cubs in Brooklyn, also by the same 6-3 margin. New York's Giants whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-0, and Boston's Braves trounced Cincinnati Reds 5-5.

Doerr Checking

Bobby Doerr cracked a pair of home runs, a triple and a single to lead Red Sox to an easy win in their Western invasion. Chuck Stobbs allowed only two hits to record his fifth triumph.

Hank Arft got four for four to help Harry Dorish gain his second triumph for the Browns in the opener. Sherman Lollar homered as Cliff Fannin permitted only four hits to win the second.

The Cards tallied all their runs in one inning—the sixth—when they chased starter Curt Simmons with a five-hit blast.

A two-run homer by Roy Smalley off Clarence Podbielan sparked a three-run 11th inning to give the Cubs their victory over the Dodgers.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Edmonton Grads first came into international basketball prominence 25 years ago today when they won the women's basketball world championship. Grads defeated Cleveland Favorite Knits 19-13 to take the two-game series 34-20. They were almost ubeatable from that time until their disbandment in 1940.

Chiefs Trounce Reeling Royals

By The Associated Press.

Biggest news in the International League this season has been the recent failure of Montreal Royals. A serious contender only last week, the Royals today are in fifth place, 3½ games off the pace.

Syracuse Chiefs whipped the reeling Royals twice Tuesday night, 4-2 and 3-2. The twin victories advanced the Chiefs to fourth place.

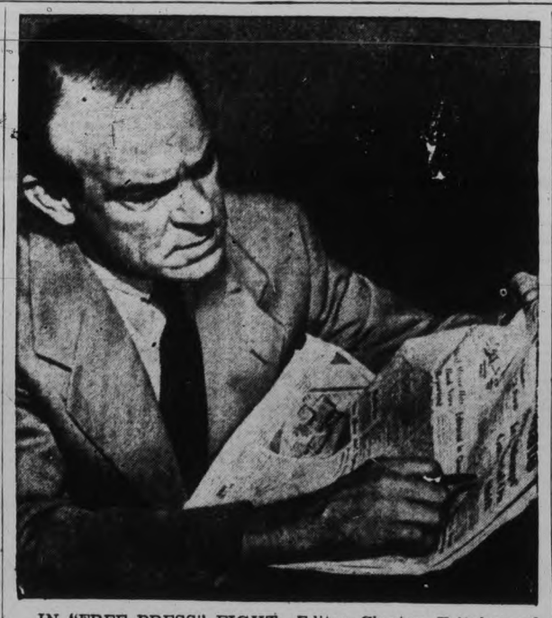
Jersey City upended leading Rochester 7-2 in the only other league game played. Springfield and Toronto had a doubleheader postponed. Baltimore and Buffalo also were washed out.

Carden Gillenwater's two-run single in the fifth inning provided Syracuse with its edge in the first game. It enabled Bob Sanders to pick up his first win. Carl Erskine suffered his fourth defeat

Syracuse rapped George Thomas, making his Montreal debut, for three runs in the first two innings to sew up the nightcap.

At Jersey City, Ken Hardey, righthander stopped the hard-hitting Rochester team with seven hits. He was helped by Pete Pavlick's two-run homer in the fourth. Jackie Collum dropped his second game.

Plot Crushed



RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, June 14 (AP)—Air force officers and army personnel were among 60 persons arrested at Recife last night as police crushed a plot for a Communist uprising throughout Brazil. The port city of Recife was Communist headquarters for Brazil until the party was outlawed in 1947.

HIGH CONSUMPTION

It is estimated that it takes about two acres of farm crops per person to feed the United States.

WOMAN ORGANIZER—Dr. A. Vibert Douglas, Dean of Women at Kingston's Queen's University and president of the International Federation of University Women, has left for England to help organize forthcoming convention of federation delegates.

IN "FREE PRESS" FIGHT—Editor Clayton Fritchey of the New Orleans Item, above, and his boss, publisher David Stern III, have been put on the carpet by the Louisiana state legislature for editorially comparing that body to "trained seals." A never-used constitutional clause, aimed to protect legislators from "disrespectful, disorderly or contemptuous" remarks, could subject Fritchey to a 10-day jail sentence. Stern called the legislators' use of the statute a blow at freedom of the press.

Copenhagen Gives Eskimos Brand New Deal

COPENHAGEN, June 14 — (Reuters)—Denmark has a $15,000,000 plan to better the living standards of the 20,000 Eskimos on Greenland by creating new industries and expanding some of the old ones.

The Danish parliament is now considering legislation to implement recommendations made by a special commission which has been studying conditions on her island colony.

The proposed initial expenditure of $15,000,000 is nearly four times the total spent on the island last year. Greenland's new deal provides for expansion of her main industries — whaling, sealing, trapping and fishing — and creation of new ones such as lead mining. Lead finds, believed to be among the biggest in the world, have recently been made there.

To provide capital for new enterprises, an industrial fund is to be set up under the proposed plan.

To Exploit Lead

First project to be financed would be exploitation of the lead deposits. The fund is also expected to be used to improve the fishing fleet and promote sheep-rearing.

These measures should help the colony balance its foreign payments and avoid the $900,000 deficit it incurred in its trade with Denmark last year. Harbors are to be enlarged to accommodate larger ships, while new ones will be built at the three principal townlets. The commission called these "a top priority."

A new power station, sewage plants, improved water supplies and better roads will bring a touch of the mainland comfort to the icebound island—the largest in the world—where men can only thrive on the warmer coastal fringes.

End State Enterprise

Trade will continue to be half state-run and half private enterprise. But Denmark hopes to abolish most state enterprise when the educational and technical level of the Eskimos has been raised.

For the first time in its history, the island will have laws—and prisons. The laws will be drawn up by a national council headed by the governor. Policemen, hitherto unknown in Greenland, will enforce the laws.

At present, Danish criminals in Greenland are deported to Copenhagen to be dealt with in Danish courts. The governor has the power to deport Eskimos in the same way, although in practice this is never done.

Law Abiding

The Eskimos are law abiding —theft is almost unknown—and a fatherly talk by the governor is generally enough to bring a lost sheep back into the fold.

For their general welfare, the Danish government will build more schools and set up a special directorate of education to run them.

A tuberculosis hospital will provide treatment for the 2,000 Eskimos now estimated to be suffering from that disease and a general hospital is to be built on the south coast.

Finally, the island is to have its first hotel—at West Blue Point where the airliners from Copenhagen land.

NEW YORK, June 14 —(CP)— Talk of beginner's luck!

When three Montrealers living here sat down to teach a pretty young California girl the fundamentals of bridge, they had no idea of the one-in-a-million luck she had.

Wheat Seeding Ended In West

OTTAWA, June 14 — (CP) — Wheat seeding is completed in the Prairie provinces except in a few scattered areas where excessive rain has delayed operations, the Bureau of Statistics said Tuesday in a periodic report of Trans-Canada crop conditions.

"Somewhat larger acreages of coarse grains remain to be seeded in those areas," said the bureau, "but given favorable weather all seeding should be finished by this week-end."

Warm weather and ideal growing conditions are prevailing in the Maritimes.

All crops in Quebec have improved with frequent rains and warmer weather.

Have First Bath in Month As Muck Out of 'Peg Home

By ELLY HEBER

WINNIPEG, June 14 —(CP)—Last Friday night I had my first bath in a month.

Henry and I decided to move in the house. We didn't want to take the kids out of Isaac Brock School, where we were staying, for a few days, but they put up such a fuss that we brought them with us.

We still had no electricity, but the water was back on and we lit the small stove in the basement.

We had a lot of trouble getting supper. Of course, the kids kind of expected things to be back to normal, but our stove was still out in the back yard where we had thrown it, and I had to cook in shifts on top of the small coal stove we use as a heater in the living room.

Uses Washing Machine

We all had baths by candlelight, and the kids all the time were talking about a woman in the school—quite a large woman—who had taken a bath in a washing machine.

It wasn't a very pleasant night. The children complained about the cold and the dampness—every single stitch of bedding was clammy—and Henry and I had bad dreams.

But the house itself wasn't bad. We could live in one room, and it was quite comfortable except for the damp floors. They'll take some time to dry out. The walls are clean and it smells pretty good now, after a week's hard work.

The next day the appraisers were here. I still don't know where they came from, but they seemed to be putting a lot of work into sizing up the damage. I don't know whether they assess the damage in money or just take a percentage, but we don't expect too much anyhow.

Will Cost a Lot

We figure that if we get down to work, fix our floors, clean up the mess in the back yard, and do all we can, that we'll be treated fairly as possible. It's going to cost a lot of money and the government can only do so much. Our first concern is to make our home liveable again, and we know that no government—even the best— is going to walk in and do that for us.

The assessors said the foundation is sound and that the wood on the outside is still good. The wallboard inside will likely crack, after all that soaking, but the new coat of paint helped a lot.

We're even beginning to think of the future again. Henry who is still on his holidays, figures it will take another two months to get everything back to normal —floors, furniture, new linoleum, and the grounds cleaned up. That's not bad, considering we once thought we'd never want to come back, even if we could.

Searchers Find Child At Friend's

PEMBROKE, June 14—(CP)—A band of some 500 Pembroke men Tuesday launched a nine-hour search for a missing six-year-old girl only to find her soundly asleep at the home of a friend.

The search for Mary Lavigne was started in this Upper Ottawa valley town when Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lavigne became frantic at the disappearance of the child.

Hour after hour passed without a trace of her whereabouts. Friends and neighbours were called, and then the police and fire department. Two boats were obtained and a search made of Pembroke's Indian River.

Police broadcast a radio appeal and Lloyd Kennedy, organizer of the search, began an organized check of all the homes of children in Mary's class at school.

It was during this latter search that the girl was located at the home of a young girl friend, Betty Tessier.

Brig. T. G. Gibson Given Appointment

OTTAWA, June 14 — (CP) — Brig. T. G. Gibson, 42, of Toronto, former vice adjutant general, has been appointed brigadier in the planning branch of the army's general staff, Defence Headquarters announced Tuesday.

He is at present completing the 1949-50 course at the National Defence College at Kingston.

During the second world war, Brig. Gibson commanded the Royal Winnipeg Rifles and the Ninth Canadian Infantry Brigade in the United Kingdom.

On his return to Canada he was made area commander of New Brunswick area and was later officer in charge of administration at Headquarters Eastern Command, Halifax.

Lays Cornerstone

BROCKVILLE, June 14 — (CP) — The cornerstone of Brockville's new 17-room public school, the Commonwealth school, was laid Tuesday by Col. S. A. Watson, assistant director of elementary education for Ontario. The public school is the first to be built in Brockville since 1899. It is expected to open about the end of September. The new school will replace three of the five present outmoded school buildings.

New York Debating Measures To Curb Teen-Age Warfare

By STUART UNDERHILL.

NEW YORK, June 12 (CP).—A group of youngsters tussle on a New York street. A gun cracks, a knife flashes, and another victim is added to the casualty list of 'teen-age warfare that has cost 11 lives in the last year.

Law enforcement authorities, who have found youth gangs one of the most difficult post-war crime problems, differ on the means of dealing with it. Some advocate a tougher attitude, others an expanded program of social work that would give the youngsters an outlet in athletics.

Magistrate Benjamin Brenner of Brooklyn minced no words when a dozen boys appeared before him after an outbreak of knife and gun fighting on Memorial Day, a national holiday.

"If you act like hoodlums, you will be treated like hoodlums," he said. "I want the gangs of Brooklyn to know that we are going to get tough too. We are not going to treat you like kids any more."

Have Pitched Battles

The boys, swarming out of the slum districts, often unite in groups of from 50 to 100 for the pitched battles which they call "rumbles." There have been so many frays in Brooklyn's Prospect Park that a slope there has been named "Massacre Hill."

A favorite weapon is the "zip gun," a home made contraption that fires real cartridges. But knives, brass knuckles, clubs and rocks came into play when the gangs clash. Often innocent bystanders are the victims.

Various Causes

Police say that girls are the chief cause of fights, but sometimes battles break out over racial issues, imagined insults, or "just for fun."

The gangs have such names as Greene Avenue Stompers, Nits, Chicos, Gay Nineties, Tigers, Slickers, and Naturalistics. Some of them affect fancy clothing.

The Be-Boppers, blamed for many night-time fights outside dance halls, wear peg trousers in vivid colors, with knee-length jackets of conflicting hues.

The Police Athletic League, which has given many underprivileged youngsters a chance to blow off excess energy in sport, hopes to widen its program in this direction. Police Commissioner William P. O'Brien said recently that the gangs were "the fringe we have not yet reached" in work of this sort.

Develop Rackets

Some of the gangs develop "rackets" as well as fighting with their contemporaries. In one district they are said to extort money from householders and from apartment house superintendents to guarantee that garbage cans won't be regularly upset.

Police say that many youngsters are forced into gangs by ringleaders. Alternatively, they are beaten or robbed of their school lunch money.

Social workers study the problem constantly. Some hope that New York will set up special youth courts where offenders would be handled by child specialists rather than by police magistrates.

LIBERAL HEAD—Senator J. Gordon Fogo of Halifax and Ottawa, was returned as president of the National Liberal Federation at a meeting of the organization's advisory council held recently in Ottawa. Senator Fogo, who was appointed to the Senate in 1949, has headed the federation since 1946

Wheat Markets Under MP Fire

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP)—The problem of marketing Canada's big wheat crop under current conditions of mass government buying was debated in the Senate Tuesday with one western farmer describing Canadian wheat board legislation "arbitrary and coersive."

In a three-hour debate cutting across party lines, the Senate finally gave second reading—approval in principle—to legislation designed to extend the life of the Canadian Wheat Board until July 31, 1953.

Senator T. A. Crerar (L-Manitoba), in an hour-long review of steps leading up to formation of the wheat board in 1935, said there could be no justification "for arbitrary and coersive legislation of this kind" that compels farmers to market their grain with the board.

He was supported by Senator Peter Campbell (L-Ontario), Senator Norman Lambert (L-Ontario), Senator Arthur Roebuck (L-Ontario), Senator W. M. Aseltine (PC-Saskatchewan), and Senator Thomas Reid (L-British Colwumbia.)

Homework Costly

WHITBY, June 14 (CP)—Alan Batt's homework cost him $100 Tuesday. That was the fine for illegal possession of a still. Said Batt: "I work for a distillery and I wanted to see if I could do it myself. It was just a matter of curiosity."

HANG NAILS: "How can I prevent hang nails? I just get one cleared up and another starts."

Hang nails need attention both on the outside and inside of the system. For the interior a quart of milk a day (skim if you're afraid of putting on weight) and plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables. Outside—rub the nails with Cutex Cuticle Oil.

P. T.: "I want to take a physical training instructor's course so I can teach this subject in the high schools. My parents cannot afford to put me through. What qualification do I need to have for this course? I am only 17."

To take the Physical and Health Education Course at the University of Toronto you must have your senior matriculation. The course is three years and then you would have to have one year at the Ontario College of Education to be able to teach high school.

CANNED RHUBARB: "Tell me, is it possible to can rhubarb in cold water and without sugar? To us it sounds like a miracle and we have lots of rhubarb."

It certainly can be done. Use tender, fresh rhubarb, wipe it and cut in one inch lengths. Crush cup by cup in sterile jars. You will find a wooden potato masher is ideal for this crushing. The rhubarb should not be bruised but crushed only until the juice flows. Fill sterile jars to overflowing, screw on the lids and wrap each jar in newspaper to exclude light. It's wonderful for winter pies and you sweeten it when you use it.

2 New Literary Landmarks Highlighted By Plaques

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, June 14—(CP)—London has posted up two new literary landmarks in the form of plaques to commemorate the dwelling-places of noted writers. One disc hangs at 16 John Adam street, just off the Adelphi, where Thomas Rowlandson, 18th-century satirist, lived. The other marks Grove Lodge, Hampstead, old home of the late novelist and playwright John Galsworthy.

Glimpsed unexpectedly, the glazed plaques give tourists—and Londoners—intriguing little insights into history. There are about 400 of them throughout the city.

Rowlandson's was the 165th put in place by the London county council which took over the job from the Royal Society of Arts some years ago. In the "Square Mile" of the City itself, the corporation of London has placed a further 188.

Of the original three plaques placed by the Royal Society in 1875, two were to men born outside Britain.

Brooding Monarch

One is to Handel, said to have written "The Messiah" at 25 Brook Street, Westminster, where he lived for 30 years and the second to Napoleon III who—exiled from France—brooded in Westminster's King Street when it seemed his star had been eclipsed by political upheavals at home.

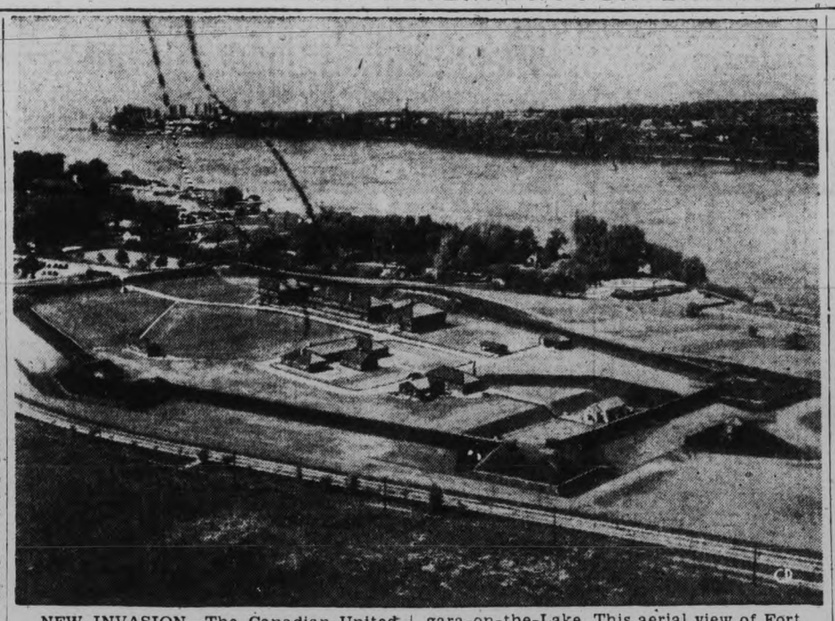
The third, in Gerrard Street, Soho, marks the house where poet John Dryden died in 1700.

There are gaps today in the list of be-plaqued sites. War damage razed many buildings once so marked and all but wrecked others. As new buildings rise in their places, the plaques, too, are replaced.

The plaques cost between £25 ($77.50) and £30 to make and put in place, and before one is installed old parish records and the like are checked exhaustively to be sure the correct site is being marked.

The roster of personalities remembered by plaques is long and varied. Some have more than one disc to mark their old haunts. Novelist Charles Dickens has four while politician William Ewart Gladstone, poet Dante Gabriel Rossetti, novelist William Makepeace Thackeray and politician Joseph Chamberlain have three each.

Of the whole list, only one is scheduled for a living person. A tablet is proposed for playwright, George Bernard Shaw in the Adelphi.



TROPIC COLONY

Bermuda was colonized by the British Virginia Company in 1612.

NEW INVASION—The Canadian-United States frontier, which has heard no cannon shots since 1815, will reverberate with gunfire next week-end when a ceremony marks the formal opening of Fort George at Niagara-on-the-Lake. This aerial view of Fort George, restored by the Niagara Parks Commission, shows Fort Niagara in the background on the U.S. side of the river. The fort was originally built to keep Americans from British soil.

Charge Highway Men Work Terrible Hours

HAMILTON, June 14 (CP) — Edward Cline, president of the Oshawa and District Labor Council, charged Tuesday night men employed on construction of an extension to Highway 2A just east of here are working "ungodly hours."

He told a union meeting the council will write the Ontario Labor Department asking whether the highways department is exempt from the provisions of the Hours of Work Act. Cline said he knew of at least one man who worked 14 hours a day on the project.

STOREKEEPERS

There are some 2,000 species of ants in the world.

Plan Reception

LONDON, June 14 (CP) — A A reception will be held June 29 to celebrate the silver jubilee of Canada House, London, London home of the Canadian government. The massive building in Trafalgar Square was opened by King George V 25 years ago June 29. The Canadian government occupies the building on a Crown lease, which has 20 years to run.

Slander Case Very Much Alive

SASKATOON, June 14 (CP)—G. H. Yule, KC, said Tuesday that the $100,000 Tucker-Douglas slander case is still "very much alive."

He said application for hearing of a retrial of the action of his client, Walter Tucker, Saskatchewan Liberal leader, will be set down for the fall assizes.

Mr. Tucker last winter won his appeal in the Court of King's Bench against an original dismissal of his suit against Premier T. C. Douglas. The complaint involves material in a political address before the 1948 provincial election.

Mr. Yule said the retrial did not appear on the court's spring docket, but that it would come up in the fall.

Mr. Yule said no steps had been taken to list the action for the spring assizes, which opened on Tuesday. The Saskatoon lawyer has been ill in hospital.

Now Portugese Ship

DURBAN, South Africa—(CP)—Formerly a Canadian minesweeper, Portuguese navy ship, Almirante Lacerda, went into drydock here recently. The ship was bought by the Portuguese government in 1945.

Find North Stars An Excellent Buy

OTTAWA, June 14 (CP) — A former executive of the Canadair Company told the public accounts committee Tuesday that when the government bought North Star planes for about $600,000 each, there was no comparable plane on the market for less than $1,000,000.

The witness was V. W. Scully, now head of the income tax branch who left Canadair when that company was purchased from the government in 1947 by the Electric Boat Company of New York.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, asked if Mr. Scully had noted from Electric Boat Company annual statements that most of its profit came from Canadair. The witness said he had but the profit did not come from the North Star plane.

He believed much of the profit had come from making parts for C-54 aircraft used in the Berlin air lift.

VOL. C. No. 138 WEDNESDAY, JUNE 14, 1950

Fair Board Grant Opposed By Aldermen

"There is no reason why the city should spend one dollar on the $15,000 building at Exhibition Park," said Ald. E. C. Braund at the Finance Committee meeting Monday.

It is the major item in the $45,000 improvement program listed recently by G. A Gillespie, secretary-manager.

"The Morrow Trust would not co-operate with us when we wanted to put the Memorial Centre there," said Ald. E. C. Braund at the Finance Committee meeting Monday. "We have no right to spend anything there."

Ald. Douglas Miller said: "We should ask the Exhibition Board why they are not approaching the County Council."

(Recommending the Memorial Centre for Morrow Park back in the years when it was being hopefully considered, it was the intention that it could be used for exhibition and other agricultural show purposes.)

Define Relations

Said Ald. J. A. Dewart. "Our relations with the Morrow Trust and Exhibition Board should be more clearly defined before we think of putting anything like that amount of money into a building down there."

Sentiment of the committee in only a brief discussion was to the effect that the Exhibition Board and the Morrow Trust were so bound up together that the Council could not clearly determine the bounds of each and the limits of their separate authority.

The Exhibition program includes a new flower show building, extension of the grandstand, steel fence on Park and Lock Streets, the $15,000 building, painting, and so on.

Sources of the money are: Dominion and Provincial Governments and City of Peterborough, $15,000 each, for a total of $45,000.

Aldermen commented that there was nothing forthcoming for this scheme from both the County of Peterborough and the Exhibition Board.

The proposal called for more information and discussion, Ald. Herbert Young said. He moved that the chairman, Ald. Hugh Waddell, name a sub-committee to meet the Edhibition Board.

Ald. Waddell pointed to Mayor Swanston, Ald. Dewart and Ald. Young.

Detach N. Cavan H.S. Area From County? Cavan Objects

Peterborough county today said "no" to any attempt by the United Counties of Durham-Northumberland to detach North Cavan from the Peterborough-Suburban High School Area. A delegation from the Peterborough - Suburban Board, headed by chairman John Kitney, said they did not want to join the proposed Durham High School Area.

"We have found present arrangements very satisfactory and we don't want to change," said Mr. Kitney.

North Cavan and South Monaghan joined the Peterborough-Suburban Area in January after lengthy negotiations. In this way ratepayers of North Cavan (and a few from a lot on Highway 28 near Bailieboro) are able to send some 45 students to PCVS.

The Board arranges transportation and buys its education from the Peterborough Board of Education.

South Monaghan buses pick up some students in North Cavan and North Cavan buses do the same for scattered students in South Monaghan.

"It took considerable trouble to work this out," said Mr. Kitney. "The services are intertwined."

Fred McIndoo, a Board Member, reiterated Mr. Kitney's argument.

'Leave Us Alone'

"We have no axe to grind," he told council. "We are not looking for anything. We just want to be left alone."

Recently the Consultative Committee of Northumberland-Durham Counties, in charge of setting up high school areas in those two counties, decided on one high school area for Durham, Mr. Kitney explained.

And the committee made this recommendation to the Northumberland-Durham county council. The latter—possibly waiting to see the reaction of the Peterborough county council—took no action at the time but are holding a special meeting later this month to consider the matter.

Mr. Kitney said there was already an exception to the inclusion of all municipalities in the Duram High School Area. Cartwright township has an area of its own, he said.

W. J. Seymour, another board member from Cavan, told the council he was opposed to being detached from the Peterborough Suburban Area.

48 Signed Petition

They presented a petition from "48 interested ratepayers" who attended a protest meeting earlier this month when they heard of the move. A similar petition was forwarded to the United Counties County Council.

It says in part: "Our present

Clerk Grabbed Scrap Dealer, Case Dismissed

Harry Gabbutt, Market Clerk, was not using "undue force" when he grabbed Max Beck, 470 Charlotte St., a scrap dealer, by the throat and pushed him out of the weighing office on the market square June 7, Magistrate W. F. Philp KC ruled in police court today.

The magistrate also said in dismissing a charge of common assault against Gabbutt, there was not sufficient evidence of an assault to convict the accused.

Beck said he was having an empty tractor trailer truck weighed. Because of its length the trailer truck is weighed in two halves.

He said Gabbutt, who is the scale master, had weighed the front half of the truck. Beck wrote down the first weight. Beck gave this account of what happened:

Gabbutt asked him: "What's the matter? Don't you trust me?"

"Sure I trust you," Beck said.

"Why are you marking it down then?" Gabbutt queried.

"For my own benefit," was the answer.

Ordered Out

Gabbutt then told Beck to get out of the office, but Beck said he would wait until the second half of the truck was weighed.

"You're going to get out right now, Gabbutt said and grabbed Beck by the throat, "nearly choked" him, and shoved him out. Beck said he went straight from there to the police.

J. C. N. Currelly, representing Gabbutt, said to Beck, "It would be to your advantage to have a load of scrap weigh as heavy as possible."

Beck said he didn't think he should answer that, but after Magistrate Philp said it was a perrectly fair question, Beck said "Yes, but we're not looking for any advantage."

"Rather Preposterous

Commenting on the story of the assault Mr. Currelly said, "Isn't that rather preposterous?"

"Yes, I agree," Beck replied.

Beck also said he knew that a city bylaw forbate anyone from interfering with the weighing clerk in his duties.

Constable Gordon Trennum said he saw red marks on Beck's neck when he came to the police station.

Gabbutt, telling his story, said Beck came into his office as everyone else having something weighed did. When he saw Beck writing down the figures he asked him.

"What are you checking on the reading for?"

Beck answered, "I don't trust you." Gabbutt said it wasn't the first time Beck had said he didn't trust him.

He said Beck then reached over and released a clamp which, because of the heavy load on the scales, caused the scale bar to snap up and hit a metal frame. Gabbutt said the bar could be broken in this way.

Gabbutt told Beck if he did that again he would throw him out.

Signalled On

Gabbutt then gave the driver the signal to move ahead to weigh the second half. He said the driver went too far and he walked to the door to ask the driver to move back. As he turned back he saw Beck releasing the clamp again to start to weigh the truck.

Gabbutt said he reached over to grab the bar and Beck hit him on the arm, probably thinking Gabbutt was going to strike him He then grabbed him securely with one hand on his neck and the other on his shoulder.

He said Beck at first made an effort to resist by seizing a railing and Gabbutt exerted a "little extra force," just enough to put him out. At no time, said Gabbutt, did he use any "undue force."

Questioned by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Gabbutt said his army training "has given me good control of myself" and it also helped him in his civilian life.

He said Beck and his partner were the only two with whom he has any "friction" in connection with the scales.

J. C. LESLIE GRAHAM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham, 599 Harvey St., won the $750 Kennecott Copper Corporation Scholarship on completion of his third year in mining engineering at University of Toronto.

County Forests Still Not Ready To Yield Revenue

Council Council is still dissatisfied because no revenue is coming in from the 4,600-acre county forest area north-east of Norwood.

Council had hoped that the cutting of timber, posts, etc. would be sufficient to pay for the salary of the caretaker, Raymond Rodgers. For a couple of hours Tuesday they questioned John McColl, chairman of reforestation (not a member of council) on why this was so.

Other jobs occupying the caretaker's time are firefighting in the summer, keeping fences repaired, trespassers out and generally overseeing the county's investment.

After some discussion a request by Mr. Rodgers for a $100 increase in salary was turned down. Mr. Rodgers told the reforestation committee this sum would be sufficient to defray the costs of keeping his horse, which he uses in the forest area on county work.

Ross Barrons, Belmont-Methuen, said much of the timber in the area is in a state of growth and would take 10 to 15 years to reach its peak.

I don't know how the caretaker or any other man can take the timber out at a profit," he said.

James Gifford, Ennismore, described this news as "disappointing." "We thought that the area would be able to carry itself after we had done all the work of tree planting over the required 10-year period, complied with government regulations and then obtained ownership."

Originally crown land, it was two years ago turned over to the county after a 10 year trustee period.

County Assessment Jumps Million To $12,300,477, Population Rise Of 1,482

For the first time in three years the county's equalized assessment is up. The 1951 levy on the 15 municipalities in Peterborough county will be $12,300,477, it was decided today. This is an increase of $1,206,984. Population increase is 1482 and there are 2,000 more ratepayers. James Gifford, Ennismore, chairman of equalization and assessment, introduced the committee's recommendation: "It is an honest endeavour on the part of the county assessor and the committee to obtain a fair assessment. It may not be pleasing to some."

One to whom it was not pleasing was James Humphries of Asphodel. He felt the new assessment should have been based on the figures of 1941 instead of 1948.

The 1948 assessment was too high for Asphodel, he contended, and he understood it would only remain until such time as a county assessor was appointed.

Stewart Sparling, the new assessor, pointed out that Asphodel's 1951 assessment took a drop from 9.8 to 8.9 of the county's total.

"This is still not necessarily the proper figure, but a step in the right direction," said Mr. Sparling.

All Increased

All municipalities were included in the increase. Belmont-Methuen jumped from $436,405 in 1948 to $535,150 in 1951; Burleigh-Anstruther from $172,327 to $244,350; Galway-Cavendish from $119,322 to $244,322. Smith remains the municipality with the highest levy—$2,586,996. In 1948 it was assessed at $2,381,513.

Following is a comparison of the 1951 rates with those of the previous assessment:

Municipality	Equalized 1948	Equalized 1951
Asphodel	$1,088,717	$1,101,869

Minimum Salary For Ministers Set At $2,000

MONTREAL, June 14 (CP). — The minimum salary of Presbyterian ministers will be raised to $2,000 a year beginning next October, delegates to the 76th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada decided on Tuesday in business sessions here.

The delegates promised to raise the salaries of student missionaries from $16 to $20 a week plus room, board and transportation. Students already married before entering college will be paid at catechists rates.

The Assembly also registered a sharp protest against abuse of Christian liberty through excessive use of alcohol.

The Rev. E. C. McCullagh of Dunnville, Ont., in presenting the report of the Evangelism and Social Action Board, recommended that the nature and function of alcohol be taught in public and high schools and universities as well as in Sunday Schools.

The report affirmed that Christians are free to drink alcoholic beverages if they wish, but said that liberty is not licence.

Not Total Abstinence

Mr. McCullagh said there was no support of total abstinence in the Scriptures and "total abstinence is not the position of the Presbyterian Church in Canada."

The Assembly later was addressed by Dr. John Coburn of the Canadian Temperance Federation who said that last year 179,000,000 gallons of liquor were drunk in Canada.

"Alcoholism is Canada's fourth major health problem," Dr. Coburn said. "There are 50,000 diseased alcoholics here in addition to 200,000 problem drinkers."

The appointment of the Rev. B. L. Walden, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, in Stratford, as full-time district secretary with the Upper Canada Auxiliary of the Bible Society, was announced by the Rev. DeCourcy Rayner of Montreal. Mr. Walden will begin his duties in September and work in Northern Ontario.

Free Exchange Of News Said War Deterrent

OTTAWA, June 14 — (CP) — Free exchange of news around the globe would be one of the strongest forces against war, Transport Minister Chevrier today told the seventh Imperial Press Conference.

Mr. Chevrier, the federal minister in charge of communications, Canada and other Commonwealth spoke as about 80 delegates from countries opened business sessions of the Empire Press Union at its first conference in Canada since 1920.

Here for the remainder of the week, the delegates from 14 countries are to discuss such subjects as Commonwealth Press relations, training of newspapermen, colonial press laws, Commonwealth defence and freedom of the press.

Mr. Chevrier recalled to them today that the main mission of the press was to interpret peoples and races and classes to each other.

"That mission would be more easily accomplished," Mr. Chevrier said, "if throughout the world today the dispatch of news was free and unfettered.

Would Prevent War

"Had we in these unsettled times the right to send news everywhere and the right to pick up news everywhere, I firmly believe we would have one of the strongest deterrents to war."

Mr. Chevrier also indicated to the conference that he did not believe there should be any reduction in the intra-Commonwealth rates for the handling of press messages.

He said:

"The existing press rate of two cents a word is, of course, very definitely uneconomic. Consequently, I believe it is only fair to say that the Commonwealth countries have thus considerably aided your organization (the EPU) in its laudable aim to draw us yet nearer together."

Movie Column

Alan Young Discovered By Hollywood

By JIM BACON

HOLLYWOOD, June 14 (AP) Three months ago the movies wanted Alan Young in only one role—that of a paying fan.

"I couldn't even get arrested in a studio then," said the Vancouver comedian.

Today almost every studio in town has bid for him. And with the aplomb of a beauty contest judge he has just chosen Universal International. That studio not only wants to star him in a movie but also wants him—and his two writers—to create the story.

Why the sudden change of the Hollywood heart?

On March 14, "The Alan Young Show" was first seen on the more than 500,000 television screens here. Some of those screens are in movie producers' homes.

On March 14, Hollywood "discovered" Alan Young.

Same Alan

The discovery, of course, was the same Alan Young who had started on his own radio network comedy show both here and in Canada.

It was the same Alan Young who was under contract at 20th Century-Fox studio for three years until they dropped him. Remember him in "Margie" and as Clifton Webb's sophomore roommate in "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College"?

His Forte

There's no doubt about it. Alan has found his medium in video. In the dozen weekly shows since his TV debut he has come up with a parade of hilarious sketches.

The television Alan Young is a comedian the radio and movie Alan Young didn't know existed. His natural gift for pantomime, lost in radio except to studio audiences, is magnificently evident in television. His feeling for mimicry and situation comedy are suggestive of Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd, although his style is strictly his own. And he is one of the few stars who actively helps write his own stuff.

What does his family in Vancouver think of his success?

"I had to learn to play the bagpipes for a recent sketch. My father is staunchly Scottish. I came across from Edinburgh myself wearing kilts when I was six. Well, I called up dad to tell him I was working. He didn't say much until I played the bagpipes over the phone. I heard a proud sigh, and then he said. 'lad ye played the pipes!'

Asks Canadians Take More Interest In Gov't

OTTAWA, June 14.—(CP). — Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, only woman member in the Commons, Tuesday night appealed to Canadians to take a greater interest in the affairs of the government.

The Progressive Conservative member for Hamilton West, victorious in a May 15 by-election, said the tendency of responsible citizens to drift into a state of indifference "is the most alarming condition in this country today."

Mrs. Fairclough's remarks were prepared for delivery over a free-time political broadcast in the nation's business series of the Trans-Canada network of the CBC.

"There was never a time in the history of Canada when it was so vitally necessary for every citizen to be government-conscious as today," Mrs. Fairclough said.

The burden of debt has risen to "undreamed of heights" and taxation of the wage-earners had "become a grave concern to every homemaker and a serious strain on every family budget."

Western Ideals Win In Europe By Narrow Edge

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

We had seen the Eiffel Tower, the tomb of Napoleon, the Arc De Triomphe and the other things one must see in Paris.

And so, on a bright recent Sunday, my friends thought I should see something different—a Communist parade in a working quarter.

And that sort of brought one face to face with the narrow margin by which the western way of life may win out or could lose on the war-torn Continent of Europe. One got a glimpse of the anti-western and especially anti-American propaganda that goes on.

For the United States is not loved, she is the rich person and even her best deeds are accepted grudgingly as nothing more than she should do, and perhaps something she is doing for her own good rather than for anyone else.

You will hear some of that in many, many circles overseas, even among people who don't really believe it—but among the Communists or their supporters it is a refined and subtle campaign.

In the parade banners proclaimed against the atom bomb.

They showed terror-stricken children pleading with their parents to save them from the bomb. All this was directed against the United States. One never heard the suggestion that Russia need be approached on the matter.

Slight Difference

In brief, all the appeals were for things to which virtually any one would ordinarily subscribe, the difference in opinion being as to whom they should be most urgently addressed. So perhaps it is not too surprising if they appealed to people who didn't know too much about American or Russian views and actions, and who might have some resentment against Americans.

I have never believed, even in early post-war years, that France could possibly go Communist, or, if she did, it wouldn't be Communism any longer — French people are too individualistic for that. And I was assured somewhat sadly by persons who were not entirely out of sympathy with the Communist view, that Russian Communism had lost in Western Europe.

But I couldn't help but feel that there were probably millions in Europe, including most of those I saw that day, who would have cheered if Russian Communism had not been stopped, for the time being ot least, at its present frontier. One felt that many are not so sold, on the western way of life as we are and that, for them, whatever comes, it wouldn't matter much.

One felt grateful for the recovery Europe has made, for the help given her by such things as the European Recovery Program. One felt that we have had so far a narrow escape.

Letters Of Hate Read To Court At Murder Trial

NAPANEE, June 14—(CP)—Reading of letters to his wife continued today at the murder trial of James Fosbraey, 29-year-old RAF veteran, before an Ontario Supreme Court jury under Chief Justice J. C. McRruer.

Fosbraey is charged with the knife-slaying of his wife, June, in South Napanee last Nov. 29.

The Fosbraeys were married during the Second World War, when Fosbraey was stationed at Kingston. Following the war they lived in Napanee. Apparently separated from his wife, Fosbraey went on a visit to England last October. It was while he was in England that the letters were written.

In letters read to the court Tuesday, Fosbraey accused his wife of having an affair with a man named Stanislaw Steinback. Fosbray wept openly as Crown Attorney Kenneth S. Ham read the hate-filled letters.

Makes Threats

One said in part:

"I will be back to put you both where I should have put you that Wednesday night. I am not going to live very long, so why not take two more with me."

Others read:

"I guess you will pay dearly in lots of ways for your mistakes... Your troubles have only just begun. I hate you June, I am very cold and bitter. I hate you if it were ever possible to hate anyone so much."

Earlier, Fosbraey was quoted as having told a jail guard, "I think I stabbed her three times where her heart is". Dr. Douglas Hay, district provincial pathologist told the court Mrs. Fosbraey died of deep wounds in the left chest.

He said the hunting knife police said was the murder weapon could have produced such wounds. An earlier witness had testified Fosbraey bought a hunting knife two days before the murder.

BC Man's Goal Turkey Every Sunday

SURREY, BC. (CP)—A scheme that could revolutionize the turkey-growing industry in North America—production of first grade birds at half the normal cost—has been initiated by Clarence Landstrom here.

The backbone of the scheme, quite naturally, is an enlarged market. 'Turkey every Sunday" is Landstrom's goal.

Instead of following the usual procedure of buying turkey poults in the spring and getting them ready for Thanksgiving market, Landstrom keeps his brooders going the year 'round and maintains a steady output.

A keen studen of market conditions, he produced 6,300 birds last year and his 1950 goal is 8,000. There is no danger of overproduction for some time to come, he says.

Settled on a former Japanese turkey farmer'es holdings with a VLA grant, Landstrom is the largest producer in B.C.

A $10,000 outfit of modern killing and freezing equipment enables him to turn out a bird ready for the market any time of the year.

Mao Confesses All Not Well In Southern China Conquest

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14 — (AP)—Communist China's boss says that the North is well in hand but the Reds haven't whipped the densely populated South into shape. He blames "American imperialism" for some of the trouble and sees at least three years before "a fundamental turn for the better."

Mao Tze-Tung, chairman of the Chinese Communist Party, concedes the south is beset by 400,000 Nationalist guerrillas, has a land problem, its industry and commerce are out of gear, and has unemployment and an unstable social order.

Mao's report was made June 6 to the party's central committee. The text was broadcast Tuesday by Peiping radio.

Mao called for trimming the Red Army this year, but only "on condition that it guarantees sufficient forces to liberate" Formosa and Tibet, coisolidate China's defences and suppress anti-Red guerrillas.

Higher Standard

He gave this picture of Manchuria and North China, where 160,000,000 Chinese first came under the Red banner:

"Agrarian reform has been completed, social order has been established, economic construction has begun to proceed on the right track, improvements have been made in the standard of living of the majority of the laboring people, the problem of unemployed workers and intellectuals has been solved or is nearing solution, and in the northeast (Manchuria) planned economic construction has begun."

Not So Rosy

But for the South, where 310,000,000 have been under Red rule a year or less, his report was not as rosy:

"There are still more than 400,000 bandits. . . to be annihilated, the land problem has not been solved, industry and commerce have not yet been properly adjusted, the phenomenon of unemployment is still serious, and social order has not yet been stabilized.

"In a word, conditions for carrying out economic construction in a planned way have not yet been achieved."

Mao predicted the approaching balance of national income and expenditure, the ending of currency inflation, the tendency of prices toward stability.

"It will take about three years or a little longer. . . ."

Aamitting that Chinese Nationalist guerrillas—he called them Kuomintang reactionaries — are active on the mainland, Mao declared:

Blame U. S.

"Special agents and spies also engage in activities subversive of the people's (Communist) economic affairs, assassinate workers of the Communist Party and the people's government and collect information for the imperialists and the Kuomintang reactionaries.

"All these counter-revolutionary activities are planned and directed from behind the scene by imperialism, more especially American imperialism. These bandits, special agents and spies are imperialist lackeys."

FACES DEPORTATION

Anthony Norton, 23-year-old stowaway discovered by officials aboard the Empress of Scotland just before it docked at Quebec, has been ordered deported since his claim he was born at Canfield, Ont., cannot be substantiated. Norton made many friends aboard the ship and enough money was collected to pay his fare but immigration officials refused permission for him to stay. He is appealing the ruling.

200 Million To Be Spent On Health Care

VANCOUVER, June 14 (CP)— Total expenditures of the 10 provinces and the federal government on health and hospital care this year will be $200,000,000, Health Minister Paul Martin said Tuesday.

In an address to the annual meeting of the Greater Vancouver Health League, the minister said that at this mid-century point, Canada's public health programs are at their highest point of development.

"An important trend that holds great promise for the future is the efforts being made to bring health care more within reach of every citizen," he said, listing these points as proof of progress:

1. Reduction of the mortality rate by one-third in the last 50 years.
2. Extension of life expectancy by 20 years.
3. Decrease in infant mortality rate by 25 per cent in the last 25 years.
4. Decrease in maternity death rate by more than 60 per cent in the last 25 years.

Mr. Martin said that treatment of mental illnesses and cancer have progressed so that in the case of the latter disease "It is now estimated that within two to five years this country will have a pattern of cancer diagnostic, treatment, and follow-up services that will not be surpassed by any country in the world."

Business Success Said Not Due To Ulcers

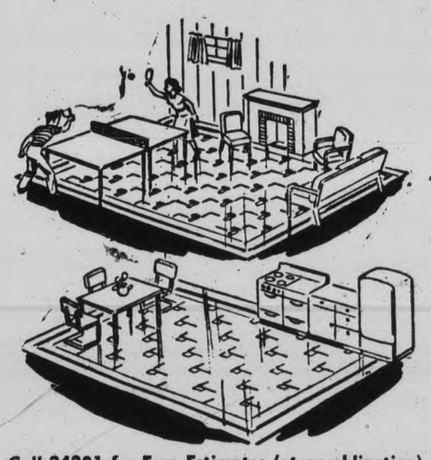
VANCOUVER, June 14 (CP)— If you have ulcers don't think they'll drive you to success.

Dr. R. L. Sanders, professor of clinical surgery, University of Tennessee, told the medical school here that the nervous drive of a man with duodenal ulcers is more than offset by the worrying he does.

"The man with duodenal ulcers is more likely to spend his time in trying to alleviate the pain that gnaws at his vitals," he said. "He is the worrying type and is less likely to succeed for that reason."

Dr. Sanders said a new treatment for ulcers, involving the severance of certain stomach nerves, is being perfected in the United States.

Try To Improve



LONDON, June 14 (Reuters) —As soon as the dollar situation improves, Britain will give "very high priority" to increasing the amount of capital British emigrants may take to Canada, the House of Commons was told on Tuesday. Patrick Gordon Walker, Commonwealth Relations Secretary, said the decision to restrict the transfer of capital was done "solely for dollar reasons."

Sponsor Recital By Pupils Of Three Schools

Queen Alexandra Home and School Association on Tuesday evening sponsored a music recital and demonstration by pupils of their school, King Edward and King George schools, all of whom are taught by Miss Marguerite Rome, RMT.

President Mrs. P. S. Dallin welcomed the parents and friends to the flower-decked classroom.

An interesting demonstration of classwork was brought out in question and answer period. Miss Rome also conducted a quizz covering musical terms and signs and had the children do transpositions of favorite tunes into different keys. Rhythmic dictation and ear training showed the musical foundation being laid by this method of teaching.

A particularly enjoyable number was by the combined rhythm band, accompanied by Miss Rome in playing "Rendevous." The bird whistles were most effective.

All pupils acquitted themselves in a splendid manner and gave evidence of careful training and teaching.

Mrs. Ed. Simmons, social convener, served them with ice cream and cake after the recital.

Parsonage Repairs To Be Made At Bridgenorth

Bridgenorth WA meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ralph Jopling was well attended. The topic "Worship of God as a Spirit," was given by Mrs. K. Hardill and an interesting reading on the 23rd Psalm was contributed by Mrs. W. J. Ray.

President Mrs. C. Payne conducted the opening and devotional exercises. Scripture was read by Mrs. Jopling and the Rev. D. P. Morris led in prayer. Mrs. Payne also read the 23rd Psalm.

Reporting for the parsonage committee Mrs. W. Nicholls gave a detailed account of necessary repairs and it was decided that a meeting of the parsonage board of Fairview, Selwyn and Bridgenorth be called as soon as possible in order to get the work under way.

Mrs. P. Pettersone reported $73.82 had been realized from the sale of home baking held last month. It was then decided that no home baking sales would be held during the summer and that money donations would be asked of members instead. Several calls were reported by the visiting committee.

After reading a letter from Dominion Council asking that each group held a silver tea, it was decided that $5 be sent in place of having a tea.

Serving of refreshments by social convener Mrs. J. Smith and her committee concluded the group's activities until September.

Golf Club Ladies Enjoy Activities

J. Vanstone. First low net was tied by Mrs. F. Roy and Mrs. S. McBride, and second low net tied by Mrs. H. Baptie and Mrs. Vanstone.

Marietta Leahy Wed in Douro To Windsor Man

In St. Joseph's Church, Douro, on Saturday, the Rev. J. J. McCarthy officiated in the marriage of Marietta Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Leahy, of Douro, and Ronald Cowley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cowley, of Riverside Drive, Windsor.

Roses and spirea decorated the church for the occasion. Mrs. Victor Kennedy played wedding music and Miss Carmel Leahy was soloist, singing "On this day O beautiful mother" during signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was wearing a gown of white embossed marquisette with a double fold of the material edging the sheer yoke. Tiny buttons down the back fastened the bodice to the gathered hipline. Silk net veiling fell from her beaded tiara and she carried red roses with lily of the valley.

Miss Anne Leahy, as her maid of honor, and Mrs. T. Mouncey of Cobourg, as bridesmaid, were in similar frocks of blue and pink taffeta and wore matching mittens and headdresses, trimmed with pearls, and carried bouquets of pink and blue carnations. Little nieces of the bride and groom as flower girls were dressed in mauve and yellow taffeta and had flowered headdresses, and carried nosegays of yellow and mauve carnations.

The groomsman was Mr. Louie Peters, of Windsor, and ushers were Leo Leahy and Jack Wolfe of Windsor.

The reception was at the bride's home where her mother received in a blue sheer dress and white accessories and wore a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother, who assisted, was also wearing blue sheer with grey hat and accessories and had pink roses.

Going-away later for a wedding trip to Quebec City, the bride wore a white sharkskin suit with a navy and white hat, navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowley will live in Windsor.

Mr. O. A. DeGraw has donated the Marjorie DeGraw memorial trophy which is to be for the best net among 18-hole players and will be played for annually at the open field day of the Peterborough Club.

TORONTO, June 13.—(CP)—Women writers in Canada have until July 1 to enter the memorial award contest of the Canadian Women's Press Club.

The club offers $200 for the best feature story, news story or interview, and $100 in a junior contest for the best handling of a news event or interview by a woman under 25 with less than two years' experience as a professional writer.

The material must have been published or broadcast since July 1, 1949, and the writers must have lived in Canada for at least 12 months prior to publication.

Judges are Robert Elson, chief of Time correspondents in the United States and Canada; Scott Young, free lance writer, and Ruth Harvey of Rochester, N.Y., former Winnipeg newspaperwoman.

Committee headquarters is at 206 Harvis Apts., London, Ont. Convener is Isabel Dingman.

What's Right

Someone offers to give you something you really do not want and feel you wouldn't use.

WRONG: Feel you must accept the gift, even though you have to find someone else to give it to.

RIGHT: Thank the person for the offer but tactfully turn it down. That is better than accepting the gift and giving it away—which might hurt the giver's feelings.

Romance Follows London Studies

LONDON — (CP) — Helen Peart of Montreal came to London to study the work of the Labor government, and found a husband.

Miss Peart, a 34-year-old brunette, will be married June 16 at St. Marylebone Town Hall to Robert McCullagh, unsuccessful Labor candidate in the Feb. 23 general election.

McCullagh, 41, met the Canadian girl at a Fabian Society meeting and proposed four months later.

Working Together Big Help In Making Happy Marriage

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young woman in love with my employer, who is eighteen years older than I am. That is quite a difference in age, but when two people have worked together three years without misunderstandings; when they can spend eight hours a day together and still find plenty to talk and laugh about; when they like the same things; when they have reached an agreement on such matters as allowances, children, etc., and when they can give each other that feeling of safety and security, don't you think they have a pretty good chance of making a go of marriage?

BETTY

ANSWER: Indeed I do. I think you have taken marriage out of the gambling class and, like David Crockett, you may be sure you are right and go ahead. For you have eliminated most of the risks of matrimony.

The first and greatest of these is the danger that a man and woman run in entering into a life contract with one with whom he or she is practically unacquainted. We laugh at the guilelessness and lack of sophistication of those who enter into games of chance with perfect strangers, but in reality they are no greater hicks or simps than are the average bride and bridegroom, who have entered matrimony with a mate of whose real character, disposition and habits they know no more than if they had never set eyes upon her or him before.

Know Each Other's Faults

But no catastrophe can happen when a man and woman have worked together side by side for a number of years. They have seen each other with the paint all off and their company manners discarded. They have seen each other in times of discouragement and stress, times of exhaustion and nerve frazzle, and each has taken the measure of the other and knows just exactly how much strength, courage, fairness and generosity and loyalty the other possesses. Hence marrying the one with whom you have worked is bound to be a preferred risk in marriage.

You have also put love to its acid test, which is daily association. We can be in love with almost anyone whom we see only occasionally and who always has the fresh interest of novelty, but it takes real love, the genuine blown-in-the-bottle variety, to stand daily and hourly intimate companionship and still keep its glitter and allure.

As for the difference in ages between you and your fiance, that is negligible. That only counts when one of the high contracting parties is very young and still undeveloped. After people are mature all that counts is their congeniality.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Do you think that the parents of a daughter of 15 should be so strict with her that they will not let her date on school nights, or go on picnics and parties as the rest of her friends do?

A. B.

ANSWER: I believe in giving young girls plenty of rope, but not enough to hang themselves with. And I certainly think that no girl of 15, or 16, or any age for that matter, should be permitted to have dates on school nights.

As long as a girl is going to school she is supposed to be getting an education that will determine the whole of her future life. It is a crucial time with her; for if she fails to take advantage of the opportunities her parents are giving her to develop into an intelligent, well-educated woman, she can never make good her loss.

To get an education requires interest and enthusiasm and determination and no girl can give these to the pursuit of knowledge when she is running around at night with boys and comes sodden with lack of sleep to school or when the only date in history that she takes the slightest interest in is her next date with Johnny. Hence the parents who let their little 15-year-old daughter go to parties on any save off nights are doing the girls a deadly wrong and failing in their duty.

I don't believe in overstrict parents. I think young girls should have plenty of amusement, plenty of pleasure, plenty of boy friends, but there should be a limit to their liberties. They should take their pleasures rationally and at proper times, as befits their age.

And would to heaven that there were enough parents with sufficient grit and courage and backbone to stand up and fight their self-willed youngsters and keep them under control.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am in love with a man whom I have supported for more than a year. He has been out of work and doesn't try to get a job. Although my friends warn me that no man who thinks anything of a woman would live on her for more than a year without doing anything, I am still in doubt. Sometimes it seems that for every happiness there is a price and a very great happiness would be worth a great price. Please advise me.

FRANCES

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is up to you to decide whether you want to set up a loafing husband as a luxury or not. If you can afford him and think he is worth the price, marry him. A lot of me nseem to consider good - for - nothing wives worth what they cost them.

Communist China Modernizes Law Ruling Marriage

HONG KONG, June 13 (Reuters). — The Chinese Central People's overnment has passed a new marriage law which, it is claimed, "breaks the fetters of age-old feudalism."

An announcement through the official news agency stated that the new law took as its basis freedom of choice of both parties, monogamy, equal rights for the sexes, and guaranteed legal rights for mothers and children.

"All antiquated regulations and practices which in the past forced women to marry without the least regard for their wishes and doomed so many couples to misery and mutual hatred are swept into the dustbin of history," the agency said.

The new law forbids polygamy, the taking of concubines and child marriage or child betrothal. There will be no interference with the rights of widows to remarry, and the taking of money for arranging marriages is prohibited.

Men are permitted to marry at the age of 20 and women at 18. Third parties are forbidden to interfere in marriages based on mutual consent.

Equal Rights

The new law makes the registration of marriages compulsory and states that marriage certificates will be issued.

Husband and wife are now to be regarded as equals in the home. Both husband and wife have the right to retain the use of their own names, to choose their professions, and to take part in social activities. They have equal rights in possession of the home and in the inheritance of property.

As under the Nationalist Civil Code, divorce by mutual consent may be easily arranged. When only one party desires it, divorce will be granted only if the local government or court fail to secure a reconciliation.

After divorce, both parties remain responsible for the children. The law also adds that after divorce one partner must help the other if the latter has difficulty in making a living and has not re-married.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

When you freeez the pack, your chief object is to prevent the opponent from getting the discard pile. In many situations, you do not expect to get the pile yourself. Sometimes you hope to meld out before either side gets the pile. In other cases you hope to use up the cards of the stock pile before either side can get the discard pile.

When you freeze the deck very early in the play of a hand, you cannot expect that the hand will come to an end very soon. It is only reasonable to expect that one side or the other will manage to get the discard pile sooner or later. If you freeze the pack at such a time, you must be sure that you or your partner will get the pile rather than the opponents.

When you free the pile early in the play, it is usually because the opponents have made their initial meld and your side has not. However, it is not always wise to freeze the pack in this situation.

For example, suppose one of the opponents takes the first large discard pile and makes his initial meld. If he manages to keep about 20 cards in his hand, it would be very foolish to freeze the pack against him. It would be very difficult to stop him from getting the pile in a very short time. The reason is simple and logical: with 20 cards in his hand he has far more pairs than you or your partner have with only 11 cards in your hands.

In other words, you freeze the pack not only because the opponents have made the initial meld, but also because in so doing they have reduced the number of cards in their hands. For example, an opponent with only five cards in his hand has a much smaller chance of getting the discard pile than you have when you hold your full hand of 11 cards.

Even this is not the full story. It is a dangerous business to freeze the pack when you need 120 points for your initial meld. You may feel confident that you can keep the opponents from getting the discard pile for several rounds of play, but can you also be sure that you can accumulate 120 points during that safety period? If not, the pack will eventually get away from you.

• • •

Q—My score was over 1,500 points but then went below again as a result of a losing hand. Do I still need 90 points for the initial meld, or do I go back to melding 50 points?

A—When your score goes below 1,500 points, you go back to needing only 50 points for your initial meld.

• • •

Q—When a player melds out is he entitled to add 500 points to his score if he holds four black threes?

A—No. There is no special bonus for black threes. Nevertheless, they are very useful cards and are well worth having.

• • •

Q—Does the canasta have a value besides its bonus value? In other words, are the seven kings in a canasta also counted for 70 points in the card count?

A—Yes. You get 500 points as a bonus for the natural canasta of kings. Then you also get 70 points for the card count of those seven kings.

Would Equalize School Levies On Farmland

For rural school taxation the levy on farms should be about the same, regardless of acreage.

That was part of a resolution on education considered Tuesday by the legal and legislative committee of the county council. It originated with Brant county which is circulating it among other counties to enlist support.

Peterborough county council referred the resolution to the educational committee; a recommendation will be brought in at the next session.

For farms large or small to have the same educational levy would require an amendment to the Assessment Act.

"Consideration should be given to limiting the land assessable for school purposes to a definite maximum acreage, plus farm buildings," continues the resolution. And "the total acreage should apply only to the general rate."

Before referring it to the educational committee James Gifford, Ennismore, remarked that educational costs are becoming more and more of a problem to the municipality.

"Education should be a provincial charge," he said.

OBITUARIES

LAURENCE ALFRED NOLAN

Laurence Alfred Nolan, Norwood, died today at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, at the age of 70 after an illness of three months.

Mr. Nolan was born in Monmouth, England, the son of Benjamin Edmunds and the former Elizabeth Powell, both deceased. He changed his name in 1941.

Mr. Nolan, a retired merchant, had lived in Norwood 20 years. Before that he had spent 15 years working in northern Ontario. He received his education in England and was a member of the Norwood Baptist Church.

He is survived by three sons Kennir H. Edmunds, Lionel and David Nolan of Norwood and one daughter Patricia Nolan at home.

The funeral service will be held Friday at two p.m. at the Tedford Funeral Home in Norwood. Rev. E. E. Pugsley of Norwood United Church officiating. Burial will be in the Norwood Cemetery.

MRS. JOSEPHINE DOWNER

A resident of Peterborough for many years Mrs. Josephine Downer passed away recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. O. Heap, RR No. 3, St. Catharines, following an illness of more than a year. She left Peterborough last July.

Born in Sweetsburg, Que., in 1882, daughter of William Hayward Budd and Margaret Bassett. She came to this city in 1917 as the widow of the late Maynard William Guthrie, with one daughter, Margaret. She later married William James Downer, a widower, and father of Gilbert of Peterborough, Howard of Cowansville, Que., and Coyle of St. Catharines, also Myrtle (Mrs. W. Heslip), Roxie (Mrs. F. Hartshorn) and Wilma (Mrs. G. Murduff) all of Peterborough. He predeceased her in 1941.

Mrs. Downer was a member of St. John's Anglican Church and for years an ardent worker in the Evening Branch of the WA.

Besides her daughter and stepfamily, she leaves to mourn her loss, a grandson Bruce Heap of St. Catharines, one sister Mrs. H. Jocelyn (Annabell) of Peterborough and one brother Frederick H. Budd of Westmount, Que.

The Rev. E. H. Bowden Taylor, rector of St. John's Anglican Church, Jordan, conducted the funeral service in Beamsville. Interment was made in St. John's cemetery, Jordan, the casket bearers being Messrs. Lewis Downer, Harry Jocelyn, George Murduff, Newton Downer and Robert Allen of Peterborough and Fred Bolton of St. Catharines.

Car Impounded For 3 Months On Court Order

Eugene Charles McCormick, 111 Rubidge St., was sentenced to seven days in jail when convicted in police court today of being drunk while in charge of a car. The car was impounded three months.

Constable William G. Scott testified he had been called to an accident April 15 about 10.40 p.m. He found a car driven half way through the CGE fence on the south side of Wolfe St. by careening down a two foot ditch and pushing under a fence. One metal fence post was broken, two others were bent and some of the heavy wire netting was stretched.

He found McCormick behind the wheel of the car which still had its lights on. The ignition key was on and the car was in gear as if it had stalled after hitting the fence.

He said McCormick appeared to be sleeping, but when he shook him, McCormick opened his eyes and mumbled something. He asked McCormick if he had been driving the car, but McCormick's answer was unintelligible. He testified he couldn't understand anything McCormick said.

Found Beer

He said the accused smelled strongly of beer and couldn't walk without help. He found a case of six empty beer bottles on the floor at the back. There was also an unopened bottle of wine in the glove compartment.

He said marks on the road 325 feet long indicated McCormick, travelling west, had angled to the north side, going over the sidewalk, then slewed back to the south at a 45 degree angle across the road, into the ditch and under the fence.

McCormick had a gash over his right eye and was taken to a doctor and then to a hospital.

Only damage to the car was scratched paint.

"That doesn't speak very well for the CGE fence does it?" commented defence consel W. J. Arthur Fair, KC.

Constable Robert Menzies corroborated Constable Scott's evidence.

Mr. Fair offered no defence. He said there was no evidence McCormick was in charge of the car. He said he might have wandered in and gone to sleep there.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said there were many cases to support him in finding that a man behind the wheel of a car in a drunken condition must be found to be in charge of the car unless there was evidence to prove otherwise.

Trade Exhibition

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 14 — (CP) — Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland, has announced that the "biggest trade exhibition ever seen this side of Montreal," will be staged here Aug. 14-24. Equipment and exhibits for the fair will be shipped from Ontario.

arrangements, so recently formed have been of advantage to all concerned and we would urgently request that we continue our own present set-up, due to more efficient facilities with minimum difficulties and expense when arranged by one board."

Nor did the Cavan delegation want to be allowed to remain in PCVS while transferring to the Durham High School Area.

Peterborough Collegiate is already overcrowded, they pointed out, and if the Cavan district were removed from the Peterborough-Suburban Area, they fear they might eventually be eased out of the Collegiate.

Keep As At Present

Another resolution, passed Tuesday night by the Peterborough Suburban Board, requested the county council to "maintain the Peterborough High School Area as at present constituted."

It was moved by Alan Eason, seconded by Elmer Milburn and carried unanimously.

"Peterborough is proposing build a new Collegiate Institute conditional on sufficient enrolment from rural areas, the resolution pointed out; and this proposed detachment would throw out the plans askew.

On a motion by Melville Johnston and Ernest Leeson the Peterborough County Council unanimously passed a motion opposing any change.

Joint Meeting Of All Parties To Lock Strike

A joint meeting of Peterborough Lock Co. management and Local 527 officials is being held at 3 p.m. today at the Legion Hall. The 170 striking workers are attending.

E. H. Howson, company president, said today he was prepared, on the union invitation, to come and address the employees and try to "iron things out."

The strike has been going on since May 4.

A preliminary meeting between the negotiating committee of the union and company officials was held Tuesday afternoon. But the results were indefinite.

Should nothing come of this meeting it is probable that both sides will call in a government mediator.

Workers are asking for a 42½-hour week with 45-hour pay; men's minimum rates raised from 93 cents an hour to $1, and women's from 82 cents to 87 cents an hour; a revision in the time schedule and seniority protection.

During negotiations the company has insisted it was unable either to increase the pay or to reduce the hours.

Finds Too Much Brushing Harms Teeth

WELLINGTON, N.Z., June 14—(CP)—Brushing teeth after every meal or drink makes them more susceptible to dental decay. This is the conclusion reached after a year's tests by Dr. R. E. T. Hewat for the dental committee of the New Zealand Medical Research Council.

Dr. Hewat thinks as a result of the tests that there is a maximum level of dental hygiene and that excessive brushing and rinsing beyond that point may do more harm than good.

The tests were carried out with a group of student nurses who observed the strictest dental hygiene for a year. As a result they showed more dental decay than a group of nurses who had no special instructions.

On the other hand Dr. Hewat found that a group of nurses who cut out biscuits, cakes, sweets, chocolates, ice-cream, free sugars and cordials for six weeks during the year had less dental decay at the end of the year than either of the other groups. The weight of the nurses who adopted this diet system remained stable and they gained in mental and physical alertness.

Conversion Plan To Cost $10,000

The new question of what to do with the recently vacated horse barn at the city yard on Townsend St. was referred Monday night to a committee composed of Aldermen Dodds, Gillespie and Waddell.

Proposed use is a municipal garage, and the suggestion is that there should be action by early fall.

Conversion is complicated by the type of construction of the building involving expenditure roughly estimated at $10,000.

"The council seven years ago considered plans for a garage and workshop that might have cost $50,000," said Mayor Swanston. "That building today would cost $100,000. We have too many uses for the barn, and we shouldn't leave it stand idle."

Ald. J. E. Gillespie, chairman of the sanitation division of the Board of Works, told the committee that his group had recently faced the question of what should be done with it since the collection of garbage was motorized and the horses and equipment sold.

Opinion of the sanitation committee was that the building should be turned into a repair depot for city trucks and cars, their maintenance and servicing.

Ald. J. A. Dewart remarked that it would be advisable to have a survey made for the purpose of determining the probable saving to the city by setting up its own garage.

Ald. Doug Miller said there was an essential question of site. "It is important to decide whether we should spend $10,000 on that location. If the Memorial Centre went down in that area, would we be looking for a new site five years from now?

Ald. Gillespie said the city yard was likely to stay on Townsend St. "The incinerator will be there until it is worn out."

Mayor Swanston's suggestion was that the subcommittee could take all the time it needed to study this question of the most effective use of the comparatively new barn, and the possibility of converting it into a municipal garage, with an estimate of the expenditure required.

Refuse To Cross Picket Lines

NEW YORK, June 14 (AP)—Early morning shifts of AFL Mechanical Union members refused again today to cross CIO picket lines at the New York World-Telegram and Sun, and both sides dug in for a long strike.

The American Newspaper Guild (CIO) walked out Tuesday to enforce its contract demands for editorial and commercial workers.

The management was prepared to publish both Tuesday and today, using a skeleton editorial staff of executives and non-Guildsmen. But it suspended publication when the AFL mechanical unions honored the Guild picket lines.

The AFL support for the strike came a week after the two union groups negotiated a mutual-aid pact.

The World-Telegram, which bought the Sun last January and added its name to its masthead, is one of the largest evening newspapers in the United States, with a circulation of more than 600,000.

Federal mediators spent 80 minutes Tuesday night in a joint meeting with Guild and management officers, but nothing came of it.

5 MINERS TRAPPED IN FLASH FLOOD

Will Double Espionage Prison Terms

Maximum Term Now 14 Years For Foreign Agents

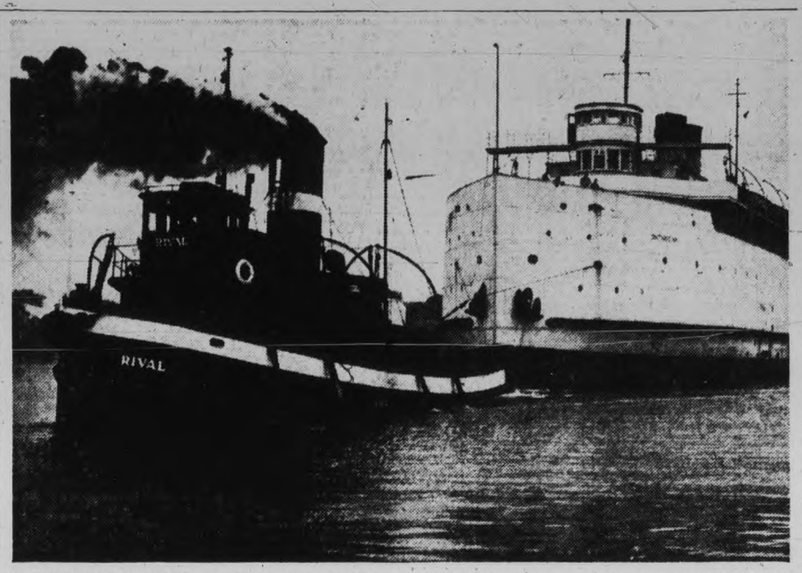
OTTAWA, June 15—(CP)—The government announced today it is doubling the prison term provided under the Official Secrets Act, Canada's anti-spy law.

Justice Minister Garson, introducing a bill to amend the Act, disclosed that it will boost the maximum term from seven years to 14.

The top sentences handed out in the 1946 spy prosecutions were six years but there were those who felt at that time that seven years was hardly enough in view of the seriousness of the Cold War crimes that might be committed in the name of espionage.

Mr. Garson said the amendments will also:

1. Extend the act to make clear that penalties for wrong doings by employees of the crown embrace employees not only of the government itself but of its boards, commissions, corporations or other agencies.



2. Give the act extra-territorial effect so that the crown would be able to penalize Canadians who break it outside Canada as well as foreigners who unlawfully divulge outside Canada secret information they got here.

3. Remove any doubt that persons charged or convicted under the act may be finger-printed.

There was no discussion on the bill this morning. It was simply given first reading, preceded by a brief explanation by Mr. Garson. It offers, however, the basis for a major debate on anti-espionage activities and facilities when it is called for second reading.

Except for the doubling of the prison penalty, the amendments are largely steps to plug loopholes discerned in a study of the act on the basis of a recommendation by the 1946 Royal Commission on Espionage. Without any specific recommendations, the commission suggested that the government have a look at the law and see what might be done to tighten it.

Informed quarters said no specific or overt incidents have occurred to provoke the changes.

TOWED BY A TUG, car ferry Ontario No. 1 moves out of the Cobourg harbour Wednesday bound for Port Welland and the scrap heap. Her sister-ship, Ontario No. 2, will be taken away next week. Owned by the B. & O. railway, the two car ferries were taken out of service because of declining passenger and freight business. Efforts to sell the 300 foot ships were unsuccessful and it was decided to scrap them.

Men In Pit Caught By River Rise

25 Others Escape; Roads Washed Out Alberta Town Cut Off

CADOMIN, Alta., June 15—(CP)—Five men were trapped today in a shaft of the Cadomin Coal Co. mine after a flash flood of the McLeod river inundated the mine pit and the south end of this Rocky Mountain mining town.

Trapped are: Fireboss Roy Carr and miners Mike Kapusinsky, Peter Morris, Red Kasonovich and Steve Melanovich.

Rescue crews were struggling to reach the men, entombed in the mine's east shaft.

A torrent of water rushed into the town without warning last night in the wake of three days of blistering heat which melted snow lying a foot deep on the mountainsides. This was followed by a 36-hour rain storm.

The river was reported today to be rising at the rate of a foot an hour.

Thirty men were working in the mine when the water swept in, 25 got out.

One of the last to escape, Windy Sherer, said the water was up to his neck when he floundered through to the exit. He said it came through the mine ceiling.

"Water poured down the mine shaft and cut off the fans," he said. "It was terrible. We had some trouble like this at the mine last fall, but nothing as bad as this. There's been nothing like it in the last 25 years.

Cuts Communications

The water disrupted communications and transportation but as far as could be learned today the mine is not now flooded.

The south end of the town remained under water. Six houses were damaged and the hotel basement flooded. The highway linking Cadomin with towns was blocked but the rail connection to Leyland and Edson was believed still open.

The first rush of the flood into the town, 150 miles southwest of Edmonton, sent a wall of water and mud against the only exit.

Since fans circulating fresh air in the workings had been cut off, it was feared the miners may have been overcome by coal gas.

The flood washed out nearby Leyland and caused two slides on the Canadian National Railways line serving the district west of Coalspur. Two work crews were sent to clear the line.

The river was four feet above its normal level last night.

Three houses in the low-lying part of the town were ripped from their foundations and floated away. At Leyland two bridges were washed out.

Forest rangers reported 15 feet of snow covers some of the district.

Nature On Binge

HONOLULU, June 15—(AP)—A vast haze still hovered over the middle Pacific today, covering possibly 2,000,000 square miles. Scientists say it isn't an atomic mist since Geiger counters showed no radio-activity. Just nature on a binge, they speculated. The finger of suspicion was pointed at massive Mauna Loa, still spouting fire and brimstone, as it enters its third eruptive week.

Three Unhurt In Crash Near Ottawa

OTTAWA, June 15 (CP)—Two Americans and a Canadian youth escaped serious injury today when their light four-seater aircraft crash-landed in a field about three miles south of Billings Bridge.

The pilot, Willard Reitz of Kansas City, Mo., suffered a cut on his left elbow. His sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Exhall of Kansas City, and 18-year-old John Proulx of Sarsfield, Ont., escaped unharmed.

First reports from the scene of the accident had said that the pilot was a woman.

The crash-landing in a farmers' field less than two miles from Uplands Airport climaxed a trouble-plagued flight from Montreal.

Reitz and Mrs. Exall, apparently unsure of their whereabouts after leaving Montreal, landed in a field at Sarsfield, about 25 miles northeast of Ottawa to ask directions to the capital.

Guides Pilot

Young Proulx, working in a field nearby, offered to guide the plane to the capital and joined the couple for the remainder of the flight.

As the aircraft approached Uplands Airport, the motor suddenly failed and the pilot was forced to crash-land in a field on the farm of R. Meloche south of the airport.

Eyewitnesses said the plane came in low, bounced once and smashed into a fence. Then it rocketed across a shallow ditch into another field, slewed around and came to rest in an upright position.

The undercarriage was torn off and both wings and the propellor of the single-engined Avion aircraft were damaged.

2nd French Plane Crashes In Persian Gulf; 40 Missing, Believed Killed

Aircraft Cracks Up At Almost Same Spot Crash Occurred Two Days Ago; Officials Report 12 People Rescued Today

BAHREIN ISLAND, Persian Gulf, June 15—(CP)—A big Air France plane crashed in the Persian Gulf last night, and 40 of the 52 persons it carried are feared dead. The craft plunged into the gulf at almost the same spot where another Air France plane crashed two days ago with a loss of 46 lives.

Officials said 12 persons had been rescued by early afternoon, including four of the crew of eight. Twelve infants were reported to have been about the plane. Only one is known to have been saved."

This plane and the sister C-54 Skymaster which crashed two days ago were en route from Indo-China to Paris. Officials have not discarded the possibility of sabotage by adherents of the Indo-Chinese Communists who are fighting the French.

Air France officials in Paris said the plane carried 44 passengers and eight crew members. The officials said the search of the area was continuing with more than 100 small fishing boats scouring the area.

Send Planes To Help

RAF and US air force planes based in the Gulf area joined the search, sweeping low over the area, but a low ceiling hampered their efforts. High winds and choppy waters made it unlikely that life rafts from the plane could stay afloat for long.

The survivors all were reported to be French citizens, some of them said to be important political figures.

The circumstances of this crash and the one two days ago were almost identical. A storm was sweeping the Gulf area in each case. The planes were coming in for landings after receiving instructions from the field just before they plunged into the sea. Both planes had begun their trips at Saigon, Indo-China, and had made their last stops at Karachi, Pakistan.

The first plane had dropped into about 12 feet of water. It was beached Wednesday. Twenty-eight bodies were found still in the cabin. Last night the sister ship fell into 30 feet of water. A floating derrick was used today in attempts to raise it and it was believed the bodies of most of the missing would be found in the wreckage.

A company spokesman, ordering a halt to night flying at Bahrein, said the field was not equipped with systems for radar approach and had only two radio beacons to guide pilots.

100 Die in Two Days

Last night's disaster brought to more than 100 the number of persons dead or missing in French air crashes in two days. Of these, 46 died in the first crash off Bahrein Tuesday. At least 37 are dead or missing from last night's crash.

Another 16 are missing from a French military plane which disappeared while on a flight between two cities in Madagascar. Three more persons were killed yesterday in the crash of a private plane near Constantine, North Africa.

Cheque Ring Smashed In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 15 (CP)—A large scale counterfeiting ring which has been flooding United States cities with Bank of America travellers' cheques was broken Wednesday by city police after six days' investigation. Two Vancouver men are being held but their names were not released. An 800-pound counterfeiting machine worth $5,000, and photographic equipment, were seized by city detectives.

The tip-off came from a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent in Washington Friday. Bogus travellers' cheques totalling more than $100,000 had been cashed in Seattle, Minneapolis, St. Louis and Portland.

The agent told city detectives 44 had been cashed in Seattle in one day.

Follow Trail

Detectives followed the trail to the west end Kitsilano district here, and found a house which had marks on the floor showing that a large machine had been installed there and recently removed.

They picked up a wanted man and on going through belongings in his room found an address in the east end of the city which they investigated.

Neighbors recalled that a transfer truck had been there with a heavy machine. The detectives located the transfer firm and tracked down the machinery to one of the houses where they arrested the second man.

Loyal Troops Crush Revolt, 40 Die In Peru

LIMA, Peru, June 15 (AP)—At least 40 persons were believed today to have been killed in a two-day revolt during which rebels captured most of the city of Arequipa.

The government announced loyal troops, moving into the city, had put down the revolt.

The government blamed Communists for the uprising.

Arequipa, with a population of 93,000, is Peru's second largest city. The rebels at one time held the city hall, military headquarters, the airport, a radio station and other buildings.

No official figures on casualties were announced, but there were many wounded in addition to the 40 estimated dead.

Loyal troops crushed the revolt as soon as they reached the city, the government announced today. Censorship, imposed when the revolt began, was lifted this morning.

While the rebels held control of Arequipa they announced by radio that "many places in southern Peru have revolted against the government." But authorities here said the uprising was confined to Arequipa and that quiet prevails in the rest of the country.

Many persons were reported under arrest both in Arequipa and here. Loyal troops hold complete control, the government said, and the task of restoring the city to normal is under way.

Senate Charges Legislation On P.M. Residence Bungled

OTTAWA, June 15—(CP)—The Senate would like to see some changes made in government legislation establishing an official residence for Prime Ministers of Canada. For one thing, Senators indicated Wednesday, a clause providing for a $5,000 annual payment by Prime Ministers for "food and lodging" should be eliminated.

This clause brought sharp criticism in yesterday's debate on the bill. It was described as "an affront to good taste" and "cheap" and Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) said if he was not in order moving that it be struck out on the spot, then he would move the whole matter get a careful review in committee.

Other senators indicated they thought the Prime Minister should get more than his $23,000 a year, and that there had been "bungling" in acquiring a former mansion on the Ottawa River, now being renovated as an official residence.

The bill was finally given second reading, then hustled off to the banking and commerce committee for further study.

Farm Assistance

The Senate gave second and third reading to amendments to the Prairie Farm Assistance Act and an act amending Canada's militia pensions legislation. It heard from Senator Reid an expression of bewilderment at the number of international connections Canada was making.

Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, said Prime Minister St. Laurent had insisted he would not be "any better off" for moving into an official residence and had insisted on payment of $5,000 a year for himself and his wife.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, said the whole thing was a "gigantic mistake". The official residence of the prime minister should be a private home, not a "castle" for entertaining. The prime minister should not be charged for occupancy and in fact he should get more money.

UK House Meets For 16 Hours

LONDON, June 15 — (CP) — The House of Commons quit work in the grey light of dawn today after a 16 hour 20-minute session. Tempers wore thin during the long debate as the government won nine votes, beating down Conservative-Liberal attempts to repeal gasoline taxes.

The Labor party has a statistical margin of eight votes in the House. Whips got MPs into the voting lobbies in time to muster victories by from 11 to 17 votes. Many members on both sides were absent. The first victory staved off, 302 to 288, a move to void the government 9d-a-gallon (12 cents) boost which doubled the gasoline tax.

Longest parliament session was one of 41½ hours that ended Feb 2, 1881. The post-war record is 21 hours 48 minutes ending July 21, 1948, when the steel nationalization bill was passed.

Legislators were haggard. Some nodded on the benches. Thirty lined up in the cafeteria at 2:45 a.m. to munch hot sausages. There were still 561 members in the House when it finally rose, and altogether about 500 breakfasts of one sort or another were served during the session.

Note For Russia

PARIS, June 15 (AP)—The Big Three Western powers formally asked Russia today to join them in appointing civilian high commissioners to replace military commissioners in Austria. Notes were delivered in Moscow by the three Western envoys, the French foreign office announced. The decision to name civilian commissioners such as those now in occupied Germany was taken by the Big Three at the recent London conference.

Head For Brazil

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone, June 15 — (Reuters) — German chemist Paul Muller, 63, and his 18-year-old daughter, Aga, today headed their 16-foot sailing boat Berlin out into the Atlantic and began a 1,700-mile journey to Behia, Brazil. The Mullers left Hamburg last November "in search of peace and security" in South America.

Wounded Man Proves Prisoner

WINDSOR, June 15 — (CP) — The man who was shot and wounded in a Windsor apartment last Sunday night has been identified as Gerald Beland, who escaped guards at Belleville, May 23, while on his way to Kingston penitentiary, Deputy Chief W. H. Neale said Wednesday.

At the time he was arrested, Beland gave his name as Owen Thompson, 32.

John Shortt, 44, was subsequently charged with wounding in connection with the shooting.

Beland, alias Thompson, was shot during an argument.

Shortt was arrested near the apartment that night, but he carried no arms.

John Dobson, who police say was also present during the shooting, rented the apartment with Beland.

Two Canadian Girls Win Test With Gable

TORONTO, June 15 — (CP) — Two Canadians were picked Wednesday to test for the leading feminine role in Clark Gable's next movie, "Across the Wide Missouri".

It calls for a "fiery" Indian maiden, said Billy Grady, talent director for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. From more than 25 applicants he picked Dorothy Beauvais, 25, part-French, part-Iroquois postmistress of Ste. Marguerite, Que., and Wanda Big Canoe Adamson, a full-blooded Ojibway from Georgina Island Reserve in Lake Simcoe, 60 miles north of here.

Grady said they will go to New York for their tests "as soon as possible".

Heavy Rain Saves Sinful Mining Town

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., June 15 (AP)—A providential rain early today saved this once sinful mining town from destruction by fire.

It came as flames raced through the tinder-like old wooden buildings and plank sidewalks. Firemen could do little as there was scarcely any water in the mains.

Virginia City, built in 1862, mushroomed with 40,000 inhabitants as the fabulous Comstock lode yielded $3,000,000,000 worth of ore.

Police Abandoning Search For Girl

BRANTFORD, June 15 (CP)—Provincial Police today abandoned the search for an elusive fugitive girl in the Mount Pleasant bush and swampland south and west of here.

Three days of concentrated search—including the assistance of members of the Reserve Army Wednesday night—failed to produce any trace of the frightened girl who fled last Monday morning from the farm of Albert McAlister near Mount Pleasant.

Two York township detectives, William Culver and Walter McGowan, returned home today. They had joined the search for one day because it was believed the mystery girl might be Mabel Crumback, 19, missing from her York township home since May 28.

Any further police participation will be limited to investigating any new reports which are received, or following up any possible new leads.

Triplets Die

OAKRIDGE, Tenn., June 15—(AP)—Three babies, who together weighed less than six pounds, died yesterday within nine hours after birth. All boys, they were the first triplets ever born in this war-born city. They were sons of Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Abernathy.

Travel Minister Predicts Another Big Tourist Season

HAWKESBURY, Ont., June 15 (CP)—Ontario's Travel Minister, Hon. L. P. Cecile, predicts another big tourist season for the province this year.

Without quoting any figures, he told a conference of Eastern Ontario Boards of Trade Wednesday that one of the signs that point to a healthy traffic is the fact that Ontario tourist resorts are showing a big increase in reservations.

In this town, 60 miles east of Ottawa, he pledged his support to a United States proposal to build a highway bridge across the St. Lawrence River between Prescott, Ont., and Ogdensburg, N.Y.

He also had something to say about Canadians who fly United States flags in preference to their own. He believed that Canadians not only should give their own flags a little more play but that U.S. tourists, travelling in Canada, prefer to see it that way.

"They don't appreciate seeing their flag flying and not ours," he said.

As for the bridge, Mr. Cecile said it would be of great help to Eastern Ontario communities and he "most certainly will back the proposal when it comes up."

F. R. Little of Ogdensburg, named by Governor Thomas Dewey of New York as vice-chairman of the Ogdensburg Bridge Authority, said a site for the bridge already has been selected and that a survey of costs now is in the process of completion.

Atomic Energy Report Planned

NEW YORK, June 15—(AP)—The New York Times says today Britain, Canada and the United States are contemplating the joint release of the largest single collection of atomic-energy data since issuance of the Smyth report of 1945.

The plan is the result of the Russian atomic explosion last September, the Times says.

"None of the data to be placed in the public domain will deal with atomic weapons," says a Washington dispatch to the Times.

At Ottawa a government spokesman said that ordinary reclassification of atomic information is "going on all the time."

However, the spokesman said he knew of no plan for any "wholesale reclassification" in the near future.

It is believed in Ottawa that any large reclassification of atomic energy data would be done authorities, rather than that of on the initiative of United States Canadian or United Kingdom authorities.

Loggers Accept Contract B.C. Strike Threat Ended

VANCOUVER, June 15 (CP)—A strike threat was lifted today from coastal timber stands, backbone of British Columbia's economy, when representatives of 32,000 coastal loggers agreed to contract proposals.

Loggers and millworkers were to have walked out at the beginning of the day shift. Settlement was announced at 12:30 a.m. PDT.

The International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) lost its fight for a union shop. But the loggers and millworkers won wage increases which the 163 operators estimate will cost $7,000,000 a year.

Announcement of the settlement ended fears of economic paralysis in the province which depends on logging for 45 per cent of its income.

The I.W.A. accepted what operators said was their "final offer"—2 12G-cents-an-hour pay increase, a maintenance-of-membership clause and a five-day, 40-hour week.

Only an hour before the agreement, the union had arranged for pickets on shifts starting this morning. Earlier, midnight Wednesday had been set as the deadline for agreement.

The settlement must be ratified by employees and operators. This, however, is expected to be a formality.

"We believe the settlement is in the best interest of both the membership and the people of B.C.," said J. Stewart Alsbury, B.C. president of the I.W.A.

"It's a great step ahead for the union."

$100,000 Bogus Bills Turned Out Monthly

WASHINGTON, Jun 15 (CP)—A warning went out Wednesday that New York and Chicago counterfeit rings are turning out bogus money at the rate of $100,000 a month.

The disclosure came with the release of testimony by the United States Secret Service chief, U. E. Baugham, who recently told a Senate Appropriations sub-committee:

"More and more criminals are turning to counterfeiting. Additional men and equipment are urgently needed to fight this criminal activity to prevent cashiers and storekeepers from losing hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Canadian Sailor Killed In Colombo

MONTREAL, June 15 (CP)—A Canadian veteran, out to see the world as a deckhand, was shot and killed by a soldier in a South American port three months ago. The Department of External Affairs is investigating the incident.

Although the slaying of Leslie Fiander, 25, Montreal, occurred in Bonaventura, Colombia, March 9, the story became public only Wednesday when the freighter Guifside returned to port.

Officers and crew members made sworn declarations for the company and Ottawa authorities.

W. E. Turner, general manager of the Atlantic Steamship Agency said the company had learned that the man was shot while in jail where he was held for questioning after an argument over a debt he was said to have owed a Bonaventura girl.

Police Arrest Mrs. Pitre As Girl Witness Claims She Was Threatened

Judge Promises All Witnesses Protection If Any Desire It During Trial; Charge Ruest Threatened Witness Also

QUEBEC, June 15—(CP)—The woman who placed aboard an airliner a time-bomb that killed 23 persons over Sault au Cochon last Sept. 9, was held without bail Wednesday night, charged with intimidating witnesses. Mrs. Arthur Pitre, black-haired sister of Genereux Ruest, charged with murder in the airlines disaster, sobbed and shrieked loudly as she was taken from a corridor near the courtroom and carried to cells. The arrest, ordered by Judge Achille Pettigrew from the bench, climaxed the first day of Ruest's preliminary hearing on the charge of manufacturing a time-bomb to blow up the airliner and kill Mrs. J. Albert Guay.

Arrest of Mrs. Pitre, 41, was ordered after a frail, pale girl in a black coat testified Mrs. Pitre threatened her in the witness room adjoining the court Wednesday morning.

The girl, Marguerite Lachance, said Mrs. Pitre warned her not to mention how Ruest counselled her, his sister, to commit suicide by "putting a blanket over my head and turning on the gas."

Mrs. Pitre was arrested several months ago on a charge of attempted suicide when evidence was brought out that Guay had advised her to turn on the gas jets in her house after blocking all the key holes and exits. She was acquitted.

Told To Keep Quiet

The Lachance girl, who said she was the friend of Edouard Ruest, a brother of Genereux, also told the court that as Ruest hobbled on his crutches to the prisoner's dock that morning he passed near her and whispered: "Ferme ta gueule" (a vulgar way of saying: "Keep your mouth shut."

Defense Counsel Irenee Simard protested against this statement by the girl and said he wanted the court to bring Ruest's guards as witnesses to hear what they had to say.

Judge Pettigrew said: "We'll settle the case of Mrs. Pitrie . . . It is evident this girl was threatened and I order her (Mrs. Pitre) to be arrested on a charge of witness intimidation."

The hearing was promptly adjourned after Judge Pettigrew informed all witnesses in the case they would have police protection if they felt it was needed.

Mrs. Jean Paul Bergeron, another acquaintance of the Ruest family, testified that both she and the Lachance girl were threatened by Mrs. Pitre in the witness room. She said that the girl was very frightened because Mrs. Pitre had said, "I'm going to kill a few of you."

Mrs. Bergeron said the girl was so frightened she didn't want to come to testify.

Press Freedom Discussed By Newsmen

OTTAWA, June 15 (CP) — Proposals for the advancement of press freedom in the British colonies were placed today before the seventh Imperial press conference.

Newspapermen from all parts of the Commonwealth heard complaints of restrictive actions against the press by the governments of some colonies, and they also heard a defence of press legislation by a Colonial Office spokesman.

On the second day of its business sessions, the conference was given these suggestions by delegates from various countries:

Malaya: the Empire Press Union should stress the need for keeping the press as free as possible from unnecessary legislation.

Trinidad: the EPU should back up British West Indies newspapermen in their attempt to have a freedom of the press clause written into the constitution when the West Indies attain federation.

Dominions Back It

Support for the idea of greater press freedom in the colonies came from delegates from the United Kingdom and Dominions.

Senator W. Rupert Davies, chairman of the Canadian section and publisher of the Kingston Whig-Standard, said the Dominions had great sympathy for the colonies and he hoped their situation would be improved.

Senator Davies said the trials and tribulations of the press were not confined to the colonies, though. The newspapers in the Dominions had to be constantly on guard against encroachment on their rights.

In Canada as well as the colonies, there were some "jacks-in-office" who sometimes tried to regulate newspapers.

"We have people who would like to control the press in some manner," he said.

Taken Off Board

TAIPEI, Formosa, June 15 (AP) —President Chiang Kai-shek has ordered three of his brothers-in-law removed from the board of directors of the Central Bank of China, the Nationalists' leading state bank. They are T. V. and T. L. Soong, brothers of Madame Chiang, and Dr. H. H. Kung, husband of Madame Chiang's sister

DOUG GRIMSTON, of New Westminster, B.C., has been elected president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for the 1950-51 season, succeeding Al Pickard of Regina. The 50-year-old CAHA prez was elected at the 37th annual convention at Banff last week and is a former president of the British Columbia branch of the association.

Howe Refuses Set Limit On Defence Work

OTTAWA, June 15 — (CP) — Trade Minister Howe, in fending off a heavy Commons siege, Wednesday rejected opposition calls for a set limit on defence production profits.

The minister said no such system could be devised to work satisfactorily because of the complexity of the manufacturing industry. There was no all-embracing yardstick.

Mr. Howe, backed by Liberal members, won House approval of the principle of a controversial bill to vest in him wide powers for defence purchasing in peacetime.

The three parties in opposition charged that the powers were excessive and dictatorial. Mr. Howe said they were needed to handle "perhaps the most important business of the country" and argued that they were a lesser, modified version of war powers he had voluntarily relinquished.

He said defence purchases now mean an average of 350 new or amended business contracts a day, handled by the government's Canadian Commercial Corporation.

Opposition Loses

In a vote the opposition lost 127 to 44. That gave the bill second reading but it still has one more hurdle to pass, third reading after committee study by the whole House.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, Solon Low, Social Credit leader, and H. W. Herridge (CCF, Kootenay East) paced the attack on the defence purchasing bill. Mr. Drew said it would open the door to dictatorship and place "practically the whole of our economy in the hands of this one minister."

Mr. Low said it gave Mr. Howe authority to requisition any goods at his own price, to take far-reaching steps to ensure priority in delivery of supplies and to take other actions which were too broad for peacetime.

Mr. Herridge called the powers "enormous." J. M. Macdonnell (PC, Toronto Greenwood) said it was "like taking a steam hammer to crack a nut."

Mr. Drew, backing a stand by Mr. Herridge, said he feels there must be "the effective possible control over profiteering" in defence production. Profits from defence should be limited. He called for careful examination of repeal, though this new act, of a 1905 peacetime bill "which limits profits" and which arose from "certain profiteeering which had taken place at that time."

The spokesman said from information in Paris, bad weather seemed to have been the probable cause of the crashes.

100 Flee Usk As BC Rivers In Flood Stage

VANCOUVER, June 15 (CP)—First evacuations before the British Columbia 1950 flood threat came Wednesday in the northern interior as the clear, turbulent waters of the Skeena River chased the 100 residents of Usk to higher ground.

Elsewhere, rivers swelled by a prolonged hot spell over the snow-stacked mountains inched upward against the dikes.

In the lower Fraser Valley dike patrols started Tuesday night and will be strengthened today. The Fraser, villain in a $30,000,000 flood in 1948, ripped away $17,000 worth of rock at Agassiz. Trucks worked today to replace the material protecting one of the new dikes.

Nicomen Island, above Mission, is patrolled by dike watchers with the danger level of 20 feet expected at Mission by Friday.

Other danger points in the province are Princeton, where the Tulameen is licking at lower-town houses, and Lillooet, where a bridge over the Cayoosh Creek was carried away. Several ranches were isolated. Lillooet is about 120 miles north of Vancouver.

At Usk, 400 miles north of here and 75 miles inland from Prince Rupert, the 100 residents retraced their flight of two years ago. The site was also flooded in 1936. At near-by Hazelton, men worked through the night erecting a dike guarding the lower part of the town.

Leading Industrials Jump On Exchange

TORONTO, June 15 (CP) —Leading industrial and western oils jumped strongly ahead as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. News of a possible new oil field in northern Alberta, spurred market interest in western oils and prices climbed briskly into new high price ground.

The exchange's 1 p.m. index showed industrials up 1.23 at 244.50, golds down .49 at 93.80, base metals down .06 at 122.97, western oils up 2.62 at 89.39. Volume for the first three hours was 2,012,000 shares, about 221,000 shares more than yesterday's similar period.

Gains more than doubled losses in the western oils.

Refining oil stocks featured industrials. B. A. Oil, spotlight performer yesterday following the report of the possible new field in the Peace River district, jumped ahead strongly at the opening but lost part of the advance as the session progressed. Papers, constructions and liquors were also higher.

Golds continued recent declines to new low levels for the year. A handful of penny prospects were active on news of financing plans. Base metals showed signs of weakening in mid-session.

Victoria Asks Registry Office

LINDSAY, June 15.—(ENS). — A deputation from Victoria County Council will meet soon with Premier Frost to discuss erection of a new registry office.

Recently, Council members visited London, Ontario, to inspect the registry office there. They thought the building was ideal, but too elaborate for Victoria County. A similar structure would cost the county about $200,000.

Council members fear if the present building were expanded, the Provincial Government might withhold a grant. One member said it would not be wise to construct a building similar to the London office—as the inspector of registry offices "so very obviously" did not want to use the old building.

Committee to meet Mr. Frost will consist of the warden and four members.

Imperial Privy Council Asked To Overrule Canadian Decision

OTTAWA, June 15—(CP)—A spokesman for the Canadian government next Monday will ask the Imperial Privy Council to overrule the Supreme Court of Canada and in effect declare margarine production and sale in Canada illegal.

V. P. Varcoe, Deputy Minister of Justice, will argue against the manufacturers of the butter substitute in the final round of a prolonged battle over the validity of a Federal anti-margarine law.

The law, made 64 years ago, was upset by the Supreme Court Dec. 14, 1948, declaring that section 5-A of the Federal Dairy Industry Act was ultra vires of parliament and it was up to the provinces to have the final say as to whether Canadian consumers will be lawfully able to buy and eat margarine.

That ruling paved the way for the birth of a steadily-expanding margarine production industry in most provinces and an outcry by the butter producers that the appearance of margarine was ruining the butter trade.

To Press Case

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture obtained leave to press the case before the privy council's judicial committee—highest court of appeal in the Commonwealth.

R. H. Milliken of Regina, counsel for the 400,000-member CFA, will join Mr. Varcoe in the London legal battle, opposing those who favor the supreme court ruling

On the side of margarine will be Senator Salter Hayden (L-Ontario), who will represent the margarine manufacturers' first appearance in the legal fight.

Supporting him will be counsel for Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario) whose persistence during three senate sessions led the government to ask the supreme court for a ruling on the law's validity.

Finds Canadians Putting More Money In Bank

MONTREAL, June 15 (CP) — J. U. Boyer, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, said today that more Canadians have more money in the chartered banks than ever before and the average account is higher.

In an address to the annual meeting of the association, Mr. Boyer said that at March 31, 1950, the public had $6,971,000,000 in nearly 8,000,000 deposit accounts. This was an increase of $426,000,000 or 6½ per cent, in a year.

Savings were up $308,00,000 and current accounts $118,000,000. The number of accounts increased 365,000 between Sept. 30, 1948, and Sept. 30, 1949, and the average deposit was $873 compared with $828 in 1945.

In savings alone, the average account moved up from $532 in 1945 to $637 in 1949.

Record in March

Total deposits in chartered banks reached a record at March 31 of $8,307,000,000, a gain of 5½ per cent in a year. Bank assets also set a record at $8,838,000,000, an increase of nearly five per cent over those at March 31, 1949.

Current loans in Canada, an index of business activity, stood at $2,218,000,000 at March 31, up $192,000,000 in the year and more than double the corresponding figure for 1940.

Debits to individual accounts, an indication of the high level of business, reached $28,460,000,000 in the first four months of the year, compared with $27,040,000,000 in the same period of 1949.

Chartered bank investments in securities of all kinds were $4,453,000,000, up $168,000,000 over the same date last year.

Press Delegates Delete Word Empire From Name

OTTAWA, June 15 (CP) — Commonwealth defence today will come under the scrutiny of the seventh ann the seventh Imperial Press Conference.

Newspaper delegates from 15 countries will hold an off-the-record session with Defence Minister Claxton and some of his top officers, at which the Minister is expected to outline Canadian defence plans.

Other major business on the agenda for the second day of the conference is a discussion of colonial press laws and a resolution calling on the conference to sponsor travel by newspaper writers as a means of broadening their outlook.

The resolution, sponsored by the Australian and Indian delegates at Wednesday's opening business meeting, called for a conference committee to study the question of more travel by reporters, through exchanges between countries or otherwise.

Major decision of the approximately 100 delegates at their first day's session was to recommend a change in the name of their organization from the Empire Press Union to the Commonwealth Press Union.

Vote New Name

Recognizing the changing status of the British Empire, they voted unanimously to recommend the new name to the council of the union, where it undoubtedly will be adopted.

In response to suggestions that the change might bring the possibility of colonial branches losing their individuality in the union, it was stipulated that the colonies were to continue as independent members of the organization under the new name.

Down for action either today or in the remaining other two days of the conference is a resolution dealing with press communications among countries in the Commonwealth.

Main points:

1. That the penny-a-word (two cents) rate on press copy within the Commonwealth should be defended.

2. That a committee be set up to watch for new and less expensive means of transmitting news.

3. That efforts be continued to have freight and mail rates reduced for the carriage of press materials and newspapers, by air and surface routes.

Democratic Soviet

This week the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R. has been meeting. It is composed of the Deputies elected last March in an election which the Russian authorities called the "most democratic" in the world, even though only one name for each post appeared on the ballot. A quarter of the Deputies are Communist party officials, from provincial secretaries up to Stalin. About 120 are Government ministers; a hundred are city and provincial government heads. The secret police are represented by about thirty Deputies. Only some thirteen are trade union officials. The rest of the "democratic" Supreme Soviet are industrial managers, chairmen of collective farms and the like.

* * *

The Deputies have been called on to approve decrees of the Soviet Government since the last session of the Supreme Soviet: "Debates" are limited to speeches of commendation and gratitude to the "great father, teacher and friend" (Stalin). The benefits of the system are being extolled, and western capitalism flayed. The only divergence from the unison chorus occurs when sectional representatives may dare to ask larger appropriations for their particular areas. There is no official Opposition, and indeed no indication, of even unofficial opposition, in the "parliament" of the new "democracy" which so ardently loves peace that nineteen billion dollars (reckoned at the official value of the ruble) have been set aside for defence this year.

Canadian Music Recorded

Canadian music, or music by Canadians, has had little recognition from recording companies. French-Canadian folk tunes have been put on discs; some of the compositions of Healey Willan have been recorded and private groups have commissioned recordings, but in the main Canadian music cannot be had for gramophone playing. We greet the recording in London, England, of two piano compositions by two Canadians with pleasure and hope. London Records announce that they have recorded "Studies in Line" by Barbara Pentland of Vancouver, and "Bridal Suite" by Kenneth Peacock, a 28-year-old pianist and composer of Ottawa. Both piano pieces are already widely known to radio and concert audiences. These are the first recordings of Canadian "classical" music made in another country. It is a good beginning, and it may be hoped that it will lead to other recordings, so that music by Canadians will be increasingly available on records not only for our people at home, but for residents of other countries. There is not a large amount of good music by Canadians, but of that some is excellent and deserves to be more widely known and made more available.

Does The Best Pay?

Somebody can be depended on once in a while to jilt a slogan and jolt believers. It has been a favourite creed that it pays to buy the best (usually interpreted as the most expensive). Not so long ago an American cast doubt about the superior quality of a certain patent analgesic. Later another American analysed the properties of an allegedly superior gasoline. Now comes a Canadian, an expert of the National Research Council, who says that the better the paint you put on the more you may expect it to peel. (We note carefully that he does not say that the cheaper the paint the less you may expect it to peel; he does not quite get around to the slogan 'the poorer the better'). It seems that really first-rate paint gives a smooth even surface, without pores and gaps; thus the best paint seals the surface. Now it seems that heated houses exude a water vapour through the wood. This vapour reached the outside and the coat of paint. If there are no pores in the paint the water vapour is trapped. It pushes hard to escape and in doing so, the paint is bubbled.

Well, that is one point of view. Somehow, we are never completely convinced that all experts are always right. Anyway, this pore-view refers only to paint on the outside of houses, and everybody knows that paint manufacturers put up a special kind of paint for exteriors which is not as costly as the paints for interiors. So perhaps they have known all along that the best paint is not the best for outdoor jobs.

We value the paint expert's opinion chiefly because it gives us, as an amateur house-painter, a spleidid excuse for a poor job. When we are criticized for our uneven painting or for gaps here and there, we shall henceforth loftily say: that gappiness is deliberate; it is not a poor job; it is a pore job.

Opportunity To Study Indian Lore

The curator of the museum of Indian archaeology and pioneer life of the University of Western Ontario (London) has for the past several summers offered a short course at Fort Ste. Marie, Midland. Mr. Wilfrid Jury is again holding this Summer School of Indian Archaeology, a ten-day practical course beginning July 3rd. It its designed to give interested persons help in surveying, digging, keeping records and using the tools and techniques of archaeology. The school is limited to fifteen students, chosen for their interest and experience. No fees are charged. We mention this course here in the hope that there may be some persons from this area, particularly younger men with rural backgrounds, who can attend. Peterborough district is rich in buried Indian treasures—not only inartifacts which have yet to be unearthed, but in history and legends of the Indians which still lie undisclosed and unrecorded. The training and experience the Fort Ste. Marie course offer would give them an unusual opportunity to open up for the people of the Kawarthas and Trent the treasure-house of Indian lore now so sorely neglected.

Juggling July First

There has been a movement under foot in Peterborough to have Dominion Day moved this year from July 1st, which falls on a Saturday, to Monday, July 3rd. The reason may be that Saturday is already a holiday for many people in the factories; to have Monday as well would give them an unusually long week-end. The desire to squeeze out an extra holiday is as natural as the juggling of commemorative dates is unnatural. The Mayor has not, and we think quite properly, proclaimed Monday, July 3rd the city's civic Dominion Day holiday.

It is well to have such flap-doolery scotched early. The reason for decebrating July 1st is that it is July 1st, not July 3rd or 4th. On July 1st, 1867 Canada became a country. If people do not want to celebrate Canada's birthday on its birthday, then let us give up the holiday altogether.

There is too much puttering around with festival dates to suit the whims of the season and the foibles of one section or another of the populace.

Smoother Face To Number 36

A month ago in these columns we called attention to the poor state of Highway 36 between Burleigh Falls and Bobcaygeon. Whether or not the gods of Queen's Park heard our plaint, Highway 36 is now more cheerful, and is really beginning to look again like a respectable unpaved highway, and not an Oregon corduroy trail. Rough places have been made smooth, the surface has been treated for dust, car wheels roll along with a comfortable whinny, and the springs do not cry aloud. In other words, Highway 36 need no longer be avoided by motorists who care for their vehicles and their spines.

The new connecting highway from the Lakefield turn to Buckhorn is in the tertiary stages of highway building and can now be taken without shudders, and with considerable convenience.

"Judge on bench for 25 years", we read. How would he do as a pole-sitter?

A Russian biologist is reported to be crossing a cow and a giraffe. Doubtless he will get an animal with the neck of a cow and the milk yield of a giraffe.

A chiropodist says that feet are accurate predicters of the weather. We have never found this to be true, though when our feet are wet we sometimes make a cautious surmise that it is raining.

Races Set Apart

By COLIN LEGUM

WHAT is apartheid, which inspires Dr. Malan's Group Areas Bill, now before the South African Parliament? Literally, it means "the state of being apart." For the Nationalists in South Africa it means a far-reaching policy of racial segregation. How can this be contrived in a country of 11,000,000 inhabitants (three-quarters of them non-European) with angry sub-divisions inside the predominant European groups (Afrikaners and British), when they are all bound together in a close social-economic pattern, to non-Europeans supplying most of the labour-power—and of the potential consumption-power—for the European industrial and mining enterprises?

The Group Areas Bill proposes to divide every city, town, and hamlet in the country into three main racial zones—White, Black, and Coloured. All farming land would be similarly apportioned. This, in practice, would be a less drastic change, for a rough division of farming land already exists, with some three-quarters of it reserved for ownership by Europeans, although they make up less than one quarter of the population.

IF this Bill "be enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty" (as the preamble requests), no person will be allowed to reside, acquire property, or conduct a business, in a zone not earmarked for his own racial group. Europeans will be forbidden to live in an African area, and African in a Coloured zone. Within this three-tier division, moreover, provision is made for sub-divisions, so that even in an African zone no Basuto will be allowed to live in an area set aside for Xosas or Zulus; and an area assigned to Cape Coloured people (the offspring of mixed marriages through the centuries) will be closed to Indians or Malays.

There is, however, one concession. Since Europeans rely on non-Europeans servants, these may live on the property of their employers by special permission of the Minister of Interior. The same permission applies to native miners in their compounds, and to industrial workers living on factory premises.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Bill envisages eventual control by the Government of all ownership and occupation of land throughout the country. Powers are conferred on the Minister of Interior to acquire any immovable property and to occupy any land or premises which the Government may need. The right to challenge his powers in the Courts is specifically excluded. He is to be advised by a Land Tenure Board, appointed by himself and consisting of European members only. This Board will employ inspectors who shall have the right to enter and inspect homes and properties at any time of the day or night, to ensure that the Minister's intentions are being observed.

This conversion of South Africa into a checker-board division of racial zones will be undertaken by degrees, but—significantly—the first province selected for it is the Cape Province, where racial land restrictions applicable to other parts of the country have been resisted for three centuries.

Not unexpectedly the Group Areas Bill has aroused the most violent controversy, which extends beyond the borders of South Africa and involves other parts of the British Commonwealth. Both India and Pakistan have condemned the Bill and have asked the Union Government not to proceed with it. The attitude of the Minister of Interior, Dr. T. E. Donges, however, is shown by his recent demand that other nations should not "poke their noses into our affairs."

DR. Malan claims that the Bill is essential to "make South Africa safe for the White races." It is only one of several measures taken or proposed to ensure racial purity. These include the preparation of a population register and a system of identification cards (described by one critic as a "racial stud book") because it is intended to prevent people escaping across the boundary of their racial group); the banning of all mixed marriages and the rendering of cohabitation between members of different racial groups a criminal offence; a new Citizenship Bill to ensure the loyalty of newcomers; passport control to prevent hostile critics from leaving the country to attack the Government from abroad (aimed at the Rev. Michael Scott and others); outlawing of the Communist Party and other "unlawful organizations."

Three additional measures have been announced to round off this programme: withdrawal of the right of almost 8,000,000 Africans to be represented by three Europeans in the Union Parliament; removal of the "Coloureds" from the Common Voters' Roll; and the establishment of the Union as an independent Republic within the British Commonwealth. These measures are linked with "Pan-African" endeavours to extend Union control northwards in order to keep the influence of African liberation from penetrating south of the equator. The entire programme is regarded as vital to the Government's apartheid policy, which springs fundamentally from a belief that the biological survival of the European races in Southern Africa is at stake.

DURING the 1948 election campaign, when apartheid was the main slogan of the Nationalists, Dr. Malan was repeatedly challenged to say what it meant. His stock reply was, "Put us in power and we will show you what it means." He and his Government are now doing so; the pattern becomes clearer every day. Two years after his return to power, no positive steps have been taken to improve the conditions of non-Europeans; all the steps taken have been negative, designed to deprive sections of the community of their existing rights.

This is the chief point made by the Opposition (General Smuts's United Party, the Labour Party and a few Liberal elements) in attacking the Group Areas Bill—that at no time have the non-Europeans been given a chance to say what they feel about it. The Opposition points out, also, that the proposed demarcation of the land does not ensure that more land will be available for Africans, who, despite their population superiority of three to one, are entitled to only one-eighth of all the land in the Union.

Even if we assume that some of the apartheid proposals are desirable, how can they be put into practice? Hundreds of thousands of people of all races would have to be moved from one residential zone to another, causing a vast amount of human misery. Today, only the breadth of a street may divide a European from a non-European residential area. What is to be the width of residential barriers in the future?

THE opposition to Dr. Malan does not come only from other parties; there is bitter opposition also from some of his supporters. The Dutch Reformed Church—politically a most powerful body—declared at a recent conference that it would be satisfied with nothing less than total apartheid, involving territorial segregation on regional lines between Whites and non-Whites. The example of India and Pakistan is cited. But Dr. Malan, who flirted with this idea before his return to power, now rejects it as thoroughly impracticable; and in this he has the support of all the Opposition groups.

The question remains: how can adequate provision be made for residential separation—desired by all sections of the community—without imposing hardships on any one group? Dr. Malan has been asked to convene an all-party round table conference on non-European problems, and to invite the aid of non-Europeans in formulating a practicable scheme.

This suggestion, too, he has turned down. Instead, he has announced his intention of using the guillotine to curb parliamentary discussion and push his measures through, relying on his slender majority to enact one of the most revolutionary social changes ever attempted in South Africa, or, indeed, anywhere in the Commonwealth.

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

ADMITTED AT LAST

Mr. St. Laurent Tells the U.S.

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

PRIME Minister St Laurent has on three occasions appealed directly to American public opinion on issues before the United States Congress that are of direct concern to Canada. It is an unprecedented, bold course for a Canadian Prime Minister to take. A foreign statesman does not normally address himself to the American public in terms that could be interpreted as critical of U.S. policy. It is indicative of the intimate relations that exist between the United States and Canada, and the high repute in which Mr. St. Laurent is held, that his observations have met with no protest within the U.S.

At Troy, N.Y., last October, Mr. St. Laurent said that American policy with respect to military purchases made arms standardization difficult. He suggested a system of "reciprocal defence purchasings" to achieve standardization. This would virtually mean a return to the practice of the Hyde Park agreement of 1941. A week ago, at St. Louis, Missouri, he deplored the attacks on public servants that have highlighted anti-Communist investigations in the U.S. At Canton, N.Y., on Sunday, he said Canada was becoming "rather impatient" with Congressional delay in carrying out the U.S.-Canada agreements on the St. Lawrence waterway.

The three speeches dealt with policies that were both external and domestic in character, and that immediately affect Canada. But in his St. Louis address, the theme of which was the preservation of freedom, he probed a highly-sensitive sore spot in American domestic politics. Speaking of the anti-Communist campaign in the United States, he said that freedom to oppose the policies of the administration in office should be maintained. But:

> It is quite another thing to attack the good faith, the honesty of purpose and the loyalty to their country of public men, when there is no substantial evidence to support such attacks. It seems to me that one of the most effective ways to help the enemies of freedom to undermine and weaken our democratic institutions is to indulge in sustained and unwarranted attacks upon the characters of public men.

In establishing a new protocol in international relations which substitutes honest opinion for meaningless generalities and flattery, Mr. St. Laurent is helping to raise the level of mutual understanding on this continent.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certain man, kneeling down to him, and saying, Lord, have mercy on my son: for he is lunatick, and sore vexed: for ofttimes he falleth into the fire, and oft into the water. And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not cure him.

Then Jesus answered and said, O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? bring him hither to me. And Jesus rebuked the devil; and he departed out of him: and the child was cured from that very hour.

Then came the disciples to Jesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out? And Jesus said unto them, Because of your unbelief: for verily I say unto you, If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove: and nothing shall be impossible unto you.

Howbeit this kind goeth not out but by prayer and fasting. (Matt. 17: 14-21.)

Letter To The Editor

A GREAT DAY FOR HOODLUMS AND MORONS

Sir: What rejoicing there must be among the yahoos and the hoodlums to hear that they not only have a friend at court, but on the bench!

In planning future forays against law abiding citizens, they can remember that His Honour, Judge Coleman does not consider assault or intimidation a serious offence. And if, by chance, they should be carried away by the spirit of the occasion, and commit more violence than even His Honour considers excusable, they have only to plead that they were under the influence of alcohol.

All in all this is a very happy set of circumstances for the morons, the vicious and the criminal-minded. Those of us who contribute to the well being and maintenance of our judges do not take such a favourable view of the situation, and we would like to hear that steps will be taken to ensure that some semblance of fair dealing will in future be dispensed in the courts which we maintain for that purpose.

Sincerely,
L. J. McCLELLAN.

Spike Kept Busy Getting Ideas For Show Laughs

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, June 15 (AP) If Spike Jones is right, the average audience wants to see the first fiddler fall into the bass drum. And the harpist bopped with a bat during her most serious moment. And the tenor, the victim of a belch.

The sum of $25,000 a week, most weeks, is what Spike Jones of the musical nonsense circuit is paid for entertaining, so he probably is right.

The basis of the comedy in his Musical Depreciation Revue is, he says, "What you would like to see happen."

Thinking About TV

Spike, who has made the washboard, the cowbell and the revolver instruments in his band, spends a great deal of his time wondering what will make people laugh.

Like other entertainers Spike is thinking about television. He has it pretty well figured out. He won't use any topical jokes "because I expect my films to be played 10 years from now." To cut out the middle man and other costs, he will make his own TV films and own them outright. The comedy formula will be the same —audibly and visibly funny.

Just Nonsense

"We can do so much on film," Spike explained. "For instance, I will have a Foreign Legion stunt. The officer commands the men to march and they walk into a pool of water. All you will see after they disappear is their hats floating on the water. Then a fellow staggers along who is so thirsty he drinks the pool dry. And there are the men, standing where the pool was, dripping wet."

This will be a prelude to "Cool Water" or "By the Falls of Minnetonka." Just nonsense.

Spike expects it to pay off because, once he starts TV, he'll give it all of his time. That's not because the work will be so interesting. It will pay more.

Recall When Minister Travelled By Horse

APSLEY, June 15 —(ENS)— The silver jubilee of church union was observed in Trinity United Church on Sunday evening. The Rev. B. Morwood of Mark St. United Church, Peterborough, was guest speaker.

Mrs. Morwood sang a solo and Mrs. Wellington Lean gave a short history of Methodism in this district. Among other things told were the fact that at one time the minister in charge of this mission was stationed at Westwood making the long trip here and to Cardiff on horseback over trails, cut through dense forests.

Mrs. Stewart Brown read a history of the Presbyterian Church here, which had been compiled by D. Brown. The minister held services at the head of Stony Lake, then coming on to Apsley and to services held in school houses north and east of Apsley. Among the names of first children baptised by the Presbyterian minister was Duncan Brown who with his son Stewart are merchants in the village. His parents were Mr. and Mrs Alexander Brown pioneers of Burleigh township.

Newspaper Editors On Visit From U.S.

TORONTO, June 15 — (CP)— Twenty-four United States weekly newspaper editors and publishers arrive here today for a 10-day tour of Ontario as guests of the Ontario Travel and Publicity Department. Included will be representatives of weekly newspaper associations in Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Michigan, Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The trip is the seventh annual one sponsored by the department.

After arriving from Buffalo by plane, the newspaper men will spend a day here before leaving for Ottawa. Thence they will make a 3,000-mile swing through Northern and North-western sections of the province, mostly by rail, with stops at Minaki, Kenora, Port Arthur, Fort William, Marathon and Sudbury.

Township Property Annexed To Village

A report of unsanitary sewage conditions was reported from a group of Buckhorn ratepayers and the clerk was authorized to notify the MOH.

British Government Checks Up On Teeth, Glasses

LONDON —(CP)—People who want a new set of store teeth under Britain's National Health Service will have to do some tall talking in future.

Under a new ruling, the government will pay for repairs and replacements to sets or artificial teeth only when loss or damage is due to "circumstances beyond the applicant's control."

The same thing applies to eyeglasses.

The health ministry, acknowledging that local optical and dental committees have been instructed to tighten up on assessing claims for free repairs and replacements, said it has no information how much this service has cost the country.

In the past there have been claiming new glasses because they left their old pair on a bus, or or new teeth because the old pair "fell into the water when I sneezed on the docks."

Petes Defeat Mimico 10-9 For Fourth OLA Senior Win

By DON GRANT.

Red Creighton's lacrossers upset the famed applecart in Mimico Wednesday night. They swept into the Toronto area during the daylight and stole out under cover of darkness with only one large, rosy apple, a 10-9 win over the Mimico Mountaineers.

First taking the lead, then losing it only to regain it again in an uphill battle the Petes' hunger for wins was satisfied. And the Mountaineers realized that, even without Gerry Fitzgerald, the Peterborough team was vastly different from last year. This was the locals' fourth win in five complete games.

Joe Nolan shook early the main point of the applecart, Don McPhail. From the first few minutes of the game McPhail was near the boiling point waiting patiently to get near Nolan for revenge on a humiliating penalty. With McPhail off his game the Mountaineers' cart seemed only to have one wheel. They missed loose balls (which Petes grabbed) and earned more than their share of miscues in the sinbin.

Joe Got Three

Nolan took time off from his play with McPhail to perform the hat trick and assist on another goal. Teammate Jim Kinna sent home three counters while Don Ashbee went well and Bob Thorpe was in on three. Scoop Hayes was tops for Mimico with three while Jack Kapasky had two.

Thorpe took a loose ball at centre to break with Nolan who slipped home the pass early in the first. Dootch Vitarelli put Peterborough one up as he strolled in through centre unchecked.

Ross Buchanan was penalized for crosschecking resulting in two goals by Mimico. McPhail passed to Rankin in front for the first and Archie Dixon tied the score from McDonald. Dugan had a free ball near the end of the quarter and passed to Nolan in the clear. Bob Taylor had no chance to make the save.

Hewitt slipped in alone for Mimico in the second to tie the score and two minutes later Jack Kapasky sent home a pass from McPhail in the corner to put Mimico one up. They went two up a minute later when Kapasky again sent home a counter this time with Simpson's help. During a penalty to Rankin for interference Ashbee broke with Thorpe to score.

Took Command

Peterborough took command in the third quarter during which Referees Gus Madsen of St Catharines and Mac Peart of Port Colborne went on a whistle-tooting spree. Ashbee tied the score 5-all. Lewis slipped a nifty backhander into the twine on a pass from Jack Breakspeare. Kinna, first from Buchanan, and later from Nolan, put Peterborough up 8-5. Hayes then retaliated with two for Mimico.

While Simpson was off in the fourth Nolan scored on a breakaway. Kinna whipped home his third goal with a 15-foot overhead shot. McPhail started a Mimico comeback as he blasted home a hot side-arm shot. Hayes finished the scoring on a pass from Beatty with 34 seconds left.

Mimico blew a chance to tie the score in the dying minutes when Bob Taylor, the goalie, was penalized for tripping Thorpe. The ended the game just before Ashbee sank the ball into the net which would have been the game clincher.

Jaquith Hurls The Petes To A 4-0 Win

Jake Jaquith displayed great form on the mound at Riverside last night to defeat Colborne 4-0 in a regular Lakeshore League intermediate baseball fixture. Threatening skies kept the crowd down, though the boys are not getting the support their play merits, so far.

The win was Jaquith's second to date and the Petes' third of the season, as the team is fast shaping up a strong winning combination. The team is well fortified in the pitching department with Brian Wade, Jaquith and Red Sullivan available for duty, and the return of Jake Wade with his strong bat to regular duty, gives the team additional strength, either at first or in the field.

Just Four Hits

Jaquith scattered four hits, struck out four and issued no walks in a neat chore, while his mates, led by Jake Wade, Fitzgerald, Casey and Sullivan, pounded Bill Ball for 11 clean hits, including three doubles — one by Jaquith himself—to take the verdict handily.

A fast double play to nip a potential rally by Colborne in the sixth was a fielding feature as Pagett scooped Post's hard grounder, whipped to Casey to force Cummings, then Casey shot to Wade to nail Post. Sullivan fielded well, as did Floyd and Legrow, with the entire team turning in a smart game. The visitors played well too, but were unable to solve Jaquith's slants.

The teams:

Colborne — W. Clarey, 3b; F. Ball, rf; Cummings, lf; Post, 1b; Fox, cf; Kerrigan, cf; Hall, ss; Beatty, 2b; Rowsome, lf; Black, c; W. Ball, p.

Petes—Conway, 3b; Pagett, ss; Sullivan, 1b, lf; Fitzgerald, c; J. Wade, lf, 1b; Legrow, rf; Casey, 2b; Floyd, cf; Jaquith, p.

New Peewee Series Organized By OBA

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 15—A new minor league classification has been added to the Ontario baseball set-up for this season according to an announcement here Wednesday by OBA President Fred W. Young.

At a meeting of the provincial diamond executive, a peewee "B" section came into existence for all centres with a population of under 7,500. Under the new arrangement, teams from the more small centres will no longer have to compete against the packed all-star peewee teams from the larger cities.

E. A. Stirling, OBA executive member from Sarnia, has donated a trophy for the new group.

Confeds Take Win

Confederation trounced King George 25-13 yesterday to break a fourth-place senior school tie in the final softball standing of the schedule. They counted three each in the second, third and sixth, five in the fourth and 11 in a wild ffith frame. King George got one each in the first and fourth, four in the third, and seven in the fifth. SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Noticed earlier in the week where Middleground win the Belmont. You note he "win", not "won", the race. As a one-time horse player (track followers should not be called bettors—they're horse players) we have to go along with the correct race parlance and say such-and-such win the third at Woodbine, Joe Blow placing, while Handy Andy shows. The rest are also-rans or they went with the dogs. Out of the money, see? You are strictly sucker bait for the track touts if you don't talk properly when discussing the important question of running horses, and never mind the nonsense of the sport of kings or improvement of the breed.

* * * * * *

Some years ago we worked in a spot where a handicapper made book on the side. Yeah, he took bets, though 'twas illegal—as it is today. You can bet the bundle with the governmental blessing in Canada or the States but you must be at the track to do so. Every guy can't be at the track every day to lose his shirt, and that's why bookie joints are so common. Anyway, we worked there—it was 12th and Howard in Detroit's Corktown, if you insist—and learned the lingo. All about parlays, back-to-back, the various odds offered, getaway day angles, equine ancestry, weather reports, avoirdupois of jockeys, etc. And, while we will say in English that the Petes won a ball game, we will never caught messing up trackese language. No, sir. Middleground win it.

* * * * * *

YW Swimmers Affiliate

A different type of dive from that at 12th and Howard will be seen Saturday e'en when the nifty Lions Club pool is opened. A fine aquatic program is planned with YW girl swimmers, the Ornamental Club artists and YM chaps strutting their finny stuff. Advanced performers from the YWCA—capably coached by Miss Audrey Hustwitt—are in the competitions, officials inform us, having recently affiliated for the first time with the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association. Joined up so they could compete in this CASA meet, the lasses being of varying ages but with plenty of ability. It ought to be a most interesting show for the outdoor public.

* * * * * *

It's been a lengthy period since the Oshawa Merchants last played here, winning the COBL title over the Petes last season. But they'll be back at Riverside on Saturday aft—if the rain keeps up—at three, this time both Oshawa and the Petes being in the Viaduct Major League. Locals are there Friday and trust for at least an even break on the week-end. Four or five USA college ballsters stud the Motor City lineup, but the men o' Murphy are in front of 'em at the moment in the loop standing. This promises to be the keenest diamond contest seen here so far this semester, and it should draw well.

Petes Down Mimico

Weston takes on the Petes tomorrow eve at 8.45 in Miller Bowl, an OLA senior "A" fixture, and the Creighton crew will be seeking their fifth win in six starts. Took Mimico on the Mounties' pitch 10-9 in a swell struggle last gloaming and did it without Jerry Fitzgerald, who failed to make the trip for some reason or other. Joe Nolan and Jim Kinna were the main snipers in the uphill battle, each scoring three, while singles were counted by Don Ashbee, Bob Thorpe, Dootch Vitarelli and Wendell Lewis. Whole squad fought furiously in a rather rugged joust, and 'twas a dandy to win. The game here on the morrow ought to really pack 'em in as the Petes look to be going places.

* * * * * *

With Mark Selkirk pitching one-hit ball, Westclox continued to triumph in the girls' softball circuit, defeating Ashby's last e'en by a 7-1 score. Losers played well, too, but they couldn't hit that pill, except for a homer in the second by M. Freeman. Marines returned to form in their tussle to win 14-9 from the Woollens, the latter being held well in check till the last two heats when they made it rather interesting. Both contests were fairly snappy with some smart softball seen. Ashby's and Westclox go in a double-header tomorrow night.

Joe Page Fails Yankees Downed By White Sox 5-2

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sport Writer

What has happened to fireman Joe Page of 1949—the greatest relief pitcher ever?

The recent work of New York Yankees' bullpen artist reminds fans of the Page of 1948—an in-and-outer who flopped after a glorious pennant year in 1947.

Highest priced of all Yankee pitchers with $30,000-plus, Page failed the world champs Wednesday for the second day in a row.

Allie Reynolds was one out away from victory Wednesday when the White Sox caught up with him. With two gone in the ninth and New York leading 2-1, a single and a walk by pinch hitters Floyd Baker and Luke Appling and a single by Chico Carrasquel tied the score.

Manager Casey Stengel waved in Page. Joe's third pitch to Dave Philley sailed into the lower left field seats for a three-run homer and the ball game.

Costs Yanks Gain

Page's failure cost the Yanks a chance to gain on Detroit. The Tigers clung to their half-game lead despite an 8-2 defeat by Philadelphia.

The Athletics handed Dizzy Trout his first loss with Elmer Valo and Eddie Joost hitting home runs.

Five homers featured a night game between Cleveland and Boston, won by the Indians 7-3. Larry Doby, Al Rosen and Lou Boudreau were the long-distance clouters for Cleveland, Vern Stephens and Ted Williams for the Red Sox.

Conrad Marrero held St. Louis to four hits as Washington thrust the Brownies into the cellar with a 4-1 victory. The Senators had lost seven straight to St. Louis.

National League activity consisted of one night game. Rain washed out the rest of the schedule.

The onrushing St. Louis Cardinals racked up their seventh straight win behind Max Lanier. The chunky southpaw let down the Phillies 4-2 with six hits as St. Louis stretched its lead to 3½ games over idle Brooklyn.

Two runs in the eighth broke a 2-2 tie, handing Ken Heintzelman his fifth loss.

Marines Take Girls' Win Over Woollens

Playing improved and hustling ball at the Bowl last night, Outboard Marines took a 14-9 girls' softball loop victory over Woollens. The latter weren't up to their usual ability but made it interesting in the last two frames. Marines were in hitting mood to bang out 20 safeties as P. Williams pitched seven hit ball and fanned nine. L. Derry for Woollens, was hard hit, with S. Harris taking over in the seventh and going better. Marines' late errors helped narrow the gap in this game.

E. Mantle and M. Carr stood out in the field for the victors, with R. McInroy and J. Lawson going best for the losers. M. Behan led the way at bat for Outboards with a homer, double and three singles in six tries, as B. Ayotte and E. Mantle clouted out three safeties apiece. R. Naylor and C. Ferguson each had two hits for Woollens, the former stealing home once in the tilt which went an hour and 10 minutes.

Kesselring Outclasses Field At London

LONDON, Ont., June 15 (CP)—Gerry Kesselring, 21, of Kitchener, outclassed a field of the best amateur golfers of Ontario Wednesday in the London Hunt Club invitation golf tournament when he took fire to shoot 137, three under par for the 36 holes.

With Nick Weslock, of Windsor Essex, breathing down his neck after the morning round, Kesselring shot a 69 in the afternoon leaving Weslock behind. Nick fired a 71 in the afternoon to go with his morning 69.

Hitting the greens with excellent iron shots, for which he is noted, Gerry didn't show a six in his score and shot only five fives in the 36 holes.

Gimpy Gray was the big gun for Weston, potting four counters. Jesse James, Ted Downer and Pop Chard had two each.

Westclox Gains Neat One Against Ashby's

With Marg Selkirk pitching one-hit ball at the Bowl last evening, Westclox rolled to a 7-1 girls' softball verdict over Ashby's in a fine fray. M. Freeman's homer in the second was the lone safety gained by Ashby's, who also played good ball but found the Selkirk slants too much to overcome. They had but two miscues—to one for Westclox—but both proved costly. The Clockers, J. Vass especially, gave their twirler tight support in the one-hour contest.

J. Vass and M. Selkirk were the pick of the winners in the field, though all went well, while E. Simmons and L. Jordan caught the eye on defensive work for the Ashby lasses. J. McIntyre, M. Downer and A. Anderson each had two safe blows for the Westclox girls, with triples hit by M. Selkirk and J. Hardy.

The teams:

Giants, Wings Divide Doubleheader

By The Associated Press

The International League is enjoying one of its best pennant battles in years.

Only five games separate the sixth-place Jersey City Giants from the pace-setting Rochester Red Wings.

The Wings and Giants divided a doubleheader Wednesday, one of three played. A total of 25 home runs were scored during the three doubleheaders and one single game.

Jersey City crushed the Wings 9-4 in the first game, pulling it out with a seven-run blast in the seventh and final inning against Billl Reeder who went the distance. Marv Blaylock featured the uprising with a three-run homer.

The Wings pounded out a 15-8 victory in the nightcap as Del Wilber, Lou Ortiz, Russ Derry and Ed Nietopski led the bombardment with home runs.

Free-For-All

The second game was marred by a free-for-all in the third inning. Red Wing Larry Ciaffone was 'dusted off" by Giant pitcher Roger Bowman. Ciaffone grounded out but ran towards the pitcher's box instead of first base and began slugging it out with Bowman. Players rushed into the melee and police were forced to restore order.

Springfield's second-place Cubs remained a game behind the Wings by splitting with Toronto Maple Leafs. The Leafs took the first game 6-5 scoring three runs in the last frame after the Cubs had tallied four in the top half on home runs by Ed Ehlers and Carm Mauro.

The Cubs grabbed the nightcap, 5-3, in 11 innings. Jack Wallaesa homered for one of the runs in the 11th.

Syracuse moved from fourth to third place, 2½ games off the pace b yscoring a 6-4 victory over Montreal Royals.

Baltimore Orioles dropped from third to fourth by splitting with Buffalo Bisons. The Orioles took the first game 14-1 but lost a 16-12 slugging match in the finale

Lew Worsham, 29-year-old pro from Oakmount, Pa., won the United States open golf championship three years ago today when Sammy Snead, his opponent, missed a 30-inch putt on the 18th hole in a thrilling playoff at St. Louis. A crowd of 5,000 saw the playoff, made necessary when the pair finished the tournament the previous day with 72-hole totals of 282.

Edmonton Grads Holding Reunion Today

EDMONTON, June 15 (CP) — The team that was finally beaten by too much success after ruling the women's basketball world for almost two decades — Edmonton Grads—holds a reunion today.

Ten years ago the Grads, lacking support, packed up their basketball gear. They had won so often—96.2 per cent of the 522 official games they played in Canada, the United States and Europe from 1915 to 1940—that even their Edmonton fans lost interest.

Some 35 former Grads, including nearly every girl who played on any of the championship teams from 1921, when they first won the Canadian title, until 1940, when the world championship team disbanded—will again meet at a banquet tonight. They will go on a picnic Sunday.

The celebration marks the 35th anniversary of the club's founding.

Most of the girls are married. About one-third of them have settled in other cities—at Vancouver, Victoria, Winnipeg, Kitchener, Montreal, Calgary, Banff and Lewiston, Idaho.

Riding herd on them tonight will be the coach of these famous Grad teams which were a household name to most of this generation—J. Perny Page.

The Grads were graduates of the Edmonton Commercial High School. In their first six years they were Alberta champions. In 1922 they won the Canadian title and the following year took the world crown against Cleveland. Then the Grade wrote basketball history.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Ebenezer (Ebbie) Goodfellow Wednesday signed a three-year contract to coach Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League.

The new Hawk pilot, who managed St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League for the last two years, succeeds Charlie Conacher, who resigned to devote his time to business affairs at his home in Toronto.

Goodfellow, 44, is a native of Ottawa, where he played amateur hockey as a youngster. He was a star in the NHL for 14 years, playing centre and defence for Detroit Red Wings. He won the most valuable player trophy in 1939-40 and was twice chosen for all-star honors. Later he served as assistant to Jack Adams, manager of the Red Wings, who won two successive Stanley Cups.

Last season Goodfellow's St. Louis team finished third in the league, but lost out in the playoffs to Indianapolis, which went on to capture the post-season championship.

A Toronto meeting July 22 may decide whether Canada's five high priced senior hockey leagues stay within the pale of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, CAHA president Doug Grimston intimated Wednesday at Vancouver.

The CAHA will meet with representatives from the five — Western Canada, Ontario Association, Quebec, Maritime and Cape Breton—to iron out details of the contract clause introduced to senior hockey during the annual meeting at Banff, Alta.

The contract system proposed by the CAHA is that body's answer to a "new deal" requested by these leagues.

Their specific complaint was that under the old system players were costly to obtain and maintain, yet they had no permanent hold on them.

The CAHA will insist on a termination clause in the contract system. The leagues probably will insist on a contract giving their teams protection in holding players from one season to another.

An all-time record crowd of 24,809 for sports in Canada, apart from horse racing, saw the English Internationals defeat Manchester United 4-2 in an exhibition soccer game Wednesday night.

It was the best exhibition of football ever seen in Toronto.

The two Old Country teams dazzled the huge crowd at the Canadian National Exhibition sports field with a brilliant exhibition. It was a "prestige" game for both clubs and the spectators were kept in an almost continual uproar as they played it for keeps throughout the 90 minutes.

Kemp Meredith, Toronto racing driver, was taken unconscious to hospital Wednesday night after his automobile turned over in a race at Toronto's Speedway Park.

Driving in an open heat for European stock cars, Meredith was pinned in his seat when the car rolled over four times. His brother Paul was driving in the same race.

Mrs. H. Beatty Captures Duffus Trophy

With an all-time record entry from this club and from clubs around the district, the ladies of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club held their annual open tournament for the J. J. Duffus Trophy, Wednesday afternoon and evening. So completely did the local ladies dominate the play that all of the five prizes stayed at home.

And to Mrs. H. Beatty, last year's winner, goes the honor of holding the trophy for another year. The other three-game winners were Mrs. R. Hopkins, Mrs. F. Staunton and Mrs. L. Yeotes. High two-game went to Mrs. S. Deyman and high single game to Mrs. L. Ackfort.

Mrs. N. Killingbeck, tournament convener, was ably assisted by Mrs. L. Bearne, Mrs. D. Anderson, Mrs. F. Rowe, Mrs. H. Mackay and Mrs. H. Wilson.

The final game was played after the supper hour, and the tournament was all over by 10 o'clock.

Winners

1st—J. J. Duffus Trophy, and each a dresser lamp — Mrs. L. Davis, Mrs. P. McArthur, Miss N. Murphy, Mrs. H. Beatty, skip.

2nd—each a bag—Mrs. C. Wishart, Mrs. J. Coursey, Mrs. D. Anderson, Mrs. R. Hopkins, skip.

6th—each Royal Daultan pin—Mrs. O. Williamson, Mrs. G. Spence, Mrs. P. Bartley, Mrs. L. Ackford, skip.

Over at Lindsay in their doubles tournament we don't know who came in for the prizes, but we do know that our prediction that our club would make up 50 per cent. of the entry came true. There were 24 entries, 12 being from this club.

Quakers Tie Rays

In a keen fastball fray at Quaker last evening, the Quakers and Raybestos battled 11 innings to a 7-all draw. Horton of Quakers had 10 strikeouts and Murphy of Rays five. Lomax and Prescott hit homers for the easterners while Murphy had four hits in five tries for the southenders. It was good ball all the way between well-matched and hustling squads. The teams:

Marmora Victorious

MARMORA, June 15—(ENS)—Costly infield errors by Havelock in the fourth and fifth innings assisted Marmora in compiling the runs which they scored in the Trent Valley juvenile baseball fixture on their home ground on Wednesday evening against four scored by their opponents. Drummond, who pitched throughout for the winners, again had thirteen strikeouts.

The winners brought off a neat double play in the third, Auger to Killian. These two players were also best hitters for their team, the former having a timely two-bagger in the fourth as the latter did in the fifth. Vaughn was Havelock's starting pitcher and was relieved by Nobes in the sixth. Bales, the Havelock shortstop, got two of his team's runs, being chief hitter. Havelock were without some of their regular players who have been trying exams.

Teams:

Havelock—Bales ss, Thompson rf, B. Laing 2b, Smith 1b, J. Laing rf, Cosgrove c, Pollock lf, McCabe 3b, Vaughn p, Nobes p.

Marmora—Brown ss, Jones cf, Darrah cf, Auger 3b, Killian 2b, Borland c, Leal rf, Hickey 1b, Drummond p, Brooks rf, Dikun cf, Sweet 3b.

Request Vote To Settle Choice Of Union

TORONTO, June 15 (CP) — The Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Company Ltd., said Wednesday it is seeking a government-conducted vote to determine its seamen's wishes about union representation.

The action arises from a dispute with the Seafarers' International Union (AFL), which wants to be bargaining agent for the company's employees. The company claims it already has an agreement with the rival Canadian Seamen's Union (Ind.).

An injunction restraining the SIU's Harold C. Banks and Frank Hall from carrying out a threat to picket the company's vessels is good until June 19.

Request Vote

Capt. R. B. Angus, operating manager of the company, said Wednesday night in a statement: "Our employees have not at any time intimated to us that they wish to have this union represent them . . . Officials of the company are quite prepared to continue their aggressive action in order to protect the men employed by the company from what they consider to be unfair labor practice.

"In order to clarify the whole situation . . . the company has written to the (Federal) Minister of Labor, requesting that his department conduct a vote on our ships in order to find out just what their views are . . ."

At Ottawa, an official of the Labor Department said the department so far has not received any letter from the company asking that a vote be taken among the company's employees. The official said the department could not indicate what action it would take until the letter actually was received and considered.

WA Holds Silver Tea To Mark Anniversary

KEENE, June 15—(ENS)—The Woman's Association of the United Church held a 25th anniversary silver tea on Tuesday. The president, Mrs. Rennie, presided and Miss M. Bryce was at the piano for community singing. Margaret Jean Murray sang a solo, Walter Morrow played the piano, Mrs. Elwood Manley sang two songs, Mrs. C. Irwin gave two readings and a ladies' quartette, comprising Mrs. Eason, Miss Bryce, Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Rennie, sang with Mrs. H. McFarlane at the piano.

A parting gift was presented to Mrs. Murray, wife of the minister, who will be leaving shortly for Newburgh, Ont. Miss Jean Armstrong gave a summary of the past 25 years and the minister also spoke about the anniversary.

A lunch was served, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Murray pouring tea. There was a three-tiered fruit cake made by Mrs. M. Coward and decorated by Mrs. Rennie.

The Sunday school and congregational picnic will be held June 24 at the recreation park to which the congregations of Keene, Bethel and Zion churches are invited.

Shirley May France Sails For Second Try at Channel

By SHIRLEY MAY FRANCE
As told to Richard Kleiner
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK —(NEA)— I'm leaving tomorrow for a return bout with the English Channel under the sponsorship of NEA Service. And this year, I hope to win.

I swam more than the Channel distance last year on that day that they pulled me from the water. That's right. The Channel is only 19 miles wide. But I swam about 30 miles, they tell me.

The day I picked was one of the worst days any swimmer ever had for a Channel attempt. The waves were heavy and the tides were strong. I kept being pushed back and off course, instead of going forward. So, by the time they hauled me out, I had gone 30 miles.

I think I'm physically better able to make it this year. When I went into the water last year, I weighed about 158. Now I weigh 174. I'm 5 feet, 8½ inches tall, in case you're curious.

That extra poundage will help me against the cold, which is the worst thing about the Channel. When I had to quit last year, my hands were so frozen that I couldn't open them for an hour. And my right leg and left arm were blue from the cold. That was because the waves had washed off the protective coating of grease.

Another reason for my confidence is that I've been swimming all winter. I was on tour with a sports show, giving demonstrations. I think the constant practice was a big help.

After the tour ended, I went down to Lake Texoma, Tex., to train. The first time I tried a distance swim, I went eight miles without any trouble. I think that was because I'd been swimming so much. And I think that will help me in the Channel.

I learned a lot from that swim of mine last summer, too. For one thing, I know now what they mean when they say you have to be patient to swim the Channel. They mean you have to wait for the right day.

I was too impatient to get started last summer. This year I'm going to wait until I get a perfect weather report.

Another thing I got out of last year's swim was a respect for good Channel pilots. They have a great deal to do with the success or failure of an attempt. They know how to steer you to avoid the worst tides, and what time of day is best to go, and so on.

This year, I'll have the best there is, an old-timer named John Burwill. I will train at Dover with Coach Harry Boudakian, and with Ted Worner, my manager, looking after details.

All those reasons are good reasons. But there's still one big reason why I know I will—and I must—make the Channel this year. That's my family.

I want to help them. I have two younger sisters — Marylin, who is 13, and Carla, who is 11—and then there's little Jackie, who is 5. With my mother and father we all live in a house that isn't very nice. In fact, to be honest, it's just a beach cottage. The one good thing about it is that it's right near the shore at Somerset, Mass.

I want to be able to take us all out of that place and buy a nice, new house somewhere in Somerset. I'd like to be able to build a ranch-style house. My mother and I know a beautiful lot we've had our eyes on for a long time. Just right for a ranch house, too.

And after that, I want to go on to teach physical education. I finished one term of my junior year at Somerset High before I left to join the sports show.

SHIRLEY MAY FRANCE: Constant practice and extra pounds.

Next year, I'll be able to finish my junior subjects at the same time as I'm taking my senior year. It'll mean extra work, but I don't mind. Then I'll be all set to go on to a physical education school in the fall of 1951. I've got it all figured out!

I hope, eventually, to teach physical education, particularly swimming, which I think every child should be taught in school.

I'm still 17, by the way—I won't be 18 until Aug. 11—so I'll still be the youngest woman to make the Channel if I do it. And I'm sure going to give it everything I have this year.

EYE TOPICS

SUN GLASSES

Few people realize the scientific difference between cheap, blown lenses and scientifically ground optical lenses which have no refractive power or may be ground to the individual prescription of the wearer. Cheap blown lenses have no optical property whatsoever and are full of triae and chromatic aberration both of which are very harmful to the eyes.

In recent years many people who already wear glasses are having their prescriptions made up in absorptive lenses. This is an ideal arrangement and the cost of the lenses is very little more than a good pair of sun glasses.

If you wear glasses and do a lot of driving or engage in swimming, boating, golf, skiing and so on, we recommend that you have your prescription made up in any of the following lenses: Calobar, Ray Ban or Tone-Ray.

Should you desire further information about these lenses, we would be pleased to discuss them with you.

Seek Two Prisoners And Lock Of Cell

AYLMER, Que., June 15 (CP) —Police Wednesday night broadcast an appeal for district police aid in a search for two brothers who not only escaped from the four-cell town jail Wednesday night, but took the cell block with them as well.

Police said Ernest and Martin Vilon, both of nearby Ottawa, were arrested on charges of creating a disturbance. During the jailer's brief absence, one of the brothers apparently broke through a wooden panel over the cell door, got through and then broke open the door of the cell where his brotther was retained.

When the jailer got back, the pair as well as the cell lock were missing.

John Renshaw Ordained On May 31 In Hamilton

An event of interest to friends and relatives of John Renshaw took place in Westdale United Church, Hamilton, when he was ordained by the church at the Hamilton Conference, on May 31.

Among those taking part in the laying on of hands was the Rev. Max Parr, who was pastor of George St. Church at the time Mr. Renshaw received his licence to preach, and had done much to encourage him to proceed.

Mr. Renshaw completed a course of study at Queen's University and Emmanuel College as prescribed by the General Council.

A number of friends were present from Manitoulin Island, Owen Sound, Midland, Port Colborne and Toronto and other points. His elder daughter, Esther and her infant son, Michael, of Philadelphia, Pa., were also present and also his immediate family.

He accepted a call to continue as pastor of Knox United Church Manitowaning, and was formally installed Friday June 9.

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

Carrying out a good idea will not necessarily add beauty to the appearance of your property. The result depends entirely upon the use made of the idea. This fact was clearly driven home to me on a recent trip through the Niagara peninsula. I have seen old wheels used to good advantage about a home but this particular fellow had gone overboard. Buggy wheels had been buried hub deep and used for a fence on three sides of the property. Two heavier ones formed a gate; another reclined on the top of the grape arbour—and so on. On the other hand, there is nothing quite as rustic and pleasing as an old wheel when it is properly blended into the landscape.

Binder Wheels

Home on the farm my mother used a large drive wheel from the old binder as a flower bed. After it had completed its service in the grain field, the hub and spokes were knocked out. The steel rim held the rich earth added to make an attractive bed for the petunias. The same type of wheel can be used to make a small garden pool.

Roll Out The Barrel

Yesterday was spent visiting a good friend who is an ardent gardener. I found him spraying his rambler roses so we retired to the shaded terrace for a friendly discussion of the new garden sprays coming on the market. I was so intrigued by the barrel chairs he had recently made that insects and insecticides slipped completely from my mind. They were easily constructed and the idea is passed along to you.

Rose Canes

Just before leaving we did get back to the subject of roses and I discovered how he made such a neat job of fastening up the canes of his climbers. Fairly heavy pieces of wire (about eight inches long) were bent into the shape of large staples. The ends of the staple prongs were then bent downward, forming a hook. The staple portion was slipped around the cane and then the two hooks caught over a slat in his lattice fence—so simple, but effective. Never more will there be difficulty in lowering my canes for winter protection.

More information on these and many other ideas in the booklet "AROUND THE HOME". Write for your copy to Tom Gard, c/o MOLSON'S (Ontario) LIMITED, P.O. Box 490, Adelaide St. Station, Toronto.

Niagara To Get Face Lifted House Of Commons Informed

OTTAWA, June 15 (CP)—Old Niagara, the scenic wonder, the honeymooner's delight, is getting her face lifted and will end up more beautiful and more supreme in her beauty than ever before, the Commons was told Wednesday.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) raised the suspect of peril to the Falls' majestic beauty as the House approved a 50-year treaty with the United States that will permit permanent regulation of the diversion of Niagara waters and allow a substantial increase in power production.

Said Mr. Knowles in discussing what will happen when the engineers begin to tamper with Niagara's flow:

"We certainly need the power but I think all members would agree it would be a tragedy if our interest in the power were to lead us to the point of spoiling in any way this scenic wonder of North America."

Take No Chances

To that External Affairs Minister replied:

"I can assure you that this will not be the case. We hope the contrary result will be achieved and that the treaty will make more secure and enhance the value of what is after all a great national asset . . . the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls."

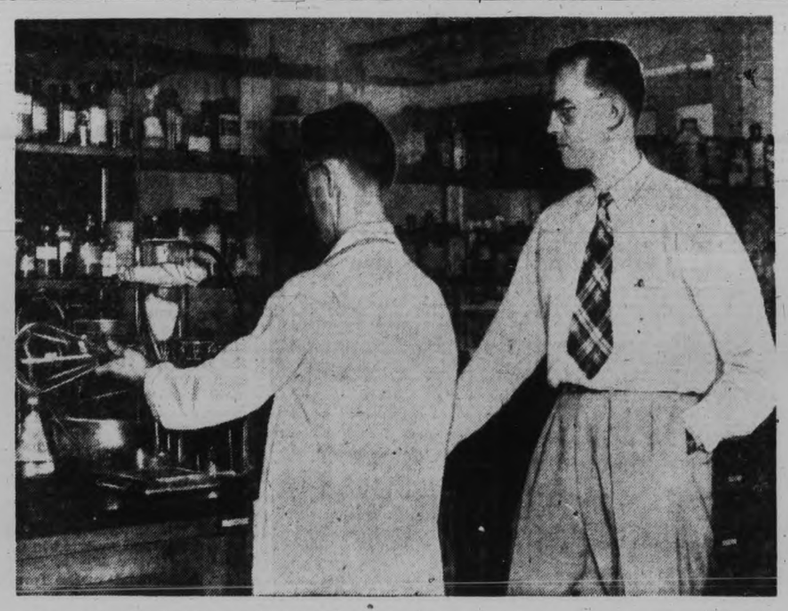
Even more emphatic was Harry Cavers, (L-Lincoln) who comes from the Niagara country. He said "this development will not detract in any way from the Fall's beauty, in fact it will enhance that beauty."

From Rodney Adamson (PC-York West) came word of a permanent face-lifting that will stop a steady sabotage of Niagara's physical charms' Said he:

Prevent Erosion

"First of all, the treaty preserves the beauty of the Falls By a series of underwater weirs the flow of the falls is made continuous from one edge of the river to the other. The geological history has been that a great volume of the water was concentrated in a comparatively narrow trough and the edges of the falls were beginning to be left a little bit bare.

"This had an unfortunate effect in that as the volume of water over the narrow trough increased the erosion of the central part of the falls also increased. The centre part, particularly the Horse Shoe Falls, was eating back at the rate of many feet a year and intensifying the percentage of water which went over the narrow central trough.



"For that reason alone the work envisaged is desirable because it will not only stop the increased erosion but will preserve the beauty of the falls from now on."

Blesses Site

TORONTO, June 15 — (CP) — James Cardinal McGuigan Wednesday blessed the site of the new St. Basil's seminary here in ceremonies celebrating the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Basilian Order in North America. The building, construction of which will begin shortly, will house 110 scholastics and 19 priests as well as libraries and classrooms.

CRIMINAL CROWDS

The daily average prison population of Great Britain is about 19,000.

THE WORLD SUPPLY OF ACTH, the wonder drug, will be increased greatly through successful research efforts of the Frank W. Horner Ltd., Montreal, which recently reported the first extraction of the drug from cattle glands. Up to now the only source for the drug was obtained through hog pituitary glands in the United States. ABOVE, Dr. Leonard Mitchell, RIGHT, research director of the firm, watches Dr. Lucien Delcourt, an assistant, carry out one of the steps in the preparation of ACTH on an experimental scale in the Horner laboratories.

Port Development

NEW WESTMINSTER, BC — (CP)— K. K. Reid, chairman of the New Westminster Harbor Commission, has announced a $750,000 development program for the Fraser River port. Plans have been "favorably considered" by the federal government for 1,500 feet of new wharves.

Old, But Good

BELLEVILLE —(CP)— Present-day roofs can't hold a shingle to those built when grandpa was a boy. The roof of a 95-year-old building recently torn down near here was still in excellent condition. The shingles were of the drawn-pine variety.

NORDEGG, Alta., June 15 (CP) —All the above-ground installations of the Brazeau Collieries Ltd., coal mine except the company office were destroyed in less than an hour early Wednesday in a $1,000,000 fire. No one was injured. Nordegg is about 175 miles southwest of Edmonton.

Musical Instrument Ban In Commons, Interests U.K.

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, June 15—(CP)—News that Canada has prohibited the playing of musical instruments in parliament touched off a responsive chord here. The Evening Standard investigated to find out whether similar ban had ever been imposed in Britain, and decided that the nearest precedent occurred March 19, 1872.

The parliamentary report of that date says that notice was taken of the crowing of cocks, and "other disorderly noises," proceeding from members behind the chair. The speaker condemned these as gross violations and "expressed the pain with which he heard them."

On this evidence, the Standard said editorially it seems apparent that a member of the United Kingdom parliament can still try to address the House by methods musical, as long as he steers clear of disorderly noises.

Vast Possibilities

In fact, teetotallers in Westminster probably could advance their cause with a massed harp rendering, during a debate on beer or spirits, of a well-chosen ditty like "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes."

"The idea has vast possibilities," the editorial added. It might see the conversion of the House of Commons into a conservatory, an Elysian grove where:

"'When Attlee strikes the trembling lyre,

"The streams stand still, the stones admire.'"

The Standard's editorial follows an Ottawa press dispatch published in London which told how the Rev. Dan McIvor, Liberal member of the Canadian House of Commons for Fort William, took a tin flute out of his pocket and played during a division. The speaker, W. Ross Macdonald subsequently banned the playing of musical instruments in the Chamber.

Seeing Red

Whatever the musical accompaniment may be, there will be different color scheme when the Commons moves into its new quarters in October. Benches will be in green instead of red.

Commoners moved into the House of Lords after a German bomb struck the Commons in 1941. The peers, who then took over what used to be the King's Robing Chamber, have been "seeing red" for more than four centuries. The color originally was chosen, it is thought, because Cardinal Wolsey thought it would match his new robes.

Plane Hits Mountain

ELKINS, W.Va., June 15 (AP) —A United States Air Force B-25 bomber crashed against West Virginia's highest mountain at dawn Wednesday, and all nine men on board were killed. There was no immediate official word from police as to the probable cause of the crash.
